Real Life Decisions . . . Real Life Solutions

Banking for real life.

"I am doing something that I have always enjoyed doing!" said Bill Sisler of Bill's Marine Service.

Everyone at the Lake knows Bill—the name you need to know! He takes pride in his work and it shows. Bill and his two brothers, Kenny and Dale, own and operate Bill's Marine Service located on Garrett Highway at Deep Creek Lake.

Bill and his brothers started their business in 1958 with a small floating dock, and a shop at the Glendale Bridge. First United is proud to say that we knew Bill when . . . Bill appreciated the hard work, dedication and quality service that the First United staff has shown him time and time again. "First United has been able to provide the support, the products and the services to meet the needs of our business over the years", Bill commented. The company now has over 35 dedicated employees.

It is all about people helping people. And that's First United's philosophy when it comes to helping people in their communities. First United is happy to play a part in the success of businesses like Bill's Marine Service. Throughout the decades their business has flourished and the relationship that was built many years ago between First United and Bill Sisler continues today, stronger than ever.

. . . it's banking for real life.

Fitness, Arts, Movement Camp, Involves 79

For a number of Garrett County students who have returned to school, but who are still remembering this past summer, one of the highlights will most likely be the week they spent at Garrett Community College's Fitness, Arts, and Movement Camp in July.

According to co-director Ann Wellham, 79 boys and girls attended this year's camp, where they experienced a variety of activities culminating in the production "Under the Big Top" on Friday afternoon.

Praising co-director Brenda Brosnihan for her "creative leadership," Ms. Wellham said, "This year's production proved to be the highlight of our five years of Fitness, Arts, and Movement camps. Under the leadership of Brenda Brosnihan, the campers were able to demonstrate a variety of skills. There was a high degree of enthusiasm all week as they worked hard behind the scenes to produce the show in that short amount of time. I also want to thank Richard Stevens for his efforts in helping the campers prepare the set and their costumes."

Ms. Wellham also expressed her thanks for the help and expertise of some of Garrett Community College's Adventure Sports students, who instructed camp activities. Crystal Shaffer, a graduate of the program, was lead instructor for the climbing wall, assisted by students Catherine Kellogg and Marc Edmiston. Janet Amelio was lead instructor for mountain biking, assisted by Marc Edmiston.

PERFORMING UNDER THE BIG TOP set up at Garrett Community College were these young clowns, and even some elephants, all of whom participated in the annual Fitness, Arts, and Movement Camp sponsored by the college. See story for details.

Other, instructors were: Greg Carrico, mime and juggling; Lexi Frye, movement arts; Jody Pepple, team sports; Krista Shaffer, weird science; and Deb Clatterbuck and Anna Marc, swimming. Counselors were Carrie Blank, Sindy Niner, Krista Shaffer, Nicole Meyers, Jody Pepple, Pete Brosnihan, and Karen Meisenheimer. Camp trainer was Beth Doerr.

Ms. Wellham also expressed thanks to the Garrett County Arts Council for their continued support of the Fitness, Arts, and Movement Camp. This year's camp was sponsored by GCC, Brenda's Body Shop, Bjorn to Screen, Rudy's, and the Lake Front Magazine.

MS Society To Hold Family Awareness Day

The Western Maryland Branch of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society will be having its annual "MS Family Awareness Day" on Saturday, Sept. 27, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Allegany College of Maryland, Center for Continuing Education, Willowbrook Road, Cumberland.

This program is offered as a day of fun and information for the whole family. The topic for the day is how to access MS resources through various outlets, including the Internet. There will be speakers from the MS Society, the public library as well as an experienced Internet user. There will also be a "For Kids Only" program with a guest speaker, and supervised activities throughout the day for children ages 3-12.

Relaxation areas are available. No pets are allowed on the campus. The cost is $5.00 per adult, which includes registration fees, morning refreshments, materials and lunch. There is no charge for children participating in the "For Kids Only" program. The deadline to register is Friday, Sept. 19. For further information, those interested may call Robin or Kathy at 301-791-5754 at the Western Maryland Branch Office, or Terri Socha at 301-784-5530 at the Allegany College of Maryland.

NMS STUDENTS ATTEND SEMINAR - Nine members of the Northern Middle School yearbook staff recently attended the annual Seven Springs Yearbook Seminar, sponsored by the Taylor Publishing Company. The local youth captured a first runner-up award for their excellence in copywriting, theme development, page layout, and overall enthusiasm and effort. The NMS students competed against about a dozen other high school yearbook staffs. Pictured from left above, front, are: Kristin Hoffman, Melissa Patterson, and Heather Lander; and in the second row: Jamie Livengood, Jodi Fratz, Karla Buckel, Mark Roberts, Micah Plevyak, and Todd Foley. Also attending the workshop were their advisors, Nancy Frank and Darren Wilburn.

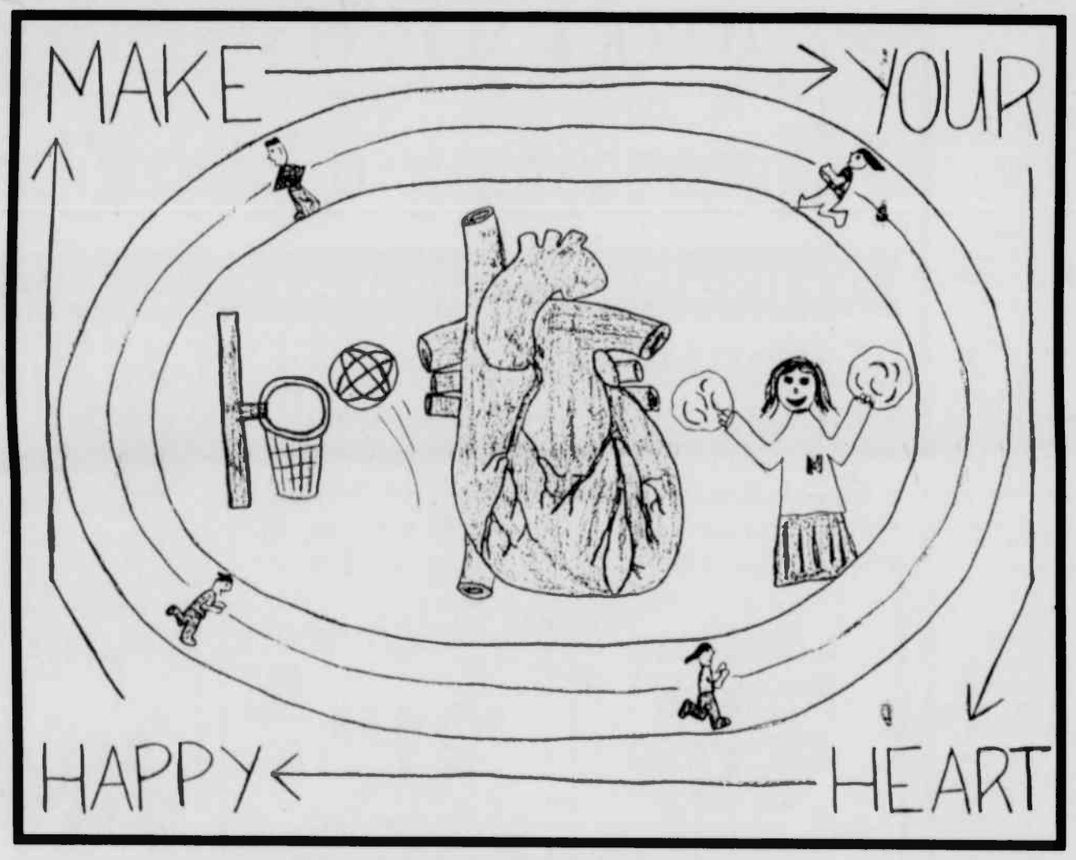
If Your Heart Could Talk, What Would It Be Telling You?

Probably the same thing as these seventh grade students—that although heart disease is the number one killer in our country, you can make your heart happy and keep it pumping by eating nutritious foods, reducing the fat in your diet, getting plenty of rest and exercise, decreasing your stress level and not smoking.



Through Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Healthy Choices program, seventh grade students living in local and surrounding area counties are learning about the importance of living a healthy lifestyle at an early age to reduce the risks for heart disease as illustrated by these drawings.

Children who develop good health habits at a young age are more likely to grow into adults who maintain healthy behaviors throughout their lives.

Besides targeting seventh grade students, the Healthy Choices program is also designed for workplaces.

For more information about the Healthy Choices school program, call (301) 334-2155, ext. 212. For more information about the Healthy Choices workplace program, call (301) 334-2155, ext. 408.

GET FACT:

CONTINENTAL HIGHWAY 1
10 BASIC FACTS

1. A new highway is being planned and built from Toronto in Canada, through Buffalo, NY, all the way to Miami, Florida. This international trade corridor, called CONTINENTAL ONE, is part of NAFTA.
2. Plans call for building 40-50 miles of multi-lane highway right through Garrett Co. from the PA border to the WV border, running north-south.
3. No specific route has been planned yet, as to where CONTINENTAL ONE might be built in our county. Existing U.S. Rt. 219 may or may not be part of the plan.
4. This highway project is not to be confused with any proposed U.S. Rt. 219 bypass plans around towns.
5. CONTINENTAL ONE will give preference to traffic going through our area by highly limiting the access. With interchanges 10 or more miles apart, this highway is not intended for local traffic. It will move traffic through here.
6. Highways do not necessarily bring more long-term jobs to an area. There is no guarantee!
7. Maryland taxpayers will spend over $7 million per year for 11 years, totaling $80 million dollars, to build this highway, IF it is allowed to go through.
8. This project is still in the "scoping stage" here. Studies will be done. Need will be considered. Funding is not certain.
9. The bill, NECTEA of 1997, is being considered by Congress this fall to provide federal funding for part of the CONTINENTAL ONE project. Funding can be stopped here.
10. We are at a crossroads. We have a choice. Do we open the door to ugly urban sprawl and never-ending overdevelopment or will we stand by the divine natural gifts we have been endowed with— beautiful wild lands and rural communities-- and let them be?

Dear Friends of G.C./CARE,

Thank you very much for your kind support of our non-profit organization. The administrative members of CARE, all volunteers, are working MANY tiring hours, sacrificing greatly from their individual lives. They are trying to stop an international trade corridor freeway called Continental One from slashing open the heart of our beautiful county, the crown jewel of Maryland's outdoors. However, WITHOUT YOUR HELP, our volunteers can do only so much. Will you please lend them a hand?

We encourage anyone concerned to COPY our national petition forms, COLLECT signatures and addresses from ANY American citizens (regardless of residential address/state) willing to help G.C./CARE, and return the petitions AS SOON AS POSSIBLE, PLEASE! The Congress is expected to vote on the proposed four-lane interstate POSSIBLY AS EARLY AS THIS MONTH!

Any financial resources you could raise or donate (checks should be made payable to G.C./CARE) would help us TREMENDOUSLY and, whether $5 or $50 or more, would be VERY appreciated.

You may also help greatly by sharing your opinions regarding news developments as they unfold. WRITE to: Editor, The Republican, Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550-0326. (Please SEE also "LET THEM KNOW!" on this page.)

1. PETITIONS 2. FUNDS 3. LETTERS

Currently, the Congress controls your children's future and money, and ours, on this $400 million issue. This message shows how YOU can take back that control.

Thanks again for your inspiring and vital support! We hope to hear from you soon again!

GONE WITH THE WIND

Editor's note: The following short story was inspired by actual events. It is reprinted here in a revised version with permission bv G.C./CARE
by C. Speicher

And then there was the small blue pond that was always my best friend when I was a growing boy. Nestled in hills and hayfields bordering the peaceful forest, it provided an intriguing habitat for various countryside creatures.

That pond.

It grew with me. I was in kindergarten and the pond had not yet been made. The car wash on the edge of town was just being built. It needed a water supply.

First came a bulldozer, carving out an oversized teacup.

And then it started to grow. Fast, like a newborn baby.

The trickle from the hills came. In the beginning was a ten-foot puddle, Six inches deep in mud. Then it was ten yards across, and finally, fully grown, thirty yards. Silvery clear enough to admire yourself in.

Then came the impudent dragonflies, challenging me to a game of tag. I never won, but several frogs did.

The brown algae came in like a teenager's beard. At first it was only a little fuzz, lapping around the pond's edge. And then it progressively thickened, until at last it was heavy enough to support the slender watersnakes floating within it, hidden except for their bullet-shaped heads jutting above the water. Without any great knowledge of serpents, I always wondered how dangerous they might be.

The fat bull frogs led the country band in the evenings. During the days, they would bask beneath the sun as they floated atop the algae and lily pads.

From the adjacent forest edge, emerged together the first doe and fawn I saw in my life. The moment held a near-mystical meaning.

One day the pond was stocked with trout. In the evenings I fed them commercial fish food to hasten their growth. This brought schools of them racing to the shore like a class of elementary kids swarming to the buses after the day's final bell.

Then began the acrobatics and aerobatics on the shimmenng, golden, twilight pond-top. Trout fractunng the water, leaving behind their trademark ripples. Bam swallows flitting in crazy figures across the water, breaking the surface in hot pursuit of invisible insects, alternately rising slightly then dipping, like the small flat stones I often sent skipping across the water.

After several years a few bluegill assumed residency. It seems they were usually the only fish gullible enough to swallow the line of my homemade pole. They were usually thrown back in because they were too small to keep, though the trout tasted better than bacon and eggs.

A couple more years passed, and muskrats moved in, cutting a web of tunnels deep into the earth, mining for they alone knew what. Their homes were easily identified by the cleancut sinuous paths through the tall, lush grasses in shallow water. Out of fear they would drain the dam, I strategically laid traps in their routes. One dead water-rat was my only reward, but I felt like a fur trapper who had met his yearly quota.

One summer our small gang built a boat (sort of) with a few abandoned boards from a nearby lumber pile. It worked better than any yacht. That is, until the day — for reasons I no longer recall — we loaded it with some stones we were transporting across the pond, and it suddenly sank in mid-voyage, a victim of its cargo, much heavier than we thought.

We never saw it again.

It was on a freezing gray day, in the midst of a miserable winter, when I found a baby duck with a broken wing, tucked like the baby Moses behind a clump of pond-edge grasses, looking for warmth where none existed. I couldn't doctor him back to health despite numerous references to a first aid manual. He died, but died well-loved.

I was ice skating one afternoon the same winter when the ice suddenly began to give way beneath me. I knew the water was plenty deep enough to drown me. Moments later I realized the break was only partial and skated to safety — but not before I learned to talk to God. Kind of strange place for devotions.

Time moved on. Silt washing in from the hills gradually replaced the water around the pond's upper edge, significantly reducing the original contour. My own measurements had also changed since I had first seen the pond. I was much taller.

Finally one day, I departed for college. Often I recharged my tired mind with the memories of magic from that placid place.

More than a decade passed.

One day I went back for a friendly visit with the old refuge.

But gone were the lush fields of clover. Gone were the trees, the eternal forest. Gone was the sweet country air. Gone were the creatures, great and small. Gone with the wind.

And the pond itself had become a roaring rapine, a rampaging river.

Of asphalt, concrete, steel, rubber, glass and acnd fumes. Which routinely dealt death and devastation to its unwary speeding travelers.

And the enormous new serpent crawling miles upon miles over the good earth, defined a strange concept of success called an international trade corridor freeway, Continental One.

Sheep, Goats and Hogs Star In State 4-H/FFA Livestock Sale

Market goats, lambs and hogs again brought smiles for their young owners during the 4-H and FFA livestock sale on August 27 at the 116th Maryland State Fair in Timonium. These animals sold at prices well above prevailing averages for the previous week at nearby Pennsylvania auction markets.

In addition, average and top prices for both market lambs and hogs at the Maryland sale were higher than a year ago--in contrast to the general market trends. But those Maryland youngsters with market steers sold their animals at an average price about 10 cents per pound below last year--exactly in line with the general market trend and at approximately the same prices.

The grand champion market lamb was a 130-pound Suffolk-Hampshire crossbred ewe exhibited by David J. Stickley, 17, of Flintstone, an Allegany County 4-H and FFA member. It sold for $10.75 per pound, one of the higher prices in Maryland State Fair history. The record was $25, set in 1993.

This year's grand champion market lamb was purchased by William C. F. Marlow Jr., of Towson, a board member of the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society, and his law partner, Michael Wyatt.

Jesse Rohrer, 14, of Sharpsburg (Washington County) showed his 120-pound Shropshire wether to reserve champion honors. His lamb brought $10 per pound from Wills and Associates, a Baltimore public relations firm. Jesse also had the reserve champion market lamb last year at the Maryland State Fair. And he exhibited the champion Shropshire ram in the 4-H and FFA breeding sheep show at this year's state fair.

The average price for 38 market lambs in the 4-H and FFA livestock sale was $2.13 per pound--excluding the champion and reserve champion. This compared with $1.40 per pound, on the same basis, a year ago. It was more than double the prevailing market price.

This year's grand champion market hog again was a Hampshire gilt shown by a 17-year-old Howard County 4-H member. However, the players were different--and the price and weight of the hog were significantly higher.

The 1997 winning exhibitor was Heather Rynarzewski of Morgan Station. Her 265-pound champion brought $3.75 per pound from the Greene Turtle, an Ocean City tavern. By contrast, the 1996 grand champion weighed 245 pounds and brought $3.00 per pound in a year when general market hog prices were significantly higher.

Cortney Hill-Dukehart, 13, of Cooksville, another Howard County 4-H member, showed the reserve champion market hog. Her 265-pound Yorkshire barrow went for $2.00 per pound to Hatfield Quality Meats of Hatfield, Pa. Last year's reserve champion brought $1.50 per pound from the same buyer, and it weighed 25 pounds less.

The average price for 35 market hogs was $1.63 per pound--about three times the prevailing market price. The 1996 sale average was $1.43 in a year when general market prices were significantly higher than now.

Elizabeth A. Roberts, 14, of Bryantown (Charles County) had the grand champion market goat for the second consecutive year. This year's animal--another Spanish-Boer wether--brought a grand total of $275, nearly four times the prevailing market price. Last year's champion brought $276.25, almost exactly the same price.

JoAnna Der, 15, of Walkersville (Frederick County) received $220 for her reserve champion market goat--about three times the prevailing market price.

Richie A. Miller of Starcut Farm at Sabillasville (Frederick County) brought the grand champion market goat. The reserve champion was purchased by Gene and Sharon Swackhamer of Sparks.

This year's grand champion market steer again was an Angus shown by a Carroll County 4-H member. Jennifer Wildesen, 18, of Uniontown had this year's winner, a 1,220-pound Angus crossbred. It brought $2.10 per pound from the Stop Construction Company of Madonna (Harford County), which had purchased last year's grand champion for $3.00 per pound.

Eric Stonesifer, 13, of West Friendship (Howard County) showed a 1,300-pound crossbred steer to reserve champion honors. The purchase price was $1.20 per pound from Triple Creek Farm at West Friendship.

Patrick Mullinix, 16, of Daisy (Howard County) sold his 1,270-pound champion Hereford steer for $1.50 per pound to Tate Chevrolet Geo of Annapolis. The animal had been grand champion at the National Junior Polled Hereford Show in July at Fort Worth, Tex.

Ryan Downey, 16, of Downsville (Washington County) exhibited the champion dairy steer. His 1,300-pound Holstein brought 65 cents per pound from Wheeler's DD Trucking of Norrisville (Harford County).

Average price for 17 steers in the 4-H and FFA livestock sale was 79 cents per pound--excluding the two top-selling animals. This compared with 86 cents a year ago.

Maryland Grape Crop Sets Record

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that Maryland's 60 commercial vineyards are expected to yield a record harvest of about 600 tons of grapes this year, far exceeding the state's average harvest of 450 tons. At an estimated average price of about $900 per ton, this translates into about $450,000, up from only $405,000 in 1995.

"While this summer's drought hurt many Maryland farmers, it was a tremendous boon to one segment of the agricultural industry--grapes. Not only will this year's crop be large, but it is expected to be of exceptional quality," said Riley.

Because of the hot, dry summer, sugar and acids became concentrated in grapes in greater proportions than usual. These grapes will produce wines with higher levels of alcohol and acids that define a wine's complexity. As grapevines were forced to furrow deeper to reach water during the drought, they also found more nutrients than they would if they were limited to more heavily used surface soils. In addition, this year's weather prevented development of harmful molds and disease, which thrive in a cool, damp environment.

The overwhelming majority of grapes grown commercially in Maryland are used to make wine.

"Maryland's nine commercial wineries and numerous amateur vintners are delighted about the prospect of having a bigger supply of superior grapes with which to work. If we produced twice as much wine as we did this year, we still wouldn't meet demand. There is a very good market here. Virtually all Maryland grapes are sold in Maryland," said Jack Johnston of the Maryland Grape Growers Association.

Because of the high quality of this year's Maryland grapes, the consumer can expect to see more varietal wines. Varietal wines are made purely from one grape variety, such as Chardonnay. Large portions of wines made in a typical year are blended from several varieties as the vintner strives to combine the best characteristics of each variety to produce a higher quality wine, which is then labeled as a "white" or "red." In a year hke 1997, this will not be as necessary.

Barring some unforseen disaster, growers will begin harvesting varieties like Seyval by early September and continue until the last of the Cabernet Savingnon is harvested by late October. The first large-scale public release of wines made from these grapes will occur next May, at the annual Wine in the Woods festival held in Columbia.

A Reminder to Make Reservations for the Field Day at GCC

You still have time to make reservations for the Agronomy Field Day Activities at the Garrett Community College for September 19 from 10:15 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Come to see and hear about the results of the five-year alfalfa demonstration plots followed this year by field corn. You have heard and read about the Roundup Ready Soybeans, so come and see the demonstration plots and learn more about soybean production in Garrett County. At 12:30 p.m. you can enjoy a "hog roast" lunch with all the trimmings for $3.00. Make your reservations by Monday, Sept. 15, by calling the Extension Office at 301-334-6960 or GCC at 301-387-3021.

Crop Notes

• The late blight disease probably has destroyed about 80% of the tomato crop in the area. This fungus disease comes on very quickly and many times hit the most healthy tomato plants. The disease cannot be eradicated only prevented. If you would like a copy of printed material on late blight contact my office (301-334-6960).

• Late maturing sweet corn should be sprayed for control of the corn earworm. The earworm has been very active in sweet corn and will continue with the present weather conditions. There are several insecticides on the market such as Sevin and Ambush that will control the earworm. For heavy infestations you may have to spray every 4 to 5 days. Make sure you follow the label directions of the insecticide.

• I would not recommend harvesting alfalfa until we get a good killing frost. Experts say that alfalfa should have at least a six-week recovery period following harvest before being put to sleep by frost. I would recommend cutting frosted alfalfa a little higher than normal. Did you put the potash on the crop?

HEADING TOWARDS SECOND PLACE IN THE STATE in the intermediate division of the 4-H "Learn to Earn" compact tractor contest is Jeremiah Guard, seated. The 14-year-old Friendsville youth took runner-up honors in the contest for the second year in a row. "Jeremiah's experience driving tractors on his grandparents farm has helped him tremendously," his mother said. "But more than that, he has his own little business where he mows lawns for family and neighbors. He's a real worker." The Snowy Creek 4-H Club member, son of Wanda and Dorsey Guard, also has been known to set up obstacle courses in his backyard to practice for tractor competitions. Obviously, the practice has paid off.

McClive's Food For Thought

by Chef Francesco G. Pisano

Make your own jam in minutes in a skillet. Cook a pint of blueberries, mashed, with 2 Tbs. powdered fruit pectin and ½ tsp. butter until it boils, add a cup of sugar and boil 1 minute. Pour into two half-pint jars. Use within three weeks.

Variations: 3 cups raspberries, 1½ cups sugar, 4 tsp. pectin, or 1 pound peaches, peeled, pitted and mashed, with a cup of sugar, 2 Tbs. pectin and 2 tsp. lemon juice.

The easy way to get the silk off fresh corn is to rub the ears with rubber gloves or a dampened paper towel.

New-wave tabbouleh mixes bulgur (no-cook; follow package direction) with pitted-and-chopped plums and pea pods. Toss with snipped mint, chopped scallions and Italian dressing.

Cut calories with yogurt cheese. Stir a carton of plain, low-fat yogurt and spoon it into a cheesecloth-lined sieve set over a bowl. Cover and chill overnight. In the morning—cheese!

Air Standards Delay Sought By Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau, along with more than 30 other agriculture groups, recently wrote members of the Senate urging them to co-sponsor a bill (S. 1084) that would delay Environmental Protection Agency implementation of new clean air standards.

In a letter to senators who are not already co-sponsoring the legislation, the organizations said a delay would allow additional time to complete necessary research on air quahty issues. The new rules issued by EPA would harm agriculture by creating newer and larger clean air regulatory areas, the groups warned. The rules also would impact agriculture through tougher emission standards for equipment and by restricting dust-causing activities.

"The agriculture industry has many concerns with the new (air quality) standards," the farm groups wrote. "These new tighter standards would create many new non-attainment areas across the country for ozone and particulate matter, ultimately impacting agriculture either directly through new emission regulation, or indirectly through increased cost of doing business."

One issue surrounding the debate is the actual impact the new rules would have on agriculture. EPA administrator Carol Browner earlier this summer told lawmakers the plan would not harm agriculture. But according to the regulations, individual states will be responsible for implementing independent plans to reduce ozone and particulate matter and bring non-attainment zones into compliance. Under that scheme, Farm Bureau believes producers would directly feel the full brunt of new clean air standards.

"EPA claims that agriculture will not be required to reduce emissions to implement these revised standards," said Adam Sharp, an American Farm Bureau Federation assistant governmental relations director.

"However, it is the states, not EPA, that have primary authority to implement the standards and it is not clear that the states will ignore emissions from the agriculture sector, even if EPA advises them to do so."

Sharp said by delaying the standards for the proposed four-year period, research into the extent of the particulate matter problem, and specifically agriculture's role in particulate matter distribution, will be able to move forward. He said agriculture is currently caught in the middle. Particulate matter regulations mandated by the Clean Air Act of 1990 have not even been fully implemented and the new regulations would be stacked on top of those earher rules, compounding the situation.

"Both new standards for ozone and particulate matter will demand costly control programs," Sharp said. "These costs should not be imposed without a better understanding of the problems the standards are addressing, the impact of the standards in general and impacts on agriculture in particular.

"The president has promised implementation delays, However, EPA's legal authority to deliver on these promises is highly questionable. Agriculture deserves more solid assurances that these costly and unnecessary regulatory programs will not be put in place until science shows they are needed," Sharp said.

State's Corn Crop Still Very Poor

For the week ended on September 7, almost half of the field corn in Maryland was in very poor condition. Field corn development still lagged slightly behind the previous year and five-year average.

Soybean condition was up in the air as 18% was very poor, 24% poor, 24% fair, 28% good, and 6% excellent. Soybeans started to turn color and were ahead of the previous year average.

The sorghum crop was 25% very poor, 15% poor, 11% fair, 40% good, and 9% excellent. Like soybeans, sorghum also started turning color and was behind the previous and five-year average.

The previous week did little for pasture conditions as they remained almost identical. Pastures were 17% very poor, 27% poor, 35% fair, 19% good, and 2% excellent.

Hay supplies were 17% very short, 41% short, 41% adequate, and 1% surplus.

Orchard conditions stayed relatively the same as apples were 6% very poor, 8% poor, 33% fair, 41% good, and 12% excellent.

There was an average of 6.3 days suitable for fieldwork. Precipitation was still needed as moisture levels for topsoil and subsoil gained ground in the very short and short conditions categories. Topsoil moisture was 14% very short, 43% short, 42% adequate, and 1% surplus. Subsoil moisture was 30% very short, 30% short, and 40% adequate.

Precipitation in Garrett County for the month of August was 5.0 inches, up 1.2 inch from a 3.8 inch normal. In Allegany County the precip was 2.7 inches, down 0.5 inch from a 3.2 inch normal. Most of the state was still slightly below normal in August with the exception of some Eastern Shore counties. Worcester received 2.3 inches of rain, down 2.9 inches from a normal of 5.2. Somerset County received only 2.1 inches in August, down 2.5 inches from a 4.6 inch normal; and Wicomico County was down 2.7 inches from a 5.1 inch normal, having received only 2.4 inches.

Maryland's crop progress (percentages) for the week ended September 7, as compared to last week, last year, and the 1992-1996 average (in that order) was: Field corn, dough stage, 85%, 83%, 87%, and 88%; dent, 57%, 53%, 62%, and 68%; mature corn, 12%, 7%, 19%, and 25%.

Soybeans, bloomed, 96%, 95%, 93%, and 98%; setting pods, 83%, 82%, 88%, and 87%; turned, 11%, 10%, 5%, and 11%.

The percentage of harvesting progress for the following crops is shown in this order: this week, last week, last year, and 1992-1996 average. Tobacco, harvested, 73%, 67%, 84%, and 65%. Field corn, silage, 22%, 15%, 21%, and 27%.

Ginseng From Southeast U.S. Shipped To Britain

American growers are bringing exciting new plants to British buyers. This year's Four Oaks Horticultural Trade Show near Manchester, England, will include five companies from the southeastern United States exhibiting some traditional plant material at attractive prices as well as some exciting new offerings.

For many years, ginseng from the forests of the eastern U.S. has been known in the herbal market for its high quality, but its equally high cost has prevented widespread ornamental use of this attractive plant. Now, through Chesapeake Plant Traders of Maryland, landscapers and garden centers will be able to offer this long-lived perennial to their customers.

The ginseng plant has many characteristics which make it desirable for the amenity market as well as the homeowner. Ginseng prefers a shady location, requires a minimum of maintenance, and is hardy to -10° F (-23° C). Lustrous leaves appear in April, topped by deep ruby red flower clusters in July and August, just when the summer garden needs a touch of color. Tea lovers can brew the leaves for a cup of their own ginseng tea to savor during the long winter months.

In addition to the ginseng, Chesapeake Plant Traders has an array of interesting lining out material and plugs for trees and shrubs. Another grower from the U.S., Cherry Lake Farms of Florida, will be offering a wide selection of containerized trees and shrubs, including magnolias, lagerstroemia x fauriei and containerized Washingtonian palms.

This mutually profitable relationship developed out of last year's Four Oaks show, when the camellias were first exhibited on this side of the Atlantic under the auspices of the Southern United States Trade Association (SUSTA), a trade organization which promotes exports of agricultural products from the southeastern U.S. In addition to Cam Too Camellia Nursery, this year's SUSTA exhibitors include Cherry Lake Farms (containerized ornamental trees), Chesapeake Plant Traders, Inc. (perennials and herbaceous plants), Classic Groundcovers, Inc. (liriope, hosta, and other ground covers), and Wilbro, Inc. (slow release fertilizer products). There will be other exciting new product introductions from the U.S. at this year's Four Oaks Show.

SUSTA is a non-profit association of the 15 southern states and the commonwealth of Puerto Rico, working together to increase awareness of the diversity of plant and nursery products from the southern U.S. Products include native American items and unique varieties such as winter-hardy camellias, palms, and aquatic plants; new ficus cultivars; native ferns and wild flowers; container-grown trees and shrubs; ground covers, perennials, ornamental grasses and herbs; seeded mulch blankets; and bulk organic materials. Plants can be shipped as liners for finishing or as containers and packaged goods ready for installation or retail sale. For additional information, those interested may contact J. M. Storrs, Maryland Department of Agriculture.

. . . but about the most trailblazing you'll be doing is finding your way from your back door to the tennis courts, enjoying an evening stroll down lovely wooded trails, or slipping over to your own private dock for some of the best boating in all of Maryland — skimming atop the tranquil, blue waters of Deep Creek Lake.

And though it may seem to be a world unto itself — with its peaceful setting and crisp, clean air — this little diamond in Garrett County's crown is literally just minutes from great shopping, two 18-hole golf courses, a movie theater, and all the fine dining that makes being on the mountain top so special.

Small Business Classes To Start Sept. 18 At GCC

"Small Business Connections," which is scheduled for September 18, is a "kick off" event for a series of classes at Garrett Community College designed to help those who are starting or managing small businesses be successful. Presenters for the evening will include: Julie Hill, a loan officer with First United National Bank & Trust; Clay Garland, a certified public accountant; Sandy Flanigan, a real estate professional; David Martin, Garrett County Clerk of Court; Donald Goldbloom, an attorney; Jerry Ferguson, a Nationwide Insurance representative; Beverley Wilson, a specialist in home-based businesses; and Mimi or Dave Demaree, owners of Demaree Inflatable Boats, Inc. This special event will be from 6 to 9 p.m. at GCC.

"This class and others in the series will provide an excellent opportunity for anyone who has ever considered starting his/her own business, or who is currently operating a small business and is considering growth or change," stated Sandy Major, program coordinator.

The second class in the series, "Developing a Business Plan and Finances," will meet four consecutive Tuesday evenings from September 23 through October 14 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. A business plan will help those who are starting or expanding their businesses use resources most effectively to achieve success, Major said, adding that it is also required by financial institutions for loans. "It helps in working out cash flow problems, budgeting resources, and planning for growth. This class emphasizes the elements of a good business plan and the essentials of finance necessary to run a small business," she said.

"Records Management for the Small Business," the third class in the series, focuses on how to set up basic records that are required for any business This class will cover: inventory and personnel records, receipts and disbursements, and federal, state, and local tax forms. It will meet from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. on October 21 and 28.

The final class in the series, "Accounting I for the Small Business," is designed to help small business owners understand their financial position. It will be offered from November 4 through December 2. The class, which will meet for five consecutive Tuesday evenings, is designed for those who do the bookkeeping and accounting for small businesses. It will start with very basic material. Participants in the class will learn about the fundamentals of accounting, effective problem solving techniques for accounting, and ways to develop and use financial statements. It will also cover various aspects of analyzing, classifying and recording transactions, and payroll and depreciation. The class will meet from 6:30 until 9:45 p.m.

The accounting, recordkeeping, and business plan classes will be taught by Clay Garland, a certified public accountant who has recently retired to the area. "His years of experience in helping small businesses get started and grow will be very beneficial to those taking the classes," Major said.

It is possible to register for one or for all of these classes by contacting Cathy Fazenbaker or Sandy Major in the Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3080. Registration can also be made through the Continuing Education Division at GCC.

FIRST UNITED HOSTS TEACHER - Athena Taylor, left, accounting and word processing taachar at Southern High School, was hosted recently by First United National Bank & Trust so she could be informed as to what skills and qualities the local financial institution looks for in a high school graduate who la seeking employment. Conducting the tour for her waa Judi Pownall, First United customer service officer, also pictured. "I have a new awareness of job responsibilities and career possibilities that I can ahare with my students," Taylor said, noting her appreciation to First United and commenting on the "excellent teamwork" she observed smong bank employees and departments.

LWV Updates "The Elected" Free Brochure

The 1997 version of "The Elected," updated every other year by the League of Women Voters (LWV) of Garrett County, is now available for distribution. This brochure contains the names, addresses, and phone numbers of state and national elected officials, the names and phone numbers of local elected and appointed officials, and local agency heads.

Copies of this brochure are being distributed to all branches of the Ruth Enlow Library, the Garrett County Courthouse, and other locations/agencies.

The local league has dedicated this printing to the memory of Jessie McCullough, one of the founding members, who died last fall. According to a spokesperson, LWV acknowledges those who made monetary contributions in Mrs. McCullough's name to support the printing of "The Elected": the Oakland Civic Club, the Council of the Alleghenies, and LWV members Maxine Combs, Edgar and Cosette Harman, Dorothy Leighton, Mary Elliott, Jane Ducoli, Edith Brock, Barbara Flinn, and Martha Jachowski.

Free copies of this brochure may be obtained by calling Donna Aspinall, LWV board member, at 301-334-1804 evenings or by contacting any other LWV board member.

The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan organization, which works to promote political responsibility through the informed and active participation of citizens in their government. The league does not support or oppose any political party or candidate. Membership in LWV is open to any person of voting age, male or female. For more information, persons may contact Virginia Grove, president of LWV of Garrett County, at 301-334-8269.

County's "Most Beautiful People" Are Announced

In a late press release this morning, the names of Wilford (Bill) and Hazel Meyers were announced as Garrett County's Most Beautiful People. Residents of Friendsville, the couple is known for volunteer work, chiefly with the Disabled American Veterans.

The couple will be featured in the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade, and will also be guests of honor at a state event hosted by Governor Parris Glendening.

The runners-up for the local award were Dr. David Bolinger and Special Investigator Patrick Kelly.

A feature story on the Meyerses will appear in an upcoming issue of The Republican.

NOW THAT'S A FLOWER BED! Josaph and Sally Martin have their own idea of what a flower bed is, and they have displayed this creation in their yard along Hutton Road, near Crellin. The wrought iron bed, which the Martins purchased at a yard sale, has been blooming since May and has brought the family some attention from passers-by. The "mattress" consists of bright marigolds and petunias, and visitors from as far away as Texas have asked permission to photograph the novel arrangement. The family has promised to replant the bed next spring. The county is experiencing a somewhat unusually pleasant late summer, with temperatures allowing for the continued blooming of many a blossom. Roses are exceptionally lovely at this time, and the morning glories persist in their daily greeting of the sun. Leaves are beginning to don their brilliant hues, though, as the September 22 equinox nears.

Friendsville Six Re-Dedication, Fly-Over Slated

A memorial to six young men from Friendsville who died in Vietnam will be rededicated Saturday, Sept. 20. During the ceremony, the sky above Friendsville will ring with the sound of military planes offering a fly-over salute.

Danny Nicklow, Ross Fike, Charles Wayne Hook, Roger Garlick, Norman Eugene Thomas, and Thomas Fike were the young men who gave their lives in military service.

The Mountain District American Legion, Department of Maryland, has organized this commemoration, which will be held at the Friendsville Elementary School.

Originally erected in 1975, the memorial has been refurbished and covered with native cut stone.

The ceremony will begin at 2 p.m. The fly-over by the Maryland National Guard is scheduled for 2:15 p.m. Brigadier General Bruce F. Tuxill, assistant adjutant general at air headquarters, will represent the Air National Guard.

District chaplain Charles Griffith, Post 13, Cumberland, will give the invocation. The welcome will be given by Butch Robertson, district commander, and Rev. John Grant, member of Proctor Kildow Post 71, Oakland, will deliver the rededication message.

The Accident Concert Band, directed by Rev. William Karstens, will perform and solos will be sung by Dave Martin and Leslie Buckel.

Benediction will be given

Baltimore Man, Accused Of Abusing Baby, Is Indicted By Grand Jury

A Baltimore man accused of critically injuring a baby in a series of assaults has been indicted on multiple charges by the Garrett County September Term Grand Jury. Jerry Adam Helms Jr., 27, faces numerous assault, theft, and property destruction charges. He is currently being held in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of over $500,000 bond.

Helms has been charged with the following: two counts of child abuse, one count of third degree sexual offense, two counts of first degree assault, seven counts of second degree assault, reckless endangerment, three counts of first degree burglary, three counts of felony theft, three counts of malicious destruction of property, two counts of fourth degree burglary, one count of misdemeanor theft, and one count of second degree burglary.

The victim in the case is a nine-month-old female who continues to recover in Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va. She suffered assaults to her head, legs, arms, and buttocks, and was allegedly sexually abused. According to reports, Helms was a companion to the child's mother, who would bring the baby with her when she visited him at a mobile home camper, located near the Bear Creek Forest development just northwest of Accident.

In investigating the child abuse case, law enforcement officials linked the defendant to a series of burglaries that took place earlier this year along Sale Barn Road and Wagner Hill Road.

These crimes allegedly took place this spring and summer.

Al Maitland Questet Concert Set For October 3 On GCC Stage

A musical group that features a combination of rhythm and musical patterns reflecting a wide range of global influences, the Al Maitland Questet, will return to the Garrett Community College stage on October 3 for an 8 p.m. concert.

The questet is defined as "any number of musicians from around the world who perform together and are inspired by the African American creators of jazz." From a synthesis of "hot" and "cool" jazz, Afro-Cuban rhythm and reggaes with classical influences from African, Asian, American, and Latin traditions, the questet will present Afro-Cuban and Latin jazz.

Bandleader Al Maitland, who plays drums, vibes, and percussion, has toured for Columbia Artists and performed with artists such as composer Lalo Schifrin and guitarists Ai Viola and John Pisano. He has directed arts festivals and jazz festivals on the west coast and east coast and is currently executive director of the Prince George's Arts Council. He was the artistic director of the 1984 Olympics "Salute to America - Concert Series."

Maitland grew up in a housing project in Boston. "It was a prejudiced, biased, hostile environment," he said. "Being a drummer helped me transcend those conditions. It showed me a way out." He said that he decided to dedicate his life to the arts at the age of 12 when he attended the 1957

Feasibility Of Basing Ambulance At DCL Studied

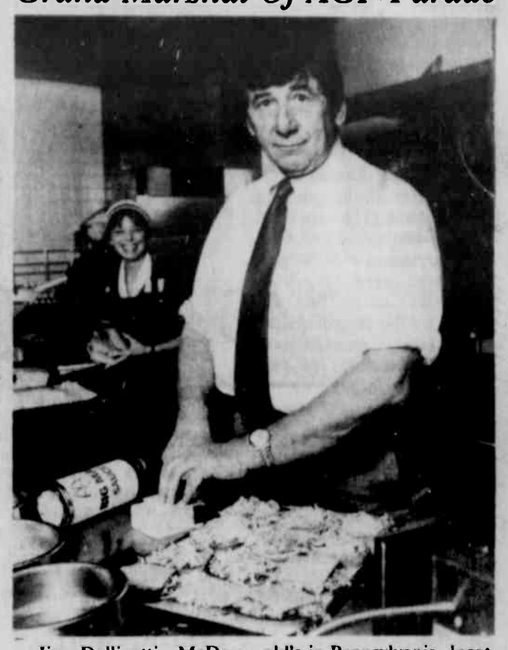
At the request of the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department, a study on the feasibility of establishing an ambulance service in the Deep Creek Lake area is being conducted by fire and rescue leaders in Garrett County. Brad Frantz, director of the county's Office of Emergency Management, met with the commissioners on Tuesday on a variety of EMS issues, including this feasibility study. He was accompanied by Bill Hardy, Advanced Life Support (ALS) coordinator for the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services System (MIEMSS) and Jean Tressler of Garrett Community College.

The Deep Creek department officials indicated to Dave Ramsey, Region I administrator for MIEMSS, that they are adding on to their building and wish to know if an additional bay should be built to accommodate an ambulance. In response, Frantz, Ramsey, and other staff members developed a pin map showing the location of all EMS calls during 1996. Frantz concluded that a high percentage of the county's total number of calls are concentrated in the lake area, although there is no ambulance service based in that area.

The influx of calls come from the Wisp Resort ski area during the winter and all around the lake in the summer and winter months. Both the Southern and Northern rescue squads respond to the ski area, where many calls are non-emergency.

"What you have happening is this," said Hardy, "the tour bus comes in from out of town, someone injures an ankle or a wrist, and an X-ray is needed. There is no other transportation but the bus, so the ambulance is called."

Bob Browning, president of the Deep Creek department, said his department is not interested in operating an ambulance service, but would make space available for an existing organization or new company to run an EMS from McHenry.



Currently the Southern squad is headquartered in Oakland and the Northern squad has bases in Grantsville, Friendsville, and Accident. Frantz said there are "absolutely no plans" to close any current squad base to man a new base at the lake.

Frantz reported that meetings have been held with the rescue squads and the fire department to review the pin map, and that members will be working together to develop a plan to address the increased EMS needs in the lake area.

Also at the Tuesday meeting with the commissioners, Frantz and Hardy asked that the fiscal authority allot $5,000 to help fund ALS training courses at GCC. The local college sponsors the course, which provides paramedic training to local individuals willing

Jim Delligatti Will Serve As Grand Marshal Of AGF Parade

Jim Delligatti, McDonald's entrepreneur and creator of the world renowned Big Mac, will serve as Grand Marshal of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade, which will begin at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 11, in downtown Oakland.

The Big Mac story started in 1956 at a restaurant show in Chicago. Delligatti had spent 4½ years observing the fast-service/drive-in restaurant phenomenon in California and had decided to open his own fast-service restaurant. Luckily for Delligatti and McDonald's, a corporate rep at the show convinced him to open a McDonald's franchise instead. In 1957, Delligatti and John Sweeney Sr. opened the first McDonald's in Pennsylvania, located in Pittsburgh's North Hills. It was only the 30th McDonald's in the entire country. It was the first of 47 stores that he would own and operate within a 50-mile radius of Pittsburgh, making him one of the single largest franchise holders in McDonald's history.

Today, Delligatti and his son Jim own and operate 12 of these. In 1967, Delligatti decided his customers would enjoy biting into something even bigger than McDonald's double hamburger or cheeseburger and, after briefly experimenting with a combination of ingredients, he created the Big Mac, the flagship sandwich which today accounts for more than 15% of annu-

Citizens' Group Opposing Highway Project To Host Meeting Monday

There will be a public informational meeting next Monday, Sept. 22, at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College regarding the proposal to build a north-south four-lane limited-access interstate highway through the county.

The meeting was called by the citizens' group, Garrett County Conservative Action for a Rural Environment (G.C./CARE), whose stated intention is to ensure that the opposing viewpoints on the issue can be presented to the public in a fair, controlled manner.

Oakland attorney Robert E. Watson will serve as the meeting's facilitator. Fifteen minutes have been allotted per presentation, then the floor will be opened to audience participation in the form of clarifying questions and comments. This audience participation segment of the meeting will be timed as well, in order to ensure that the maximum number of voices and viewpoints are heard from those present.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has been invited to attend the meeting as guests. The commissioners discussed the invitation with James Hinebaugh, director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department, on Tuesday during the Commissioners' regular public meeting. While the three elected officials expressed their understanding of G.C./CARE's concern, they also were hesitant to take a leadership role in the meeting because they said they feel they are lacking in information about the highway issue. Saying they felt that they were being asked to "take a stand" on the issue, the commissioners said that they are not prepared to do so. Hinebaugh said that it was his belief that G.C./CARE was attempting to "set them up" for some kind of public confrontation that would not serve any purpose at all.

However, G.C./CARE member Jaime Alvarez said in a later interview that the organization had simply extended an invitation to the commissioners to be present, and that they were not expected to take a leadership role at all. The meeting is to be public, Alvarez said, and all members of the public are invited to attend, including elected officials. The organization's members do wish, however, for the elected officials of the county to become aware of the number of individuals who are opposed to a four-lane highway.

A statement released by G.C./CARE this morning said, "The sole intent of Local Athletes To Compete In Senior Olympics

Three Garrett County seniors will compete in the Maryland State Senior Olympics, which will be held Sept. 25-27 at Towson State University. Those local athletes slated to compete are Mary Sutcliffe, Dick Good, and Earl Wentz.

Mrs. Sutcliffe will be the flag bearer for the county in the opening ceremonies, which will be held on Sept. 24, beginning at 4:30 p.m. She was presented with a Garrett County flag this week by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

Mrs. Sutcliffe, 69, will participate in nine events, including four swimming contests (50/100/200 yard backstroke and 50-yard freestyle), the softball throw, and the one-mile recreational walk.

The Senior Olympic cycling event was held on Sept. 12, at which Mrs. Sutcliffe won a gold medal in the 5-K and a silver in the 10-K.

Accident resident Dick Good, 67, is the current United States champion in the 65-69 age group in the 100-K event. He has entered four events in the upcoming competition, including the 10-K and 5-K, the 1,500 mile run, and the 1,500 walk race. Good is the past president of USA Track and Field.

Earl Wentz, 81, will compete in the 100 meter and 200 meter track events. He recently competed in the National Senior Olympics, held in Arizona, and placed fifth in this event.

All three athletes have participated in numerous Senior Olympics contests.

The events in the Senior Olympics are varied to allow for participation at all fitness levels. In addition to those contests already noted, participants can enter competition in bowling, horse shoes, golf, tennis, and others. There are 10 age categories, each spanning four years, beginning with age 50. The primary goal of the program is to promote physical fitness and active living among seniors.

Staff at Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging hope to develop a local senior Olympic contingent to represent the county on a yearly basis, according to a spokesperson. The goal is to begin training for indoor events during the winter months, followed by track and field training in early spring.

The Maryland event is held each September in Towson. For more information about the Senior Olympics, persons may contact the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431.

Traffic Stop Nets Handgun, Leads To Arrest

Stopped for driving at a excessive speed, a Pittsburgh, Pa., driver was found to be carrying a loaded handgun.

A report filed at Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, stated that Edward M. Finn, 27, was southbound on Route 219, around 11:25 a.m. on Sept. 10. Reportedly traveling at 68 miles per hour in a 50 mph zone, he was stopped near Pud Miller Road and asked by the trooper for his driver's license and vehicle registration.

The report said that Finn advised the officer that there was a loaded handgun in his glove compartment where he carried his registration. The gun was found to be loaded, and it was seized along with a loaded spare magazine, the police said.

Finn advised the police that he had a Pennsylvania permit which was not with him at the time. He allegedly had no Maryland permit for the handgun.

He was charged for transporting a handgun in his vehicle. The report stated that Finn was courteous at all times.

Harford County Man Charged In Spring Burglaries

A third subject has been arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in connection with the burglaries of several homes in the Bear Creek Forest development northwest of Accident that occurred this spring.

Jason Daniel Mallon, 19, Edgewood, was arrested Monday and is currently being held in the Garrett County Jail on a $25,000 bond. He has been charged with two counts of first-degree burglary, two counts of felony theft, and two counts of malicious destruction of property.

Leads developed by sheriff's deputies led to Mallon's arrest at his Harford County residence. Upon questioning, Mallon reportedly admitted to assisting Jerry Adam Helms and Robert Lee Tucker in carrying out three residential burglaries in the development where Helms and Tucker maintained a part-time residence in a motor home on a lot owned by Tucker's father.

In other Garrett County sheriff's news, two car accidents resulted in three individuals being transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital (GCMH) for treatment of their injuries.

In the first accident, two men were injured at 1:30 a.m. on Sept. 12 when their vehicle traveled off Hutton Road near Dilly Road and come to rest between two trees. Emergency personnel from the sheriff's office, Southern Rescue Squad, and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department responded. The driver, Brian P. Mills, 32, Erie, Pa., and his passenger, Paul B. Fitzgerald, 27, Findley Lake, N.Y., were both transported to GCMH by the rescue squad. Mills was subsequently charged with driving while intoxicated.

In the second accident, which occurred at 2:20 a.m. on the morning of Sept. 14, Kenneth Orville Berg Jr., 37, was trapped in his vehicle for nearly an hour after his car ran off Cranesville Road and struck a tree in the vicinity of Herrington Manor Road. Sheriff's deputies responded along with the Southern Rescue Squad and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. After he was freed from his vehicle Berg was transported to GCMH by the rescue squad. No charges have been filed.

MLP Graduation Party Hearings Held In Court

A group of adults facing various charges stemming from a Mtn. Lake Park party this past June celebrating high school graduation had their hearings in Garrett County District Court recently.

Two convictions were passed in the matter while the rest of the charges were either placed on the stet docket by the court or not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

Philip Edward Deren, 21, State College, Pa., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana. Judge Ralph M. Burnett gave Deren a 30-day sentence, suspending all but two days. Deren was also fined $100, placed on six months of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. Carlise faced addition charges of possession of drug paraphernalia and contributing to a condition which encouraged the delinquency of a child, neither of which were prosecuted.

Both of the party's hosts, Ronald Sunny, 32, and his wife, JoAnn Sunny, 37, each faced a charge of contributing to a condition which encouraged the delinquency of a child, which were placed onto the stet docket. This means that the cases can be recalled for trial anytime within the next 365 days if the court deems it necessary. A condition of the stet was that both subjects complete 20 hours of community service each. Additional charges of possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, and furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors faced by the Sunnys were not prosecuted.

Jon Paul Patrick Purdy, 23, and John Wayne Rank, 21, both of Oakland, were each not prosecuted on charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, and contributing to a condition which encouraged the delinquency of a child. Both men are required to complete 20 hours of community service each.

A charge of possession of an alcoholic beverage by an underage drinker, faced by each of the following individuals, was placed onto the stet docket: Joseph Leon Dever, 18, Crystal Marie Vecchioni, 19, Daniel Matthew Huber, 18, Jason Alan Huber, 19, Jousha Byrne Purdy, 19, each of Mtn. Lake Park; Thomas James Griffith, 18, Jason Michael Dove, 20, Jeremy Shawn Baker, 20, Kelly Marie Avona, 18, each of Oakland; and Wesley Daniel Ross, 19, Grantsville.

A condition of each stet is that each person complete 20 hours of community service. Additional charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia faced by each of the aforementioned persons were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

GCC Fosters Re-Location Of Medical Transcription Service Co.

A new medical transcription services company is now in the formation stages as a McHenry corporation. The Accuracy Center, Inc. (TAC), will offer medical transcription services on a local and global basis, and plans to employ graduates of Garrett Community College's newest training program: Medical Language Specialist (MLS). TAC will also be GCC's newest incubator company. On a conservative basis TAC hopes to create 25 jobs per year, many of which will be home based, according to a spokesperson.

An open house to introduce the community to the new MLS training program is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 20, from 9 to 11:30 a.m., in the Continuing Education Building on the GCC campus. People interested in the MLS program, which is scheduled to start in late October, are invited to attend. No advanced reservation is necessary.

For further information about the open house, persons may telephone Tom Kierstead at 301-387-3084. Individuals enrolled in the new Medical Language Specialist program may be eligible for federal financial aid.

TAC's president, Debbie M. Bishop, has been a GCC adjunct instructor in computer applications since 1994. In addition to starting TAC, Bishop will become Continuing Education's first lead instructor preparing students to become professional medical language specialists. She earned a bachelors of business administration degree and a masters of science in health care policy degree from Mercer University in Atlanta, Ga.

"We are very fortunate to have someone with Debbie Bishop's qualifications and experience as our first MLS instructor," said Lowell Bender, dean of Continuing Education. This program is a first for GCC. Not only are we starting a new academic program that will train people for jobs, but we are incubating a business right here on the GCC campus that will be an employer of many of the people we train." GCC President Dr. Steve Herman echoed Bender's remarks, stating that this is a "unique opportunity" for Garrett Countians.

"We are at last marrying eduction to job creation," Herman said. "I hope that this initiative will result in over a hundred jobs here in Garrett County within five years."

"This link of employers to training programs is very important to future job creation," said Bishop. "It will ensure that GCC's graduates meet TAC's requirements, since the TAC president is also responsible for GCC's curriculum design and lead instruction."

On a regular basis, GCC's MLS curriculum will be fine-tuned to meet TAC's changing needs. While the first training program is underway, TAC will be soliciting transcription contracts with hospitals and other medical facilities and practitioners that will allow the center to employ graduates from GCC's training program. The students who graduate will be health care professionals, able to take advantage of the apprenticeship and other employment opportunities at TAC and at other transcription companies in the United States and abroad, Bishop said.

According to Bishop, Continued Voice Recognition (CVR) is on the horizon for the medical transcription industry. In preparation for this technological change, both GCC and TAC will utilize Dictaphone's Enterprise System, which will support the new CVR technology. Although medical transcription will not be eliminated, the future for medical transcriptionists will lie more in an editor's role. Both GCC and TAC will implement the same Dictaphone Enterprise System, so graduates should have no adaptation problems.

"TAC could be located anywhere," Bishop said. "But it will be a Maryland corporation headquartered in Garrett County, because the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative installed the affordable advanced telecommunications infrastructure TAC needs to be competitive in the global marketplace. GCC took the initiative to recruit TAC as an incubator. The support from the college was a key factor in our decision to relocate."

Bishop is currently the president of Bishop & Associates of Fairmont, W.Va. In former positions, she served in executive capacities for a mental hospital chain, a pediatric home care company, a medical supply company, and a medical transcription company. She also worked in sales and financial positions for both Ford Motor Company and Chemical Bank.

Her husband, Kenneth W. Bishop, CEO of Bishop & Associates, will step in as TAC's start-up CEO. After 20 years of combined senior level positions with Chemical Bank and CitiBank and 10 years as a small business consultant specializing in health care, start-ups are familiar territory for him, his wife said.

The Bishops will be relocating to Deep Creek Lake from Morgantown, W.Va., in the near future, according to the spokesperson.

THE ACCURACY CENTER, INC., (TAC) is the namo of a new McHenry-based company that will provida medical transcription aarvicaa, and also provide employment for graduates of Garrett Community College's newest training program whereby students can become certified as medical language apecialists (MLS). The cooperative agreement was recently approved by the company and by the college administration. Pictured from left above are: Lowell Bender, GCC associate dean of continuing education; Tom Kierstead, assistant director of the GCC program; TAC president; and Dr. Stephen Herman, GCC president. No Hunting Allowed Within Oakland Limits

Mayor Asa McCain and the Oakland town council have issued a public notice stating that hunting is prohibited within the town limits.

The caveat includes Broadford Lake Recreation Area and any other public property owned by the town of Oakland. Violators will be prosecuted.

McCain explained that the ordinance forbidding hunting within town limits has been on the books for decades. "Every year we have a few complaints from residents," he said.

He also said that there has been gun shot damage to town property in past years. Some has required expensive repair.

The targets for these in-town hunters have often been deer. "Deer learn that town is a good place to hide out because there is no hunting," McCain said. But apparently some people can not resist the temptation to take aim at them.

This public notice will serve to remind people of the ordinance. Then should people violate it, they will be aware that there are consequences, McCain said.

AGF To Again Host Maryland Fiddle Contest

The "Official" Maryland State Fiddle Championships will be held Saturday, Oct. 11, featuring a full evening of "foot-stomping" music at the Southern Garrett County Senior High School gymnasium during Garrett County's 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival.

This contest features competitions between top fiddle players from numerous states, and contestants will be judged in three amateur categories--age 60 and over, 13-59, and youth (12 and under). First-, second-, and third-place winners in the adult categories will be awarded prize money and trophies, and prize money and medals will be awarded in the youth category. The fiddle contest will also feature a "Professional/Championship" category, with prize money awarded to first- and second-place winners.

The evening will begin at 7 p.m., and contestants should register one hour prior to the contest. Doors will open at 6:15 p.m. Refreshments will be available. Admission is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

This contest is sponsored by American Trust Bank and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Tickets are available at the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council Office, the Garrett County Information Booth on Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake, and at the door. For more information, an application to participate, and a free festival brochure, persons may contact Festival Headquarters, Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581, telephone 301-334-1948, E-Mail GCTourism@garrett.ncin.com.

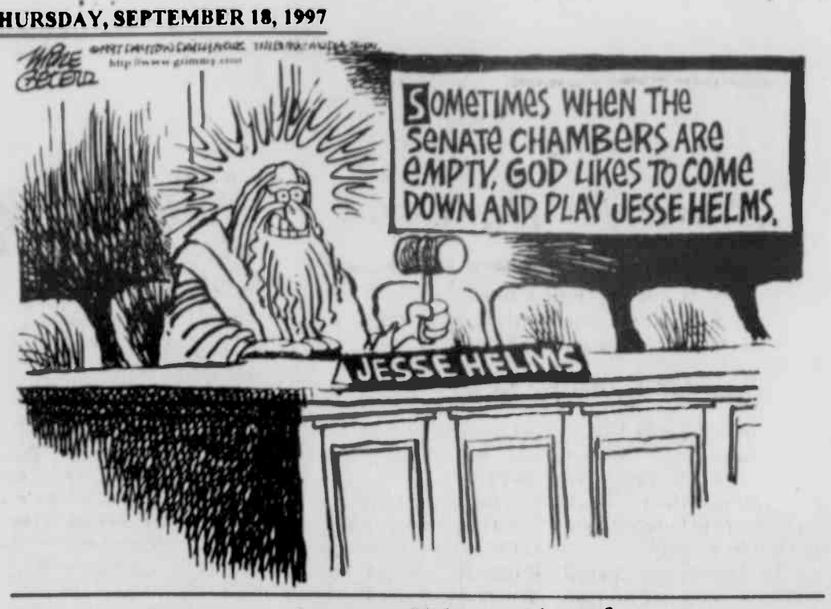
A Win-Win Arrangement...



High unemployment has always been a problem in Garrett County, and many people have many ideas about how it can/should be solved. However, some truly impressive examples of real action on tackling this problem can be found at Garrett Community College.

Today's issue of this newspaper contains an article (as did last week's) about a new cooperative arrangement between GCC and a new business called The Accuracy Center, Inc. (TAC). Basically, GCC will provide the training via its new Medical Language Specialist program and TAC will provide the employment for the graduates of the program. The TAC president is also involved in the training program in terms of its design and instruction. It is hoped that the joint venture will ultimately provide as many as 100 jobs within the next five years, as TAC pulls contracts into the county from hospitals and various other medical facilities located throughout the country.

While the primary mission of Garrett Community College, and all institutions of higher learning, is to provide education leading to a college degree or certification for its students, we appreciate the fact that the leadership of GCC includes as part of its mission the encouragement, enhancement, and creation of economic development in our community. GCC could choose to simply do the former - educate - and leave economic development to local government and the business community.

Colleges, government, and business, all working together, creates a win-win arrangement, whereby all of the players benefit: the college, local business, local government, and the citizens of the community who are in need of additional employment opportunities. TAC officials said that it was because of this foresight and initiative of GCC that they decided to re-locate in Garrett County.

We hope those creative minds at GCC keep right on churning out additional exciting ideas that are making such a positive difference in the economy of our county.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I want to thank the people who gave to the Len Greenwalt Transplant Fund: Reva Martin, Marvin Tanner, Richard Gibson, Ken Taylor and a very special thanks to the Faith Church, which responded so generously! Thanks to the generosity of these individuals, he has enough to have the surgery. He needed $120,000, and to date he has about $101,000. He is still waiting, and things are at a standstill at this time. I will update things as they progress.

Sincerely,
Wildean Frantz

To the Editor:

A nine-part polling question for the court of public opinion to put a nail in the coffin of the current debate:

If you had an extra $300,000,000, what would you do?

1) Send a check for $30,000 to each household in the county to stimulate the local economy.

2) Build a world-class hike/bike Garrett County trail system linked to existing nature trials in Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

3) Dam the Youghiogheny River both above and below Swallow Falls and develop Muddy Creek with an observation tower, souvenir shops, and a state-of-the-art falls lighting system.

4) Give it to the Chamber of Commerce to support their "Norman Rockwell concept" of a four-lane Toronto-to-Miamicontinental truck route running through 50 miles of Garrett County's farms and forests ("site TBD").

5) Put a monkey in a rocket and send it (the monkey, not the money) to the moon.

6) Pray for divine intervention.

7) None of the above.

8) No opinion.

To the Editor:

In response to the Murphys' letter in last week's Republican:

First, I would like to say that Mark Proulx and his "family" are in no way family of ours. And you think we should try to make amends? Not in any of our lifetimes! When you can't change your ways and you pay more attention to someone else's family and life than your own, then you need help.

Second, who do you think you are? I believe in my last letter to the editor, I was speaking to Mark. You know nothing about me or my family. Don't feel sorry for us; we're going to be fine and so is Randy, because he has the love of his family and his true friends, the people who really, truly know him and we know that he is a great person. So, please don't feel compelled to write your sympathies to us. If you're not behind Randy, then you're not behind us! There are thousands of people who say that he did a great job as sheriff and I believe that as well. People who don't know what they're talking about and who have a personal vendetta against him should keep their opinions to themselves.

I honestly believe that he is better off now, out of the public eye and away from all of the scrutiny. Because of the person that he is, he doesn't deserve the constant ridicule that he has had to endure since before he was even in office. All of this dislike for my brother wouldn't have anything to do with the controversy surrounding your own son not so long ago, would it?

I, too, have always been a firm believer of the phrase, "What comes around,goes around" and hopefully Mark, as well as others, will keep that very close in their minds.

To the Editor:

The Our Town Theatre Board of Directors wishes to thank Tom and Susan Peterson for the wonderful performance and hard work they put into the benefit concert at the Oakland fire hall on September 13. They worked on this project for months, produced and staged the whole thing themselves. On Saturday evening the hall was full and the crowd was well pleased.

We would also like to make public our appreciation to the friends, on stage and off, who helped make the evening a great success.

Thanks to Tom Taylor and Dave Hider, who came from Ohio to entertain us. Thanks to Barbara Farmer, Mike Broderick and David Peterson. Thanks to The Men of Accord—Ron Leaf, Dr. Jack Harvey and Charley Titrolo. Thanks to Chip Lee for running sound. That you would snare your marvelous talents for our benefit is gratifying and humbling. You are good people.

In our call for baked goods to feed a hungry intermission crowd, the response was also outstanding. Thank you one and all. I stood by the two long tables covered with an incredible assortment of cakes, pies and goodies with a stern warning to keep my fingers off —the hardest job of the evening.

Thanks to the mighty men and women who moved all the hardware into the hall, and then moved it out again. This included chairs, platforms, lights, sound equipment and a baby grand piano. Sheesh!

Special thanks to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department for use of the hall. Also to Delano's for the carpet on stage and to the Party House for filling the balloons. Thanks to Marvin's Men's Wear and Deep Creek Pharmacy for selling tickets and collecting money. Special thanks to The Republican for the extensive press coverage of Our Town Theatre's inception and on-going events. Thanks to Trader's Landing, whose generous challenge grant will double every dollar we collect. It is this spirit of giving back to the community by individuals, businesses and organizations that inspired us to begin a theatre in the first place. We hope we prove worthy of their attention.

And audience, thanks for coming and, as Red Skelton had always said, "May God bless."

Sincerely yours,
Richard Hill

To the Editor:

The following are more points to consider on the proposal to build a north-south interstate highway through Garrett County:

1. The proposal to build this highway is in keeping with the unnatural progression of things as they have come to be ordered in this greedy, consumer driven world.

2. Many individuals here and elsewhere consume far more resources than they really need in order to be alive and well, with adequate amounts of food, water, clothing, and shelter.

3. The intellectual and scientific rationalizations excusing excessive consumption of resources are self-centered and deluded.

4. "Things" are manufactured somewhere. Someone else's "backyard" is overdeveloped with factories and highways so people here can have the "things" they want.

5. Some people want to stop a highway project here; yet by their lifestyle they say "build one somewhere else."

6. One is naive to think that one can escape overdevelopment just by moving. It will follow as long as individuals continue to consume and destroy too much.

7. What one consumes contributes directly to the amount of destruction done to the earth and other life forms.

8. The earth is not ours to destroy. Plainly, it is not ours at all.

9. You want to stop a highway -- stop the demand for highways. You want to stop the waves of destruction -- each one of us must change the way we live in relationship to the earth and to the Source of all Life.

I hope there is a good turnout at the GC/CARE meeting set for Monday, Sept. 22, at 7 p.m. in the GCC auditorium.

Sincerely yours,
Ken Bauer

To the Editor:

We attended a meeting of C.A.R.E. last evening and were appalled to hear what the feds are planning for us in the matter of putting a north-south international trade route through Garrett County. They actually have it following Route 219. Now let's just think a minute here about how they can do this:

1. Coming down through McHenry won't disrupt too many folks -- there is probably enough land there to widen the road to, essentially, six lanes until you get to the 219 bridge. Here we have a bit more of a problem, beyond that of having to widen the bridge, for on the other side we will have to remove all the homes and businesses on the east side of the road to acquire the needed width. But that's ok, because with the limited access road, no one would be able to get to them anyway, since the interchanges would be spaced about 10 miles apart.

2. Or, what they could do is build an elevated roadway, starting at the north side of the 219 bridge, which would go to about Sand Flat Road, and perhaps, if we could talk them into another interchange there, we would still have access to the homes in that area. This would alleviate having to do all the costly purchase of homes and businesses, which will probably disappear anyway, because if the noise of the trucks on the roadway doesn't drive people away, the toxic wastes from petroleum will.

3. But if that doesn't sound too practical either, then they can just run the interstate along the east side of the county, the whole length of the Savage State Forest area into the Potomac State Forest. Then, between cutting of the trees for the road way and the thousands that will die from the petroleum pollution, we won't have to do all that work for the Autumn Glory Festival, because there won't be any glory in our autumns.

Wake Up, Garrett County! Write to the elected officials. How can we let this destruction come to pass?

Most Sincerely,
Carol J. Moss

To the Editor:

Some weeks ago, in your editorial, you asked what the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake thought about the prospect of locating a portion of the North/South international trade route interstate highway through Garrett County. Our Board of Directors carefully considered the matter and adopted the enclosed Resolution and Addendum.

When reading and thinking about our position taken, it is important to keep the following in mind.

- We represent the property owners in the Deep Creek Basin and in that capacity, we strive daily to preserve and enhance the natural beauty of our environment at the Lake. Therefore, we will do all that we can to have nothing adverse affect our properties.

- We recognize that development is inevitable esnecially for a region so full of the wonderful outdoor experience that we enjoy. To suggest that no further development should occur is not realistic. Rather, we believe development should be carefully planned and carried out in a way that preserves our beauty.

- We are part of Garrett County and want to aid in whatever way possible to the enhancement of the economic well being of all citizens of the county.

On behalf of the POA Board of Directors, we thank you for publishing our Resolution and Addendum (which follows).

Gerald A. Polansky
President

The Board of Directors of the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake, Inc. (POA), offers the following resolution concerning a proposed limited access North/South highway in Garrett County.

1. The POA supports, in concept, a North/South highway through Garrett County if studies can demonstrate that such an interstate link would aid in economic development of the county.

2. To preserve the natural beauty of the Deep Creek Lake basin, the POA would object strenuously to the location of such a highway over, or in the vicinity of, Deep Creek Lake.

3. The POA urges the proponents of such a highway to, at the same time as seeking support for the concept, develop a consensus on a location most acceptable to all affected.

The POA believes the location is so very vital that, with the joining together of a concept and a location, the chances of the highway ultimately being constructed would be enhanced.

POA Board of Directors

To the Editor:

The proposed north/south limited access highway through the county, Continental One, will hasten the erosion of those qualities which make Garrett County special: architecturally and historically significant communities which cluster people and services, freeing the surrounding countryside to become one of the region's most beautiful and productive farmlands, as well as protecting much of the state's compelling natural and scenic wonders.

By contrast, the highway will spur the same kind of suburban sclerosis which characterizes the quality of life elsewhere: aimless architecture, incoherent housing patterns, yawning processions of "McStrip Marts," and a general (and rapid) degradation of the countryside culminating in the vistas of the beltway. This creates an enormously expensive and stressful system of living. For those who doubt the highway's inevitable impact, a visit to such places as Martinsburg, West Virginia, at the confluence of I-70 and I-81, should prove enlightening.

Long-time county residents rightly question the sanity of this way of life, while tourists, vacationers, and many who have established second or retirement homes arrive in Garrett County to find refuge in a better world. Our special heritage should not yield easily to notions of progress which do not have its protection at their strategic center. While, according to Delegate George Edwards, a major north/south corridor for the county has been in the works for more than 20 years, the thinking which conceived of it was guided by a generally unexamined economic impulse: job creation through commercial highways. But Bausch & Lomb did not leave this county because of inadequate highways, a fact which should instruct our political leadership. The county will fare much better in recruiting the industry of the future with quality of life incentives such as a beautiful and secure landscape, quality schools, and a community character different from the urban/suburban environments of the rest of the state. That difference creates a valuable capital. We should spend it wisely.

Those who endorse Continental One must account explicitly for all the costs of the highway, including especially the intangibles. At the same time, those who oppose must do so with a principled and credible vision of land use that encourages and guides growth to preserve what is special (and therefore valuable) -- transcending the not-in-my-backyard rhetoric which so limits their power of persuasion.

Sincerely,
Jon Boone

We just want to say Thanks!

All during the 1970s, Tom and I performed music together; all kinds: folk, rock, musical theatre, opera, jazz, classical... in all kinds of places: parties, churches, college concerts, weddings, night clubs, military celebrations, parades.... Then our children were born and days of practicing and nights of performing, while maintaining fulltime jobs, just didn't fit. A chapter in our lives had ended. We were ready to move on, but always wished we'd somehow documented our past to share with the next generations, or that maybe we could do it again.

When Tom returned from Operation Desert Storm in 1991, he was determined that we should do a concert. I dragged my feet; the improbability of it being as good as it used to be and the enormity of the undertaking were overwhelming. How and where could we do it?

Then Jane Avery created Our Town Theatre (OTT), and the people in this community were inspired to help her. We mentioned the possibility of doing a benefit concert and the OTT people sprang into action. Meetings were held, phone calls were made and the donations came pouring in. It was amazing: the Oakland Volunteer Firemen donated the space; Ecumenical Youth Ministries donated a stage; Ben Sincell donated and set up lighting and a backdrop; area musicians donated their sound systems and Chip Lee do-

FIGURING OUT TAXES

Preachers--like farmers and other genuinely self-employed persons--pay their taxes on a quarterly, estimated basis. Last Monday was the due date for our third quarter payments.

Every time I get a check from my church treasurer I have to remind myself that about a third of that check does not belong to me. I am a mere pass-through entity for the money on its way to public coffers.

Though I feel the pain of that as much as anyone, I do not resent it. This is a great country. As for all great things there is a price to be paid.

My frustration rises not from the amount that I pay, but from the extremely complicated system of figuring out how much I owe. My taxes had gotten more and more complicated each year until five years ago (when I got married) I gave up, and started going to an accountant.

Just to give you a flavor of what taxes are like for ministers, we are deemed self-employed for purposes of Social Security, but employees for purposes of federal income tax. It doesn't make any sense, of course, but then that is the point.

As I was preparing the checks and forms to send in our third quarter taxes, we received from our accountant a summary of changes for next year's taxes. Just the highlights of those changes took two pages of single-spaced typing. My impression is that the benefits conferred were made as complicated as possible.

The per-child tax credit should help most people, but even it is not straightforward. The credit is for children 16 and under (why 16? most kids are 17 or 18 by the time they graduate from high school). The credit is for $500 per child (except in the first year when it is $400 per child).

Our family benefits from this credit as much as any family. I don't mean to be ungrateful or to look a gift horse in the mouth, but it is hard to understand the rationale of the president and the Congress.

A year ago it was the same president and basically the same Congress that took welfare benefits away from poor families and, specifically, the per child benefit. They said that would take away the incentive for poor families and especially single women to have babies to collect the additional per child allowance. I do not understand why the same rationale does not apply to middle class families as well.

The net effect of the two changes (welfare and tax) is to take money away from the poorest of the poor and to give that money to middle class and even fairly affluent families who have joint adjusted gross income of $110,000.

We have decreased welfare for the poor and increased welfare for the middle class. Why? Well, in my opinion, the per child tax credit was more or less a bribe for the middle class so we would keep quiet about the real beneficiaries of the 1997 tax reform, namely the rich.

What the 1997 tax changes are about is enabling the rich to keep more of their money and enabling them to pass on what they keep to the next generations of their families. Those changes have to do with capital gains, death, and gift taxes.

Many would use what I have presented here as arguments for a flat tax, which is supposed to be fairer and simpler. But I am a Calvinist, and I believe in original sin.

As long as the wealthy have special access to our lawmakers, the tax code will continue to benefit them first and foremost. The same politicians who talk about a flat tax have enacted over 4,000 changes to the tax code in the past decade.

Flat tax: fairer and simpler? The same rule applies here as in the other realms of life: if it sounds too good to be true, then it usually is too good to be true.

Oakland Man Handed 18-Month Jail Term On Variety Of Charges

In last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings, an Oakland man was sentenced to one-and-one-half years in jail and ordered to pay over $1,000 in restitution to two of his victims after he was convicted on a variety of charges in connection with three separate thefts and a drug violation.

Terry Lee DeWitt, 22, was first arrested on June 3 by the Oakland Police Department for allegedly attempting to break into the coin machines at the Oakland Coin Laundry on Crook Street.

Following that arrest, DeWitt was reportedly implicated in a May theft of a boat stereo from the Red Run Cove area of Deep Creek Lake. A search warrant executed by Garrett County sheriff's deputies not only led to the recovery of the stereo from a kitchen cabinet at DeWitt's residence, but the discovery of a marijuana plant, suspected marijuana seeds and drug paraphernalia.

Additional court records indicate that subsequent questioning led to DeWitt's admission to carrying out an April burglary of Allegany Welding on Route 219 south of Oakland, taking several hundred dollars from the cash register and causing $550 worth of damage to the shop's door. DeWitt also admitted to cutting a pair of padlocks off a coin machine at the Southern Car Wash on Oakland Drive in June.

In his hearings before Judge Ralph M. Burnett last week, DeWitt faced a number of charges stemming from these incidents.

In the Oakland Coin Laundry theft hearing, DeWitt pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property and received a 30-day suspended sentence. An additional charge of possession of burglary tools was not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

In the boat stereo theft hearing, DeWitt pleaded guilty to felony theft and received an 18-month sentence with all but six months suspended, and was placed on two years of supervised probation.

In the drug violations hearing, DeWitt pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana, and received a 30-day suspended sentence. Additional charges of drug manufacturing with the intent to distribute and possession of drug paraphernalia were not prosecuted.

In the Allegany Welding burglary hearing, DeWitt pleaded guilty to charges of felony theft and fourth-degree burglary, and received a three and one half sentence, all but one year of which was suspended, and was ordered to pay $1,213 in restitution to Allegany Welding. An additional charge of felony malicious destruction of property was not prosecuted.

In the Southern Car Wash attempted theft hearing, DeWitt pleaded guilty to a charge of malicious destruction of property and received a 30-day suspended sentence and was ordered to pay $10 in restitution to the Southern Car Wash. An additional charge of second-degree burglary was not prosecuted.

The judge ordered DeWitt to serve each of the jail terms consecutively.

nated the expertise to run them; Jann Dehus's crew gathered chairs from all over; Richard Hill created posters; Judy Finkel's crew transformed a garage into a theatre; everybody donated refreshments for sale; work crews hauled all of these things, plus a grand piano in and out again; musical friends added their talents (it should be noted that Dr. David Sheets had to cancel at the last moment due to his father's serious health condition); tickets were printed and hundreds of people bought them. We can't name all of the people who so willingly labored on this project, but you know who you are. Be proud! What a wonderful community this is!

We were the visible ones, on the stage. But without all of these hundreds of others, the Our Town Theatre benefit concert on Sept. 13, 1997, would never have happened. You have helped create a wonderful memory for us and we were thrilled for the opportunity to give something back to the community.

We just want to say Thanks!

To the Editor;

While I normally make it a habit not to get involved in political issues, I believe the proposal for a limited access, north-south highway in Garrett County is so important that I must make an exception. I am very concerned that some of the things opponents of this initiative are saying may undermine the county's opportunity for this project, which I believe may be the single most important initiative in posturing our area for future economic growth.

As a native Garrett Countian, I have had the opportunity to observe the county evolve and grow over the years. By the way, in my opinion, Garrett County is actually a better place to live and raise a family than when I grew up here. I have also learned over time that change and growth are inevitable (the alternative is stagnation) and that the best course of action is to anticipate, plan, and shape or direct growth in a way that preserves the "quality of life." However, it is difficult to enjoy the quality of life the area has to offer if you are one of the many hundreds of people who are unemployed or working for low pay without benefits. On the other hand, if you are fortunate enough to have money, a good retirement income, or a good job, it could be things are just fine the way they are. The point is, quality of life means different things to different people. I believe a good north-south highway can actually benefit most people if properly planned.

Interstate 68, which runs east-west through the northern part of the county, serves as a good example of the benefits of good transportation infrastructure. Businesses along I-68 seem to be doing well. There are two relatively new businesses in the industrial park near Grantsville that are thriving (both recently expanded) and I have been told that two other businesses recently located in the Grantsville area because of access to I-68. As for the quality of life in that area, I doubt that many residents of the area would say it has deteriorated because of I-68. I know driving through Grantsville is a much better experience now then when local traffic was mixed with through traffic that traveled US Route 40, A similar case could probably be made for the Friendsville area. I also believe most residents of the county appreciate the improved access to other areas - Cumberland, Morgantown, Pittsburgh, etc. - and points beyond.

In spite of what some people have said, there is evidence that transportation infrastructure encourages economic growth. This has been my personal experience as well. Access to markets and transportation networks are important to business, especially manufacturers and distributors who provide good-paying jobs. It is clear the proposed highway is critical to the prosperity and growth of the county.

As to concerns that the proposed highway would "split the County in half," I believe it might have the opposite effect. It would actually improve access and travel between the northern and southern sections of the county and tie the county closer together.

There is no assurance that the federal government will fund the proposed International Trade Corridor, and without federal funding it will not be built. I suggest the smart thing to do is to keep our options open by supporting this initiative. Any decision on this proposal should be made with the benefit of a good understanding of the pros and cons and based on the best interest of the majority of the county's residents.

Respectively submitted,
Jack Alvarez

To the Editor:

My letter today concerns the smut that has been written on the cannon in the Crellin Park.

I didn't fight to get the cannon back to have it destroyed with smut like that written on it. What is our town coming to? The cannon has been in Crellin for at least 100 years. Whoever wrote that trash on it had better have the decency to go down and paint over it. I wonder what they would think if someone wrote something like that about them.

I don't know who did it and they'd better hope I don't find out. What they wrote you can't print in your paper or any other paper. Thank you.

Garrett County Self Storage

Frank and Linda Lancelotta, owners of Garrett County Self Storage, are celebrating their tenth anniversary in business here in Garrett County.

The Lancelottas opened Garrett County Self Storage in April of 1987 as the first storage facility in either Garrett or Allegany County. Originating with 109 units, they now provide 157 units, giving them the largest selection of both sizes and units in the area.

Frank and Linda lived on the shores of Deep Creek Lake for the first seven years they were in business, but decided to move off the lake and set up residence beside the business to provide more help to their clientele. They can provide better 24-hour security by living on site, as well as "hands-on service" when customers need assistance.

According to Frank, Garrett County Self Storage has many unique features in addition to on-site resident managers. They offer content insurance with any rental, a service that could prove invaluable to a client. He adds that it is also the only storage facility in the area with driveways wide enough to maneuver both boats and trailers and huge moving vans.

Another popular feature at Garrett County Self Storage is outside boat storage for only $20.00 a month.

The Lancelottas are community minded business owners, donating free storage space to many non-profit organizations such as Garrett County Community Action, Hospice of Garrett County, Habitat for Humanity, Garrett County Red Cross, Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Resource Center, and the Junior Woman's Civic Club. Half-price storage spaces are available to any and all Garrett County churches.

Garrett County Self Storage is located at 1206 Mosser Road in McHenry, one mile off Route 219. For further information and a free storage guide, interested persons may call Frank or Linda Lancelotta at 301-387-7160, seven days a week.

"We offer the lowest prices for storage in the area," says Frank. "We will not be underpriced. Garrett County Self Storage is simply the best."

GARRETT COUNTY SELF STORAGE, located on Mosser Road in McHenry, is owned and operated by Frank and Linda Lancelotta, who can be reached for more information at 301-387-7160 seven days a week.

To the Editor:

I am sending this letter to you on behalf of my daughter, who attends Northern Middle School. She was assigned to respond to a letter to the editor from The Republican newspaper. I was so impressed with her work that I felt the need to actually have it published. Following is the letter she wrote.

Dear Mr. Editor:

This letter is directed to those people who want the four-lane highway to go through our county. I disagree with your thoughts of making a four-lane highway through Garrett County. First, many businesses will come and then lots of people will come and finally Garrett County will be over-populated with people. Also if businesses come, how do we know they will stay and how do we know they will pay higher wages? Finally, are you really ready to give up the beauty of Garrett County for money? Now I am going to tell you my feelings and thoughts more deeply.

If large companies would come to Garrett County many people will come. If we would build a four-lane highway through Garrett County, we would have to build more houses and they will only be inches away from each other because we would have no room to part them. We will also have to build more schools for all the kids and people in the middle and high schools would be separated from their best friends, whom they grew up with all their lives. Finally, in my life I have realized some city people are not as nice as people from Garrett County. I get this impression from the news, newspapers, and people I have met. I also think there are more crimes in the city than there are in Garrett County.

What if businesses stay for a couple of years and just leave? First, if the businesses agree with the building of the four-lane highway, they had better think again, because most likely the new companies coming in will run the original businesses out of town. Finally, are you thinking about your future? What if the businesses are like Bausch & Lomb and leave in 25 years? I know a lady who goes to college with my mother. She started to work at Bausch & Lomb when it first came to Garrett County. She worked there for 25 years. Now she is around 50 years old and needs a job. But, who would hire a lady who is ready to retire in about 12 years?

I have a question to ask you: What are you willing to give up to make more money? What is really important? If we build high and big buildings we will not be able to wake up and look at the beautiful sunrise and nice light blue lake. And what about all the farming? What will happen to the corn, cows, and land? I ask you, is money really that important to you to take away the "country" of Garrett County and turn it in to a city? I also want to say to you that if you want to build a city to make more money, then move to the city!

So now you have my thoughts on how I feel about this building of the highway. No matter what happens to Garrett County, it will always be country to me, even if it's just it in my memories!

The World of Sound Opens For Mountain Lake Park Child

By Peggy Santamaria

It was Thursday, Sept. 11, 9:25 a.m. Taylor Shreve, a 2 1/2-year-old boy from Mtn. Lake Park, heard his parents' voices for the first time. Profoundly deaf since birth, Taylor had just been "turned on" to the sounds of the world around him through the miracle of a cochlear implant.

How did Taylor react to his first experience hearing? "He just looked up at us, just stared," his mother Tamra Savage said, describing the moment. "I started to cry," she admitted.

The audiologist had explained to the parents that usually a child will scream or cry upon first hearing sound after cochlear implant surgery. It is all so unfamiliar to a child whose world has been silent.

But Taylor surprised the professionals. He seemed to have taken right to the auditory experience. "I took the backpack part of the apparatus off him while he had his bath. As soon as he got out, he pointed to it. He wanted it back on," Tamra said.

Pam Adams, the audiologist who worked with Taylor, was the person who told Tamra and her husband Bradley about the implant procedure. Doctors at Johns Hopkins have performed this surgery on adults since 1985 and on children since 1990.

Tamra set out to learn about the procedure, the risks involved, and the success rate. After checking local sources, she contacted Johns Hopkins and got the statistical data. "As soon as we heard information on the success rate, there was no question about it. We wanted to do it," she said.

In order to qualify for the cochlear implant, a person must be profoundly deaf, Tamra explained, but with no nerve damage. Her son Taylor fit the profile. Only the cochlea in his ear was impaired.

Evaluations of Taylor began in March. After a lengthy process of analysis, he was determined to be an excellent candidate for the implant. His surgery was scheduled.

Taylor received his implant at Johns Hopkins University on Aug. 12. Dr. John Niparko performed the surgery. "Those people at Johns Hopkins are wonderful," Tamra said with appreciation and respect.

During surgery the implant was inserted below the skin on the side of Taylor's head. He was fitted with the backpack that picks up and transmits sounds.

The blond, blue-eyed child was back on his feet the next day and running around, his mother said. The device was implanted but not yet hooked up. Taylor was not hearing at this point.

A month elapsed while the child recovered and systems were monitored. Then came the time for activation of the cochlea replacement system.

With volume set at a low level, the outer apparatus was placed on Taylor and turned on.

And so one period of Taylor's life is now behind him, the time of silence. He now begins a new phase of existence as hearing child.

There is a lot to learn. "Taylor will be receiving extensive speech therapy every week at Johns Hopkins Hospital," Tamra said. The training will probably go on for one to two years.

The small boy is finding there are many new and interesting things deserving of his attention. His mother said he is fascinated by television. And music? "He likes music. He will point to the radio and make the sign for 'listen'," she answered with a smile. Taylor is able to use sign language.

This little guy certainly seems ready to take on the challenge of mastering a new language and exploring new facets of his world. He will surely get lots of help from big brother Cody, who is 4 years old and accomplished in sign language. Mother and Dad are more than ready to help him learn and appreciate his new ability.

"I want other people to know about this. It is not for everyone, but for those who can be helped by it, it is wonderful," Tamra said.

DO YOU HEAR WHAT I HEAR? - It may be that 2½-year-old Taylor Shreve really cannot believe his ears. Profoundly deaf since birth, Taylor heard his first sound one week ago when his cochlear implant was activated. His mother, Tamra Savage, said the specialists at Johns Hopkins have praised this little guy for his adaptability. In the photo above left, Taylor snuggles with his mom. It is hard to tell which one looks happier about the new situation. "I can hear that," he seems to be saying in the picture above left. Taylor will undergo speech therapy for a year or two to pick up speaking skills. The sound of a jingle on television caught his attention and he turned to see what it was all about. When he did so, photographer John McEwen was able to get the picture below, left, of the outer apparatus that permits sound to be transmitted to Taylor's brain. Tamra said that a smaller backpack has been developed and next month he will get one that is half this size.

Small-Business Leadership Classes To Begin Next Wednesday At GCC

Operating successful businesses and organizations in today's highly competitive environment presents many new challenges, according to Sandy Major, coordinator of the Small Business Development Center at Garrett Community College.

"Today's leaders need to be doing all the right things right in order to enable performance that attracts, delights, and keeps customers. Companies and organizations that succeed have managers and supervisors who have skills in the areas of enabling change, empowering employees, and achieving positive outcomes. The leadership classes are designed to strengthen the skills of managers and supervisors in each of these areas," Ms. Major stated.

All of the leadership classes will be held at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College. While participants can register to take any number of the classes in the series, they will gain the most by taking all of them, Major said.

"Building Productivity Through Teamwork," the first in the leadership series, is a class designed to help supervisors and managers strengthen the productivity of their workforce. It will start on September 24 and focus on developing leadership skills that will enable each participant to transform his or her workforce into a highly productive, coordinated team. Supervisors and managers will learn: the dynamics of effective leadership; how to build commitment; how to use low-cost incentives; delegation skills; ways to empower employees to take responsibility; how to give meaningful feedback and measure results; how to get others to direct and motivate themselves; and ways to build confidence and self-esteem. The productivity class will be taught by Sandy Major and will meet on three consecutive Wednesdays: Sept. 24, Oct. 1, and Oct. 8, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

The second class in the leadership series, "Strengthening Your Assertiveness and Communication Skills," will be taught by Julie Yoder of the Small Business Development Center. This course will help participants build skills in communicating effectively, to build trust, and to empower others. It is designed to help participants build confidence, personal power, and supervisory effectiveness by learning to communicate assertively. Managers and supervisors will learn to assess and strengthen assertiveness skills, use motivational communication techniques, focus on listening to understand, give and get positive feedback, and coach and counsel. The class will meet on three consecutive Wednesdays: Oct. 15, 22, and 29, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

"Training, Coaching, and Counseling Employees," the third leadership class, will focus on developing employees who are committed to delivering quality services and products critical to the success of any business. Skills in training, coaching, and counseling team members will be strengthened through "hands-on" practice during the class. The instructor for this class will be Sandy Major. This class will be held on three consecutive Wednesdays: Nov. 5, 12, and 19, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

The class "Stress and Time Management" is designed to help those who need to control their time and learn the skills to do so. This class will help participants discover ways to become more effective in meeting various responsibilities. Some course materials are based on First Things First by Stephen Covey. Practical individualized learning experiences will be focused on values, goals, and priorities; time management techniques; getting past procrastination and personal time-wasters; increasing and using prime time; and conducting effective meetings. The instructor for this class will also be Sandy Major. The class will meet on Nov. 25 and Dec. 10 and 17, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

A new class in the series, "Negotiation Skills," will be taught by Ken Perrin. This class is especially designed for those whose work involves negotiating contracts or those who are in sales work. Videos, text materials, and "hands-on" interaction will help participants strengthen their negotiation and sales skills. In this four-session course they will learn how to prepare for negotiations, use techniques for creating win/win results, get to "yes," and close sales. The negotiation skills class will be held Oct. 20 and 27, and Nov. 3 and 10, from 6:30 until 9 p.m.

Since space is limited, those interested in any of these classes should register immediately, Major said. To obtain information on any of these classes or other business classes, persons may telephone Julie Yoder, Cathy Fazenbaker, or Sandy Major at 301-387-3080.

McClive's Food For Thought

by Chef Francesco G. Pisano

Now's the time to gather up fresh peaches for pies and cobblers. You can freeze pie filling (thicken with tapioca, not flour) for winter. Line pie plate with foil, fill with peach mixture and freeze. Later, pop into pie shell still frozen, bake an extra 10 minutes.

No, it's not hard to peel all those peaches. Submerge, a few at a time, into boiling water for about 20 seconds, then plunge them into ice water. The skins will slip right off.

Pre-cooking in the microwave not only save grilling time, it prevents meat from undercooking, overcooking or charring. In a glass baking dish, cover, precook spare ribs, cut up into portions, with a cup of water for 40 to 45 minutes on medium.

The most delicious salads star the season's best from the garden. Spread sliced tomatoes over a bed of lettuce, and arrange thin, lengthwise slices of zucchini or cucumber over them. Drizzle over a honey mustard vinaigrette and let marinate 30 minutes or so.

Miss Lewis And Mr. Snoberger Are Married In June Ceremony

Angela Marie Lewis and Michael Todd Snoberger were united in marriage on June 14, 1997, at 5 p.m. The double-ring ceremony was held at the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, McHenry, with the Rev. Donald Matthews officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Andrew A. Lewis Sr. and Shirley Lewis, Swallows Falls. The groom is the son of Steve and Cathy Macak, Grantsville, and Larry Snoberger, New Port Ritchey, Fla.

Huskies Win First Half, Lose Second To Wildcats

At halftime it appeared that the Northern Huskies were in control of the game Friday night against visiting Westmar, even though they led by only a point, 7-6. They rolled up about 120 yards of rushing offense in the first half, while holding the physically bigger Wildcats to just 36.

However, the momentum shifted dramatically in the second half following a few unlucky breaks for the Huskies, and the Wildcats proceeded to put 20 more points on the board to conclude with a 26-15 victory. The result evened each team's record at 1-1.

The Huskies took charge on their first possession by marching 64 yards on nine plays and scoring on an eight-yard run by Jimmy Green. Matt House booted the extra point to put Northern up 7-0.

Northern nearly put more distance between the Wildcats and themselves early in the second quarter when they traveled 90 yards on 19 plays, only to fumble the ball away on the Westmar 11-yard line on a first-and-10 play.

The Wildcats responded to the takeover by marching 89 yards on 19 plays, with Billy Metts scoring a touchdown on a three-yard run. The pass for the two-point conversion was no good.

The Huskies had still another opportunity to score before intermission, as Green carried the ball 22 yards to the Westmar 18 with 47 seconds remaining in the half, but the play was called back on a holding penalty, so the score remained 7-6 at halftime.

Northern resumed the momentum early in the second half by making a good defensive stand, forcing the Wildcats to punt on their first possession, getting a good return, and scoring an apparent touchdown on a 28-yard run by Green. But the score was again nullified, this time by an illegal procedure penalty.

From that point on, the game basically belonged to Westmar, as Joey Langham connected with Jeremy Slaubaugh on a seven-yard scoring strike in the third quarter that put the Wildcats on top for good at 12-7.

Westmar		Northern
13	First Down Rush	6
6	First Down Pass	3
1	First Down Penalty	0
20	Total First Downs	9
22	Passes Attempted	9
11	Passes Completed	6
0	Passes Intercepted	0
146	Yards Passing	54
37-141	Rushes-Net Yds	38-161
2-35	Punts-Average	1-35
5-70	Penalties-Yds.	10-70
1-0	Fumbles-Lost	2-2
287	Total Offense	215

A five-yard touchdown run by Seth Glass and a two-point conversion pass from Langham to Slaubaugh early in the fourth quarter gave Westmar a 20-7 advantage.

The Huskies quickly rallied, as Jeremy Hoover raced 72 yards for a touchdown on the ensuing kickoff, and Joey Wilhelm ran successfully for the conversion to make the score 20-15.

The Wildcats mounted one more drive to put the game away, however, with Glass scoring on a four-yard run. Langham's pass for the conversion was no good.

Langham finished with 146 yards through the air by completing 11 of 22 passes, and also rushed for 85 yards on 17 carries. Glass picked up 69 yards on 10 carries and Slaubaugh caught six passes for 77 yards.

The Wildcats finished with an edge in total yardage of 287-215.

Green paced all rushers with 94 yards on 20 attempts, but 88 of those yards were in the first half. Sophomore Adam Brenneman, who was called on to start at quarterback just hours before the game when starting senior Scott Sisler became ill, played well for the Huskies, as he completed six of nine passes for 54 yards.

Green, Gary O'Brien, and Ryan Savage spearheaded the Huskies' defensive effort.

Also lost for the game, and most likely for much of the season, is Northern sophomore tight end Nathan Resh, who had an emergency appendicitis Tuesday.

"It was a crazy game," stated Northern coach Phil Carr, "and one that we had several opportunities to win, but we had a few mistakes that really kept us from putting the game away in the first half. It was a lot like the Southern-Keyser game (Sept. 5), when Southern dominated the first half, but only had six points to show for it at halftime. It was very frustrating."

Carr noted that the Wildcats did not have even a positive offensive yard until midway through the second quarter.

"We were still proud of our kids, because they took it right to them, despite the fact that they really outsized us," he said, "and we never gave up."

Carr said he was particularly pleased with the effort of Adam Brenneman at quarterback. "Adam didn't even know he was going to start until about 3:30 that day, but he stepped up and did a great job for us," he said.

Sisler did not have mononucleosis, as was feared, and returned to practice this week, but Green missed the first two days of practice with some form of influenza.

"We are in fairly good shape, with the exception of Nathan Resh," Carr said, "and, I doubt if Jimmy (Green) will be at full strength."

The Huskies will need to be at or near full strength when they travel to Parsons Friday night to take on Tucker County. The Mountain Lions are a modest 1-2 on the season, but are once again bigger than the Huskies both in physical size and in player numbers.

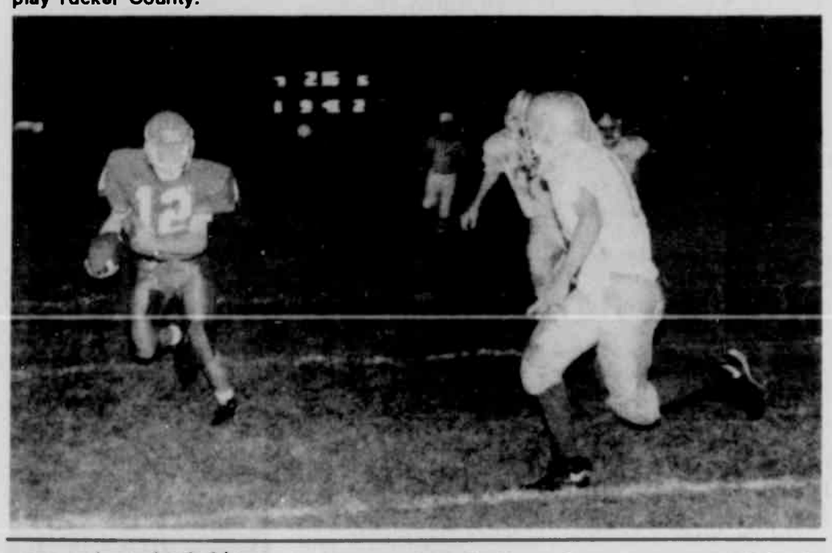
"They don't have tremendous speed, but they have a huge line," Carr said.

The Mountain Lions, who are coming off a win over Hampshire, are led offensively by their tailback Jason Hedrick, senior quarterback Nick Klus, senior split end Derrick Simmons, and senior guard Josh Knotts.

"They are primarily a running team, with Hedrick doing most of the ball carrying behind their big line," Carr said. "Our biggest problem is going to be our size match-up.

"But we always seem to play Tucker tough," he said. "Last year on our field we lost 7-6 to a very good Tucker team. Playing down there is always difficult, but our kids are really looking forward to it."

Friday's kickoff at Tucker County is set for 7:30 p.m.



Westmar	0	6	6	14	- 26

HUSKIES SCRATCHED BY WILDCATS - The Northern Huskies controlled half of the game against the visiting Westmar Wildcats Friday night, but unfortunately for Husky fans, it was the first half and not the second. After leading 7-6 at intermission and just missing on two or three more scoring opportunities, the Huskies fell behind in the third period, could not recover from the Wildcats' 20-point second half, and were defeated by a 26-25 margin. In the photo at left, Northern safety Jeremy Hoover takes away a potential scoring opportunity of the Wildcats, as he bats away a pass intended for #88. Above, Jimmy Green picks up some of his game total of 94 yards, 88 of which he amassed in the first half. Below, reserve quarterback Adam Brenneman, who found out only a few hours before the game that he would be starting because of the illness of regular starter Scott Sisler, records a few yards of his own against the Wildcat defense. Brenneman, a sophomore, completed six of nine passes for the Huskies. The Huskies will face another challenge this Friday when they travel to Parsons to play Tucker County.

Mad Dogs Fall To GFC Reds In Pee Wee Contest

The Northern Mad Dogs ran into a buzz saw on Saturday in their Cumberland Area Pee Wee Football League game with the GFC Reds, as they were defeated by a 40-13 margin.

The Reds racked up all 40 of their points in the first three quarters before the Mad Dogs averted a shutout by recording 13 points in the fourth period.

Kain Metz and Michael Nines each scored a pair of rushing touchdowns for the Reds, while Blake Hill and Blake Williams each scored one.

Corey Fike returned a fumble 50 yards for the Mad Dogs' first touchdown and Robert Stark scored the second one on a run.

Sebold Earns Post-Season Baseball Honors

Alan Sebold, a catcher/outfielder with the Frostburg State University baseball team and former standout at Northern High School, has been named to the NCAA Mid-Atlantic All-Region Second Team and the Eastern College Athletic Conference South All-Star Second Team.

Sebold, a junior from Grantsville, led the Bobcats to a 25-8 season in 1997. He paced FSU in eight offensive categories: batting average (.391), hits (43), runs (33), home runs (5), triples (4), total bases (70), slugging percentage (.627), and bases on balls (20). "Alan has put two great years together for us, last year hitting over .400 and this year, just under .400. His performance this year was even more remarkable because he played through a shoulder injury the entire season," said FSU coach Bob Wells.

Sebold, primarily a catcher, but also a solid outfielder, played in all 33 of Frostburg State's games this season. His bat was responsible for a number of Bobcat wins during the year, including the dramatic ninth-inning, game-winning home run in the opening round of the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) South Baseball Tournament. "Alan finished strongly for us," Wells said. "He was our best clutch hitter. Every time he hit a home run, it seemed that it won a game for us. His average was near .500 with runners in scoring position."

In addition to his team-leading numbers, Sebold tied for second on the Bobcats in RBI, with 26, and also added four doubles to his impressive totals.

Wells added, "Alan will undergo shoulder surgery this year. If that operation is successful, we expect that his senior year will be his best, and that is saying something. Alan has been a major league prospect since the Orioles drafted him out of high school. He could very well be in the same position again following his senior season."

Northern Youth Team Whipped By Braddock

The Northern Middle School football team that participates in the Cumberland Area Youth Football League dropped a 41-14 decision to the visiting Braddock Warriors on Saturday.

Northern put the first points on the board when Travis Higgens scored a touchdown on a 30-yard run, but Braddock's J.C. Menke put his team on top for good with scoring runs of 24 and 48 yards.

Blake Hillegas hauled in a 35-yard scoring pass from Ryan Strother, and Frank Izat's conversion kick made it 20-6 in favor of the Warriors at halftime.

The third quarter featured rushing touchdowns by Hillegas and Izat, five and 13 yards, respectively. Izat also booted another two-point conversion after his touchdown to give Braddock a 34-6 advantage.

Clay Miller recovered a Northern fumble in the end zone and Dan Diehl capped the Warriors scoring by running for the conversion point.

Northern added a final touchdown late in the game on a 50-yard pass play from Ethan DeVore to Travis Higgens. Trey Brenneman kicked the two-point conversion.

The Division II Northern team was also defeated, 32-6.

Northern (1-2) will play the Patriots this Saturday.

Rams Lose Momentum, Game To Powerful Musselman Team

For most of the first half, the Southern High Rams played evenly with heavily favored Musselman at Inwood, W.Va., but the momentum shifted to the Applemen in the final seconds of the first half and the Rams sustained their second loss in as many starts this season, 37-14.

With just a minute and a half remaining in the first half, the Rams trailed by just one point, 15-14, but a touchdown with 1:17 left put the undefeated Applemen up 22-14 at halftime.

The Rams put the first points on the board, and the only ones recorded in the first quarter, when Jason Weaver broke loose for a 77-yard touchdown run at the 3:07 mark of the quarter and then hauled in the conversion pass from Chad Warnick.

Musselman cut the lead to 8-2 with a safety at the 9:14 mark of the second quarter, and then knotted the score at 8-8 with an 18-yard touchdown run by Matt McJilton less than a minute later. Price's kick for the extra point failed.

The Applemen took the lead for good less than three minutes later when Matt Price hit Todd Mosby with a 69-yard touchdown pass at the 5:29 mark, and also booted the extra point to make it 15 8.

Southern's Warnick answered quickly on the Rams' next possession by racing 69 yards for a touchdown less than a minute later. The conversion run was stopped short.

It appeared that the score would remain a one-point difference at halftime when the Ram defense had Price and the Applemen with a third down and 15, but a long pass by Price put the ball on the 18-yard line. Price then ran the rest of the way on the next play and also kicked the extra point to make it 22-14.

The entire second half featured poor field position for the Rams, and additional offensive production for the Applemen. Southern had to start inside their own 10-yard line several times, once from the one-foot line, and just couldn't move the ball effectively.

Meanwhile, the Musselman offense stretched the lead with McJilton scoring on an eight-yard run and also running for the extra two points with 8:21 remaining m the third period.

The Applemen tacked on an insurance touchdown with 8:01 left in the game, as Price hit Mosby again with a scoring strike, this time covering 16 yards. Price booted the final point of the evening.

Weaver finished with 109 yards on 10 carries to pace the Rams' 257-yard evening, while Warnick picked up 101 yards on 11 carries. John Ayers spearheaded Southern's defensive unit by recording 14 tackles.

Price was six-for-12 in passing for 168 yards, and McJilton was the leading rusher in the Applemen's 200-yard ground game.

"We played very well in the first half," stated Ram coach Tom Woods. "We executed well, our defense played fine, and we're extremely proud of our kids' effort from beginning to end."

Woods said he believed their were two "critical moments" in the game that were key to the Rams' loss.

"When they were able to score right before halftime was the first one," he said, "and the second one was when we kicked off the second half, we forced them to punt the ball, and we had a good drive going, but we fumbled the ball away on their 40. That really seemed to change the momentum for good.

"Plus our terrible field position was a big problem in the second half, especially against such a good defense," he added.

But Woods was quick to point out the outstanding individual performances of his players. "Jason Weaver played an excellent game, both offensively and defensively," he said. "Chad Warnick and Billy Stoner also had great offensive games, and John Ayers was outstanding on defense."

Woods also saw major improvement in his team's effort over their opening effort against Keyser. "If we had played this well in our first game, I'm pretty sure we'd be 1-1 right now," he said.

Their were major concerns early this week for Woods and his staff, as several key players were listed as "doubtful" for this week's game against Preston County. Weaver, the team's leading running back, sustained an upper arm injury, Josh Helbig, the defensive captain, took a major hit and suffered a back injury, and it was still unknown as to whether fullback Josh Bosley, injured in the Keyser game, would be able to play.

"Tuesday's practice was absolutely terrible," Woods said. "We were so frustrated because we had to move so many people around. We had kids running the ball who had never run the ball before. Then yesterday, almost magically, Jason Weaver, Josh Helbig, and Josh Bosley were all back. We should be 100% going into the Preston game."

Woods will need all of his players for this week, as the Rams face their third undefeated team of the season in Preston County. The Knights are 2-0, with close wins over Robert C. Byrd, 3-0, and Lincoln High last week, 12-6 in overtime.

"Preston is very good defensively," Woods said. "They're not quite as good as Musselman because they don't have the speed and versatility, but they are very big."

"Very big" seems like an understatement, as the Knights' offensively line features not one, but two, 300-plus-pound guards in junior Justin Harsh at 6-2, 335, and senior Tom Darby at 6-4, 340.

The offense is led by senior quarterback Nate Haskiell (5-10, 160), senior tailback/receiver Alex Rocha (5-10, 160), and senior tight end Eric Myers (6-6, 190).

"They run from the multiple-I formation, and are primarily run-oriented behind that big line," Woods said, "but they can throw, too, with Myers almost always being the target. He's a very good athlete."

Preston's 5-2 defense is paced by senior nose guard Paul Layman (6-0, 205) and senior linebacker Steve Sharps (5-11, 175).

"Defensively, they run to the ball very well," Woods said.

"Gene Davis (second-year coach) has done a good job of molding his program around the abilities of his most talented kids," he added.

Friday's game at the Southern athletic field is slated to get underway at 7:30 p.m.

"Preston has a great following and the weather should be perfect, so we hope there is a big crowd," Woods concluded.

Rams Play Well, But Defeated By Undefeated BW

The Southern Rams outshot the undefeated Spartans of Bishop Walsh by a 38-25 margin Saturday night in Oakland and led in corner kicks, 6-3, but the Spartans made slightly more efficient use of their shots and recorded a 3-1 win over the Rams. It was the sixth straight victory for the Spartans and the first loss in three outings for Coach Tom Powers' Rams.

The Spartans, considered one of the top teams in the area, came to town with a 5-0 mark, which included four shutouts. But the Rams may also emerge as one of the area's better teams, as they upset highly touted Allegany in their first match the previous Saturday and got by Northern at the Cove last Tuesday.

Peter Tam broke a scoreless in Saturday's match when he scored an unassisted goal at the 27:30 mark of the first half. The 1-0 lead remained until there was 17:03 left in the match, when BW's Andrew Searles scored an unassisted goal on a breakaway.

Searles recorded his second goal of the evening on a penalty kick at the 12:26 mark.

The Rams, whose repeated shots on goal were contained by Spartan keepers John Meyers and Nathan Price, averted a shutout when John Andrews scored on a penalty kick with just 50 seconds left in the match.

Price and Meyers were credited with a total of 26 saves for the Spartans, while Southern's Jonathan Price recorded 19 saves, including several outstanding grabs, for the Rams.

The Southern junior varsity was defeated in the preliminary match, 3-0.

The Rams will attempt to get back on the winning track this evening when they host Beall. The jayvee match will get underway at 6 p.m. and the varsity will follow at 7:30 p.m.

Southern will travel to Fort Hill next Tuesday.

First Half

BW - Peter Tam unassisted, 27:30.

Second half

BW - Andrew Searles unassisted, 17:03.

BW - Andrew Searles penalty kick, 12:26.

S - John Andrews penalty kick, 50.

Husky Jayvees Defeat Westmar, Edged By Alco

The junior varsity football team of Northern High School played in a three-team event Monday evening at Lonaconing because of a scheduling mix-up. The Huskies played two quarters against Westmar and then played two against Allegany. They defeated the Wildcats, 14-0, and were nipped by the Campers, 8-7.

The win over Westmar featured touchdown runs of 14 and 12 yards by Mark Wolf and a pair of conversion kicks by Justin Robison. Toby Gilpin, Brandon Stein, Wolf, and Robison were the defensive standouts.

Against Allegany, the Huskies took a 7-0 lead when Brant Green fired a 31-yard scoring strike to Robison, who also booted the extra point.

Allegany won the game by scoring a rushing touchdown and then successfully running for a two-point conversion.

The Northern jayvees (1-3) will play again Monday when they host Tucker County. The kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Huskies Unable To Generate Goals; Fall To Indians, Aggies

The Northern High varsity soccer team continues to record its first win, as the Huskies dropped two more matches this past week. Coach Tom Ables' squad is playing well defensively, but is having trouble putting the ball into the net, as the Huskies were blanked 2-0 by host Mt. Savage last Thursday and then dropped a match by the same score Tuesday evening to Flintstone on the Aggies' field.

Adam Moulden scored both goals for the Indians of Mt. Savage last Thursday, his first coming with just 7:36 remaining in the first half off a feed by Joe Shaffer.

The second half was all defense until the 12:36 mark, when Moulden netted a shot off a feed from Brian DeHaven.

The Huskies were outshot by a 17-5 margin and had no corner kicks, while the Indians recorded eight. Mark Miller had four saves in goal for Mt. Savage and Matt Fritz finished with 12 for the Huskies.

The win improved Mt. Savage's record to 2-1 overall and 1-1 in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League.

The result of the junior varsity contest was a scoreless tie.

It took Flintstone only 1 minute and 57 seconds to put a goal on the board against the Huskies Tuesday night, as Nathan Resh sent one home off an assist by Mike Groves.

There was no more scoring until the 27:16 mark of the second half when Lewis Sowers put one past Fritz on a direct kick.

Flintstone (3-0) kept the ball in the Huskies' half of the field most of the night and finished with an overwhelming 40-9 advantage in shots on goal. They also led in corner kicks, 6-0.

Fritz was credited with 22 saves for the Huskies.

The Huskies are slated to play again this evening at home against Fort Hill. They will host Allegany next Tuesday.

Southern Boys Capture First Place In 17-Team Event

Dan Sincell, senior co-captain of the Southern High School state champion boys' cross country team, placed fourth among some 200 runners and led the Rams to a first-place finish in the 17-team Mt. St. Mary's Invitational, held Saturday in Emmitsburg. Teams from four states and Washington, D.C., participated.

Sincell completed the 3.1-mile course with a time of 17 minutes, 23 seconds, and the Rams finished with a team score of 79 points to remain undefeated in the young season. Other top finishers for the Rams were Eric Rexrode, seventh, with a time of 17:23; Sean Conroy, 18th, 18:11; Beau Gibson, 19th, 18:14; Casey McBee, 31st, 18:31; Mike Bittinger, 39th, 18:47; and Ted Wolf, 52nd, 19:11.

Thad Minshall of Landon High School was the winner of the boys' race with his time of 16:52. DeMatha High School placed second as a team behind the Rams with a score of 89, followed by Atholton, 121; George C. Marshall, 141; Mount St. Joseph's, 146; Landon, 152; Gonzaga, 158; Sherwood, 198; Martinsburg, 204; Frederick, 209; Northwestern, 318; Springbrook, 345; Glenelg, 369; Mercersburg Academy, 372; Beall, 416; Wheaton. 420; and Bishop McNamara, 510.

The Southern boys, under Coach Carl Booth, are aiming for their fifth consecutive Maryland State Class A title this season.

The Southern girls team, coached by Louis Newcomb and also the defending state Class A champion, finished seventh as a team at Mt. St. Mary's, with Dan Sincell's sister. Angie, leading the Ram runners. Sincell placed 20th with a time of 22 minutes flat.

Other top runners for the Southern girls were: Beth Sauder, who placed 38th with a time of 23:25; Christy Hoalcraft, 64th, 24:46; Amy Snyder, 84th, 26:18; Megan Conroy, 85th, 26:21; Erin Lucas, 89th, 26:25; and Jody Bowser, 92nd, 26:41.

Erin Hoalcraft, one of several All-State runners for the Rams, is still sidelined with an ankle injury.

Governor Mifflin won the girls' event with a team score of 28, followed by: George C. Marshall, 75; Mt. DeSales Academy, 87; Frederick, 133; Sherwood, 142; Glenelg, 148; Southern; Springbrook, 240; Catholic, 247; Mercersburg Academy, 274; Atholton, 281; Martinsburg, 283; Bishop McNamara, 424; and Beall, incomplete score.

Both Southern teams competed again Tuesday at home against Preston, Morgantown, and University high schools. See separate story for results.

Rams Win Again In Cross Country; Leverenz, Sincell Top Finishers

The unbeaten cross country teams of Southern High School, both reigning Maryland State Class A champions, cruised to victory again Tuesday afternoon on their home course at Broadford Park, as the Rams defeated teams from Preston County, University, Morgantown, and Northern high schools.

Rachel Leverenz, one of only two girls running for the Northern Huskies this season, was the fastest finisher in the girls' race, as she completed the course with a time of 20:40, nearly a minute ahead of Southern High School's Angie Sincell (21:35). Since the Huskies cannot field an entire team, Leverenz must compete as an independent.

The Rams placed five runners among the top 10 finishers, with Sincell in second place, Amy Snyder in third (22:24), Erin Hoalcraft in fifth (22:43), Beth Sauder in sixth (23:43), and Kaitlyn McBee in eighth (24:24). Cheryl Gibbs, who placed fourth (22:41), was Preston County's top runner, while Morgantown High's best finisher was Stephanie Melody in seventh place (24:18).

The Rams finished with 19 team points and Preston County was a distant second with 62, followed by Morgantown with 72, University with 77, and Northern, incomplete.

Dan Sincell, who placed fourth among approximately 200 runners on Saturday in the Mt. St. Mary's Invitational on Saturday, crossed the finish line first in the boys' race Tuesday with a time of 16:53. Teammate Eric Rexrode was second in 17:20, and finishing fourth through seventh places respectively were Southern's Casey McBee (17:41), Sean Conroy (17:54), Mike Bittinger (18:06), and Beau Gibson (18:13).

Francis Rangers of University was third with a time of 17:33, while Preston County's Derek Clark placed eighth (18:30).

The Rams finished with 18 points to win first place, followed by Preston with 46, University with 62, and Morgantown and Northern with incomplete scores.

The Rams will compete again this Saturday in the Boonesboro Invitational, to which over 30 high school teams have been invited. They will then host approximately six teams, including Hampshire, Westmar, University, and Grafton, in a meet at the Broadford Park course next Tuesday.

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

It is fairly common at this time of year to see fawns alone and seemingly orphaned. But usually, the young deer aren't orphaned at all. Whitetail deer typically leave their fawns unattended for extended periods of time.

Attempts to rescue these young wildlife may be made with the best intentions. However, in most cases the efforts are counterproductive to the well-being of the animal. As a rule, if you discover a young animal or bird of any type, don't handle it and try to prevent children and pets from disturbing it. Staying away from the location will reduce the stress on the animal and enhance the chances that a parent will return to care for it.

TENTS IN OUR TREES

The recent explosion of webs in many of our trees has attracted some attention and raised questions about what can be done to control them. Even though these webs can be 3 to 4 feet long and encase several branches, there isn't really that much to worry about. The type of web worm we are seeing has a population peak in late summer when most of the leaves have already performed their critical function for the tree. As summer winds down, plant growth slows and leaf loss is much less serious than when it occurs in spring or early summer. To combat the worms, simply open the web with a stick to give natural predators access to the caterpillars.

NATIONAL HUNTING AND FISHING DAY

This year, the 26th Annual National Hunting and Fishing Day will be on September 27. This special day is held every year on the fourth Saturday of September and is administered by the National Shooting Sports Foundation. Sportsmen's clubs across the country open their grounds and conduct events where people can learn about the outdoors and the role hunters and fishermen have played in protecting the environment and providing opportunities for all sorts of outdoor activities. Why not call your local sportsmen's club and see if they are planning any special activities?

BOATING SAFETY ON THE INTERNET

A free, accredited boating safety course is offered to computer owner/users who have access to the Internet. Developed by the BOAT/US Foundation for Boating Safety in cooperation with the National Safe Boating Council, the On-Line Boating Safety Course can be found by logging on to the BOAT/US web site at http://www.boatus.com. The course has been approved by the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators.

Even though the boating season in Garrett County, for the most part, is history for this year, here is an opportunity for boaters to stay involved with their sport and be better off for it. This past summer season, there were a number of incidents on local waters that may have been prevented by more safety awareness of those involved.

LYME DISEASE UPDATE

In this column of last June 26, we discussed what could be done to reduce the risk of exposure to Lyme disease while spending time outdoors in Garrett County. Now we have learned that Pasteur Merieux Connaught of the Rhone-Poulenc Group has reached a milestone in the development of a Lyme disease vaccine. The company plans to submit a product license application to the US Food and Drug Administration.

Pasteur Merieux Connaught was the first company to initiate and complete clinical trials designed to study a Lyme disease vaccine in humans. The clinical trial to determine whether the vaccine protected recipients against Lyme disease involved more than 10,000 volunteers and was completed in 1996.

TROUT FOR THE FUTURE

A sign of good times to come is the number of 8-to-10-inch rainbow trout in the Yough River. On a recent sojourn along the Yough with the river being very low, I saw a lot of active trout in that size range. And the fish were active, willingly striking my no. 14 Elk Hair Caddis, along with other unidentified natural foods. At times, the fish were leaping clear of the water to take their food. This was in the catch and release section of the river, so these fish should remain there and continue to grow to, hopefully, trophy size. Another good sign was that a brown trout that wasn't as long as my hand is wide took that same Elk Hair Caddis. Could this be a wild trout spawned in the river?

Leverenz Paces Huskies During Frankfort Meet

The cross country teams of Northern High School were among several that participated in the fourth annual Frankfort Invitational on Saturday. Northern's Rachel Leverenz recorded the fastest time of the day in the girls' race, although the Huskies had to take an incomplete team score since they do not have enough runners this year to make a complete team.

Leverenz completed the course with a time of 20 minutes, 50 seconds, 24 seconds faster than her closest competitor, Kate Gall of Allegany. Jessica Tusing of East Hardy was third in 21:54, followed by Amanda Moreland of Frankfort (22:32), Molly Albright of Mt. Savage (22:33), and Corey Green of Keyser (22:47).

Allegany won the meet with a team score of 33, followed by Keyser with 52, Frankfort with 73, Westmar with 80, Fort Hill with 114, and Mt. Savage, East Hardy, and Northern with incomplete scores.

The Northern boys placed sixth among the seven teams, with a total of 146 points. Frankfort won with 39 points, followed by Fort Hill with 51, Westmar with 115, Allegany with 138, Northern, and East Hardy with 161.

Leading the Huskies was Joe Weimer, an All-State runner, who placed seventh with a time of 18:45.

The winner of the race was Westmar's Zach Bittinger, who recorded a time of 17:28. He was followed by Nathan Gates and Robbie Allee of Frankfort in second (17:31) and third (17:50), respectively, Bruce Dotson of Fort Hill (18:16), Ben Peeler of Keyser (18:27), and John Puffenberger of Fort Hill (18:37).

al sales. The first one was served in his Uniontown restaurant in 1967 and was introduced nationally in 1968. The Big Mac creator also pioneered the idea of breakfast at McDonald's, the first fast-service restaurant to serve that meal beginning in the 1970s in the Pittsburgh region.

Delligatti lives in Fox Chapel, Pa., with his wife Eleanor. He has two sons, Mike and Jim, and five grandchildren. Over the past decades, he has exemplified Ray Kroc's motto of "giving something back to the community" by championing numerous causes that impact area children. In the late 1970s, he was instrumental in establishing the Pittsburgh Ronald McDonald House, a home-away-from-home for families of seriously ill children being treated at nearby hospitals. Over 20 years ago, it was Delligatti's involvement with Children's Hospital that sparked the tradition of McDonald's continued support of the Free Care Fund. Over the years, he has supported such worthwhile organizations as Junior Achievement, Cystic Fibrosis, Boy Scouts of America, the Leukemia Society, and numerous others. He is a past recipient of McDonald's prestigious Ronald Award and was named Man of the Year in Community Service by the Pittsburgh Jaycees in 1983.

Following the parade, Delligatti will sign autographs at the First United Information Booth on Second and Liberty streets.

The Autumn Glory festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, and the Grand Feature Parade is sponsored by First United National Bank & Trust.

To Host Meeting

G.C./CARE's public information meeting is to provide the public with information about the proposed four-lane interstate highway. Garrett County's Economic Development Department director, James Hinebaugh, has been invited to make a presentation. G.C./CARE chose to ask Mr. Hinebaugh to speak, as he has been promoting this project in the capacity of a public official. A member of G.C./CARE will present information which we believe will demonstrate why this highway should not be built. Although we did not formally invite all public officials to attend this meeting, we regret the misconception that anyone has been excluded.

"We encourage the public to attend this informational meeting," the group's statement continued, "and hope that our public officials will reconsider their decision to skip this meeting that has been organized by the people for the people. Federal funding for this project could be decided on this month. Therefore, this meeting will be held as planned."

to volunteer on the squads. Last year the course was held at Frostburg State University, and this year it is underway at GCC.

The commissioners agreed to support the program, having supported it in a similar fashion last year.

Hardy reported than the Southern rescue squad has "the best consistent response to emergencies in Western Maryland."

"The people running that squad should be given credit. They are managing things very well," Hardy said. He also commended the Northern squad's exemplary work, accomplished despite a current lack of volunteers.

"Some CRTs (cardiac rescue technicians) at Northern are responding to about 85% of all the calls," Frantz said.

The commissioners praised the emergency system in the county, with Roger Glotfelty stating that the dedication required to do such work "takes a special kind of person."

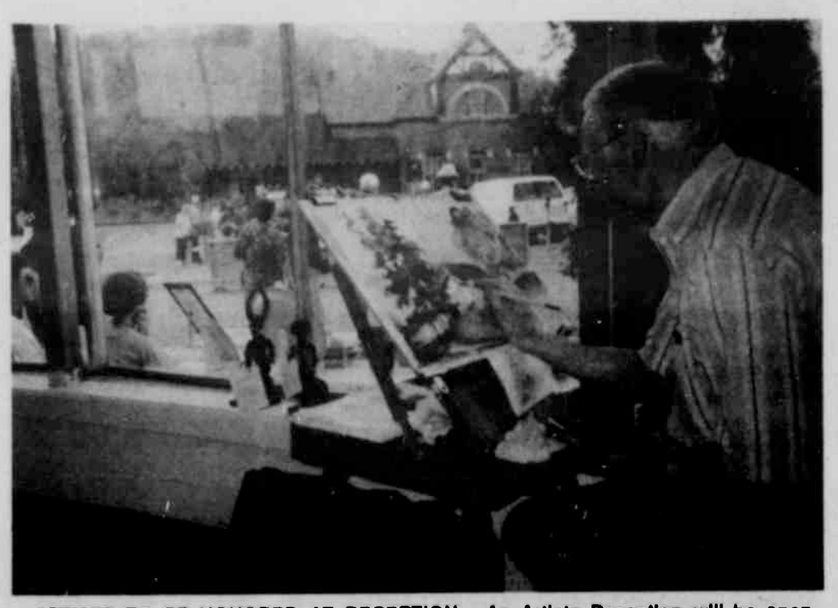
Artists Reception Slated At Mtn. Arts Pavilion



The Garrett County Arts Council will host a reception for artists participating in the Autumn Glory Art Exhibit at the Mountain Arts Pavilion, located along Liberty Street across from the Oakland train station. The reception will be held on Saturday, Sept. 20, from 7 until 9 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

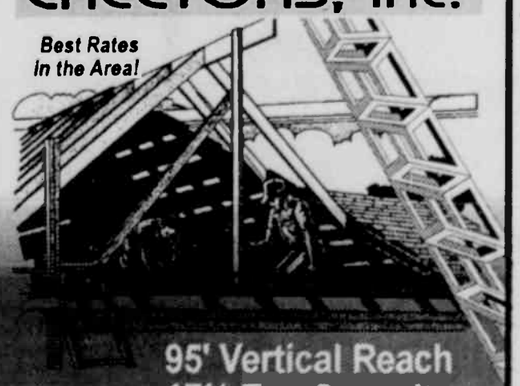
"The arts council is very proud to present this outstanding collection featuring the work of 27 talented local artists," said Steve Schlosnagle, council administrator. "This wonderful exhibit of original art suggests that Garrett County may be emerging as a premier arts community for visual as well as performing artists."

While some works included in the exhibit are for display only, most are being offered for sale by the artists represented.

In addition to the evening reception, the exhibit is open to the public each Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and each Sunday from 1 until 4 p.m. through Autumn Glory weekend, concluding Oct. 12.

The Mountain Arts Pavilion display facility, which is the former Pritts Garage, is being provided through the courtesy of First United National Bank and Trust, Schlosnagle said. The facility was upgraded for temporary art and craft displays by the town of Oakland, in cooperation with the Greater Oakland Business Association. Partial grant funding for the upgrade was awarded by the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC).

ARTISTS TO BE HONORED AT RECEPTION - An Artists Reception will be sponsored by the Garrett County Arts Council to honor the participating artists of the Autumn Glory Arts Exhibit, now on display at the Mountain Arts Pavilion on Liberty Street in Oakland. The reception will be held on Saturday, Sept. 20, 7-9 p.m. at the pavilion (formerly the Pritts Garage). Approximately 27 local artists are participating in the display, which will remain open through the Autumn Glory Festival. The pavilion was prepared for the display through the work of the town of Oakland, in cooperation with the Greater Oakland Business Association, and through the courtesy of the building's owner, First United National Bank and Trust. Shown above is local artist Jim McNeil, demonstrating his talents during the recent Artists Street Fair. The gallery is shown below, where numerous works of art are now on display. See story.



The Autumn Glory Art Exhibit is part of a pilot project to determine the feasibility of a permanent non-profit display-sales location.

NOT MORE THAN 200 YARDS APART are the West Virginia-Maryland atone marker #3 and the higheat geological point of Maryland, both located atop Backbone Mountain in the moat aouthern apot of Garrett County. The altea are alao on privately owned land, even though moat state's own their higheat pointa, aa they are popular hiker attractiona. The national Highpointera Club is a group of over 1,300 people who all have the goal of reaching every atate'a high point. Many of these members have visited the remote, virtually ignored apex of Maryland. In fact, a log book placed at the aight by Gene and Lillian Elliott, "highpointera" from Silver Spring, shows that from December 1996 through August 1997, over 500 people from 42 states reached the top. Numerous local people have made the trek, too, as is evidenced by the log book: "May 8, 1997 -- My 81st birthday -- Henry Swartzentruber, native of Garrett County." The Elliotts have taken it upon themselves to keep the high point clear of weeds and debris, and have placed certificates at the top as well. Local historian and seasoned hiker John Grant said this week after his trip up that the trail is one of the best he haa aver aeen. The high point was dedicated in 1952 by Governor Theodore McKeldin in honor of Captain Charles Edward Hoye, a native of Sang Run, who was the great-great-grandson of one of the first permanent settlers in the county. In addition to being a veteran of the Spanish-American War and WWI, he waa also the founder of the Garrett County Historical Society.

FOLLOW THE ORANGE BLAZE to get to the apex of Maryland, up the side of Backbone Mountain. The Elliotts have spray-painted small orange arrows on trees along the mile-long path to the state's high point to help guide hikers through the wooded, rocky land. The path begins as a logging road off Rt. 219 in West Virginia, just past Silver Lake. The path becomes rather steep for a ways, and then levels out, giving hikers a reprieve as well as offering them a pleasing sight of feathery fern cover and sun-dappled saplings. The butterflies are profuse at this time of year, as are the skittering chipmunks who scurry away at the sound of approaching climbers. Photos courtesy of the Elliotts

Silver Spring Pair Works To Bring Attention To State's High Point

by Mary Sincell McEwen

In some states, there are monuments. In other states, there are inns or restaurants. In still other states, T-shirts and caps are sold to those who climb. But at the highest geological point of the state of Maryland, there is only a commemorative sign at the top, to be found by determined hikers striking up the rugged hillside with little to guide them, until recently. A couple from Silver Spring has in the past few years improved the path leading to the site, all in their quest to bring attention and honor to the state's highest point. This potential tourist attraction is located in the southernmost tip of Garrett County.

Gene and Lillian Elliott, a husband and wife hiking team, met with the Garrett County Commissioners two weeks ago to ask for some direction in their pursuit. They presented a wealth of information about the high point and also informed the elected officials of the work they have done on their own to make the hiking trail more climber-friendly.

The state's apex is unique in that climbers will find the most convenient starting point in West Virginia. From Garrett County, persons should take U.S. Route 219 South past Red House and into Preston County. Just past Silver Lake, a very small trailhead sign is located, as well as markings in orange spray-paint noting the "MD HP." There is room along the roadway to park at this spot, where a logging road spikes to the left. This six-foot wide rocky pathway leads the hiker up the mountainside through timberland, which is owned by Western Pocahontas Properties of Huntington, W.Va. The trail becomes somewhat steep, but people in moderately good condition should have no difficulty in making the 30-minute ascent.

Hikers head generally southeast as they climb, turning at one point off the logging road and onto a well-maintained path amongst fern cover and boulders. The path is level at this point, where walkers must watch for sun-basking snakes. Deer, bears, and panthers have also been sighted along the quiet, remote trail.

The path splits, with one side becoming stoney and the other dropping down slightly away from the boulders. The rocky path leads to the Maryland-West Virginia line, signified by stone marker #3. The triangular marker, erected in 1910, is just a bit farther than a stone's throw from the high point. Hikers should have no problem finding either the stone marker or the high point, thanks to a small sign indicating the two spots, as well as the orange "blaze" marks placed on the trees by the Elliotts. (Gene and Lillian have also made at least two signs for the bottom of the hill noting the high point, but they have been regularly stolen, sometimes just weeks after being put up.)

A short stint from the state line marker takes the hiker through more feathery ferns and across a stone path, with the orange marks on the trees seeming to become more apparent, as if to assure the hiker that his journey is nearly complete. The path ends at a small clearing, where a 45-year-old metal sign stands, commemorating the point. The sign reads:

"Hoye-Crest, Highest Point in Maryland, Backbone Mountain, Garrett County; 3,360 feet above sea level. Named for Captain Charles E. Hoye, founder of the Garrett County Historical Society. Dedicated September 1, 1952; Maryland Historical Society."

Captain Hoye was born in 1876 in the Sang Run area, according to local historian John Grant. He fought in the Spanish-American War and World War I, and then worked as an educator in the Philippines and Los Angeles. He returned to Garrett County in the 1930s and founded the local historical society in 1941. During a visit to Los Angeles in 1951, Hoye was involved in a car accident and died of the injuries he received.

"He was a very tall, very quiet man," remembered local resident Robert Sincell. "And quite dignified."

Grant agreed, noting that the non-evasive Hoye would most likely have been rather embarrassed by the honor bestowed him at the state's highest point.

Attached to the sign is a black mailbox, placed there by the Elliotts. Inside are certificates that can be filled out by those who reach the top. Also in the mailbox is a notebook for hikers to sign. The Elliotts placed the book there in December 1996.

"When we checked the book just recently, we found that since December, over 500 people from 42 states have signed it," reported Mrs. Elliott to the commissioners. The messages in the book range from short signatures to paragraphs describing the trip. Many members of a national club called the Highpointers have visited the spot, noting in the book how many state high points they have reached.

"Nice day. My thanks to those who marked the trail so well. Climbed Mt. Davis this morning, going to hit W.Va. HP later today. That will total 11 high points!" - Ian Devers, Kansas City, 3/4/97.

"May 28, 1997: 6:30 p.m., almost sunset. Beautiful. My 20th. Very exciting!" - Betsy Campbell, Greenfield, N.H.

"We made it up, even with a little thunder sounding. The Gulf to the west, the Atlantic to the east. Not a siren to be heard. Gentle breezes, flies buzzing, and everyone but us in Maryland below us." - Sharon and Charlie Gendeman, Baltimore, 7/18/97.

The view at the overlook is not overtly impressive in the summer, as the leaves obscure the panorama. The winter months offer a better scene, the Elliotts said. They also noted that the felling of a few trees, most of which are already dead, would greatly enhance the view. However, since the land is privately owned, any alterations would have to be approved by Western Pocahontas.

The Elliotts would like to see a different scenario, however. Their suggestion to the commissioners was to approach the company and explore the idea of having the few acres of the summit deeded to the county. In return, the county could place a commemorative plaque in recognition of the company's donation. If the company would not deed the land over, the Elliotts thought perhaps the cost of the parcel would not be unmanageable. Most state high points are located on public lands. If the county owned the high point, alterations could be made to improve the accessibility to the site, and it could be properly commemorated.

"A respectable monument at the base of the trail would be nice," said Mrs. Elliott. They would also like to see better signage along the roadway, although that portion of Rt. 219 is in West Virginia. Two representatives of the West Virginia Department of Transportation were also at the meeting with the commissioners and relayed their willingness to work with the county and the Elliotts in planning for new signage.

The Silver Spring pair, who own no land in the county, have worked to keep the weeds down at the sight and to keep the trail markings plain. They tend the site about four times each year and would like to have some local support in their work.

"We are very proud to be a part of this high point," Mr. Elliott said. He and his wife would like to establish, or have local individuals establish, a volunteer group to help with the site. Their suggested name for the group is "Friends of Backbone." Participation in such a group would not require much more than occasional trips up to the apex to clear weeds, pick up trash, and maintain the markings.

"Since we have started on this project, we have very rarely had to pick up any garbage at all," said Mrs. Elliott. "People seem to be very respectful of the land and do not disturb it."

The commissioners listened to the presentation and had little response, mainly because they wished to check with the state about possible help in gaining ownership of the spot and to explore the idea of better signs. The Elliotts left the courthouse and visited Lawrence Cosner, president of the historical society, and Diane Wolfe, director of the county's promotion council. While the couple found that there is some interest in placing more attention on the high point, people are somewhat at a loss as to whom to contact and what to do. The Elliotts have expressed their willingness to be the forerunners in the effort and interested persons may contact them at 17009 Clear Creek Drive, Silver Spring, MD 20905.

"This is tourism," they told the commissioners. "This could be a true asset to your already beautiful county." In a later letter, Mrs. Elliott said that getting the high point to be legally accessible for "people of all walks of life to visit and enjoy" is their goal.

The couple has received thanks from people across the country who have trekked up to the summit.

"The clouds cleared and the sun broke through as we celebrated our second highpoint of the trip (Mt. Davis yesterday). Thanks to those who maintain the trail, log book, and certificates (great idea!). We toast you with cream soda and nibble a Mars bar in your honor!" - Andy and Mike McConnell, Parkton, Md., Memorial Day, 1997.

Standing at the base, the rock face appears to be a challenge that would test our strength and skill. "Never look down." we are told. "Just take it one step at a time." Yet, the higher we climb, the closer we are to possible injury should one foot slip; so we search for firm footing, trusting our instructor, and never look down until we reach our goal.

Psalm 40:2-4 tells us of God… "He set my feet upon a rock, making my steps secure…Blessed is the man who makes the Lord his trust."

Life places before us obstacles that appear insurmountable, yet with God's help we can possess strength we did not have, making the seemingly impossible possible. With faith firmly planted on the Almighty we can reach our goals.

Visit your house of worship this week. As you enter, look around you and behold the beauty within. Look up and feel God's presence. As you reach for Him, know that your highest aspiration is as near as a prayer. Remember, never look down.

Background Scripture:
Haggai
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 31:1-14

A boy on his way home from Sunday School was seen sobbing by a man waiting for a bus. "What's the matter?" the man asked. The little boy rubbed his eyes while he explained that he had lost his money for bus fare and his family was waiting for him to come home from Sunday School. The man, who considered himself an atheist, said to the little boy, "But if God loves you, why hasn't he sent someone to help you?" Looking him in the eye, the little boy replied, "I'm sure he has told someone, but I guess he didn't hear him!"

Many times when we see someone in need and no one helping, it is not because God has not sent someone to help, but because those someones either have not heard or, hearing, have not responded. How often do we find ourselves asking, "Why don't they do something about that?" What we need to do in many of those instances is to change the question just ever so slightly, substituting the noun "we" for "they."

In the days of the prophet Haggai—the 6th century BC—I am sure people looked at the ruins of the Jerusalem temple and exclaimed, "Why don't they do something about that?" Of course, this was not a matter of no one hearing God's command to restore the temple. Haggai tells us the people did hear, but they answered, saying, "The time has not yet come to rebuild the house of the Lord" (1:2). That is a response to God that is still very contemporary, isn't it: "Good idea, Lord, but not just now."

A SHAMEFUL STATE

The sorry state of the temple probably bothered and embarrassed the returned exiles, but Haggai tells us, "Thus says the Lord of hosts: This people say the time has not yet come to rebuild the house of the Lord" (Haggai 1:2). We can only speculate on why that time had "not yet come," but judging from our own times, we may assume that there were a number of excuses: "Poor economy," "Too much unemployment," "It's all I can do to keep ahead of taxes" and so on.

I will have to admit that these sound like pretty good reasons. Actually, there's usually "some truth" in all our excuses. That's why we use them—it saves us from lying outright. It permits us to feel justified in not rising to the challenge. Probably the people of Haggai's day believed their own excuses: they really did not think the time had not yet come for them to rebuild the temple.

That's why it was so unsettling when "the word of the Lord came to Haggai the prophet" and he proclaimed: "Is it a time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, while this house lies in ruins?" (1:4). This one sentence throws the situation into a whole new light. Up until this point one might get the impression that the people were so impoverished that they were living in hovels and shacks. But Haggai is talking about "paneled houses" and these were not by any means your basic shelter. A paneled house was one that required the services of a fine artisan. These people were not so poor that they could not afford to add some frills to their lives.

HOW'S IT WORKING?

Their problem, then, is not a lack of means, but a lack of will. These people are looking out for their own interests. But where does it get them?

Haggai says to them, "Consider how you have fared? You have sown much, and harvested little; you eat, but you never have enough, you drink, but you never have your fill; you clothe yourselves, but no one is warm; and he who earns wages earns wages to put into a bag with holes" (1:6). No matter how strongly and compellingly this self-centeredness has driven them, it has not brought them any real satisfaction.

We too may constantly put off responding when God calls because we are sure this is not the right time.

THE BACK TO SCHOOL BLUES

At this time of year this not so mysterious malady seems to sweep the younger generation like an epidemic. The symptoms are classic and readily recognized by parents and teachers alike. A tendency to oversleep in the mornings, inability to concentrate on lessons and a general feeling of despair are a few of the more noticeable ones.

Medical science has not yet found a cure for the "Back to School Blues" and the likelihood is it will always show up at summer's end. We do not stock any products that will help, but we do sympathize.

ER season premiere delivered live

By Jackie Cutler

Anthony Edwards

The hit medical drama that draws viewers with its realistic problems and accurate medical procedures goes one step further when the season premiere of ER airs live Thursday, Sept. 25, on NBC.

As far as archivists at TV museums around the country can tell, this simply hasn't been done before by a serial drama.

The dramatic Playhouse 90 featured plays adapted for television. Even the last dramas broadcast live, The Member of the Wedding in 1982 and Theatre 62: The Spiral Staircase in 1961, also on NBC, were telecasts of plays.

The possibilities for mistakes on ER, with so many characters and so much intricate medical terminology, are endless.

"George (Clooney) and I were joking that the great ad for the show is to show footage of the Indy 500 crash," says Anthony Edwards, who plays Dr. Mark Greene. "Live ER – anything can happen."

"Part of the reason people will tune in is to see if people screw up," says Pamela Morrison, senior press manager for NBC. "What if they drop a patient or forget the word lidocaine?"

Outside of watching sports, or the Oscars to snicker over which unfortunate starlet neglected to check a mirror, we just don't see much live TV.

Though comedy often thrives on mistakes, which can seem funnier because there's not another chance to get it right, shows about life and death just can't take that approach.

So why meddle with success?

"People wanted to be challenged," says Carol Flint, one of the series' four executive producers. "In addition to people understanding we do a lot of Steadycam shots, maybe what isn't so obvious to viewers is that we do a lot of long shots and follow someone down the hall."

Those shots, called oners, are often used when an ambulance pulls in and the action unfolds in one continuous sequence. Usually during oners on ER, paramedics bark out statistics, which, incidentally, ring true. Five doctors work on the show, two on the writing staff and two more on the stage.

"In the first season, when we started figuring out what the show was about, we started doing these long oners, a long Steadycam shot that lasts five minutes and felt like live TV," Edwards says. "And there was so much pressure to not screw up."

But they succeeded, due in part to a stage-trained cast. Eriq La Salle, who plays Dr. Peter Benton, studied at Julliard. Clooney, who plays Dr. Douglas Ross, performed on his father's (Nick Clooney) live TV show when he was a kid.

"We have every intention of pulling it off if we can just keep Julianna (Margulies) from cracking up," Edwards says.

Though the premiere's script has been carefully guarded, sources say it will involve Dr. Greene. Last season, he was beaten up in the ER men's room, and now must cope with a shattered sense of security. In the live season premiere, Greene will be the subject of a documentary about ER doctors.

So, he'll talk to the camera and expose aspects of himself the audience might not otherwise glean.

And it makes for a neat explanation if eagle-eyed viewers spot a stray boom mike.

John Mahoney

Q: I enjoy the work of John Mahoney on Frasier. I grew up in the '50s, but I don't remember seeing him until recently. Obviously, he's an accomplished actor. What has he been in before? –A Mahoney fan via e-mail.

A: By coincidence, Mahoney, 57, was born in Manchester, England, home of Frasier co-star Jane Leeves' character, Daphne Moon. After high school, he moved to the United States, joined the Army and worked on losing his accent. He earned a master's degree in English, then tried a series of jobs before pursuing acting.

At age 37, he was invited by John Malkovich to join Chicago's Steppenwolf Theatre, where he has appeared in more than 30 productions. He won the 1986 Tony Award for his stage performance in John Guare's dark comedy The House of Blue Leaves, which co-starred Swoosie Kurtz and Christine Baranski (Cybill).

Mahoney has more than 50 TV and movie credits, but he really caught the attention of moviegoers in 1987, when he played Olympia Dukakis' would-be suitor in Moonstruck and a corrupt judge in Suspect.

Mahoney also has had high-profile roles in such films as Eight Men Out, Say Anything, In the Line of Fire, The American President and Primal Fear, and starred in the short-lived 1992 TV series The Human Factor.

Q: I saw a hilarious show on TV the other night in which Jim Carrey, Jamie Foxx and Damon Wayans – among others – performed short skits. What is it, and is it still on TV? –S.A., Agana, Guam.

A: You saw a rerun of In Living Color, which originally aired on Fox from 1990-94. Repeats still air in some markets.

Q: My husband and I recently saw Jack Soo in a Hawaii Five-0 rerun and are trying to remember what series he used to star in. I think he played a private investigator. –Susan Savage, Ada, Okla.

A: You probably are thinking of Soo's work as police Detective Nick Yemana in Barney Miller, in which he co-starred from 1975-78. He also co-starred as Anthony Franciosa's valet, Rocky Sin, in Valentine's Day (1964).

Q: Some personal info, please, on Annie Potts and her upcoming projects. –Russ Gowin, Kathleen, Ga.

A: Potts, 44, who is best known for her role as Mary Jo Shively in the hit sitcom Designing Women, stars with Tim Curry this fall in the ABC comedy Over the Top. Born in Franklin, Ky., she lives in Los Angeles with her husband, producer-director James Hayman, and their three children.

Dr. Harry Wiant To Be Speaker At MFA Meeting

"Who Will Stand Up for Forestry?" is the title of Dr. Harry Wiant's message as luncheon speaker for the 1997 Maryland Forests Association Annual Meeting, set for Saturday, Sept. 27, at the Wisp Resort in McHenry. Wiant has been active in the Society of American Foresters, including serving as chairman of the Inventory Working Group, chairman of the Allegheny Society, and as current president of the national 19,000-member organization. He recently retired as professor of forestry from West Virginia University, having also taught at Humboldt State University and Stephen F. Austin State University. Wiant has published over 200 professional articles, dealing mainly with forest inventory and silviculture, plus two books.

The meeting will begin Friday, Sept. 26, with the Awards Banquet and Silent Auction, presentation of the 1997 Logger of the Year Award, followed by storyteller and balladeer Ray Owen and his performance of "From Buffalo Chips to Micro Chips."

Saturday's session will begin with updates on forestry issues of concern by state agency representatives. Dr. Harry Haney of Virginia Tech will give a one-hour presentation titled, "Income Tax Implications of Selling Timber." Haney, a renowned expert in the field of timber taxation issues, has organized and taught over 400 short courses, seminars, and workshops on timber taxation, estate planning, forest finance, and management of private timberlands. He has also written over 135 technical publications on forestry.

The morning session will end with a five-member panel discussion of "The Business of Logging in the 21st Century." Panelists will be representing the interests of the forest landowner, professional logger, forest products industry, government agencies, and educational institutions.

A special spouses' tour of northern Garrett County has also been arranged for Saturday morning. MFA will conduct its annual business meeting Saturday afternoon, following the luncheon.

The Maryland Forests Association, headquartered in Grantsville, is a statewide, non-profit citizens' organization with a 20-year history of promoting the maintenance of a healthy and productive forest land base through forest conservation education. Members include forest landowners, foresters, loggers, and forest products companies. This year marks the first time that Western Maryland will host the annual event.

Saturday's session has been awarded 3½ CFEs for foresters and has also been designated as a CEC for Maryland Master Loggers. Meeting registration packets have been mailed to members. Beitzel Clan Meets For 59th Reunion

The 59th annual reunion of the descendants of John George Beitzel, and his four sons Henry, Lewis, George, and Christian, who came to America in the mid-1800s, was held recently at the Bittinger Fire Hall.

Two hundred family members and friends traveled from Ohio, Florida, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Illinois, and the District of Columbia.

The day's events began at 1 p.m. with a welcome from Wendell Beitzel, president. After a moment of silence for deceased members of the family, Rev. Randy Nairn offered a prayer before the meal.

A short business meeting followed. Wendell Beitzel gave a brief account of the family's roots in Germany and how the Beitzels came to America.

Prizes were awarded to the following: oldest man, Ernest Beitzel, 81; oldest lady, Elizabeth (Beitzel) Wilcox, 89; youngest child, Rebecca Delbrocsa-Blue, three months; largest family, Ernest and Lena Beitzel, seven children present; most recently married, Doug and Debbie Beitzel, two and one half years; longest married, Ernest and Lena Beitzel, 57 years; and traveling the longest distance, Linda Griffith and family from Fort Myers, Fla.

The candy count jars were won by Hollie R. Fazenbaker and Catherine Ray. Games and the annual candy pick-up were held for the children.

The family plans to gather at the same location, Sept. 6, 1998. Officers for the year are John Beitzel, president, Wendell Beitzel, vice president, and Hollie E. (Beitzel) Fazenbaker, secretary treasurer.

Randolph Lake To Close Boat Launch

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Jennings Randolph Lake has announced that, because of low water conditions at the lake, the Howell Run Boat Launch will be closed to boats that require trailers to launch. There is a $2 launch fee and the ramp is open 24 hours.

For further information concerning the lake, persons may call Jennings Randolph Lake at 304-355-2346 or 301-359-3861 Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. For information on the Maryland boat launch, persons may call Herrington Manor State Park at 301-334-9180.

Transmission Repair Tests Slated At SHS

The Automatic Transmission Rebuilders Association (A.T.R.A.) will hold written examinations for automatic transmission rebuilders, R&R technicians, and service writers at Southern High School on October 15 at 6:30 p.m. as part of its national certification program. Tom Powers, a teacher at Southern, will serve as proctor.

A.T.R.A. is a non-profit organization dedicated to the improvement and welfare of the automatic transmission repair industry. With over 3,000 affiliates, it is the world's oldest and largest network of independent transmission firms.

Each year, A.T.R.A. sponsors over 500 proficiency tests throughout the country to encourage technical competency and professionalism in the industry. According to A.T.R.A.'s executive director Steve Gray, a major goal of the certification program is consumer protection.

"Consumers should look for a certified shop when they need automatic transmission repair work," he said. "A.T.R.A. certification helps identify which shops are capable of competently diagnosing and repairing automatic transmission problems."

Because transmission technology has become "extremely complicated" over the past decade, A.T.R.A. member shops are required to recertify every five years. Gray said experienced technicians usually have no trouble passing the test "...if they've kept their knowledge and skills current."

The tests are free to A.T.R.A. members. Non-members, however, are required to pay a fee of $20 to help defray the cost of the program.

Those wishing to register for the tests or who want additional information about the certification program should contact the T & C coordinator at A.T.R.A. by calling 805-654-1700, 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Pacific Time.

Police, Probation Officers Training In New Methods

Garrett County representatives were among the police and probation officers from across the state who attended the first in a series of training programs on crime prevention through community probation efforts.

The focus of the seminar, which was held in Annapolis, was the shifting of probation agents out of offices and into communities to increase their interaction with local police and residents.

The neighborhood supervision teams that will be developed through this process will share information, and monitor the behavior of offenders in order to ensure compliance with terms of parole and probation.

The community probation program is part of Maryland's HotSpot crime prevention initiative, which was launched in July by the office of Governor Parris Glendening. Grantsville was selected as the Garrett County Hot-Spot community that will be targeted by this plan.

September Term Of Grand Jury Reports; Issues 10 Indictments

The September Term Grand Jury for Garrett County convened last week to take the biannual tour of county offices and to make recommendations. Additionally, the jury was presented with 10 indictments. (See separate story on front page.)

The jury members divided into committees to visit the following offices: board of education, county roads, courthouse/jail, health department, and county landfill. Speaking with the jurors were the following individuals: Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools; Major P. R. Sanders, interim sheriff; Dr. Rex Archer, health officer; Patty Glover, treasurer; Emily Ferren, head librarian of the Ruth Enlow Library; Garrett County Commissioners Gary Fratz, Roger Glotfelty, and Wayne Wilt; and Lee Thorne, director of roads department.

Courthouse

The jury members found that the courthouse needs a few renovations, which have already been presented to the commissioners and approved. Officials are now waiting to get the bid out, hoping to begin work in the spring.

The jury felt that David Martin, clerk of the circuit court, still needs more office space.

Sheriff's Office, Jail

Jurors reported that the sheriff's office is "definitely in need" of more manpower (correctional officers) in the jail.

"The safety of the correctional officers should not be overlooked," the report states. "Two officers and 45 inmates are not good odds. More surveillance cameras are needed. There are too many blind spots. Overall, we're in need of a bigger jail."

The jury was "impressed" with the new 911 system, considering the enhanced system as an asset to the county.

Education Board

The jury has recommended that one of two options should be addressed when the September 1998 Grand Jury convene: 1) that no students be housed in or use the Garrett County Board of Education building, or 2) that the Interagency on School Construction become the inspector of this facility. It is currently inspected in-house.

Superintendent Teets and Mike Sines, director of maintenance, spoke with the group and conducted the tour of the facility. They both reported to the jury that the county commissioners are "very supportive and receptive" to the board's needs. They stated that the board of education facility is the last on their list of priorities.

The Grand Jury was pleased that the schools are the officials' first priority. The group reviewed the board's five-year plan and discussed the methods of requesting money from the commissioners. The school officials told the jurors that they prefer to spread it out over five years rather than ask for all monies in one year.

The jury found the facility in "disarray" but understood that the school representatives are more concerned with educational priorities. Repairs are being done by board maintenance employees.

An elevator was installed to conform to ADA standards, and fire resistant materials have been placed around windows and on walls. The corridors have been cleared of clutter, according to the report.

Landfill

One jury committee was transported by Lieutenant Larry Gnegy to the county landfill, where the members were greeted by Rodney Glotfelty, director. They toured the main office and were instructed on how the computerized weigh system tracks all incoming waste and materials. This system also generates daily reports by the type of material received, locations, daily income, and costs.

The committee was informed that Garrett County was "number one" in the state for recycling. Glotfelty said recycling was up 400 tons per year to date, and, partly because of recycling, the life expectancy of the landfill has been increased from 20 years to 30 years. He noted that newsletters are being mailed to all county residents explaining recycling and that 50-cents-per-bag and $5-per-appliance stickers are being sold at local stores. Approximately 5,000 stickers have been sold to date.

The committee's tour began at the maintenance building where members observed maintenance schedules and were informed that because of rigid maintenance, these vehicles would be more efficient and be in service an additional three years.

The group continued their tour past the Round Glade landfill, which is scheduled for completion this month, onto the prepared fields and run-off collection system. Glotfelty explained that his staff is working on cell number one and that they will begin construction on cell number two next year. He stated that the three-mile sewer system to Deep Creek treatment plant is working well and will save approximately $60,000 per year in hauling costs. They have installed an emergency generator system to pump the leachate to the treatment plant in the event of a power failure.

The Garrett County Landfill has met or surpassed each standard imposed on waste management sites, according to the jury's report. The committee members said they were impressed by Glotfelty and his operations.

"We feel he is an advocate of recycling and has a true concern for our environment," the report states. "Like the previous Grand Jury, we commend Mr. Glotfelty and his staff for their dedication and efficient operation."

Health Department

A jury committee toured the new facilities of the health department, located in the former Buchmann Optical and the G.W. Plaza buildings. Plans for renovations were reviewed. The jurors voiced concern about relocating temporarily if the Buchmann Optical building would be sold. Archer told them that "we'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

Although the environmental health unit is part of this agency, it was explained to the jury that it remains in the courthouse because the unit deals with permits that are related to building, zoning, and other functions of the courthouse. The jury endorsed this arrangement.

Archer reported on the use of contractual arrangements with local registered nurses for home health visits. His concern is continuity of care, but financial constraints require this arrangement rather than the hiring of additional full-time personnel, according to the report.

Treasurer's Office

The jury has recommended that the commissioners look into the possibility of hiring an additional full-time clerk in the treasurer's office to handle the overload of present employees.

The jury was told that the county currently has a $750 million assessable tax base, of which 45% is from the Deep Creek Lake area.

The July 1997 tax bills were printed on a new system designed by Buzz Updyke. In order to accommodate this new system, a fold and seal machine was purchased, along with a $3,000 printer. The office staff is are currently looking at designing computer software to do payroll, disbursements, receipts, and other work.

This office maintains all records, including receipts and disbursements, the report noted. All county bills are paid from this office.

Ruth Enlow Library

The director of the library, Emily Ferren, told the jury committee that the five local branches of the Ruth Enlow libraries are sufficient -- at this time there is no need for any additional branches.

She informed the group that she had approached Walden Book Store in Cumberland and was given 135 books for the Grantsville branch.

The library at Friendsville was remodeled and a 2,000-square-foot addition was built onto the Accident branch at a cost of $135,000. The Oakland branch received new doors and safety glass windows.

The Oakland branch circulates approximately 1,000 books each day. All the libraries offer many services, such as children's programs, reading programs, and the literacy council.

The jury noted that money is needed for more new books, an upgrade of the computer automation, the bookmobile, and improvements at the various facilities. She also said used books were needed, as well as more patrons.

Ms. Ferren has $10,000 toward a new bookmobile, of which $2,500 was used for repairs of the old bookmobile (which has over 300,000 miles on it).

The Grand Jury commended the library staff for working with the "Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library" to enhance the county's library system.

County Commissioners

The Grand Jury noted its appreciation of the commissioners' newly adopted policies and procedures that hold each department accountable for expenditures. County vehicle usage is now documented. Commissioner Roger Glotfelty stated the county does not have any outstanding bills at this time and that all bills are paid in a timely manner.

The jury members stated that they would like to see open communication between commissioners and departments. This will help circulate certain information. For example, the report noted, all department heads should be informed that the county has "great grant writers" available to them.

The Grand Jury approved of the county commissioners' requirement of the departments to develop five-year capital plans and asked that the commissioners make available to the jury every department's five-year plan.

The commissioners told the jurors that they are currently investigating the possibility of selling the roads garage in Oakland and moving it to a more appropriate location. They have recently purchased 42 acres in Grantsville, with the hope of moving the Grantsville county garage.

The economic development office is currently looking at a new industry to develop in Garrett County. In speaking with Gov. Parris Glendening at the MACo meeting in Ocean City, Commissioner Wayne Wilt stated that the governor sees the Bausch and Lomb facility as a priority. Commissioner Glotfelty stated that three existing businesses are expanding in the near future. These are TDEC, Wood Products, and Hobby House Press.

Roads Department

Four members of the Grand Jury toured the county roads facility. They were shown the office areas, maintenance and repair facilities, parts room, and the yard area, where additional equipment is parked and where ash piles and culvert pipe are stored. The group adjourned to the office of Lee Thorne, director, where they were further briefed by Terry Spear, administrative assistant to Thorne. Spear reviewed the number of personnel within the roads department, highlighted the budget, and answered the jurors' questions.

The members asked how the department prioritizes road repairs, and the officials said Thorne and his staff inspect the roads and, coupled with the number of complaints about specific areas, decide which roads demand attention. The county commissioners make the final determination.

Thorne and Spear were asked why the county doesn't use an asphalt paving surface instead of tar and chip, and they said that asphalt is three times the cost of tar and chip per mile. It was further acknowledged that tar and chip does not last anywhere near the duration of asphalt, but county budget limitations simply do not allow for the higher priced material.

In a later meeting at the courthouse, other questions were asked concerning types of road equipment, personnel functions, and other issues. Thorne briefed the entire Grand Jury on these issues, having reiterated Spear's comments. He also stated that he needed additional second shift help this year, especially during snow removal season. The average amount of snow removed in a worker's shift is about 30 miles. In some cases, according to the report, operators have to clear almost 40 miles. An aside mentioned in the jury report was that there are enough roads within Garrett County to stretch from the county to Ocean City.

It was the consensus of this Grand Jury committee that obsolete road equipment should be upgraded. This would be accomplished only by a budget increase. It was further recommended that the county make all haste to sell the obsolete 219 facility as a prime commercial parcel and move to a new, modern facility. Space for storage of equipment, additional maintenance, and office space are needed, according to the jury's report. Thorne agreed that such a move would increase efficiency and manpower utilization. A site discussed for this relocation would be the Southern Industrial Park, which is owned by Garrett County.

Thorne briefly reviewed work done on Garrett County bridges, stripping additional roads, and further investigation of new economical road materials for maintenance and repairs.

In reviewing the last Grand Jury report, he said he was working on a systematic approach to determine road maintenance priorities and schedules. This has yet to be completed.

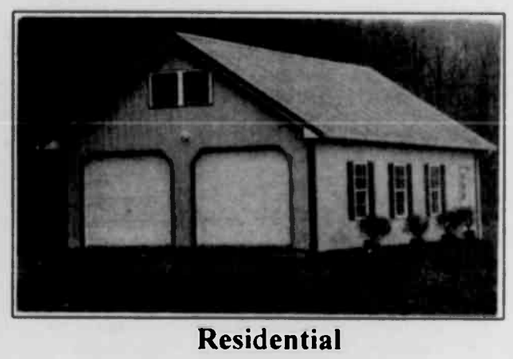
In referring to road maintenance, Spear told the jury that "squeaky wheels get the grease." The jury submitted that, instead, a firm planning schedule should be implemented and adhered to, except in extreme emergencies.

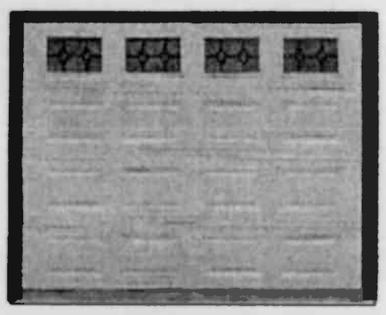
In conclusion, the Grand Jury expressed the opinion that the Garrett County Roads Department does a good job, especially in snow removal, considering the lack of updated equipment (some dating back to 1948) and an outmoded facility that can barely handle the current schedule of operations and maintenance.

"Roads in a rural community such as Garrett County are important for children to go to school," the report states. "They are important to the economy so people can go to work, and they are important to visitors and tourists in Garrett County. Good roads will cut down on accidents and decrease repairs to cars, school buses, and trucks that utilize these roads."

General Recommendations

The recommendations made by the 1997 September Term Grand Jury are as follows: that members be sent copies of the previous two Grand Jury reports so that they know where to follow up and to help develop questions; that members receive a copy of the agenda; that the meeting with the commissioners be scheduled for the last session on the second day; and that a month before the next Grand Jury meets, the current Grand Jury should receive feedback from the commissioners as to actions taken on the Grand Jury's recommendations.





The Grand Jury extended thanks to Judge James L. Sherbin, Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney; Stephen Russell, court bailiff; David Martin, circuit court clerk; Brian Schlossnagle, deputy clerk; Ruth Warnick, court stenographer; Kim Yoder, secretary to Mrs. Welch; Nancy J. Pagenhardt, forelady; Pauline Parrack, clerk; John Wolfe, clerk; David Shafer, doorman; and all other officials for their cooperation.

Q. My aluminum kerosene lamp is marked "Aladdin B-139." Is it old?

A. The B-139 models of aluminum Aladdin kerosene lamps were made between 1963 and '69. They sell for $25 to $40. Old, rare Aladdin lamps are worth much more.

Q. I inherited my mother's collection of Godey prints. What can you tell me about them?

A. Godey prints were the color fashion plates published in Godey's Lady's Book. The book was actually a magazine that was published from 1830 through 1898. It merged in 1863 with Ladies Magazine, which was published by Sarah Josepha Hale.

Hale, a remarkable woman who launched her magazine when she was 40 years old, continued as editor of Godey's until she was 90. Hale was responsible for having Thanksgiving declared a national holiday, and she was a leader in the fight for women's rights.

She was responsible for the fashion illusuations in the magazine. It was popular for women to remove the fashion plates and frame and hang them.

Many reprints of the plates were issued over the years, and a collection of the plates was published in "The Lady of Godey's, Sarah Josepha Hale," a book by Ruth E. Finley published in 1931.

COP LAND: Were it in my power to grant, I would make sure Sylvester Stallone receives an Oscar at the next Academy Awards — his performance is that good!

Stallone portrays Freddy Heflin, a good-natured, small-town sheriff who wearily goes about his days, performing his "law enforcement" duties very perfunctorily. Because of a hearing impairment he received years earlier when he rescued a drowning teenaged girl, he missed out on being a cop for the NYPD. (New York is just across the river from the sleepy New Jersey town Freddy polices.)

Freddy's town, with only 1,200 residents, possesses an inordinate number of citizens who actually are cops in New York City. One of those cops just happens to be married to the girl Freddy rescued (and subsequently fell in love with).

When Robert DeNiro blows into town, Freddy's life changes forever. DeNiro portrays an NYPD internal affairs officer who's come to town to go after some suspected dirty cops. For his part, Freddy's long suspected that something was amiss, but he was reluctant to pursue it because he felt he owed his job to them. Faced with such a moral dilemma, Freddy must make a choice between what's comfortable and what could very well put his very life in jeopardy.

Harvey Keitel is the corrupt detective who's the leader of the crooked cops. All have ties to the mob. This doesn't bode well for our hero at all.

As stated before, Stallone's performance is mesmerizing, even more so by virtue of the fact of the excellence of the rest of the cast. His ability to stand out among this crowd is a tribute to him and to his craft. Believe me, don't get carried away by the hype about Stallone gaining 40 or so pounds to do the role. That is secondary to his superb acting.

Ray Liotta and Annabella Sciorra round out the cast of principals. In more minor, but no less important, parts are Peter Berg, Janeane Garofalo, Robert Patrick and Michael Rapaport.

This is the stunner of the season. Don't miss it!

Work, Care, And Love Produce A Garrett County Champion

by David Foster

"Come on, I'll show you my rabbits!" With excitement in his voice, Shane DeWitt is off to introduce this reporter to his award-winning animals. Leading his family and myself along the side of their backyard, across from the garden that last year produced a pumpkin which weighed in at over 350 pounds, the young man beams in pride as he approaches the long row of hutches and cages housing the animals that depend on his care and attention.

"This is Velvet," Shane says, opening a hutch door for his father Kris, who reaches in to retrieve the rex breed. After the rabbit is placed in his arms, Shane lovingly strokes the black and white ball of fur and encourages me to touch it, pointing out that "she's very soft." Nestling quietly without a care in the world, the animal is unaware that she is a very special animal--the Grand Champion Rabbit at the 1997 Garrett County Agriculture Fair. Right now she's just a well-loved rabbit, happy and content in her master's arms.

Shane himself is happy and content in the arms of his family. The warmth and love that father Kris, mother Connie, and older sister Shonna share with the 17-year-old young man with Down's syndrome is reflected in the warmth he freely shares with them, his animals, and his guest. After Velvet is returned to her hutch, he passes hugs around to each of his family members to show his unabashed pride in them, and then he asks his mother, "Can I give David a hug, too?" He practically jumps into my arms as permission is quietly asked and happily given.

Shane's care for his animals translated into numerous golden trophies and brightly colored ribbons that he brought home from this year's county fair. In addition to Velvet's Grand Champion honors, Shane's other animals took Grand Champion in poultry and hogs, Medium Weight Champion hog, and Reserve Grand Champion rabbit.

"I like pigs most of all," he says later, sitting at a picnic table on the family patio, surrounded by Garrett County Fair trophies and ribbons. "I get them ready for the show, I clip the hair on their tail and in their ears, and I wash them with cold water--they like that." He beams as he points to one of the largest trophies, crowned with a golden pig. "This is for Striker, my champion pig at the fair. We named her 'Striker' because she would push a bowling ball around in the pen with her nose," he laughs.

The attention Shane lavished on Striker resulted in the animal winning the Grand Champion 4-H/FFA Market Hog honors at the county fair. More than that, his work with the 237-pound hog also benefited two local organizations that serve residents of Garrett County. Striker was purchased by Ringer Oil Company of Oakland for $3.00 per pound and donated to Appalachian Crossroads and Garrett County Lighthouse.

Alice Hevner, the county extension agent who works with 4-H youth, described the value of Shane's fair accomplishments. "There's a wider range to the livestock sale at the fair than just a monetary benefit to members of 4-H/FFA clubs and the Livestock Association. With the volume of donations made to non-profit groups, the benefit from the sale expands to help the entire community," she said.

Shane's nine years with 4-H, first with the Cove Kids club, and now with the Oak Hill club, have had an effect on his fellow members, according to Oak Hill club volunteer adult leader Lori Schmuck. "Since Shane has been with Oak Hill 4-H, he has, perhaps not knowingly, helped all the kids gain a better sense of respect for each other," she said. "He's brought them to a new sense of maturity. Since he's been with the club our members have learned more and more about working together as a team and helping each other achieve their goals, and we worry less and less about individual accomplishments," Schmuck said.

We have a strong sense of teamwork," she continued, "and a realization that each member is not here on their own, but for a bigger reason. I have to credit Shane for much of that."

Shane's presence has not only helped his fellow 4-H'ers, for he has also drawn from what 4-H has to offer him and all club members. "We've seen Shane develop and mature right along with the rest of the group," Schmuck said. "He's always pulled his load, and is always willing and eager to pitch in and participate when asked. He's also very quick with praise for the other members, and that is infectious. They've learned to be quick with help and praise for each other and for Shane. The rest of the club was there rooting for him and praising his accomplishments at the fair," she said.

"I've known Shane and for over five years," said Connie Hoalcraft, a judge at this year's fair. "He really has a gift for working with animals, and I've seen him progress in his work with them and in all areas of life."

Hoalcraft had high praise for the DeWitt family as well. "The DeWitts are a very strong, enduring, and understanding family. They've put a great deal of love, patience and time into each other, and they give Shane the time to do things at his own pace," she said. "It shows that a family can work together to achieve what they have with Shane, and what he has achieved with his animals. With the DeWitts, as with any family, it takes the whole family caring for each other and working together to succeed," she concluded.

In teaching Shane what it takes to produce champion livestock, the DeWitt family has learned along with him what it takes to produce a champion in life. For his part, Shane shows all of us how the simplest of tasks, when done with work, care, and love, can have far-reaching results and touch many lives beyond our own.

Shane's animals may have won numerous trophies and ribbons, but he, his family, and his friends and fellow 4-H'ers are the true Garrett County champions.

At the end of my visit, Shane and his father Kris walk arm in arm with each other to escort me to my car. As I pull down the driveway, Shane waves and calls out, "It was nice meeting you! You come back and see me soon!"

Thanks, Shane. I will.

St. Paul's To Be Collection Site For Local Santa

St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will again this year serve as a collection site for donations for Lou Stouffer, Terra Alta, W.Va., who has been "Santa" to many of the area's children for 26 years. Every year, hundreds of children in Preston County and Garrett County receive an unexpected visit and receive clothing, toys, and household items that have been donated, collected, repaired, and refurbished by Stouffer and his wife Lola.

New and used toys and clothing are needed for youth of all ages and sizes, along with household goods and personal care items. Gifts for teenaged youth, such as CDs, perfume, jewelry, etc., are particularly needed, according to Stouffer. Donations may be taken to the church Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and should be placed on the stage in the Fellowship Hall. For assistance or more information, persons may telephone the church office at 301-334-2391.

Oakland Woman Sentenced For Drug Possession

In Garrett County District Court proceedings of the past week, an Oakland women was convicted on a drug charge.

Diane Guy, 44, Oakland, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and received a 30-day sentence with all but one day suspended, was placed on one year of supervised probation, and was ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. An additional charge of felony theft was not prosecuted by the state's attorneys office.

Guy's charges stemmed from her arrest last May by the Maryland State Police, who had conducted a search of her residence in connection with several items of stolen jewelry that she allegedly had in her possession. (The items were reportedly stolen by another subject in November of 1996 who had given them to Guy.) During the search, troopers reportedly found several marijuana cigarettes in her cigarette case.

In other District Court news recently, Sandra Lynn McLaren, 29, Baltimore, was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) after pleading guilty to possession of marijuana, stemming from her June arrest at Swallow Falls State Park by rangers from the Department of Natural Resources. She was also fined $155, placed on six months of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Ilene Sue Ross, 35, McHenry, was handed a PBJ after pleading guilty to a charge of serving beer to an underage person at the Hunter's Sports Bar in McHenry in May.

Walter Lester Engle Jr., 67, Frostburg, was handed a PBJ after pleading guilty to selling beer to an underage person at the Longstretch Market on Route 40 in May.

Scott Allen Hebb, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, was found to be in violation of the probation order he was given after his January conviction on a drug charge of inhaling toxic materials. His probation was revoked and a six-month jail term was reimposed.

Brian Keith Bolyard, 23, Oakland, was found to be in violation of the probation order he was given after his May conviction for malicious destruction of property. His probation was revoked and a seven-day jail term was reimposed.

Darl Matthew Friend, 23, Oakland, was granted a revision of sentence to reflect termination of the probation order he was serving in connection with his February 1996 conviction on battery and harassment charges.

Robert Paul Norton, 19, Glen Burnie, was granted a revision of sentence to reflect a PBJ in connection with his May conviction for marijuana possession.

Charges of trespassing and willfully disobeying a lawful order of a police officer faced by Steven Lawrence Dawson, 19, and Gregory Patrick Ingleae, 23, both of Oakland, were placed onto the stet docket which means that the court can recall the case for trial within the next 365 days if it deems necessary.

A charge of disorderly conduct faced by Ronald Wayne Warnick, 26, Swanton, was placed onto the stet docket as well.

Amy Jolene Tichinel, 21, and Timothy Morris Tichinel, 27, were each found not guilty of second-degree assault charges stemming from an August domestic altercation between them at their Kitzmiller residence.

Karen Lea Durst, 32, and Blair A. Baker, 32, were each found not guilty of second-degree assault and malicious destruction of property charges stemming from June domestic altercation between them at their Grantsville residence.

Merrill Thomas Bittinger, 25, Grantsville, was found not guilty of charges of three counts of second-degree assault.

Victor Frank Gardea, 41, Oakland, was found not guilty of charges of second-degree assault and disorderly conduct.

Michael Milton McRobie, 39, Swanton, was found not guilty of a charge of fourth-degree burglary.

Christopher Alan Glotfelty, 23, and Shane Patrick Davis, 22, both of Oakland, were each not prosecuted on charges of first-degree burglary, first-degree assault, and second-degree assault.

A charge of felony theft faced by Roger Lee Strawser Jr., 31, Swanton, was not prosecuted.

A charge of reckless endangerment faced by Michael Andrew Hoffeditz, 29, McHenry, was not prosecuted.

A charge of possession of marijuana faced by Joseph Freeman Snell, 49, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted, and a violation of probation charge against him was dismissed as well.

Prevention & Treatment of Menstrual Migraines

Migraine headaches are associated with changes in the blood vessels. Vascular (blood vessel) headaches occur when certain vessels in the head expand or enlarge. It is thought that expansion of such vessels places pressure on nerves which, in turn, causes pain. The nature of migraine attacks varies, but most are preceeded by a warning period or aura. During the warning period, the person affected may feel extremely tired, experience visual problems (bright lights may be unbearable), or become nauseated. Diarrhea and/or vomiting may occur. Soon after these warning signs fade, an intense, gripping pain on one side of the forehead begins. Some experience a throbbing of the entire head.

According to a recent article in the medical journal Postgraduate Medicine, up to 70 percent of migraines in women are related to their menstrual cycles. Preventive measures include stabilizing body estrogen levels with an estrogen-containing skin patch or gel 2 to 3 days before menses. Nonsteroidal antiinflammatory medicines such as aspinn, acetaminophen, and ibuprofen may prevent migraines when started 2 days before the expected menses.

Group To Discuss Symptoms, Signs Of Alzheimer's

Representatives from Pfizer Pharmaceutical distributor of the Alzheimer's drug Aricept, will speak at the September meeting of the Garrett County Alzheimer's Association caregiver support group.

The meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 29, at Mountain Glade Adult Medical Day Care center, Oakland, 7-8:30 p.m. The Pfizer representatives will talk about recognizing the early symptoms of memory impairment and the importance of an early diagnosis.

Family members may find it difficult to recognize these early symptoms and to distinguish between what is considered normal age-related memory loss and more serious memory impairment. It may be difficult for family members to convey to doctors the changes they are seeing.

In conjunction with the National Alzheimer's Association and the National Council on Aging, Pfizer has developed checklists and assessment tools to help families recognize and record changes. Handouts will be available on Monday and the Pfizer representative will explain how to recognize early signs.

Most doctors, clinicians, and health care professionals agree it is important to take the next step, which is to get a diagnosis. A diagnosis is important because it helps to ensure that the individual will receive the appropriate care. An early diagnosis also allows more time to plan for the future.

The only two drugs currently available for the treatment of Alzheimer's, Aricept and Tacrine (Cognex). These medications have been reported to be most effective in the mild to moderate stages of the disease.

To help families better understand the potential benefits and costs of Aricept, the three representatives plan to finish the meeting with a discussion of Aricept and what it does.

The Alzheimer's group will provide this opportunity to learn about Aricept so that families will be better able to make informed decisions about the risks, costs and benefits of the medication.

Denise Jones, an employee of the Western MD Alzheimer's Association, will attend the support group meeting in order to gather issues and concerns from individuals. These will relayed to legislators.

Respite care is available to anyone who wishes to attend the meeting and is in need of such a service. To arrange for respite care or to get more information persons may call Donna McClintock at 301-334-8253 or 301-895-3112, or call 1-800-696-6830.

RESPONDING TO LAWSUIT ABUSE - Oakland's Mayor Asa McCain has signed a proclamation in support of efforts by Western Maryland Citizens Against Lawsuit Abuse. The proclamation signed by McCain recognizes Sept. 21-27 as Lawsuit Abuse Awareness Week.

State, County Jobless Rates Drop In July

For the sixth consecutive month, the number of employed people grew, as Maryland's unemployment rate dropped half a percentage point from 5.1 percent in June to 4.6 percent in July. The expansion in employment was fueled by employers continuing to hire workers to fill summer jobs.

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate also dropped, from 13.2 percent in June to 11.3 percent in July. The July 1996 rate was 8.1 percent.

"This news is another important sign that our economy is strong and growing stronger," said Governor Parris N. Glendening. "Not only have we continued to experience employment growth over the past several months, Maryland's unemployment rate is lower than a year ago and continues to be lower than the national unemployment rate, indicators of a sound economy."

Nationally, the unemployment rate continues to be higher than Maryland's at 5.0 percent. Local unemployment rates included levels as low as 2.3 percent in Montgomery County, 2.9 percent in Howard County, 3.5 percent in Talbot County, and 3.7 percent in Worcester County.

The labor force, which normally peaks in July as the influx of summer job seekers continues, grew by 25,560 people to 2,845,683. Employment also continued to trend upward, rising by 36,744 people over the month. This gain helped to accommodate the labor force expansion and to remove 11,184 people from the unemployment rolls.

Local labor market conditions also reacted favorably to seasonal hiring, causing unemployment rates to either decline or stabilize in all but five jurisdictions. The most noticeable improvements occurred in the Western Maryland and Eastern Shore areas, with unemployment rates falling by a full percentage point or more in six counties.

During July, hiring activity on Maryland's industrial payrolls followed normal seasonal patterns, with gains in construction, hotels, business services, amusements, restaurants, and membership organizations helping to cushion the impact of summer reductions in education.

Employment in Western Maryland grew by nearly 2,500 people.

SPENDING A DAY AT THE BANK - A corporate sponsor of the local chapter of Big Brothers/Big Sisters, First United National Bank & Trust invited children from the organization to spend time at work with Big Brothers/Big Sisters members Annette Chapman in the Trust Department and Sandy Bell in Customer Service. Missy, seated, pictured here with Sandy, is one of the "littles" who learned about the banking industry. "I really enjoyed having Missy spend time with me. She seemed so eager to learn about the different areas of the bank and someday might seek a career at First United. She would certainly be a great match for someone interested in being a Big Sister," Sandy said. Anyone wishing information of Big Brothers/Big Sisters may call 301-334-3591.

ARE YOU AN IN BETWEENER?

Are you stuck in between?

Let me explain.

Your job provides a steady income--a problem because your take-home pay is just enough to make you ineligible for any government aid programs. But your take-home pay won't let you qualify for help from a standard lender.

You're in between.

Think about where you live. What about space? Do more than two children share a bedroom? How about the roof and ceilings? Exposed wiring? Plumbing? Any standing water? A clean, constant water source? Heat? Insulation?

You get the idea.

Just one more question: Do you live or work or worship in Garrett County? Yes?

Then read on.

If some of these comments and questions describe your situation, and you and your family and friends are willing to work hard, Habitat for Humanity may be able to help you buy and build a solid, affordable home.

Poster Contest, Cake Auction Featured At 16th Potato Festival

Country and gospel music resounded through the hills this past weekend as the community of Mt. Grove celebrated its 16th Annual Potato Festival.

Sponsored each year by the Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department, festivities also included a decorated cake contest and auction, and a first-ever poster contest by area elementary school children.

Event organizers noted the lack of interest shown in the traditional potato festival royalty contest necessitated a new activity to keep children involved. Students in two age divisions (K-3 and 4-5) at the elementary school were invited to create posters using a potato festival or fire department theme and then enter those posters to be judged. The posters were on display during the weekend's activities, and those in attendance on Saturday voted by buying tickets and placing those tickets in jars to indicate their favorite creation.

The winning posters, according to Dave Sypolt, master of ceremonies for the potato festival, will be used during the coming year to promote Fire Prevention Week and, possibly, for T-shirt designs for next year's event. Winners in the K-3 category were: first place, Julie Lewis, daughter of Larry and Sharon Elliott, Horse Shoe Run; second place, Robin Martin, daughter of Dave and Linda Martin, Aurora; and third place, Aaron Shaffer, son of Walter and Janet Shaffer, Horse Shoe Run. The winners in grades 4-5 were: first place, Robbie Wiles, son of Kevin and Kathy Wiles, Aurora; second place, Nicole Britner, daughter of Philip and Anita Britner, Aurora; and third place, Jennifer Sullivan, daughter of Tony and Doris Sullivan, Terra Alta. One poster, designated as the "People's Choice," was also selected during the festival. The creator of this poster was Amelia Friend, daughter of George and Bonnie Friend, Horse Shoe Run.

Also recognized during the festivities were last year's court, Junior Miss Farina Tamara Ann Wallo and her escort Charlie Bob Cline, and Little Miss Farina Kaitlyn Sara Schalker and her escort Brandon McWilliams.

A highlight of potato festival activities was a decorated cake contest. Cakes featuring fire department and/or potato festival themes were entered into the competition, with the first three places awarded to the following: first place, Reba Williams, who received $100; second place, Wanda Evans, who was awarded $50; and third place, Rose Ina Harsh, who received $25. This year's judges were Marilyn Roth, Lois Shaffer, and Beverly Thomas.

Following the contest, auctioneer Carl Blizzard again offered his services to sell the three prize-winning cakes, as well as several others, to add to the excitement of the afternoon. The first place cake, originally purchased by Don Roth of Miners and Merchants Bank, was donated back and auctioned three more times. That cake netted a total of $640. The second place cake was also initially bought by Miners and Merchants Bank, and Delegate O.B. Collins was the first to purchase the third place cake. These cakes, too, were donated back to the auction and re-sold. They, along with the other cakes (and two 10-pound bags of potatoes donated by Bill Grose of Montcroft Farms, Cranesville), brought more than $1,650 for the fire department.

Bidder on hand during the afternoon included representatives from local businesses like Sheidow Bronze Corp. in Kingwood, Performance Motors in Parsons, The Republican newspaper in Oakland, and Fairfax Sand, as well as Weir Roth, Sam Roth, Vernon Ball, Ron Crites, and numerous other individuals.

Proceeds from the poster contest, cake auction, and other events during the annual Mt. Grove Potato Festival are used to fund the fire department's operating expenses during the year.

DECORATED CAKE CONTEST WINNERS - A main attraction during the annual Mt. Grove Potato Festival is a decorated cake auction which, along with the sale of two 10-pound bags filled with Preston County potatoes donated by Bill Grose of Montcroft Farms, Cranesville, raised approximately $1,650 for the county's youngest fire department this year. The top three prize-winning cakes were the first to be auctioned and, in the top photo is the first place cake and its creator, Reba Williams. Pictured to the rear of Ms. Williams are Carl Blizzard, left, who offers his services each year for the cake auction, and Jeff Harsh, a member of the Mt. Grove VFD, and one of the potato festival organizers. Shown below left is the second place cake, displayed by Susie Helmick who stood in for the second-place winner, Wanda Evans. Below right is Rose Ina Harsh, third place winner, with her entry.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

HANLINES TO NOTE 60TH ANNIVERSARY

Mary Jane and Lorain Hanline, Aurora, will be observing their 60th wedding anniversary with an open house on Sunday, Sept. 28, at the Aurora fire hall from 2 to 4 p.m. The couple requests that there be no gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanline are the parents of one son, Norman Hanline of Oakland.

AURORA PTO

The Aurora School hosted an open house for parents prior to the PTO meeting on Sept. 9. President Renee Mullenax conducted the business session. According to Donna Kemphfer, secretary, several dates have been set for this fall's events. October 31 will be trick or treat night with hours set for 6 until 8 p.m. A Fall Fun Fest is tentatively set for Nov. 1. A book fair is also scheduled for November and the PTO is planning another Christmas craft day for which volunteers are needed.

Mrs. Callahan reported that the 95 students involved in the summer reading program checked out an average of 300 books each week. They made and launched rockets, had a hot air balloon demonstration, and were informed by a specialist about raptors and their difficulties. They also went to West Virginia University and to Camp Dawson. A PTO-sponsored trip to the Creative Arts Center in Morgantown to see "Cinderella" is in the plans for December.

Mr. Toothman announced that the shop building at the school is to be demolished and that any of the remaining contents are available to those who would like to have them. Interested persons may call Toothman at the school to receive further information. He has also contacted professional recreation people and there will be someone coming to the school to design a playground which will meet all safety regulations.

Students are still saving Campbell, Swanson, and related product labels and Little Debbie guarantee panels for the school.

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS

Officers for the 1998 club year were elected by the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club at its September 8 meeting. Matthew Bachtel will serve as president, with Melinda Teets elected as vice president. Sarah Snyder will serve as secretary and Dana Feather takes the position of treasurer. Named to the music committee were Maria Harsh, Tom Teets, Tracy Teets, and Sara Lewis. Guiding the recreation committee will be Grant Harsh, Shawn Rembold, and Craig Rembold. Reporters will be Ashley Bachtel and Chris Mullenax.

Devotions to open the meeting were led by Matthew Bachtel and Chris Mullenax, both members of the conservation committee. Sara Lewis led the pledges. Seventeen members answered roll call.

Reports winding up the club year were given on the state 4-H Dairy Show by Tom Teets. Chris Mullenax and Tim Harsh were both blue ribbon winners at the state fair with their photo exhibits.

The club made plans to serve Buckwheat Festival meals and to enter exhibits. Sarah Snyder finalized plans

Among the dignitaries scheduled to be on hand for the dedication will be Major General Allen Tagett, the West Virginia state adjutant general.

A NASCAR simulator will be on display all three days of the festival in the commercial exhibit area of the festival grounds, near the information booth. Also appearing will be the NASCAR #5 Monte Carlo, driven by the reigning Winston Cup Points Champion, Terry Labonte. The Monte Carlo is sponsored locally by Graham Chevrolet.

PERSONAL MENTION

Debbie Strawser has shown her slides from her recent trip to Russia and expresses her appreciation to all of those individuals and organizations that made possible the purchase of food and medical supplies given to the children there. The following church groups participated: Maple Grove Assembly of God, Gortner Union Church, Shiloh Church of the Brethren, Brookside and Fairview Churches of the Brethren youth, Maple Spring COB youth, and Bethel United Methodist Church and youth. Individuals who offered their assistance were: Ruby Feather, Jeanne Whitehair, Winoma Spurgeon, Jo Adamy, Mary and Eugene Shaffer, Charles, Audra, and Curt Teets, Rose Ina Harsh, Effie Wolfe, Bob and Peggy Spaid, Lois Layman, Ellis and Marie Teets, and Mark and LaDeana Teets.

Herman Kemphfer, Aurora, underwent surgery on Monday.

Visiting this weekend with his mother, Iris Myers, Aurora, was Charlie Myers and his family of Marlinton.

Maynard and Bonnie Lantz and Alan and Helen Lipscomb returned Saturday to Aurora after a visit to Branson, Mo., last week.

Bill and Joyce Dixon, Amboy, went Sept. 5-8 to Elizabethton, Tenn., and returned her sister, Marjorie Ingram, to her home there.

Alan and Mary Teets, Springfield, Va., were weekend visitors with her parents, Homer and Marguerite Myers, Aurora.

Out-of-town visitors last week with Roscoe and Ruth Teets were Bradley and Robin Teets, Stroudsburg, Pa., Katie Henline of Gorman, Md., and her nieces, Alice Podalsky, Georgia Denton, and Elsie Hopkins.

Two names were missed last week in those from this area who are attending colleges. Lori Dixon has returned to her second year as an elementary education major at Fairmont State College. Chad Arnold is beginning his third year at WVU.

Janna Freeman last week addressed the Aurora PTO as to her concerns with the school system. On Friday, both she and her husband, Ron Freeman, along with Arvin Harsh, appeared as witnesses in a hearing held before Judge Fred Fox at the Preston County Courthouse.

Richard, Mary, and Caitlin Norwish, Eglon, vacationed this weekend in Ohio and included Sea World at Aurora in their plans.

Add to the "off to school" list two names of those attending WVU that were inadvertently missed, Beth Hauser and Michelle Sisler. Also add to the list of those at Garrett Community College the names of Michael Sisler and Shawn Sisler, both of whom are taking classes there.

Their efforts augment this interchurch enterprise through agricultural development, literacy, and evangelism.

Before their term in Benin, the Detweilers served with MBM in Liberia from 1991 to 1994, working with the Christian Health Association of Liberia. During the civil war in Liberia they were based in nearby Ivory Coast, where they helped get medical supplies and food into Liberia.

Bureau Warns About Deceptive Collect Calls

The Better Business Bureau of Greater Maryland, Inc., has been alerted to deceptive collect calls being made to individuals in the guise of a charitable donation. According to call recipients, individuals are asked if they would accept a collect call from "Jennifer" (sometimes "John" is used). If they agree, they then hear a prerecorded message that informs them that they have just made an $8 donation to a specified missing children's charity.

"These calls are a double tragedy. Individuals are deceived into accepting these charges and the image of charity is tarnished by this unscrupulous fund-raising method," said Nicholas G. Greaves, president of the Better Business Bureau.

The Better Business Bureau offers individuals the following tips in dealing with such calls:

Don't accept a collect call from someone you don't know. If you can, verify the full name of any collect caller before agreeing to accept the charges.

If you accept a deceptive collect call in error, listen carefully to the message and note any information that might be helpful in filing a complaint (i.e., the exact name of the charity, its location, the name of the long distance carrier, etc.).

Contact the Better Business Bureau at 410-347-3990, ext. 3006 so it can alert others in your community about the ruse.

Inform your local phone carrier about the problem. However, they might not be able to provide immediate assistance without the name of the long distance carrier that placed the collect call.

Look at your next phone bill carefully. It should identify the deceptive collect call charge and the long distance carrier that placed the call. Make a copy of the bill and send it along with a complaint letter to your local phone carrier, with a copy also being sent to: The Federal Communications Commission, Consumer Protection Branch, Washington, D.C. 20554, Mail Stop 1600A; and the Better Business Bureau, 2100 Huntingdon Avenue, Baltimore, MD 21211-3215.

Consumers might also want to request potential assistance from the Maryland Attorney General Office at 410-528-8662 or 1-800-969-5776 (outside Baltimore) and the Public Service Commission at 410-767-8000.

"Where Has the Time Gone?"

Time is an easy thing to forget, but keeping track of the time when visiting patients in the hospital is important to remember.

Visiting hours for patients staying in semi-private rooms are from 1 pm-8 pm and 10 am-9 pm for patients in private rooms.

For critical care units like coronary intensive care, visiting hours are from 9 am-10 am, 1 pm-2 pm and 7 pm-8pm while visiting hours for the progressive care unit are from 9 am-11 am, 1 pm-3 pm and 6 pm-8 pm.

These hours are in effect daily and are designed so that all of our patients can get the optimum rest and relaxation needed for a complete recovery.

We encourage you to visit your loved ones and to keep track of the time.

By doing so, you can make a big difference in the road to recovery for our patients.

Rest assured!

TOP CONS - Marlin "King Lion" Lawson, Friendsville, pictured above left, was one of the "convicts" who participated in the annual Jail 'N Bail at the recent Garrett County Fair for the benefit of Hospice of Garrett County. He was also the "con" who raised the most money for the local organization, as he garnered over $800 in "bail money." The second top money raiser, collecting over $700, was Beatrice "Bebe Baby" Opel, Grantsville, who is pictured above right with Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice. ("Bebe" is the one in the stripes.) "Many other 'prisoners' raised large amounts of bail money," Butscher said. Share Your Pet Day Scheduled At Mtn. Glade

Share Your Pet Day is a new item on the calendar of events at Mountain Glade Adult Medical Day Care center.

On Wednesday, Sept. 24, members of the community are invited to stop in the center and bring along a pet to visit with the clients.

Pam Glotfelty, a staff nursing assistant at the center, said that from time to time people bring pets in to visit. "But we've never invited the community to do this," she said.

Glotfelty also spoke of studies that reflect positive benefits of pet interactions for people limited by frailty or illness. "We have a cocker spaniel that visits sometimes. One young man even brought in a tarantula to visit one day," she said.

The best hours for visiting with pets are 9-11 a.m. and 1-3 p.m., Glotfelty said. Anyone wishing more information may contact Mountain Glade at 301-334-0585. The center is located on Pythian Ave., Oakland.

Annual Springs Folk Festival Slated Oct. 3-4

The 40th Annual Springs Folk Festival will be held October 3-4 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily on the grounds adjacent to the Springs, Pa., Museum, located along Route 669 just north of Grantsville. This traditional festival, held each year during the spectacular fall foliage season, is a celebration of the arts, crafts, and culture of the "mountain folk of days gone by."

Craftspersons using natural materials and native skills will offer contemporary handicrafts, from painting and pottery making to wheat weaving and basket making, as well as fungus painting and colorful hand quilting. Unique gifts may be purchased at the festival, and live music will be featured, including the music of bluegrass performers, the a cappella singing of a Mennonite choir, and the melodies of a mountain dulcimer.

Visitors who stroll the forest trail will see pioneer exhibits including maple sugaring, apple butter boiling, log hewing, and sauerkraut making, as well as wool dyeing, spinning and weaving, broom making, tinsmithing, and cider making. An added attraction will be a pageant of by-gone days in the Springs community, presented by local talent Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon.

Pennsylvania Dutch foods will be offered, including sausage burgers, bean soup, homemade baked goods, doughnuts, funnel cakes, and homemade bread. The Springs Historical Museum, located in two large buildings, will be open during the festival. This museum houses a large array of artifacts presenting the history and way of life of the early Springs settlers.

Admission to the festival and museum is $4 for anyone 12 years of age and over, $1 for children 6 to 12 years old, and free for children 5 and under. Admission is $3 per person for preregistered groups of 20 or more, with ample free parking for cars, buses, and RVs. State, County Crime Figures Show Decrease

The rate of serious crime in Maryland declined through the first six months of this year as compared to the same period last year, as violent crime dipped nine percent and property crime fell five percent, according to figures released this week by the governor's office.

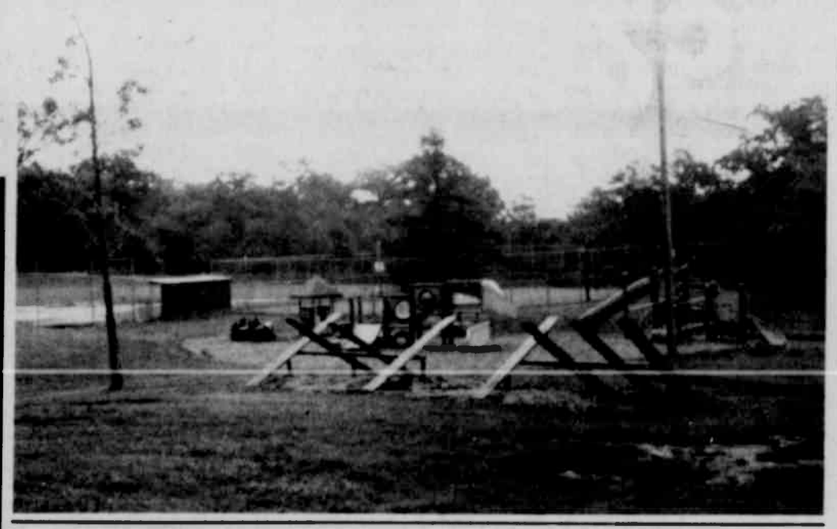
Crime in Garrett County also declined slightly for the period, down 2.1 percent overall. There were 281 incidents investigated during the first six months of this year, down from 287 during the first six months of 1996.

The violent crimes included in the statistics are murder, rape, robbery, and aggravated assault, while the property crimes include breaking and/or entering, larceny/theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson. The number of incidents of crime actually rose in five of those categories in Garrett County, but fell significantly in larceny/theft, from 194 to 149 cases.

There was also a decrease in murder, from one case to none, while arson remained unchanged with two cases in each six-month period. There were increases in the number of cases of: rape, from one to three; robbery, from no cases to one case; aggravated assault, from 22 to 31 cases; breaking or entering, from 61 to 83 cases; and in motor vehicle theft, from eight to 14 cases.

Neighboring Allegany County recorded a less-than-one-percent drop in the overall total, from 1,185 cases in the first six months of 1996 to 1,176 in the first six months of this year.

Governor Parris Glendening noted his appreciation to the Maryland State Police at the 33rd annual Maryland Chiefs of Police Association Convention Monday in Ocean City, stating that the efforts of police chiefs and officers across Maryland have contributed to a continuing decrease in crime.



"We are making Maryland safer because of a partnership of government working together with local police departments and the citizens we serve," the governor said.

Lieutenant Governor Kathleen Townsend added, "Despite our progress, the level of crime is still unacceptably high. Our energies will continue to remain focused on implementing innovative strategies to make Maryland safer for all our citizens."

The chiefs were also commended by the governor for their association's stand against attempts of the gambling industry to bring slot machines and casinos into Maryland.

PROJECTS PERK UP PARK - The Finzel Park has profited from some recent Program Open Space projects. The Eastern Garrett County Recreation and Parks Association completed several park enhancements during the summer, including the addition of a new pavilion, a new rest room facility, and some new playground equipment. The ramps to make the facilities accessible were also completed. The park board has been discussing the possibility of adding a walking track to the park. The Program Open Space funds for the Finzel Park upgrades were required to be matched by community funds. The park organization is currently sponsoring a gun raffle to help fund the project. Anyone interested in a ticket should contact Jim Raley at 301-689-5431 or Rose Opel at 301-689-9675.

Farming In Maryland.....

Commitment To Ag Emphasized At Fair By Gov. Glendening

Speaking at the Governor's Day Luncheon at the 1997 Maryland State Fair in Timonium, Governor Parris N. Glendening said that his administration is firmly committed to keeping agriculture strong throughout the state, "so that our children and grandchildren will enjoy the same excellent quality of life we in Maryland have come to expect."

As part of his support for agriculture, Governor Glendening highlighted his new Rural Legacy Program, which will control urban sprawl and preserve the state's rural and agricultural heritage.

"As I travel around the state, I find one of the foremost concerns is the loss of our valuable farmland and the threat this poses for the future of our agricultural industry. That is why I made Rural Legacy one of the key components of my Smart Growth package," Governor Glendening said.

Under the Rural Legacy Program, Maryland will accelerate its efforts to purchase voluntary easements on contiguous tracts of agricultural, forest, and environmentally sensitive areas before they are permanently lost to development and urban sprawl. For more information, those interested may contact Harold Kanarek at the Maryland Department of Agriculture, 410-841-5882.

Maryland Ag Officials Visit South Korea

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the United States Livestock Genetics Export, Inc. (USLGE), has just conducted a successful trade mission to South Korea. The USLGE is a private cooperator with the U.S. Department of Agriculture to promote international export of United States livestock and genetics. Members of the trade mission team included Timothy Capps, vice president of the Maryland Horse Breeders Association; Carlos Garcia, prominent Maryland Thoroughbred breeder and trainer; Dr. Henry A. Virts, deputy secretary, Maryland Department of Agriculture; Errol Small, chief of International Marketing, Maryland Department of Agriculture. The team presented two trade seminars while in South Korea, one in Seoul and the other in Cheju. Also in attendance at the seminars was Phillip Scholl, agriculture trade officer to South Korea and members of the American Embassy staff. The Korean Racing Association, which is run by the South Korean government, is rapidly expanding the racing industry in their country and is continuing to buy Thoroughbreds from Maryland.

"The seminars were informative and productive and are already paying back big dividends because Korean inspectors are already in Maryland to select 52 brood mares and three stallions worth $3 million. The future of this relationship between Korea and Maryland looks very good for the Maryland Thoroughbred industry," said Riley.

The trade mission also offered an opportunity for the representatives of the U.S. Thoroughbred industry to see the Korean Thoroughbreds training, breeding and racing facilities, and most importantly to meet with the important people in the Korean Racing Association, the Seoul Race Horse Owners Association, the Seoul Race Course Trainers and Jockeys Association, and the Korean Thoroughbred Breeders Association.

For more information on the trade mission to South Korea, interested persons may contact Errol Small, Maryland Department of Agriculture, International Marketing, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, or telephone 410-841-5770.

What ice cream flavors score high marks with kids? According to Prepared Foods (March 1995), kids ages six to 12 "very strongly" prefer Vanilla, Rocky Road, S'mores, Cookie Dough, Chocolate and Peanut Butter. Fruity flavors like cherry, banana, even watermelon, did well, too; but kids gave a thumbs down to lemon, blueberry and cranberry.

SHEEP LEAD LINE CONTEST WINNERS--The 1997 Sheep Lead Line Contest winners at the Garrett County Fair were Sarah Pyaell, Champion, and Lisa Bernard, Reserve Champion. Sarah and Lisa are both members of the Country Kids 4-H Club. As Champion, Sarah (pictured above) won a trophy sponsored by Joe DiSimone and a $100 Savings Bond from Gambill Amusements. As Reserve Champion, Lisa (pictured below) received a trophy sponsored by Trophies Unlimited and a $50 Savings Bond from Gambill Amusements. The Sheep Lead Line Contest is based on the overall appearance of both the contestant and the sheep combined while in the show ring. The wool outfit selected to be worn in the ring must be attractive and lend elegance to the contest. The garment must be made of at least 60 percent wool and may be sewn, knitted, woven or crocheted. The condition and overall attractiveness of the sheep and how well the sheep is halter trained and behaves in the show ring are also considered. Other participants were: Beth Long, Sarah Rexroad, Sharon Harvey, Jeremy Bernard, and Adam Rexroad. Photo by Tom Holler.

. . . but about the most trailblazing you'll be doing is finding your way from your back door to the tennis courts, enjoying an evening stroll down lovely wooded trails, or slipping over to your own private dock for some of the best boating in all of Maryland — skimming atop the tranquil, blue waters of Deep Creek Lake.

And though it may seem to be a world unto itself — with its peaceful setting and crisp, clean air — this little diamond in Garrett County's crown is literally just minutes from great shopping, two 18-hole golf courses, a movie theater, and all the fine dining that makes being on the mountain top so special.

WVU Extension News

Bill Shockey, Preston Co. Ag Agent

It's late summer. That means that it is also Preston County Buckwheat Festival time again. In addition to all the fun, crafts, and buckwheat cakes, the festival provides a first class opportunity for county young people (ages 8 through 18) to exhibit their livestock projects. The underlying value of this experience to promote long-term benefits to agricultural livestock production cannot be overstated. The Preston County Livestock Association provides the vehicle for our 4-H and FFA members to show the residents of Preston County and all of West Virginia how hard they have worked toward this positive and beneficial activity. This year 125 junior members will exhibit 255 animals. The 4-H and FFA programs have a long history of developing and providing training that will build tomorrow's leaders.

Last year 92 businesses and individuals purchased a total of 172 animals at the Junior Livestock Sale. This sale, which serves as the climax to long months of hard work, allows our local businesses and individuals to show their support for the productive enterprises of the youth and their future. Pat Pinnell, Farmer's Day chairman, Bill Stone and Rose Snider, assistant Farmer's Day chairmen, along with Tracy Waugh, 4-H agent, and Bill Shockey, agricultural agent, express their appreciation on behalf of the 4-H and FFA members to all the buyers who supported the Junior Livestock Sale last year and invite everyone to come and enjoy the lively auction.

Among last year's highlights, Terry Hayes showed the Grand Champion Market Steer, and Adam Foley showed the Reserve Grand Champion Steer. These two young men competed with 36 youth. The Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion market steers were purchased by Greer Limestone of Morgantown.

Melinda Teets showed the Grand Champion market hog and Rodney Childs showed the Reserve Grand Champion market hog. These young people competed with 50 youth. The Grand Champion Market Hog was purchased by Jenkins Trucking & Sons, Inc., and the Reserve Grand Champion Market Hog was purchased by West Virginia Farm Credit.

Mary Roy showed the Grand Champion market lamb, and Josh Everton showed the Reserve Grand Champion market lamb. The young people competed with 80 youth. CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Crime Solver organization is currently seeking information into crimes of vandalism and burglary that have occurred in the county over the past year.

Sometime between July 13 and 30, unknown persons vandalized at least 23 mailboxes in the areas of Smouse, Pleasant Valley, and Jasper Riley roads. Again in late August, a wooden sign engraved with the name "Riley" was apparently stolen from an unknown location and thrown through a window of a residence along Smouse Road.

The total damage estimate in these cases exceeds $600, according to the report. Persons who have information about this or any other unsolved crimes are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 301-387-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor do they have to appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

The other incident being investigated occurred in early March, when several sheds and a residence were burglarized. The buildings were located along State Park Road, just below the new Pinnacle development. Numerous hand tools and electrical tools were taken, as well as lawn equipment.

Any person with information about this burglary is asked to contact Tfc. Robert Sharp with the Maryland State Police at 301-387-1101.

STARK LIMBS ETCHED ON A SKY OF CLOUDS -- a harbinger of what is to come? True, winter is not far away, although this tree has obviously had better years and is further along in the autumn cycle than most. Before we are snowed under, though, the glory of fall is to be seen and celebrated. The annual Buckwheat Festival in neighboring West Virginia is underway this weekend, with numerous activities and events planned (see pages A9-11), and the Garrett County Autumn Glory Festival is just two weeks away, slated for Oct. 8-12. The crisp temperatures are upon us, making for great soccer and football weather. How exciting it is to live on the mountaintop, where the seasons are so well-defined, keeping residents alert and interested. And if the celebrations become too much, there is always a quiet place for retreat somewhere close, as shown above. Photo by John McEwen.

Edwards, Hafer Get High Ratings From "Roll Call"

Roll Call, a document produced by Maryland Business for Responsive Government (MBRG) that assigns responsibility for Maryland's economic climate to those in the Maryland General Assembly, is now being distributed to 20,000 members of the state's business and political communities. The report gives Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards both a 92% rating.

"We believe our findings form the basis for addressing our most compelling economic issue," said Robert O. C. Worcester, president of MBRG. "Can Maryland create, retain, and attract jobs?"

Roll Call offers a bipartisan and, Worcester said, a sometimes blunt evaluation of every member of the General Assembly. The eight-page publication rates the voting record of all 188 legislators on economic development and job prospect issues selected by a 26-member committee.

Except for Christopher J. McCabe, Howard and Montgomery counties' senator, who received a 100% rating, Hafer has the highest senate rating for the 1997 session. Edwards came in far ahead of fellow delegates Betty Workman (45%) and Casper Taylor (73%).

"Just as the General Assembly creates public policy that influences Maryland's economic climate, so do the voting records of our legislators reflect their commitment to making Maryland a more attractive place to do business," said Worcester. "A rising economic tide lifts all ships -- every citizen benefits if Maryland's job engine allows the state to become competitive in the 21st Century.

"Roll Call enables us to hold the legislature accountable for its impact on our state's economy," said Worcester, who began collecting such data on legislators more than a decade ago. "In 1998, voters will use this information to make informed choices about whom to support.

Large Turnout At Highway Meeting Signals Public Interest, Concern

Close to 250 people nearly filled the auditorium at Garrett Community College (GCC) auditorium Monday night to hear opposing views of the proposal to construct a new interstate highway through Garrett County.

"Continental One," as it has been labeled by the Route 219 Association, a five-state coalition of business and political interests which has been promoting the project for several years, would connect Toronto, Canada, to Miami, Fla., with four lanes of limited-access highway spanning 1,500 miles. While much of the proposed route is already interstate highway, 479 miles of U.S. Route 219 remains two lanes in the western reaches of New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, eastern West Virginia, and a small portion of western Virginia.

Between 40 and 50 miles of the interstate are slated to run the north-south length of Garrett County, with timetables of construction completion dates in the county varying from 11 years as stated by the Route 219 Association, to 25 years or more according to other highway proponents.

"The [Monday night] meeting was very useful," audience member and GCC environmental sciences instructor Kevin Dodge said afterward. "Anytime we can get people on different sides of an issue talking to one another in a constructive matter, it's a good thing."

Oakland attorney Robert Watson moderated the event, and in his introductory remarks he stated that the meeting's purpose was to provide "information; not confrontation." Watson also extended a welcome to Garrett County Commissioner Wayne Wilt, who attended the meeting because, as was stated in a press release from the County Commissioners' office, "the Board of County Commissioners needs to listen to the concerns of the CARE group prior to making any long-term decisions." The release went on to state that "Mr. Wilt feels that all citizens and special interest groups have the right to voice their opinions and as a representative of the citizens, he has an obligation to listen at this time."

Watson then introduced the two presenters, Dana Shimrock of Garrett County/Conservative Action for a Rural Environment (G.C./CARE), a citizen's group opposed to the construction of Continental One in Garrett County, and Jim Hinebaugh, the county's economic development director, who presented the views of the highway's proponents.

G.C./CARE, which had called for the meeting, led off, at Hinebaugh's request, with a 20-minute presentation from Shimrock outlining the background of the Continental One highway concept and why G.C./CARE feels it should not be built in Garrett County. In her presentation, illustrated on a large screen and including color maps, Shimrock used a "point-counterpoint" format to present referenced quotations and claims summarized from several studies published by the Route 219 Association. These materials have been used by the Route 219 Association as promotional materials in lobbying efforts for the highway in meeting rooms from local town councils to Capitol Hill.

As she presented each of the proponent's reasons for why the highway should be built, Shimrock cited an opposite view from varied sources as to why it shouldn't be built. For example, in response to proponents' claims that the

Local Couple, With GLAF, Sponsoring Trip For Teens To Pittsburgh Ballet

With the donation of funds from a local couple and the support of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF), approximately 100 local high school students will have the opportunity to attend a performance of the Pittsburgh Ballet at the Benedum Center on Oct. 3. David and Irene Eyer, Oakland, have funded a large portion of the cost so that each student will pay just $7 to go on the trip to Pittsburgh.

"We're are extremely grateful for this," said Northern High School theatre/English teacher Sharon Derlan. "Without the Eyers' donation, the students would have had to pitch in probably $12 to $15 each. At $7, many more of them will be able to go."

Both Derlan and Southern High School theatre teacher Jane Avery are coordinating with their students to plan the trip. Approximately 40 from Northern and 60 from Southern are to attend the show, which is a version of Bram Stoker's classic horror story "Dracula."

"I think it's marvelous -- just thrilling," Avery said. "The kids will be exposed to so much color and beauty, with magnificent lighting, costumes, and staging. It will be a great experience for them."

Following the matinee performance, the students will be led on a backstage tour through the Benedum Center.

"I'm very excited about the kids being able to see the Benedum," Derlan said. "It's so elaborate and opulent. They are going to come home with lots of creative ideas."

Fred Stemple, GLAF executive director, said he is also grateful to the Eyers for their generosity.

"This enables GLAF to further one of its main missions, and that is to bring the arts to the young people of Garrett County," he said. Stemple has arranged for two buses to transport the students, and is working with Avery and Derlan as they arrange the trip.

Stemple noted that this will be the first of at least two opportunities for local students to watch the Pittsburgh Ballet, as the group will be coming to Southern High School for two performances on June 5, 1998, as part of next year's GLAF season.

STATE CHAMPS! - The Garrett County 4-H Junior Food and Nutrition Bowl Team took first place in the state contest held during the Maryland State Fair in Timonium recently. Competing against two other counties in the event, the local 4-H'ers brought home a handsome trophy, first-place ribbons, and a Maryland State Fair sweatshirt for their efforts. Shown left to right in front are Emily Cosner, Red House 4-H; Roxanne Hoalcraft, Saddle Tramps 4-H; Sarah Cosner, Red House 4-H; and Randi Rodeheaver, North Star 4-H. In the back row is team coach Connie Hoalcraft. "The team did an outstanding job," Hoalcraft commented, "and had fun doing it, to boot!" The coach also had high praise for Saddle Tramps 4-H adult leader Joan Jackson, who "worked hard and was instrumental in helping us get prepared for competition."

Nelson Attends Pre-Tour Meeting With SHA, Lists Road Priorities

John Nelson, director of the Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning, was in attendance at the annual "pre-tour" meeting of State Highway Administration officials, held Monday in Cumberland. The pre-tour meeting precedes Maryland Department of Transportation Secretary David Winstead's tour of the entire state, during which he and his staff gather information from local officials about state highway needs. Winstead is slated to be in Garrett County on Oct. 17 at 9 a.m. in the meeting room of the Garrett County commissioners.

Nelson presented 16 local state road needs identified by the planning commission and the commissioners.

"We have a pre-tour meeting each year so that things are not just suddenly sprung on the secretary when he makes his visit," Nelson said. He said he met with Mike Nixon and Dennis Yoder, both representatives of the SHA Planning Division, as well as Paul McIntyre, local SHA administrator. Allegany County planning officials were in attendance, as was a representative of the Mass Transit Administration.

The first item on the "wish list" Nelson presented was as follows: "Prioritize the entire U.S. Rt. 219 corridor, particularly project planning for the rights-of-way for Oakland and Accident bypasses, and continue to emphasize planning for the right-of-way throughout the entire county."

"This is an ongoing project, one that we have been working on for years," said Nelson. "It's nothing new. Basically we are simply looking for improvements to the roadway and more information about possible bypasses around the congested areas." He stressed that this item was not an endorsement of the federally proposed "Corridor One" project.

The bypass issue has been discussed for over 20 years, he said. Currently, the plans for such bypasses are at about "mid-stage," he reported at the Tuesday commissioners' meeting last week, and that another year will pass before the first public meeting will be held on this issue.

"There are all kinds of alignments for these bypasses, all of which will be presented to the public. Among these options will be the choice to do nothing. If we do agree to pursue a bypass, it will be at least nine years before it would be completed," Nelson said.

The second item on the list is the upgrading of the Weber's Crossing intersection. This was a concern of the planning commission, the members of which expressed concern about the school traffic that will begin to flow there after Thanksgiving with the opening of Yough Glades Elementary. A traffic pattern change was effected in the location with the posting of a stop sign, but the officials said more geometric improvements should be done to make the area safe for the transportation of children.

The third request is for a passing lane along Rt. 135 beginning near North Branch Avenue in Bloomington and ascending Backbone Mountain for an unspecified distance, and fourth on the list is possibility of resurfacing of Rt. 135 from Altamont to Kitzmiller Road.

The fifth "wish" is a request to explore the possibility of a truck climbing lane on Elder Hill along Rt. 42. While trucks are discouraged from using that route, some are still on the roadway and the Elder Hill area can become problematic, the officials said. While the relatively low traffic count along the road has in past years negated any plan of a climbing lane, local officials have noted that the traffic count on Rt. 42 does go up considerably in the summer months.

The local officials would like the SHA to consider constructing a northbound passing lane along Rt. 219 from King's Run Road (request #6). Apparently the improved trash/recycling site has caused an increase in traffic, and truck drivers coming onto Rt. 219 from the road have the difficulty of starting out at the base of the hill.

Increased traffic control is being requested for the intersection of Mosser Road and Rt. 219, at least at "peak periods." The officials would like to have

Bel Air Teenager Indicted By Sept. Term Grand Jury

An 18-year-old male from Bel Air has been indicted by the Garrett County September Term Grand Jury on numerous burglary and theft charges. Robert L. Tucker III is accused of breaking into at least four local homes in May of this year. He was apparently an accomplice of Jerry A. Helms Jr., 27, who was also indicted by the jury, the report of which was in last week's issue of The Republican.

The charges facing Tucker are as follows: three counts of first degree burglary, three counts of felony theft, three counts of malicious destruction of property, two counts of fourth degree burglary, and one count each of second degree burglary and misdemeanor theft.

He is alleged to have broken into the Accident area homes of Leroy J. Pawlak, Patrick W. Malloy, and William K. Lovell, as well as the home of Dennis E. Savage, located along Garrett Highway.

Tucker is currently awaiting trial, having posted a $25,000 property bond to be released from custody.

"HEY BOO-BOO, I THINK I SMELL A PICNIC BASKET . . ." - This Garrett County native appears to be living the part of Yogi Bear as he (or she?) wanders out from the woods behind a trailer on King Wildesen Road. While a black bear may present the curious onlooker with a photo opportunity, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources reminds the public that bears are entitled to their own space and deserve our cautious respect from a safe distance, as do all creatures of the wild. The keen sense of smell possessed by your average bear will tend to draw it out of its protected environment, especially if food odors emenate from garbage; after all, it's in a bear's nature to follow its nose. To prevent an encounter with a hostile bear, which always remains a remote possibility, remove any food source that may be drawing the animal to the area. This is in the best interest and safety of both bears and people, for they are as likely to be afraid of us as at times we may be of them.

Village Church Open House Set For This Sunday

The volunteers and staff of Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Grantsville, invite the public to the third anniversary celebration and open house of the Village Church this Sunday, Sept. 28, at 3 p.m. The village is located near the historic Casselman Bridge and Penn Alps Restaurant/Crafts Shop along Old Route 40.

The celebration will begin with a prelude by Janet Cavin of Westernport. Others leading the event will be Susan Anderson, president of the Spruce Forest Artisan Village board of directors; Dr. Alta Schrock, founder of Spruce Forest and Penn Alps; Trish Morgan, Spruce Forest administer; Jack Dueck, Penn Alps administrator; and Rev. Tim Fetterly, Oak Grove Mennonite Church.

Following the celebration, visitors are invited to the Village Church open house, which will begin at 4 p.m. Refreshments will be served and visitors will be able to take note of the restoration progress of this former Pleasant Valley Methodist Church, that was moved some 40 miles to its present site. Renovations done on the church since last year's celebration are the ceiling, insulation, drywall, and stained glass windows installation, painting of the interior, and installation of a fire door, church lights, and exit signs. Projects scheduled for completion within the next month are the heating and air conditioning, insulation of the cedar ceiling, and construction of a fire escape and handicapped-accessible ramp.

Long-term projects include scraping and painting the outside of the church, stripping and refinishing interior woodwork, flooring, paving of parking lot, landscaping, restoring the pulpit, organ, and piano, and several other minor tasks.

Projects are completed as funds permit; tax-deductible donations are accepted by sending checks made payable to Spruce Forest Artisan Village, to: 177 Casselman Road, Grantsville, MD 21536. Donors should mention that the donations are designated for the Village Church. "Over $10,000 has been raised for the restoration of this little country church, which was the 1903 Pleasant Valley Methodist Church formerly located south of Oakland," said Ms. Morgan, "and as donations continue to come in, restoration work will continue until the church shines with the community's labor of love."

As the restoration of the Village Church progresses, the community is invited to utilize the non-denominational church for weddings, funerals, socials, hymn sings, vesper services, and other related activities. To inquire about further details, persons may call Trish Morgan at 301-895-3332.

SEPTEMBER IS "FORGET-ME-NOT" MONTH - The Garrett County Commissioners this week joined the Governor Parris Glendening in proclaiming September as "Forget-Me-Not Month" in Garrett County and the state of Maryland. The tradition of distributing imitation forget-me-nots is carried on each year by the local chapter of the DAV (Disabled American Veterans) to help raise funds for local veterans as well as remind citizens of the debt owed to those who have served. The proclamation from the governor states in part: "The glory and the promise of our great nation has been enhanced and nurtured as a direct result of those brave men and women who have nobly served our country in times of conflict, and included in this special group of people are the distinguished members of the Disabled American Veterans." The proceeds of the annual Forget-Me-Not Campaign are used for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans and their families. (Money raised within Garrett County does stay in the county, the DAV representatives noted.) The proclamation states that the state's support of this effort "will help to show, at least in a small way, that we still truly appreciate the tremendous sacrifices these veterans had to make in the honorable name of liberty." Several members of the local DAV came to the commissioners' office to take part in the proclamation. They are pictured behind the elected officials. Standing left to right are Cecil Uphold, vice commander; Charles McCrum Sr., adjutant; Bill Meyers, commander; Sharon Everett, adjutant; Wilda Sanders, chairperson of the Americanism Committee; Clara Gauer, past commander (auxiliary); Hazel Meyers, chaplain; and Janet Friend, auxiliary commander.

Charge Faced By Swanton Man Stetted

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, a charge faced by a Swanton man was placed onto the stet docket, meaning that the case can be recalled for trial within the next 365 days should the court deem it necessary.

Ronald Wayne Warnick, 26, Swanton, had been arrested at his residence in July by Garrett County sheriff's deputies and charged with disorderly conduct by disobeying police directives. The charge stemmed from Warnick's alleged refusal to cooperate with deputies who were interviewing subjects after a reported fight.

In moving the case to the stet docket, District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett stipulated a requirement that Warnick complete 30 hours of community service.

In other district court news, a Morgantown woman was acquitted of charges of first-degree assault and disorderly conduct. The charges against Tracey Marie Lemley, 27, stemmed from her July arrest by the Maryland State Police in connection with a fight at the Ioni-Ioni Bar at Deep Creek Lake.

Patricia Anna Blackwelder, 37, Salisbury, Pa., was not prosecuted on a variety of charges that stemmed from her June arrest by state troopers in connection with an alleged drive-by shooting attempt near Grantsville. Blackwelder was allegedly a passenger in the vehicle when the driver fired a handgun out the window, reportedly in the direction of a group of people standing in a front yard on Foster Inn Road.

The specific charges that the state's attorney's office declined to prosecute were having a loaded handgun in a vehicle, conspiracy in the use of a handgun, conspiracy to recklessly endanger another person, and conspiracy to commit an assault.

John Sims Harvey, 55, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a charge of second-degree assault, stemming from his June arrest in Oakland by sheriff's deputies.

Joseph Freeman Snell, 19, Swanton, was not prosecuted on a charge of marijuana possession stemming from his May arrest by sheriff's deputies.

DWI & DUI Hearings

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol (DUI) cases were heard in district court recently.

Carlon David Doerr, 31, Accident, was convicted of DUI and fined $455, given a six-month sentence with all but three days suspended, placed on two years of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. Doerr was also found to be in violation of probation stemming from another conviction, and for that offense the original sentence was reimposed with all but three days suspended, and probation was ordered to continue.

Rex Allen Guthrie, 37, Kitzmiller, was convicted of DWI and fined $455, given a nine-month sentence with all but two months suspended, and placed on two years of supervised probation.

Glenn James Kirk Henderson, 28, Swanton, was convicted of DWI and fined $155, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service.

Robin Daryll Graham, 36, Uniontown, Pa., was convicted of DWI and fined $155, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Larry Laverne Sweitzer, 31, Kitzmiller, was convicted of DUI and fined $155, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service.

Eric D. Merrill, 32, Baltimore, was convicted of DWI and handed a probation before judgment. He was fined $155, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Walter Donald Danser, 61, Swanton, John Wayne Bradlove, 44, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., Francesco G. Pisano, 33, Hackensack, N.J., and Robert Reville Piracci, 43, hometown not available, were each convicted of DUI and handed a probation before judgment. Each man was fined $155, given a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation, except in the instance of Pisano, who was place on one year of unsupervised probation. Danser and Piracci were each ordered to complete 30 hours of community service, while Bradlove was ordered to complete 20 hours of community service.

A bench warrant for failure to appear for a DWI hearing was issued for Robert Allen Martin, 28, Friendsville, with a new bond set at $1,000.

New Group Seeks Site To Store, Distribute Goods

The establishment and operation of a collection/distribution facility for donated household items is the goal of Garrett Cooperative Ministry, Inc., a new not-for-profit organization. Donated items will be sold for nominal amounts to those of limited means and given to those in critical need.

Barbara Briggs, executive director of Habitat for Humanity, Rev. Mike Robinson, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, David Roth, First United National Bank and Trust, David Bollinger, Bollinger Chiropractic Center and chair of Rotary Christmas project, Jean King, A&A Realty, Paul Shogren, Garrett Community College, Duane Yoder, director of Community Action, David Moe, TCI and president of the Chamber of Commerce, Jan Finkel, president of Habitat for Humanity, and Robert Huebner, Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty compose the board of directors of this new organization.

This cooperative effort grew out of a committee originally formed by Habitat for Humanity. The goal of the committee was to find a facility to store household items donated to groups like House of Hope, the Nearly New Shop, and Habitat.

At the present time, unless there is a specific need at the time the goods are offered, they must be refused because none of the organizations have space for storing the items, Briggs explained.

GARRETT COOPERATIVE MINISTRY has recently organized to unite the efforts of business people and human service groups. The members are focused on establishing a facility that can be used for storage and distribution of donated household items. The board members pictured here, left to right, are David Roth, David Bollinger, Mike Robinson, Paul Shogren, Barbara Briggs, and Robert Huebner. Members not present for the photo are Jan Finkel, Duane Yoder, Jean King, and David Moe.

The members of the group had learned that Christian Services of Howard County, Inc., had a similar need and had established a highly successful collection/distribution facility. Volunteers operate it two half days a week plus a half day every other Saturday. The thinking and planning of the Garrett Cooperative Ministry is, to a large extent, being modeled after the Howard County facility.

Attorney Gorman E. Getty III has offered and is providing the legal work for the organization pro bono.

Aside from use as a collection/distribution center, the ministry points to two other possible uses for the facility they hope to obtain.

A secondary use could be as storage space and possible office space for non-profit organizations and agencies such as the Rotary's Christmas project, the Lions' auctions, Habitat, and House of Hope.

Another possible use would be as housing space for Habitat summer work camp workers. The space may or may not work as emergency short-term housing.

Other possible uses for the space would be community activities.

A number of sites have been considered. The former Kelly building in Loch Lynn was identified by the group as being highly desirable, both because of its location and for the space it offers, Briggs said.

Because the Kelly building is nearly 60,000 square feet, one or more co-occupants would be needed to make its purchase and maintenance feasible for the cooperative ministry.

Habitat for Humanity received a gift of $40,000 (which has subsequently grown to about $50,000) from Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty to be used as seed money for the facility.

Anyone who has suggestions for the location of such a facility or is willing to consider donating a facility or land for construction of a facility is asked to contact Bob Huebner at 301-387-5303, or any other member of the board.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution toward the purchase and/or construction of the facility is asked to send it to Garrett Cooperative Ministry, Inc., 24439 Garrett Highway, McHenry, MD 21541.

Garrett Cooperative Ministry is organized as a not-for-profit 501C3 association. Approval of the status from the Internal Revenue Service is in process.

Farm DOP, Theft Results In More Than $4,000 Loss

A combination destruction of property and theft incident at a Pleasant Valley dairy farm last weekend resulted in a net loss of over $4,000 to the farm's owner, according to a report filed with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on Saturday.

As Ray Miller escorted his cows into his dairy barn located in the 1600 block of Pleasant Valley Road early on the morning of Sept. 20, he discovered that someone had entered the barn sometime during the night and had stolen a clock off the wall. He subsequently found that an outdoor corn storage bag had been destroyed, and the 25 tons of corn feed stored within the bag had sustained damage due to exposure.

With estimates of $350 to replace the 150-foot storage bag, $675 in labor costs and machine rental to refill it with 25 tons of corn feed at $135 per ton, and the loss of the clock valued at $25, the sheriff's report puts the total damage and loss figure at $4,400. Investigators are still developing leads on the incident, and anyone with any information is encouraged to call the Crimesolvers number at 301-334-1975.

In an unrelated matter, as deputies were searching nearby property on Pleasant Valley Road for clues to the costly incident, they discovered a black cloth bag stuffed under a pine tree. The bag contained four marijuana bowls and two marijuana pipes, each containing evidence of suspected burnt marijuana. Leads developed by deputies led to the subsequent arrest of Stephanie Candace Perry, 20, Oakland, on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Perry was subsequently released from jail on her own recognizance.

In other sheriff's news, a fight in Oakland early last Saturday morning led to the arrests of two men on a variety of charges.

Deputies called to the scene at Alder and Sixth streets shortly after midnight to provide assistance to Oakland Police personnel reportedly observed a male running down Alder Street with blood on his pants. After he refused to stop at a deputy's order, a short foot chase ensued, and the subject, Ralph Lloyd, 19, Deer Park, was quickly apprehended. He was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

As Lloyd was being taken into custody, another subject, Matthew Brian Park, 19, Oakland, allegedly repeatedly interfered with deputies carrying out the arrest. After numerous warnings, Park was himself placed under arrest and charged with hindering a police office in the performance of his lawful duty and with failing to obey a lawful order.

While the pair was being booked at the Garrett County Jail, routine searches reportedly revealed that both men were carrying drugs on their respective persons. Additional charges were then filed against Lloyd for possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, and Park was charged with illegal possession of a prescription drug and removing the label of a prescription medication container. Both men were subsequently released on their own recognizance.

An alleged domestic assault resulted in the arrest of a Deer Park man the morning of Friday, Sept. 19. Reuben Tidus Collins, 40, was arrested at his Hotel Road residence and charged with second-degree assault after his wife reportedly told deputies that during the course of an argument over a paycheck, Collins grabbed her by the neck and hit her in the mouth. The report indicated that she displayed blood on her mouth and red marks on her neck. After his arrest, Collins was subsequently released when he posted a $250 bond.

Other Arrests

Several other subjects were arrested in the course of warrant service by sheriff's deputies recently. Charged with failure to appear for a court hearing were Roger Lee White Jr., 27, William Edward Boyce, 32, and Maximilian Andrew Paape Jr., 34, all of Oakland. Charged with failure to pay court-ordered fines and payments were Michelle Renee Sweitzer, 35, Bradley Joseph Kisner, 20, both of Oakland, Ernest Eugene Shugars, 35, Grantsville, and Jason Ray Speicher, 22, McHenry. Charged with failure to obey a court order was Michael Lynn Miller, age not available, Mtn. Lake Park. Charged with violation of probation was Bonnie Jean Ballou, 39, Cumberland, Phillip Andrew Dice, 40, Grantsville, and Joseph Kisselovich, 45, Mtn. Lake Park.

Correction

The sheriff's news report in the Sept. 4 issue of The Republican incorrectly stated the charges faced by Robert A. Liller, 41, Oakland, who was served with an arrest warrant by sheriff's deputies on Aug. 28. The report should have stated that Liller was served with an arrest warrant charging him with one count of second-degree assault and three counts of trespassing. He was not charged with theft.

Oakland Police Arrest Man On Multiple Charges

Oakland police reported that a driver, stopped for excessive speed, was charged with a several driving offenses.

The report stated that Adam R. Rousselle, Oakland, was stopped Sept. 15 around 7 p.m. for exceeding the speed limit by 17 mph. The officer found that Rousselle did not have a driver's license with him. He stated that it had been left in his office.

A check of Rousselle's driving record indicated that his license had been suspended. He could not locate or produce the registration for the vehicle when requested to do so, the officer reported.

Rousselle was arrested and charged with driving on a suspended license, failure to display registration on demand, and exceeding the speed limit. He was later released on his own recognizance.

A Fitting Tribute...

A ceremony held in Friendsville Saturday afternoon was most touching, as the residents of that town gathered to re-dedicate a large stone monument erected a number of years ago in memory of the six Friendsville sons who were killed in action during the Vietnam War. There is apparently no other town in America that sacrificed so much in terms of human life, per capita, than Friendsville, Maryland.

To put it into perspective, if the town of Cumberland had lost a similar number of young men in that war, based on population, it would have totaled 300. If Baltimore had lost a per-capita equivalent, it would have been 8,000, or about 15% of all Americans killed in the war.

There are undoubtedly hundreds of towns of equivalent size in the country that did not lose a single citizen in that war. Of course, the loss of even one life in such a small town, where "everyone knows everyone," cuts deeply, so the degree of loss for Friendsville is almost unfathomable. So it is vitally important that these young people are not forgotten, so future generations will know what a tremendous sacrifice the people of Friendsville made for this nation. Obviously the biggest sacrifice was made by the six who died, but we are certain that each and every resident of the town at the time was affected by their deaths. Thus each and every member of the town paid a price, whether it be the loss of a son, a father, a husband, a nephew, a brother, an uncle, or a good friend.

We cannot thank Danny Nicklow, Ross Fike, Charles Hook, Roger Garlick, Norman Thomas, or Thomas Fike personally for what they did for their town, their county, their state, and their country. We can thank the leaders and residents of Friendsville affording these young men such a fitting tribute and for making sure that they are never forgotten.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

If the citizens of Garrett County could generate as many letters of complaint to Commissioner Glotfelty concerning the state's denial of the Child Care Block Grant as they have to their newspaper's editor about a proposed four-lane highway, parents of young children--who desperately WANT and NEED to--just may be able to continue working.

Perhaps Commissioner Glotfelty should evaluate just how "great" the county's grant writers are instead of so quickly defending them. Who defends the working poor of Garrett County? I find it ludicrous that, after losing one of its major employers, Garrett County would not be justified in receiving a pittance of $40,000 so that parents of young children may remain employed. If I am guessing correctly, those most affected are households headed by single mothers.

If citizens do not think families in need are worth this tiny morsel that can do so much to improve the quality of lives, maybe a homeless shelter in downtown Oakland--or in the Commissioner's neighborhood--will open their eyes.

To the Editor:

"The highway will have to go through somebody's land," say the people who are promoting this Continental 1 highway project, in the usual careless manner. I wonder - what do the farmers think? What do the Mennonites think? What do the Amish think?

One clear night I walked under star-lit skies along a dark country road in Pleasant Valley. The day had come to a peaceful end and the human activity in this neighborhood reflected that peace. There was a group of Amish children sitting around a picnic table under the long reaching knotty limbs and thick ink black branches of an ancient oak tree, whose massive trunk flickered with the light of candles that the children were burning in the center of their quiet circle. As the candlelight was reflected in their glowing faces, so too the peaceful way of life they had been raised in was reflected in their kind gestures and soft gentle voices. Here was a pocket of light cradled by an aging tree between the heavens and the earth. Later on a couple of the children got on their bikes and pedaled off down the road into the still night, probably towards home.

To build a highway through or near this community, or one like it, would be absolutely devastating to the people and their way of life. We should be learning from the example set by these folks. Instead, their peaceful and simple way of life may be totally disrupted. Of course the highway has not happened, yet. However, the dangerous possibility still exists as long as there are people who promote material and economic "progress" at any cost (like those pushing this project). Tragically, this superficial "progress" seems to happen at the expense of those who live in peace with their neighbor, or who live in respect and harmony with the earth, or who seek a deeper spiritual life, for all human beings, instead of this drivel some call "progress."

Truly,
Ken Bauer

Dear Mr. Bauer,

You will see in this column today a letter from some of the residents of Pleasant Valley who also oppose the highway project.

To the Editor:

For 80 years I have been a happy citizen of Garrett County. To me it has been a land of the free and a home of the brave where we can sustain ourselves, and enjoy God's creation -- in fact, the best place on earth I have ever found until the last few years when big government is attempting to take away our liberties.

The problem at hand now is the rebuilding of Route 219 into an international N/S highway. I beg you business people, county commissioners, Chamber of Commerce, environmentalists, roadside homeowners, and all taxpayers to take time to think what this road means. It means that the people of Garrett County will be inclined to go to the larger cities to shop instead of home town. We will not be able to jump into the car, run into town, and get a part for a broken machine, but we will have to weave our way through a back-woods road because we will not have access to our old standby Route 219. Where will our rows and rows of mailboxes be? I cannot think any mail carrier will travel I 219. We will not be able to enter or go off the road except at the access and exits prepared for that, and that will probably be a few miles up or down the road from home. In my family's case, we are hemmed in on two sides by private landowners, and the third side of our triangle is the busy Rt. 219. It will probably cut some farms in two, and perhaps take some people's homes or, worse yet, some people's businesses. Many wild animals are killed when they try to cross the road. People cannot cross the road to their neighbors';

I have relatives living along such a highway who tell me that through highways are not an asset to the communities they go through, but are a means to let the world roar by your door on a road that is of little use to you.

To the Editor:

In response to a letter from David Moe and Jerry Geisler, I would like to say, "I am not opposed to a 'small family-owned convenience store' moving into Friendsville."

My wife and I have a small family-owned business in Friendsville, and other small family-owned businesses such as Precision Rafting, Friendsville Kayaking School, Wi-Hinape Health Foods, and Upper Yough Expeditions share our serious concerns about the proposed Funny Farm Citgo trying to locate ½ mile outside the town. Sensible development and planning starts with the core issues, not "who" wants to do it. We have worked hard to promote business in Friendsville.

The protection of the Friendsville town center and its businesses, and the good biological health of the Youghiogheny River, are important to our town's future. This proposed gas station located outside the town boundary (not IN town, as was stated by Moe-Geisler) seeks to amputate our Town Center from the business we currently enjoy from Interstate 68 travelers. Who is protecting these many existing small-family owned businesses in Friendsville? The proposed Funny Farm gas station stormwater pond will surely discharge gas, oil, and motor vehicle fluid-contaminated water from the refueling plaza into Minnow Creek and wetlands, which are a State Designated Class III-P Trout Waters and State Designated Drinking Water Supplies. Petro-chemicals are highly toxic to aquatic life.

Any chance of water quality degradation to Minnow Creek by the Funny Farm Citgo proposal could indeed violate numerous Maryland water quality laws, provisions, and limitations. The Federal Clean Water Act was enacted to protect and maintain water quality in the nation's waters. Maryland laws and standards, as well as Federal Clean Water Action, are being pursued to protect our drinking water, skin contact recreation, and the preservation of aquatic life habitat.

Gas storage tanks in floodplains, and in soil types with an extremely high water table, is not safe just above our town's water supply. Perhaps state and county government officials will listen to our cries for help before it is too late and we suffer the consequences.

A contested case hearing has been requested with the director of the Water Management Administration to fully explore what, in our opinion, is an improper granting of this tap by the Garrett County Sanitary District. The Friendsville Waste Water Treatment Plant (WWTP) will own, insure, and maintain this sewer line forever from the moment it leaves the Funny Farm Citgo building. The Friendsville Sewage System will have to pay for the replacement of the pump grinder (approx. $10,000) when it eventually fails (every 3-5 years). Being forced to pay for this is wrong.

The proposed sewer line crosses under a stream and follows right beside Minnow Creek for thousands of feet. If it breaks, it will leak right into our water supply and be a costly mistake for sure.

At the Maryland Department of Environment wetlands and waterways permit meeting in Friendsville for the Funny Farm Citgo, numerous people expressed concerns. No one stood up to say they wanted it or that there was a public need.

In response to other points in the Moe-Geisler letter: Just because freeways run through parks and forests, and across rivers, does not mean that it will be OK to run a new one for miles and miles and miles through our pristine areas east of the lake. Why should we allow our most productive red oak forests to be given up for asphalt? The EPA acknowledges that motor vehicle emissions are a major source of air quality degradation, and that stormwater runoff from roads and paved areas is a major source for water quality degradation.

The evidence is in; we must not accept more garbage in our air and water. The inevitable hazardous chemical spill from the numerous chemical trucks on a trade corridor is a situation our county is not prepared to handle, or pay for. Who will pay to upgrade our county's poor east west roads so we can even get to the freeway? You and I.

Hunters and fishermen crave the clean wide open spaces, and freeway access is the least of their concerns. Tracking a big buck across four lanes of interstate truck traffic is not my idea of a good hunting experience. Pollution from the proposed Funny Farm Citgo is inevitable; try to imagine huge truck stops along 1-219 at the headwaters of the Savage and the Potomac river drainages.

Keysers Ridge is developing at a snail's pace and has empty store fronts, and Grantsville is a Crime Hot Spot. Will 1-219 bring more of the same? Of course.

Adventure recreation, hi-tech communications industries, and smaller cottage industries that utilize our natural resources and the craftsmanship of our people are the way to go. These businesses need sensibly managed and sustainable natural resources, not massive roads to save a few minutes' drive. Businesses in the future will be looking for a wholesome quality of life and unspoiled natural areas for their employees to enjoy, not strip malls and freeway development. Trade corridor traffic is pollute today, gone tomorrow, choke and pay for it forever.

We should save Garrett County as one of the last great natural places with clean water and air. Then it will be really worth something!

We need to discuss deep social issues like our cultural, rural, and agricultural heritage and its preservation and value to our community spirit. Our children will thank us for leaving them a clean, green, healthy, and preserved Garrett County and Friendsville! Let's not let them down. Caring for what's left of God's unspoiled creation must be our priority.

Sincerely,
Crede Calhoun
Friendsville

To the Editor:

I must commend Mr. Jim Hinebaugh in that he agreed to back off from his quest for the interstate once he finds that the majority of Garrett County citizens are opposed to it. Great. This will allow him to concentrate on helping us in getting jobs and industry, instead of chasing 35 miles of concrete and destroying 2,000 acres of our land.

Now, we need to correct some misstatements made. In remarks from our college president it was suggested that we cannot see the future. However, all we need to do is look at the past, as history repeats itself. We were also asked to keep an open mind. If someone is beating your child and suggests you are being closed minded because you don't agree, are you wrong for disagreeing? If someone says partial birth abortion is good to keep down the population, may we not disagree because murder is taugnt as wrong?

Now the correction of one twist which may have swayed many at the meeting. Mr. Hinebaugh indicated that when the Oakland bypass was offered (it was 20 years ago when first offered), he said that due to our lack of vision we opposed it. May I correct the record here, as he was out of the county and I do not fault him for this misinformation, but it is critical in making a point. Many citizens did not know of it and those who did, in fact, were totally for the bypass. In fact there were only two or three people (some of you are old enough to verify this easily) who caused the successful demise of the bypass. Those of us who knew of this unfair power move were more than disappointed. The entire county suffered due to this, and we do every day we drive through Oakland. This, Mr. Hinebaugh, is precisely why we need to get the majority of the citizens informed with the facts.

Thank you Dana Shimrock, for a very informative presentation. Those who missed it surely missed many reasons why we don't need an interstate. Her facts showed not only the state was with us in being opposed to an interstate, but also our own former planning commission was desirous of keeping the county free of this type of destructive development. We need to get the truth out. More importantly, we need to write our senators!

Once George Edwards finds out that most of the county is in favor of keeping it as is, he will, I assure you, listen to the people and convey their homes of maintaining Garrett County as a non-urban place, where we can raise children and live peacefully.

Highway Mtg.

highway would stimulate development and create numerous jobs along the 1,500 mile length of the NAFTA trade corridor, including the 40-50 miles in Garrett County, Shimrock quoted Gary Hufbauer of the Institute for International Economics, an advisor to President Bill Clinton. Hufbauer, whose claim that NAFTA would create 200,000 new U.S. jobs in its first two years was used by Clinton as he promoted the treaty, has since revised his math, and now concedes that the nation has probably lost about 225,000 jobs instead because of NAFTA.

Shimrock's presentation brought those national concepts down to the county level as well. She stated that "since the adoption of NAFTA, many U.S. jobs have been siphoned off into labor markets outside our borders -- Bausch and Lomb is a local example, where 600 Garrett County jobs were lost to other plants utilizing readily available, less expensive labor, and the advantage of looser environmental restrictions in Mexico," and other nations, she said.

Shimrock also used Interstate 68 in Garrett County as a case in point in refuting claims that highway construction means increased employment and income. A graph outlining the per capita income and the unemployment rate for the county over the last 20 years was overlaid with the completion date of 1-68, as well as the closing date of the Bausch and Lomb plant. The graph indicated that there was no apparent correlation between the completion of 1-68 and the county's per capita income and unemployment rate. The graph indicated that unemployment has risen in the county since the completion of 1-68, even with or without the factoring in of the Bausch and Lomb closing.

CARE also cited the publication "A New Development Plan for Garrett County" as part of its presentation, claiming that the concept of construction of Continental One, in any alignment through the county, was in violation of the principles expressed in that document.

"Make Continental One priority none," Shimrock said as she concluded her presentation, in a take-off of the Route 219 Association slogan, "Make Continental One Priority One." She also reiterated that CARE was very interested in working together with county officials to plan "numerous smaller, sustainable development ventures for the county," that "will provide good jobs without comprising the character of Garrett County."

For his part, Hinebaugh presented the proponent's view that jobs and economic development are the central issue behind the Continental One concept. He stated that the highway would be the major component of infrastructureimprovements that would make the county more attractive to companies seeking new sites to move into. "Sure, Bausch and Lomb left because of labor being cheaper in other places," he said, "but the highway situation was a factor. I've taken people on tours of the empty Bausch and Lomb facility, and every company has expressed concerns about transportation. They ask me, 'Why would anyone build here?'" he said.

"My support for this initiative is based on the fact that it will create jobs," Hinebaugh went on. "If we build it, it alone won't bring jobs; we need to supply a good workforce as well. One study -- and you can take this any way you want, I know, as it was carried out by a group in favor of highway construction -- said that in 110 Appalachian counties with new interstate highways, employment rose by 49% and income rose by 46%, while population increased only by 6%," he said. "Here in Garrett County, 30% of the males aged 20 to 24 years old leave the county to find jobs elsewhere.

"When Bausch and Lomb employed 1,200 people, no one complained about the quality of life," Hinebaugh said. "If someone came to me now and said, 'I'll employ 1,200 people at nine or ten dollars an hour for 25 years if you build this road,' I'd do it."

Facing his GCC audience, which appeared to oppose the highway by a large margin, Hinebaugh said, "I can understand why you'd be against this highway if you came to the county to get away from it all, or married into one of the good families with a good job; however, if you were one of the 2,000 unemployed people in the county, you'd feel differently."

Hinebaugh also attempted to refute claims that a groundswell of citizen opposition is mounting against the highway which could jeopardize its further consideration. "The town councils of Accident, Oakland, and Grantsville, along with the Chamber of Commerce and other business groups, have endorsed this concept. Those groups represent thousands of people; however," he went on to say, "the last time I checked, this was still a democracy and you do what the majority wants to do."

After Hinebaugh's presentation, the floor was opened to questions and comments from the audience. Most of the questions were directed to Hinebaugh, who reiterated his support for the highway again and again; however, when Accident resident Stephen Schlosnagle asked him, "If it could be demonstrated that the majority of the people in the county

FRIENDSVILLE SIX REMEMBERED - In the gray drizzle Saturday afternoon, friends, family members, and officials from the community and across the state gathered to remember six Friendsville men who were killed in the Vietnam conflict. A memorial to them was originally dedicated in 1976. Having been completely refurbished and covered in native cut stone, the memorial was re-dedicated in a ceremony to honor the memory and the families of those soldiers. The program was organized by the Mountain District American Legion and coordinated by Charles C. Bender of Grantsville. Pictured at left is Melvin R. Schwing, bugler from Grantsville Post 214, who played Taps. Pictured above, a red rose has been placed at the memorial by a family member of one of the soldiers. Pictured at right is Brigadier General Bruce F. Tuxill, assistant adjutant general for Air Maryland National Guard, who spoke during the ceremony.

Friendsville Remembers...

Re-Dedication Of Memorial Honors Six Killed-In-Action

A ceremony in Friendsville Saturday afternoon, marked the re-dedication of the monument to six of the town's young men, who were killed in action during the Vietnam conflict. Originally dedicated in September of 1976, the monument has been refurbished and covered in native cut stone, and stands prominently in front of the Friendsville Elementary School.

The Mountain District American Legion, Department of Maryland, hosted this commemoration.

There were more young men per capita from Friendsville killed during the Vietnam conflict than from any other municipality in the United States.

Thirty years ago, Danny Nicklow, 20, a Marine pfc., was killed in an enemy attack six miles south of the demilitarized zone. The date was March 16, 1967.

Two months later, on May 17, Ross Fike, 18, was killed by an enemy mine outside Da Nang. He was a Marine lance corporal.

Charles Wayne Hook, a 20-year-old Army spec. 4, was the third to die. He was killed in a fire fight on June 17, 1967. This was shortly after he was released from the hospital, where he had been treated for a previous wound.

A two-year hiatus in the death toll of Friendsville men ended on March 17, 1969, when Roger Garlick, a 21-year-old Army spec. 4, was killed in a fire fight.

Norman Eugene Thomas, 21, serving as an airman, was the fifth Friendsville soldier to die. He was killed when his plane crashed as it was returning to Quan Loi Air Base Nov. 17, 1969.

The last of the Friendsville six died on Dec. 4, 1971. Thomas Fike, 23, a sergeant, was killed during a mission with the 101st Airborne.

Danny Nicklow, Thomas Fike, and Ross Fike were single and Charles Hook, Norman Thomas, and Roger Garlick were married. Only Garlick was a parent and left behind a daughter.

As the commemorative program began, an invocation was offered by Charles Griffith, District Chaplain, Fort Cumberland Post 13. Serving as program host, Butch Haggard, adjutant, Post 189, offered a welcome and introduced speakers.

Following a musical selection by the Accident Concert Band, Brigadier General Bruce F. Tuxill, assistant adjutant general for Air Maryland National Guard, stepped to the podium. He announced that in the aftermath of six military air disasters during the previous week, there would be no fly-over held that day. He noted the need to reduce loss of life and to act responsibly.

James Kyle, an investment banker from Washington, D.C., spoke about his friendship with Danny Nicklow when they were young men. He described the "zest for life" shown by the young Danny.

A vocal solo, "Wind Beneath My Wings," was performed by Leslie Buckel. Then Rev. John Grant, past American Legion department chaplain, gave the rededication address.

Spencer R. Schlosnagle, mayor of Friendsville, spoke of the young men and their friends and families. He presented a red rose to a family member of each of the six soldiers.

David K. Martin sang "More Than a Name on a Wall."

A benediction by Rev. William Carlson, Accident Post 208, preceded the gun salute by the Grantsville Post 214 firing squad.

Melvin R. Schwing, post bugler, Grantsville post, performed Taps as a closing tribute. Buckel offered a vocal rendition accompanied by the muted bugle.

GCC Team Off To Germany To Share Know-How

"Einstein, we are here," may be a motto for a five-person Garrett Community College team that departed for Germany today to make a presentation at the third annual International Conference on Teaching Mathematics and Technology in Koblenz, Germany.

Boarding an overseas flight in Pittsburgh today are Dr. Nancy Priselac, chairperson of the GCC Math Department; her husband, Dr. Stephen M. Priselac; assistant director of the Fayette Institute of Commerce and Technology in Uniontown, Pa.; Tim Foster, GCC math instructor; Ruby King, GCC student and secretary of the student math club; and Wade Grove, Southern High School math teacher.

The GCC team will be making a presentation at the University of Koblenz on Monday, Sept. 29, to German university professors and students and German high school teachers in the use of the Casio graphing calculator as a tool in understanding college algebra.

"A graphing calculator is basically a hand-held computer," Priselac said recently at a GCC Board of Trustees meeting, where she and her team gave the board a brief synopsis of the three-hour presentation they will be making in Germany. "This Casio Color Power Graphic CFX-9850G graphing calculator is a four-megabyte machine," she said of the little machines, which are the size of a telephone receiver and cost less than $100 apiece. "Each of you are holding in your hand the same amount of mathematical computing power that a full-size computer held five or six years ago."

As her board of trustees audience, containing not a few Ph.D.s, joked about the return of high school feelings of math anxiety, Priselac led the group through a hands-on demonstration of what the graphing calculator can do. Beginning with simple computations, she gradually (and quickly) led the group to performing higher level functions including exponents, fractions, and square roots.

The audience was perhaps most impressed with the calculator's graphing ability, befitting its name. Upon entering several variables, the calculator's viewing screen displayed a graph, which would ordi-

Girl Hit By PWC

Maryland Natural Resources Police officers are investigating a personal watercraft (PWC) accident that occurred in the Thousand Acres area of Deep Creek Lake last Saturday at 3:38 a.m.

Heather Moran, Atlanta, Ga., was swimming in the lake when she heard a PWC approaching. Immediately she ducked under the water to avoid being hit by the vessel; however, it struck her in the head.

Units from the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department and the Southern Rescue Squad were called to the scene, along with Natural Resources Police. Moran was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released.

COL. SANDERS, TAKE HEED! - This hapless bird was trying to get some grassroots support from Garrett County folks recently. The fowl's platform seemed to be a single issue - self-preservation. Those who lined up for the chicken barbecue dinner at the Lakeside Creamery, ignored the squawkings of the yellow feathered protester. Lots of people enjoyed the culinary expertise of Chuck McRoble and Paul Miller (above) as the friends of the House of Hope served dinners. All proceeds went to the House of Hope. The cookers were donated by the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company. And the chicken? She has been transformed to her former self, Brenda Rafferty, owner of Just Us Styling Salon, Accident.

OPEN LETTER

To all of the public officials who represent and work for the people of Garrett County, Md.

The meeting held in the auditorium of GCC on Mon., Sept. 22, 1997, should dispel any lingering doubts that you may have had concerning the opposition to a four lane limited-access highway. The vast majority of the people simply don't want it.

However, should you still have any doubts, I have a suggestion that may help you in your decision making about that issue and the other big issue-------jobs.

Mr. Hinebaugh, during his presentation, invited the people to give their input on these issues. That was the most encouraging thing to come out of that meeting, because I believe that if you listen to the people you will do the right thing and vote the highway down.

My suggestion then, is this: Why not have a town meeting? A well-publicized town meeting inviting the unemployed, the farmers, the loggers, hunters, bikers and joggers, 4-H groups, retired people, tourists and the young people in this county (like Tanya True, who wrote a letter to the editor 7/24/97, and Jennifer Graham, who wrote on 9/18/97).

We might even be able to get Ted Koppel to be the moderator. (How about it, Ted, this just might be your big chance to enhance your career). But in the likely event that he's too busy, I am sure that someone else could be found who would do it.

The people in Garrett County are exceptionally intelligent people and I believe that it would be foolish to overlook this "natural resource" when discussing the jobs issue.

Respectfully,
George Falter Jr.

Road Closings, Detours Noted For Autumn Glory Festival Parade

The Autumn Glory Festival Committee reports that, because of potential traffic and safety hazards in recent years, the Maryland State Highway Administration has again recommended policy for the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 11, in downtown Oakland. The adjacent map of Oakland indicates road closings for the parade.

As has been customary with previous Autumn Glory Festivals, some roads will be closed for the parade; however, the festival committee requests that local residents should note that, at 7 a.m. on October 11, Green Street will be closed for vendors to set up on the street and in the American Trust Bank drive-in parking lot.

At 11 a.m., all southbound traffic on U.S Route 219 will be routed through Oakland via Fourth Street and trucks will be routed by Oakland via Sand Flat Road. Beginning al 11 a.m., Route 219 will be open to permit holders only and all traffic will be southbound only. No parking will be allowed along Fourth Street. Memorial Drive will be closed for westbound traffic at Fourth Street. Through-traffic on Memorial Drive will be detoured at Eighth Street. Memorial Drive will be open for parking and local traffic only between Eighth and Fourth streets. Roads will be closed in several more locations at 11 a.m.: U.S. Route 219 between Fourth Street and Oak Street; Memorial Drive between Third Street and Fourth Street; and Pennington, Crook, and Omar streets on both sides of Third Street.

Center Street will be open for cross-town traffic only until 12:45 p.m. Signs advising travelers of the detour will be provided by the Maryland State Highway Administration, and personnel helping travelers at closed roads will be provided by Maryland State Police, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the Oakland Police Department. Permits are being issued by the festival committee to local merchants and festival participants who need to go through the roadblock on October 11. The units of the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade will set up within the closed area, and the parade will begin at 1 p.m. Handicapped parking will be available at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Lodge on First Street.

For more information, persons may call the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council office at 301-334-1948.

Scottish Rite To Meet With Local Parents

The Scottish Rite of Masonry will hold a special public meeting next Monday, Sept. 29, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple located at 3 South First Street, Oakland. The purpose of the meeting is to inform all interested persons about a clinic co-sponsored by the Scottish Rite that provides free speech/language therapy for local pre-school children.

The service is offered through the new Scottish Rite Childhood Language Disorders Clinic, which opened at the Allegany County Health Department in June. The clinic, in association with the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, provides free diagnostic and treatment services to children with speech disorders who live in the tri-state area, including those in Garrett County.

Planning to be present for Monday's meeting in Oakland are Ellen Stevenson, director of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, and Heather Sturtevant, the clinic's speech therapist.

The Scottish Rite independently operates 120 speech clinics in other communities, but the local chapter needed help from another agency (the League for Crippled Children) to provide services locally. Mrs. Sturtevant currently handles a case load of 12 to 24 children per week, but the clinic has the capability of handling up to 70 per week.

Garrett County parents and guardians who are interested in attending the meeting to learn more about the clinic and its free services to children are invited to convene in the banquet hall at the Oakland Masonic Temple between 7:30 and 8 p.m., according to Jack W. Fridinger, secretary of Oakland Lodge #192 and a member of the Scottish Rite. The Scottish Rite will hold a brief organizational meeting at 7:30 in the lodge hall and then meet with the public at about 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served in the banquet hall following the meeting.

Maryland Closes Fiscal Year '97 In The Black

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said that the books are now officially closed on fiscal year 1997 and reported an unobligated general fund surplus of $62.7 million. "This is the first fiscal year we closed the books using the new R*STARS computerized accounting system," the comptroller said. "I appreciate the efforts of all state agencies that worked with us to implement the system."

"When we met with the three major bond rating agencies on September 2, we told them we expected an unobligated surplus of about $60 million and also said the state reserve funds total $531.6 million," Goldstein said. "This is all good news, which should help preserve the coveted triple A General Obligation Bond rating for our bond sale in February 1998."

The comptroller noted that a steadily improving Maryland economy and stock market performance were responsible for growth in Maryland's two largest revenue sources. "We were able to tell the bond rating agencies that Maryland's economy continues to look good for the balance of the current fiscal year and for fiscal year 1999, which begins July 1, 1998," he said.

The state income tax is Maryland's largest source of General Fund revenue. The second largest source is the sales and use tax, which produced $2.1 billion during fiscal year 1997, a 5.2% growth over the previous year.

The Comptroller's Office collected gross state and local personal income tax of $7.1 billion, and refunded nearly $909 million to income taxpayers. The Comptroller's Office distributed $2.1 billion to Maryland's counties, cities, and towns as their share of local income tax, and $82.1 million to the Transportation Trust Fund. "In addition, we distributed $875,794 contributed by taxpayers to the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species Fund - and $84,837 contributed to the Fair Campaign Financing Fund," Goldstein said. "This left net General Fund income tax revenue of just over $4 billion, a 7.9% increase over the previous year."

Income tax revenues benefited from job and wage growth, as well as the extraordinary rise in the stock market, which fueled a 20% growth in capital gains reported by state income taxpayers in each of the past two years.

"General Fund receipts from the corporation income tax grew by 5.4 % to almost $266 million in fiscal year 1997, reflecting improved productivity, low interest rates and solid demand," Goldstein said.

GCC Notes Dates For Start Of New MLS Course

The new Medical Language Specialist training at Garrett Community College is scheduled to begin Oct. 27. More than 40 people attended the recent open house hosted by GCC in order to hear about this new curriculum.

Debbie Bishop is associate director and lead instructor of the nine-month course. Classes will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. Monday through Friday. "During the training, students will be introduced to the latest technology in the field, including voice activated transcription," a GCC spokesperson said.

The Accuracy Center (TAC), a business recently formed in Maryland, will hire graduates as apprentices. Following the one-year apprenticeship, graduates will be eligible to sit for the certified medical transcription test, Bishop said.

Tuition for residents of Garrett County has been set at $3,900, which includes books. A $35 application fee will also be charged. Students enrolling in the course are eligible to apply for financial aid.

Applicants must prove English 101 competency by having successfully completed the course, by having been placed at that level, or by taking the placement test. All applicants must take a typing test.

The test dates noted by Kierstead are Friday, Sept. 26, 9-11 a.m. or 1-3:30 p.m., and Wednesday, Oct. 8, 6:30-9 p.m. Tests will be given in Room 159 of the Learning Center.

Interested persons are asked to call 301-387-3084 to make an appointment for testing.

SHORT STAYS CAN SPARK LONG FRIENDSHIPS.

Not everyone who stays at Heartland of Preston County is here for long term nursing care. Many of our guests are here for just a short stay while they receive rehabilitation to prepare them to return home.

But even a short stay at Heartland of Preston County can be a rewarding experience. Our guests meet and socialize with other residents, providing companionship and — who knows? — maybe even lasting friendships. What's more, all guests enjoy the warm welcome of our courteous staff and the attention of our skilled medical professionals.

For permanent residence, short-term rehabilitation accommodations or even a weekend respite, we provide a supportive environment. We offer pleasantly decorated, private or semi-private rooms, three nutritious meals a day, carefully prepared for special diets...and a wide variety of planned activities to enjoy. Plus, there's the warmth and sharing of new-found friends.

While in town for the Buckwheat Festival, call Melissa Groves to arrange a tour of our center.

Heartland of Preston County—where short stays spark long friendships.

'Runnin' Rams Continue To Dominate Every Competition

The boys' cross country teams of Southern High School over the past four years have been the best among all Class A teams in the state of Maryland, but Coach Carl Booth now believes that his 1997 team is the best ever in the history of the school. Judging from his accomplishments of the team so far this season, Booth may well be correct in his assessment.

The Rams went to Boonsboro on Saturday to compete in the Frank Keyser Invitational, to which over 30 schools of all sizes were invited, and they coasted to first place with 51 points. Then on Tuesday, on their home course at Broadford Park, the Rams defeated seven teams to take another first place and remain undefeated on the season.

There were 17 complete teams that raced at Boonsboro, and the team that finished closest to the Rams was Francis Scott Key with 101 points. Middletown was third with 126, Fort Hill placed sixth with 186, and Beall finished 13th with 289 points.

The Southern girls, also the defending Maryland State Class A champions and coached by Louis Newcomb, placed third at the Boonsboro meet with 118 points and finished first at Tuesday's home meet.

The top runner for the Rams on Saturday was Dan Sincell, who finished fourth with a time of 16:54. Teammate Eric Rexrode was the eighth fastest runner with a time of 17:01, while Casey McBee was just five seconds behind in ninth place, Beau Gibson finished 14th in 17:24, Sean Conroy was 16th in 17:29, Mike Bittinger placed 22nd in 17:48, and Ted Wolf was 52nd with a time of 18:56. The top five finishes on each team are counted in the team point total.

Winning the boys' race was Ryan Campbell of Walkersville with a time of 16:44.

Middletown, led by first-place finisher Randy Buzzell, won the girls' meet with 69 points, Brunswick was second with 104, Southern placed third (118), Fort Hill finished 11th with 226 points, and Beall had an incomplete score.

Angie Sincell, sister of Dan, was the top finisher for Southern, as she completed the 3.1-mile course in fifth place with a time of 20:29. Southern's Amy Snyder and Erin Hoalcraft placed 11th (20:59) and 15th (21:25), respectively.

Middletown's Buzzell won the race with an outstanding time of 18:31.

In Tuesday's home meet, the Southern boys finished with 25 points, while Preston County was a distant second with 77. Hampshire placed third with 79 points, followed by University with 110, Grafton with 139, Westmar with 160, Morgantown with 179, and Northern with 198.

Co-captain Dan Sincell finished first among the boys and took 10 seconds off his best time on the Broadford course with his finish in 16 minutes, 47 seconds.

The Rams' top five finishers were among the first eight to cross the finish line, as Casey McBee was fourth, Eric Rexrode placed fifth, Sean Conroy was seventh, and Beau Gibson finished eighth. Mike Bittinger placed 13th and Ted Wolf was 14th.

Brent Michael of Hampshire placed second in 17:02 and University's Francis Rengers was third with a time of 17:10.

"After the meet at Boonsboro, I told the kids that they are, without a doubt, the best boys' cross country team in the history of the school," Coach Booth said, "and I meant it."

Winning the girls' race was Northern High School's Rachel Leverenz, one of only two runners this season for the Huskies. Leverenz, like Sincell in the boys' race, took time off her best run ever on the Broadford course. She finished with a time of 20:32.

Angie Sincell was again the top runner for the Rams, as she finished in fourth place with a time of 21:07. Amy Snyder and Beth Sauder finished fifth and sixth with respective times of 21:19 and 22:06, while Erin Hoalcraft placed 11th in 23:03, Anissa Jamison placed 14th (23:48), Katie Moomau was 16th (23:59), and Christy Hoalcraft finished 17th (24:03).

"THE BEST TEAM in the history of cross country at Southern High School" is how Carl Booth, coach of the Runnin' Rams describes his 1997 squad, which is currently undefeated and well on its way to claiming an unprecedented fifth straight Maryland Class A championship. In action this past week, the Rams captured first place in a 17-team invitational held in Boonsboro on Saturday, and then defeated seven more teams in a home meet on Tuesday at Broadford Park. Pictured above with Coach Booth (far right) are the current top seven runners on the team, from left: Casey McBee, Ted Wolf, Dan Sincell, Sean Conroy, Beau Gibson, Mike Bittinger, and Eric Rexrode. The photo was taken following Saturday's victory at Boonsboro. Pictured below, from left, are Rexrode, McBee, and Gibson climbing one of the hills on the Broadford course during Tuesday's race. The Southern girls, who finished third in the Boonsboro Invitational, also placed first in Tuesday's meet. The Runnin' Rams will be the favorites to win this Saturday's annual Uniontown Invitational.

Southern finished with 33 team points, Grafton was second with 57, Westmar placed third with 65, followed by Morgantown, 106; University, 129; Hampshire, 137; and Northern and Preston, incomplete scores.

Sharon Alkire of Hampshire placed second with her time of 21:02 and Bethany Mayfield of Grafton was third, also with a recorded time of 21:02.

The Runnin' Rams will participate in another big race this Saturday when they travel to Uniontown, Pa., for the Uniontown Invitational. They are then scheduled to host University next Tuesday.

A CHAMPION WITHOUT A TEAM is how one might describe Rachel Leverenz of Northern High School, since she is one of only two girls in the school who are competing this fall in cross country. Rachel, daughter of Neil and Jan Leverenz, Accident, captured first place in an eight-team meet hosted Tuesday afternoon by Southern at the Rams' Broadford Park course. She recorded a personal best time of 20 minutes, 32 seconds, and is pictured above crossing the finish line. It was her second victory on the Broadford course this season.

COMPETITIVE IN EVERY MATCH this season, but still looking for their first victory, are the Northern Huskies and soccer coach Tom Ables, as the Huskies dropped two more matches this past week, to Fort Hill and Allegany. Above, Northern's Jeff Folk (#18) competes with a member of Allegany's varsity in Tuesday night's match at the Cove. The Campers won the contest, 3-1. Below, Husky Matt Fritz, one of the area's top goalkeepers, makes a good stop on a shot by the Campers. The Huskies, now 0-6, will begin a four-match road series next Tuesday at Westmar.

Huskies Remain Competitive, But Still Seek First Victory

While the Northern Huskies continue to be competitive in every soccer match, Coach Tom Ables and his players are still trying to record their first win of the 1997 season. The Huskies dropped two matches this past week, losing to visiting Fort Hill last Thursday evening and then dropping a 3-1 match to Allegany at the Cove Tuesday night. The losses dropped the Huskies to 0-6.

The only goal of the first half in Thursday's match with Fort Hill was scored by Matt Bernard, unassisted, with about 19 minutes remaining in the half.

The Sentinels took full control in the second half, however, and put four more goals on the board within just six minutes to record the shutout. The first came just 1:19 into the half by Adam Fletcher off the first of three assists by Adam Dudley, to give Fort Hill a 2-0 advantage.

Two minutes later, Danny James took a feed from Dudley to score and make it 3-0. Less than a minute later, Steve Brett scored off an assist by Bernard to make it 4-0, and two minutes later, James concluded the scoring for the night off Dudley's third assist.

The remaining 32:55 of the second half was all defense.

The Huskies were outgunned by a 30-12 margin in shots-on-goal and trailed in corner kicks by a 9-4 spread. Matt Fritz had 15 saves and Josh Henderson had seven for the Huskies, while Jared Alam recorded six saves.

"We played very well in the first half," stated Coach Ables, "and if we could take away that six-minute stretch in the second half, it would have been a pretty even match."

The win upped Fort Hill's record to 1-1-1.

The Huskies continued to have trouble putting the ball in the net Tuesday night against the Allegany Campers, as they had to settle for just one second-half goal off a penalty shot by Zack Rawe with about 20 minutes remaining in the match. Unfortunately, by that time the Campers had put three goals on the board, all in the first half.

Arnel Kazazic scored an unassisted goal at the 32:40 mark of the first half to open the scoring for Allegany. Matt Zealand then took a feed from Dave Smith to put the Campers up 2-0 with about 16 and a half minutes left in the first half. Zealand then concluded the Campers' scoring with an unassisted goal with about 10 minutes left in the half.

The Huskies led in shots-on-goal by a 24-18 margin, but Rob Stansbury played what his coaching staff called his best match of the year, as he recorded 20 saves. Matt Fritz finished with 19 saves for the Huskies.

The Campers (3-2) finished with a 4-3 edge in corner kicks.

The Huskies will return to action next Tuesday at Westmar.

Ram Booters Top Beall, Fort Hill; Tied For First

Coach Tom Powers believed in the pre-season that this could be "the year" that the Southern High School soccer team turned the corner and would perhaps even record a winning season, and a pair of big victories this past week have Ram fans believing the same thing. The Rams, who opened their season with a big win over Allegany, added two more Allegany County high schools to their list of victims this week, as they recorded a 4-3 double-overtime victory over visiting Beall on Saturday and a 2-1 overtime win over host Fort Hill Tuesday evening in Cumberland.

The wins upped Southern's record to 4-1 overall record and a first-place tie in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League standings (at 4-0) with Flintstone.

It was a goal by John Andrews, his second of the evening, with just 3:24 remaining in the second (and final) overtime period with Beall that won the match for the Rams Saturday night. After a 1-1 deadlock at halftime, Southern took a 3-1 lead in the second half, only to allow the Mountaineers to rally for two goals and send the contest into overtime.

The Rams put the first goal on the board when Andrews put the ball into the net off a feed by Steve Allison just three minutes and 16 seconds into the match.

Beall's Aaron Walker tied the score about 11 minutes later when he scored off an assist by Eric Robison.

It was just over three minutes into the second half that Southern took a 2-1 lead, as Karlo Gesner scored off an assist by Mark Ludwig.

The Rams went up 3-1 at the 25:20 mark of the half when Mike Tressler scored off another feed by Allison.

The Mountaineers did not quit, however, and came back to tie with an unassisted goal by Aaron Walker at the 20:12 mark and another by Jamie George off au assist by Walker with 7:45 left in regulation.

The first 10-minute overtime period was all defense, and the clock was down to 3:24 in the second OT period when Andrews blasted a hard shot from over 50 feet away that careened off a defender and off the Beall keeper for the winning goal.

Beall finished with a 29-23 edge in shots on goal, and also led in corner kicks by a 5-2 margin. Jonathan Price provided another strong effort in goal for the Rams, as he turned away 19 shots. Bo Jonson, who took over briefly for Price after Price was injured, had a pair of saves.

Jeremy Wengerd recorded 10 saves and Brian Eberly had four for the Mountaineers, who dropped to 2-3 overall and 2-3 in the WMIL.

The Southern junior varsity also saw a 3-1 lead evaporate and had to settle for a 3-3 tie in the first match.

At Greenway Stadium in Cumberland Tuesday evening, the Fort Hill Sentinels took a 1-0 lead when Adam Fletcher scored an unassisted goal with 14:09 remaining in the half.

Mike Tressler tied the match when he headed a throw-in by John Andrews at the 20:54 mark of the second half, and regulation time ended with the score knotted at 1-1.

Tressler won the match for the Rams when he headed in his second goal of the evening, this time off a corner kick by Jeff McDaniel with 4:56 remaining in the first overtime period.

The Sentinels led in shots by a 21-12 margin, with Price earning 13 saves for the Rams and Jared Alam getting nine for Fort Hill. Southern finished with a 4-3 edge in corner kicks, with the fourth one being the winning feed by McDaniel.

The loss evened Fort Hill's overall record at 2-2-1, and 2-2 in the WMIL. It was the third overtime match of the season for the Sentinels, who now have a 1-1-1 mark in those contests.

The Southern junior varsity was defeated in the preliminary match, 3-1.

The Rams will be a heavy favorite this Friday when they travel to Cresaptown to play Calvary Christian Academy. The kickoff for that match is set for 3:30 p.m.

Southern will then be off until next Thursday evening when they will have a return engagement with Allegany in Cumberland.

"HOW SWEET IT IS!" might be what some of these Southern High varsity soccer players were saying when this photo was snapped Tuesday night just after the Rams defeated Fort Hill, 2-1 in overtime at Greenway Stadium and upped their record to 4-1. The Rams also topped visiting Beall Saturday night in double overtime, 4-3, and are currently tied with Flintstone for first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League standings with a 4-0 record. The Rams, coached by Tom Powers, head coach, and Mel Menker and Bill Lovett, assistants, will play at Calvary Christian Academy in Cresaptown this Friday afternoon.

Rams Wake Up In Second Half To Defeat Preston

After a frustrating, scoreless first half, the Southern Rams came alive offensively in the second half of Friday night's home game with Preston County to put 28 points on the board, win their first game of the season, and hand the Knights their first loss in three starts. The Rams scored all of their points in the third quarter, and kept the Knights off the scoreboard to record a 28-0 shutout. The win improved the Rams' record to 1-2.

The Rams gave up an average of at least 40 pounds per player on the line of scrimmage, but the Southern defensive unit had a stellar evening, not only in keeping the Knights scoreless, but also limiting them to just four yards in total offense.

Southern had difficulty in moving the ball in the first half, as a number of drives were halted by turnovers. The Rams also lost over 40 yards, not on a penalty call, but on an inadvertent whistle by one of the referees. Chad Warnick had faked a hand-off and was racing around the left end, but the referee thought that the running back, who was almost immediately tackled, had the ball and he blew his whistle.

However, things finally began to click for quarterback Chad Warnick and the offensive unit after the halftime talk by Coach Tom Woods and some adjustments to the Rams' offensive game plan.

Warnick broke loose in the opening moments of the third quarter and raced 46 yards for the game's first touchdown. He also ran for the conversion to give Southern an 8-0 advantage.

Warnick scored again on the Rams' next possession, this time on a 17-yard run with 7:52 remaining in the quarter. The run for the extra two points was no good.

Less than two minutes later, junior tailback Jason Weaver raced around the end for a 29-yard touchdown run to give the Rams a 20-0 lead, as the pass for the conversion was incomplete.

Fullback Josh Bosley scored on a 13-yard run with just three seconds left in the quarter and Andy Seib ran successfully for the conversion to conclude the scoring.

Warnick led the Rams' rushing effort with 105 yards, while Weaver recorded 69 yards.

Leading Southern's outstanding defensive performance were John Ayers, who led in tackles for the second week with 13, and Josh Helbig, who was credited with nine stops.

"In the first half Preston did an outstanding job defensively," Coach Woods said. "They adjusted their defense to every single formation we presented. We took the advice of Tom Bosley (assistant coach) in the second half and just went with one or two offensive formations, and it worked."

Woods said that the victory was a major boost to his team's confidence, and that he continues to see improvement in his team's performance. "We knew we shouldn't have lost the Keyser game, and even though we lost to Musselman, we saw major improvement in that game," he said, "and I think we turned another corner in the Preston game. We should be very competitive with every team left on our schedule."

The Rams will go into this week's game with visiting Hampshire as the favorite, as the Trojans lost their first three games finally edged Petersburg last week for their first win. Hampshire is similar to Southern in that it is a young team, with a number of seniors who are starting for the first time.

"Overall, they lack experience, but they have several skill people who are very good players," Woods said.

Those leaders include senior quarterback Bart Stewart (5-10, 160), senior wide receiver Travis Digrutolo (6-1, 180), and a pair of quality running backs in seniors Ken Oswood and Dennis Cooper, both of whom are 5-9, 170.

"They run from the multiple-I, they like to option, and Stewart throws the ball well," Woods said.

Defensively, the Trojans run from a 4-3 formation, with senior linebacker Chad Hott (6-0, 190) and senior guard Shane Nichols (6-1, 180) among their most talented personnel.

"Hampshire's biggest problem is their size," Woods said. "They possess fairly good speed and talent in the backfield, but they just aren't very big up front. They have moved the ball well in several games, but they have also self destructed a lot."

Friday's contest will be Southern's homecoming game, and the kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

The junior varsity football team of Southern High School was blanked twice this past week, as the Rams were whipped by host Fort Hill, 27-0, last Thursday evening, and then fell to visiting Allegany Monday night, 35-0. The losses dropped the Rams to 2-3 on the season.

Dirk Bass hauled in a 13-yard scoring strike from Travis Holliday, and Matt Weimer booted the extra point to give Fort Hill a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

Mike Thomas scored the first of his rushing touchdowns for the Sentinels on a nine-yard carry in the second inning, and Mark Pyles ran for the two-point conversion to put the Rams down 15-0 at halftime.

Brian Cecil scored on an eight-yard run for Fort Hill in the third period, and Thomas scored his second touchdown of the night, this

Huskies Win First Half, But Fall To Lions, 16-6

The Northern Huskies were ahead 6-0 at halftime against the much bigger Mountain Lions of Tucker County High Friday night in Parsons, but they couldn't hang on to their slim lead in the second half and went down to a 16-6 defeat. It was the second straight loss in three outings for Coach Phil Carr and the Huskies, who will be favored to get back into the win column this Friday night at home against Hancock.

Despite being outweighed by an average of at least 60 pounds per player on the line, the Huskies kept the Mountain Lions (2-2) scoreless until midway through the third quarter. Unfortunately for Husky fans, the Tucker defense also played well and made it difficult for the Northern offensive unit to move the football.

The game was riddled with penalties, as the Mountain Lions were called 15 times for 132 yards and the Huskies lost 80 yards on eight flags.

Jeremy Hoover hauled in a 20-yard touchdown pass from Scott Sisler in the second quarter to put the first points, and what would be Northern's only points, on the board. Matt Houser's kick for the extra point was no good.

Tucker County earned its first points of the night by recording a safety early in the third period to make it 6-2, and then took the lead for good when Steve Lambruno scored on a six-yard touchdown run. Brandon Corcoran booted the extra point to give the Lions a 9-6 advantage.

The Huskies forced the Mountain Lions to punt the ball late in the fourth quarter, but they were called for roughing the Tucker punter, even though a Northern lineman clearly got his hand on the ball as it was punted. The penalty restored Tucker's drive, which resulted in a final touchdown, this time by Jon Nash on an 18-yard carry.

Nash led Tucker County's 262-yard rushing effort with 87 yards on 15 carries.

The Huskies simply could not run the ball against the Tucker defense, and finished with a total of 97 yards, with 67 of those yards coming through the air.

Hoover and Houser were the defensive standouts for the Huskies.

"We played extremely well in the first half, and we hung in there until the end, but it was such a mis-match on the line of scrimmage that we just couldn't move the ball," Coach Carr said. "We couldn't run up the middle, and every time we got outside, either we'd get a penalty or their linebackers, who played very well for them, would cut us off.

"Defensively, we played extremely well the entire game, though," Carr said. "We were only down 9-6 with just seven minutes left in the game."

Carr was not pleased with the quality of the officiating, not just for his team, but for Tucker County's as well. "They called over 200 yards in penalties," he said, adding that there were far too many incorrect or incidental calls made against both teams. "They really should let the kids decide who wins the game," he said.

The Huskies will attempt to up their record to the .500 mark this Friday night at home when they host the Panthers of Hancock High School. Hancock was winless last season and is currently winless this year (0-3).

"They have the same problem as we do just in terms of numbers," Carr said. "They'll probably bring only about 24 players, and only seven of them are seniors. So they're really struggling right now."

The Panthers run from the wing-T on offense, which pleases Carr since his team has faced the wing-T twice in three games this season. "Bishop Walsh and Tucker County both run the wing, so we certainly know what to look for," he said. "Plus we scrimmaged Hancock in the pre-season."

The leaders on the Hancock offense are junior fullback Sam Hess (6-1, 205), who is the top rusher; senior quarterback Chris Noe (5-8, 140); and another running back, senior Aaron Zimmerman (5-8, 145).

"Hess has nice size and is a good runner," Carr said, "and Noe loves to run the ball. They are not a very good passing team."

The Huskies came out of the Tucker game basically healthy, Carr said, although still missing from the lineup is Nathan Resh, who had an appendicitis. Listed as "doubtful" because of the flu is sophomore Mike Auvil, who is the leading tackler on the Huskies' special teams.

"We match up with Hancock size-wise, and I think we are a little quicker than they are, so we hope to take advantage of that," Carr said.

Friday's kickoff at Husky Stadium is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Steelers Fall To Patriots In CAYFL Contest

The Northern Steelers of the Cumberland Area Youth Football League were topped by the AES Patriots, 28-8, Saturday at Nonnenmann Field in Cumberland, as Tye Page recorded 124 yards and three touchdowns against the Steelers. The loss dropped the Steelers to 3-1 on the season.

The Steelers took an 8-0 lead in the first quarter when Travis Higgins raced 70 yards for a touchdown and Trey Brenneman kicked the two-point conversion. But that lead would be short-lived, as the Patriots came back to tie the score.

Page scored on a three-yard carry, still in the first quarter, and Nathan Dillon kicked the conversion.

The Patriots (3-1) doubled their score in the second quarter when Jared Mooney scored on a nine-yard run and Dillon again kicked the conversion.

Dillon scored on a five-yard carry in the third period and Ryan Shope concluded the day's scoring with a 15-yard TD run in the fourth stanza. Both conversion attempts failed.

Page gained his 124 yards on just eight carries. Mooney picked up 67 yards for the Patriots on only five carries.

Jeremy Layman, Tony Wilson, and James Thomas were the top defensive players for the Steelers.

Ram Freshmen Topped, 33-16, By Sentinels

The freshman football team of Southern High School dropped a 33-16 decision to host Fort Hill last Thursday evening.

Greg Ewell, who rushed for three touchdowns for the evening, put the Sentinels on top, 6-0, with a 65-yard punt return in the first quarter. He broke free for a 70-yard TD run in the second quarter to give his team a 12-0 advantage.

The Rams rallied for eight points midway through the second quarter when Jeremy Hayhurst capped a drive with a five-yard scoring run and Billy Hebb ran successfully for the conversion. But the Sentinels took a 20-8 lead into the locker room at intermission after Marcus Trimble scored on a seven-yard carry and quarterback Trenton Lewis ran for the conversion.

A 25-yard touchdown run by Kevin Shambaugh in the third period gave Fort Hill a 26-8 lead.

Hebb answered for the Rams with a 10-yard scoring run and W.T. Harless ran for the conversion to pull Southern within 10 points, 26-16.

That would be as close as the Rams would get, however, as Ewell tacked on an insurance touchdown on a 15-yard run and Chris Martin booted the extra point to finish the game's scoring.

The Southern freshmen are slated to play at Allegany on Oct. 13.

time on a 30-yard carry in the fourth period.

Na'eem Page led the Allegany Campers to their win over the Rams Monday evening, as he rushed for 135 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Both of his scores were recorded in the first quarter, on runs of one and 28 yards, after Danny Lindner put the first points on the board on a 42-yard pass from Nathan Simpson. Craig Bacon ran for the conversion on the first touchdown and Anthony Matthews ran for the extra points on the Campers' second touchdown.

Bacon scored on a seven-yard carry in the second quarter and Blake Winterton booted the extra point to give the Campers a commanding 29-0 halftime lead.

The only points scored in the second half were on a one-yard touchdown carry by Simpson.

The win upped Allegany's record to 3-0-1.

Northern Netters Still Perfect; Defeat Westmar And Fort Hill

The girls' varsity volleyball team of Northern High School upped its perfect record to 5-0 this past week by recording a tough, 3-2 victory over visiting Westmar on Monday and then defeating host Fort Hill last night, 3-0.

Rebecca Hinebaugh led the Huskies in service points with 24 against Westmar, while Jenny Stephens added 14 points and Laurel Wolfe had a game-high 25 attacks. Jane Williamson finished with 15 attacks.

The Huskies lost the first game, 15-9, won the second and third, 15-7 and 15-11, lost the fourth, 15-13, and won the fifth and deciding game, 15-8.

Helene Duncan and Autumn Elko led the Wildcats in serving with 12 and 11 points, respectively. Lauren Warnick finished with 24 attacks and Andrea Gattens had 19.

The Northern junior varsity was also victorious in the preliminary match, 2-1. The Huskies won the first game, 16-14, dropped the second, 15-8, and won the third, 15-7. Heather Umbel recorded 27 points for the Huskies, and Michelle Warnick and Heidi Frazee led in attacks with 14 and 13, respectively. Deena Beeman had 13 service points and Stacy Langham, 10, for Westmar.

Leading Northern at the service line last night against Fort Hill was Laurel Wolfe, who recorded 20 points and helped her team rally from a 1-0 deficit.

The Huskies dropped the first game, 15-7, but came back to take the next three and the match, 15-4, 15-11, and 15-9.

Stephens had four kills for the Huskies.

Leading the Sentinels (4-2) in serving were Stacia McIntyre and Brandi Bridges with 11 and 10 points, respectively, and Bridges also had 14 assists. Kristie Stone led the attack with 14 kills.

The Northern jayvees were also winners in the first match, 2-1, as they won the first and third games by respective scores of 15-4 and 15-1. The Sentinels won the second game, 15-9. Heather Umbel again led the Northern team with 11 points. Beckah Dillon and Jennifer Vance recorded five each for Fort Hill.

The Huskies will attempt to keep their record perfect on Monday when they host Bishop Walsh.

Garrett Netters Win Six More; Record Now 9-3

The Garrett Community College Lady Lakers went on a tear last week, winning six straight volleyball matches to hike their record to 9-3 for the regular season. With a 3-0 record in Region XX play, GCC stands alone atop first place in Maryland JUCO women's league standings.

Alexis Nogle paced the Lakers to two victories for the day at Westmoreland last Thursday, totaling a perfect 25-for-25 tally from the service line, with two aces to boot. Nogle was 10-for-10 in GCC's opening 15-2 and 18-16 wins over Pitt-Titusville. Erica King went 9-for-9 in service and Andrea Barrick was six-for-six. Nogle paced the offense as well, going 10-tor-11 with two kills, while King added three kills of her own.

Nogle put together the second half of her perfect day by going 15-for-15 in service in the Lady Lakers' 15-9 and 15-4 win over host Westmoreland. Erica McBride went 11-for-13 with seven kills, while Mindy McCarty was 13-for-15 with six kills. Barrick put up a stone wall on defense, going three-for-three in blocks, resulting in two points.

The Lakers proved to be tough hosts in a league match against Catonsville and CCAC-South (Pa.) in McHenry on Saturday. The women led off the tournament with a sweep of Catonsville, with scores of 15-5, 15-6, and 16-14. Nogle continued her perfect service record, going 15-for-15, with 21 sets and eight assists. King was 20-for-21 on service with three aces, while Barrick added 10 points, two aces and three kills. McBride helped fill out the attack by going 12-for-17 with seven kills.

The Lady Lakers rolled over CCAC in the second half of the afternoon, with game scores of 15-3 and 15-4. Nogle had 13 service points and 15 sets, while King added 11 service points, five aces, and two kills. Barrick was six-for-six on service and attack, and Mc-Bride had five attacks and five kills.

On Monday evening GCC hosted Montgomery-Rockville, and took their sixth consecutive win by match scores of 15-2, 15-4, and 15-5. For the evening Nogle was 22-for-22 from the service line with five aces, 15 sets, and seven assists. Barrick was eight-for-eight on service, with four aces and six kills, while McCarty went five-for-six, two aces and six kills, and McBride tallied eight attacks and six kills.

"I think we have a lot of talent," team captain Erica King said. "We were shaky at first, but we're getting it all together."

GCC's next contest will be against Penn State-New Kensington tomorrow night, Friday, Sept. 26, (not tonight -- the previously published schedule was in error) on the McHenry court at 6 p.m. The Lakers will then host Essex Community College Saturday, Sept. 27, for a 1 p.m. matchup, before going on the road to visit Hagerstown Junior College on Wednesday, Sept. 29.

Ram Net Team Drops A Pair; Falls To 2-4

The Southern High girls' varsity volleyball team saw its record dip to 2-4 this past week by losing to host Fort Hill on Monday, 3-1, and falling to undefeated Mt. Savage last night, 3-0, on the Indians' court.

The Rams lost the first two games to Fort Hill, 15-3 and 15-8, rallied to take the third game, 15-7, and dropped the fourth, 15-13.

Jennifer Teagarden recorded 14 service points to pace the Rams, while Kristi Stone had 12 service points and 11 kills to lead the Sentinels. Linda Schenning had 10 points for Fort Hill and Brandi Bridges provided 14 assists. It was the fourth win in five starts for the Sentinels.

The Southern junior varsity edged the Sentinel jayvees in the first match, 15-13 and 15-12. Sara Winters had six points for the Rams and Jaime Brant paced Fort Hill with six.

The Rams were topped by 8-0 Mt. Savage last night by scores of 15-4, 15-1, and 15-9, with Heather Abucevicz recording 18 service points and going 16-for-16 in attacks for the Indians.

Amy Stafford and April Lashley each contributed four kills for Mt. Savage, while Brittany Slider led the Rams in serving with five points.

The Southern junior varsity was more competitive in the preliminary match, but were defeated by a 2-1 margin. The Savage jayvees won the first game, 15-3, the Rams took the second, 15-12, and the Indians won the third, 15-9. Jennifer Bonner recorded 12 service points for the winners and Amber Booth had 11 kills. Pacing the Rams' serving was Melissa Kuykendall with three points.

The Rams are scheduled to play at Beall on Monday and host Westmar next Wednesday.

Antlerless Deer Permits For '97 Season Increased

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin has announced an increase in antlerless deer permit allocations for the 1997-98 deer season. Antlerless deer permits are required for hunters to take antlerless deer during the firearms or late muzzleloader season in certain Western Maryland deer management zones.

"Antlerless deer permits provide for the maintenance of deer populations at levels compatible with available habitat, while maximizing recreational opportunities for Maryland's deer hunters," Secretary Griffin said.

Hunting season harvest trends from recent years and deer damage reports of agricultural crops and orchards indicate elevated deer numbers within these areas. A total of 12,000 antlerless permits will be available this year, compared to 11,190 permits that were available for the 1996-97 hunting season.

The 1997-98 antlerless deer permits allocations are as follows: Allegany County (Zone 1) - 2,000; Allegany County (Zone 2) - 2,000; Frederick County (Zone 1) - 2,700; Garrett County (Zone 1) - 1,300; Garrett County (Zone 2) - 2,000; and Washington County (Zone 2) - 2,000.

Last year for Frederick County (Zone 1) and Garrett County (Zone 2) the number of allocated permits exceeded the number of hunter applications; i.e. every hunter who applied for an antlerless permit for one of these deer management zones received a permit. Hunters are encouraged to apply for one of these zones because the chances of being selected will be enhanced. The highest deer densities in Frederick County occur in Zone 1.

Antlerless deer permit holders can hunt antlerless deer during the last two days of the Firearms Season (Dec. 12 and 13, 1997). If the hunter does not use the permit on these two dates, then the permit is valid for the late segment of the Muzzleloader Season in December.

The change this season allows junior deer hunters to hunt antlerless deer without an antlerless permit on Youth Deer Hunt Day (Nov. 15, 1997). However, if the youth hunter takes an antlerless deer on Nov. 15, the young person may not use an antlerless permit during the firearms or muzzleloader season in counties that require the permit.

An antlerless deer permit can be obtained by completing the Antlerless Deer Permit Application form located inside the Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 1997-98. This guide is issued to people when they purchase a Maryland 1997-98 hunting license. There is no application fee for antlerless deer permits. Maryland residents are given first preference in the antlerless deer permit lottery. Non-resident applicants will be entered in the lottery only if not enough resident applications are received to meet the available antlerless deer permit allocation.

Applicants should carefully follow the instructions for completing the application. Hunters may submit only one application and apply for only one deer management zone. Antlerless Deer Permit applications must be legible and complete, and received in the Annapolis office of the DNR Wildlife and Heritage Division no later than October 15, 1997. Violation of these conditions will automatically disqualify the applicant. Hunters who wish to be notified that their application was received by the DNR must complete the acknowledgment card section of the application.

Antlerless deer permits will be mailed to successful applicants about two weeks prior the Deer Firearms Season. Hunters not selected will also be notified at that time.

For additional information on the antlerless deer permits or to obtain a copy of the 1997-98 Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland, persons may telephone 301-777-2136.

In Loving Memory of Sally Duckworth Coddington
9/25/44 - 11/26/87

who went home to be with her Lord Thanksgiving Day, November 26, 1987. Because of her faith and trust in the Lord Jesus Christ, she now spends eternity in Heaven.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore
As time goes by, we miss you more
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place

We cherish the memories of her smile and laughter, and the contentment she had in life. Each time we see your picture, you seem to smile and say, "Don't cry, I'm only sleeping We'll meet again someday."

Loving and remembering her,
The Family

When you were young...
You shone like the sun.
Shine on you crazy diamond.

Free Training Available For Alcohol Sellers

Two free alcohol awareness training sessions from the series titled Training for Intervention Procedures ("TIPS") will be offered locally next month for Garrett County liquor license holders and their employees.

Each TIPS session, which satisfies Maryland's requirement for mandatory training, is designed to prevent alcohol abuse, drunk driving and underage drinking by enhancing the fundamental "people skills" of servers, sellers and consumers of alcohol.

"TIPS gives individuals the knowledge and confidence they need to recognize potential alcohol-related problems and effectively intervene to prevent alcohol-related tragedies," said Fred Hlerath, a local certified trainer for the program.

The "On Premise" session is a six-hour class designed for servers at restaurants, bars, hotels and any establishment where alcohol is consumed on the premises. Employees learn strategies for serving alcohol responsibly while providing the best possible customer service. The "On Premise" session will be presented at Garrett Community College, Room 307, on Monday, Oct. 13, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The "Off Premise" session is a three-hour class which addresses the sale of alcohol at grocery stores, liquor stores, convenience stores and package stores. Clerks learn to prevent illegal alcohol sales to underage or intoxicated persons. The "Off Premise" session will be presented at the Oakland Town Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 28, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Maryland law requires one person per establishment to hold current alcohol awareness certification; however, having more employees certified offers businesses possible additional benefits, such as insurance discounts, a "reasonable efforts defense" in lawsuits, and enhancement of the establishment's public image, according to TIPS literature.

The TIPS program lists the following scenario among its success stories: "In Michigan, an establishment was caught in a sting operation and faced a stiff penalty. Before going to court, the manager arranged for TIPS training for all of her employees. When the judge was informed that the employees had received TIPS training, he waived the server's fine and placed the establishment on probation for six months."

These local TIPS sessions are sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department's Highway Safety Program through special funds from the Maryland State Highway Administration.

Persons interested in attending a TIPS session should call 301-334-8122 to register. Class size is limited to 20 people, and the future of additional classes is uncertain.

Woodmen of the World History Award.

She has participated in junior varsity basketball as co-captain, receiving the most valuable player award in her final year, and varsity track and field for the past three years, winning the jumping award last year. Her number one sport, however, is volleyball, as she has been a varsity volleyball team member all four years at Northern, receiving the highest serving percentile award two years running and the MVP award in her junior year.

Chelsea's hobbies include competing in volleyball tournaments across the state. Her teams have received four first-place finishes and one second in co-ed doubles tournament play. She has also been a member of the first-place, six-person co-ed team at three consecutive tournaments and has attended Global and Nike volleyball camps at Frostburg State University, the University of Maryland at Baltimore Campus, and George Washington University, being awarded with several MVP and coaches awards.

Chelsea is a confirmed member of St. Ann's Catholic Church in Grantsville and has helped in the local vacation Bible school as an assistant, has participated in the Adopt-A-Highway program, and has been active in the Grantsville Planning Committee. She works part-time at Yoder-Hershberger Insurance Agency. Chelsea hopes to attend college next fall, major in sports medicine, and continue to play volleyball.

Chelsea will be accompanied throughout the Autumn Glory Festival by Princesses Rachel Leverenz of Northern High School and Michelle Teter of Southern Garrett County High School. The queen and princesses will participate in the Fireman's Parade Thursday evening, Saturday's Grand Feature Parade and numerous other festival activities, and will award trophies to the winners of the "Official" Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championships Saturday evening.

Road Priorities

either a stoplight or increased signage at that location.

The seventh item on the list is a request for status information about the Rt. 219 bridge over Bear Creek. The bridge is to be built on the west side of the current bridge, despite a property owner's request that it be placed on the east side. The state determined that the east side construction would cost approximately $3 million more, and thus the property owner and the SHA have reached a compromise, according to local officials. Apparently the bridge will be put closer to the current one than what was originally planned, which will have less of an impact on the property owner's land.

Commissioner Wayne Wilt suggested that the state consider placing a blue "H" hospital sign at the intersection of Oak and Fourth streets in Oakland. Wilt said if people used the Fourth Street route to the hospital, this would possibly relieve some of the congestion along Third Street in Oakland.

The tenth item on the list is the request for the state to "re-evaluate Sand Flat Road and Glendale Road," apparently to consider the change of these county roads to state-owned byways. If the state does not want ownership, the county is asking for perhaps the contribution of a minimum line stripe job along these roads.

Commissioner Roger Glotfelty asked Nelson to express concern to the state about a dangerous curve along Rt. 560. The location is known as "Baker's Flat," and has been the site of several car wrecks in recent years, some of which have resulted in death. Glotfelty suggested that more obvious signage be placed before and at the curve, warning motorists of the apparent hidden danger there. This request is number 11.

The 12th item is the discussion about pedestrian and traffic danger at the Arrowhead Market area along Rt. 219. The area is congested with cars and pedestrians, and "fender benders" are reported regularly at that location, according to the officials. Commissioner Gary Fratz suggested the possibility of a crosswalk or "underwalk" for pedestrians attempting to cross the busy roadway.

Number 13 is the request for a sidewalk from Southern High School along Oakland Drive, as numerous students walk along the narrow road each day.

The 14th item is not a request, but a note of appreciation to the SHA for the ongoing construction of an escape ramp near Bloomington.

The last two items were suggested by Commissioner Wilt, including a safety study of both the angled intersection of Oakland Drive and Rt. 135 and the area of Oak and Third streets in Oakland.

At least nine of these items were on the county's "wish list" last year. Items that were on previous lists but have been addressed include the completion of the cloverleaf at Interstate 68 and northbound Rt. 219 and the truck escape ramp in Bloomington.

Two Arrests Made On Drug Related Charges

In two separate incidents, reports were filed in Garrett County on arrests for drug charges.

The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force stated that on Wednesday, Sept. 17, they initiated an investigation based on an anonymous call.

The informant alleged that William Sachs Jr., 37, Deer Park, was growing marijuana inside and outside his apartment.

Investigators requested and received consent to search the residence. They reported the recovery of 13 suspected marijuana plants, two feet tall.

Sachs was charged with manufacturing CDS (controlled dangerous substance) and possession of marijuana. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail and later released on bond.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported the arrest of Joseph B. Jordan, 50, Morgantown, W.Va., on charges of possession of CDS, and possession of CDS paraphernalia.

On Monday, Jordan was stopped as he was traveling westbound on I-68 around 7:20 p.m. The report stated that he was exceeding the posted speed hmit.

Jordan consented to a search to of his vehicle which allegedly revealed marijuana and CDS paraphernalia.

Jordan was taken to the Garrett County Jail and later released on his own recognizance.

Food For Thought

Why stop at lemon meringue pie? Try the richer, rounder flavor you get with equal amounts of lemon, orange and lime juice. Add bits of grated peels in the filling and some in the topping, too.

Delicious dip for crunchy fresh vegetables (or even chips) is easy in the food processor. Buzz together a little garlic and dill, then a package of frozen spinach, thawed and drained, and 4 ounces of feta cheese. Fold in a pint of drained yogurt "cheese."

Balsamic vinegar adds a sophisticated touch to fruit desserts. Mix 3 Tbs. balsamic vinegar with ¼ cup brown sugar and ½ to 1 tsp. coarse-ground black pepper. Stir in strawberries, cut-up apple and bananas and let the mixture stand 15 minutes as flavor develop.

Thyme and chicken go together. Place sprigs of thyme under the breast skin of a whole chicken. Toss a big onion, in wedges, with olive oil, water and lots of chopped thyme, salt, pepper and allspice. Roast chicken surrounded with onions and apple quarters.

Local Teenager To Serve 18 Months In Jail

A local 19-year-old will serve 18 months in jail in return for his conviction on burglary charges. Jeffrey R. Henderson, Oakland, was sentenced on Sept. 11 by Judge Fred A. Thayer in Garrett County Circuit Court. Thayer ordered him to serve five years in the Department of Corrections, but suspended all but the 18-month term.

Henderson was indicted by the March Term Grand Jury this year on charges of first degree burglary, fourth degree burglary, felony theft, and malicious destruction of property. After a plea agreement, the teenager pleaded guilty to the first degree burglary charge and the other counts were dropped, according to the court report.

After his release from jail, Henderson will be on supervised probation for three years. He must pay restitution to the victims in this case, the Gnegy family, in the amount of $7,314.

The teenager was allegedly involved in the January breaking and entering of the residence, which is located along Jasper Riley Road.

In other recent circuit court news, a Swanton man pleaded guilty on Sept. 4 to a charge of resisting arrest. Apre-scntence investigation is now underway for defendant Charles A. Craver, 28.

The charge against Craver is the result of a December 1996 incident at the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in which he allegedly refused to cooperate with a deputy who was attempting to place hm under arrest. Craver is currently out on bond, according to a state's attorney report.

An 11-month suspended sentence was reimposed for William P. Clemons, 37, in proceedings on Sept. 4. He was found by Judge James Sherbin to be in violation of probation. 11e had originally been convicted on the charge of resisting arrest and had served one month of a one-year sentence.

He violated his probation by committing a crime, according to the state's attorney's report. He allegedly battered a family member and was found guilty of the crime in Garrett County District Court. For this conviction, he was sentenced to a separate 60-day jail term.

An Oakland woman, Jill A. Ensor, pleaded guilty to the charge of marijuana possession. She was given a six-month suspended jail term and was fined $500. She will be on one year of probation, according to the court report.

Tonya Hook, 24, Oakland, pleaded guilty to the charge of trespassing and was fined $100 by Sherbin. She was also ordered to complete 10 hours of community service. She allegedly illegally entered the home of Ronald Cogley in May.

Three cases against individuals facing various charges were not prosecuted last week by order of the state's attorney. They were cases involving the following defendants: William M. Harvey, 38, Swanton, originally accused of stealing lumber from Arnold Humberson in 1995; Richard D. Layton, 28, Oakland, accused of stalking and harassing a local woman in an apparent domestic dispute in June 1996; and Patrick A. Casteel, 31, Finleyville, Pa., who had originally been accused of stealing meat from Yoder's, Inc.

NATIONWIDE GRAND OPENING of the Sprint Store at RadioShack was celebrated in Oakland with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at Allen's RadioShack on Third Street. More than 6,000 stores across the country marked this event on Wednesday. The Sprint Store at RadioShack is the result of a strategic alliance between consumer electronics retailing and telecommunications. "The store brings state-of-the-art telecommunications services and products to our community, a spokesman for RadioShack said. Customers will now be able find long-distance service, phone products, and Internet access in one location. Pictured cutting the ribbon at the Oakland location are, left to right, Allen Friend, co-owner, Michael Friend, and Penny Friend, co-owner.

Bartlett Votes Against COLA For Congress

"I voted against the COLA [cost of living adjustment] for Congress because until we balance the budget, I don't think we deserve one," said Congressman Roscoe Bartlett yesterday. The House narrowly defeated an effort to eliminate the COLA for Congress on a procedural vote.

"The battle is not over yet," Bartlett said, referring to future votes that will follow a conference committee's attempt to resolve differences between the Senate and the House. The Senate previously voted to eliminate the COLA for Congress.

Bartlett said yesterday's vote will "help to repair some of the damage caused by previous decisions by the congressional leadership that prevented an opportunity to vote or even debate on the COLA." He said Congress makes wiser and more informed decisions when the members have the opportunity for debate.

In reference to his vote for the appropriations bill last week which funds the treasury department, postal service, and other government services, Bartlett said he was personally assured that there was no pay raise for Congress included in the bill. However, the specific omission of any reference to the COLA for Congress in the language of the bill will apparently result in the COLA being provided to the members of the next Congress.

"Was I lied to?" Bartlett asked. "Well, some could argue that a COLA is not a pay raise, but that's splitting hairs. As far as most Americans are concerned, more money in your paycheck -- no matter what it's called or how it gets there -- is a pay raise.

"Everywhere else in America, if you don't perform, you don't get paid. Congress should be no different," he said.

Bartlett donates a substantial portion of his Congressional salary to college scholarships for students at the 10 colleges in the Sixth District.

"Although the national economy is booming, Maryland lags behind much of the country in strategic long-term competitiveness. In the mid-Atlantic competition for the coveted communication jobs, Maryland has, at best, a mediocre record," he said.

MBRG is a non-partisan statewide business organization whose intention is to foster conditions leading to optimum economic growth in Maryland, the president said.

Highway Mtg.

were against the highway, would you withdraw your support for it?" Hinebaugh said, "I don't speak for our elected officials, but I would be foolish not to (withdraw my support)."

Another audience question centered on the process for determining what the majority of the citizens want. Hinebaugh could not answer whether or not a county-wide referendum was a possibility, but Shimrock stated that "CARE is working on it."

Other questions focused on official accountability, as Lisa Rook of Deer Park asked Hinebaugh, "Since you said you don't make the decision for the county to support the highway, who does?" Hinebaugh answered, "You can express your opinion to legislators now." Another audience member asked the same question later, and Hinebaugh said, "I can't answer that question," at which point Shimrock interjected, to the applause of the audience, "We (the citizens) are the ones responsible for the decision."

Another citizen stated, "I became highly suspicious when the mayors and town councils didn't publicize that David Moe [president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce - Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council alliance] was coming to town meetings and that the town councils were going to vote on [the highway concept]." Hinebaugh replied, "If you're not happy with your mayor and town council's stand, go talk to them about it."

GCC President Stephen Herman expressed a moderate tone in remarks he made from the floor. "A good starting point is that we're all a little ignorant about the future," he said. "If we have a highway, we might have things worse; if we don't, we might have it worse` too. We need to make judgments based on what we have.

"I would like to see all people investigate what communities who had a highway go through did or did not do to successfully cope and capitalize on it," Herman added.

The meeting closed over three hours after it began, more than two hours of which were devoted to questions and comments from the diverse audience. Many people expressed appreciation for the opportunity to hear both sides of the issue, and many said it was "informative and helpful."

In a footnote, the highway controversy had been, up until yesterday, a pressing matter as the U.S. House of Representatives was slated to vote soon on the "Building Efficient Surface Transportation and Equity Act" (BESTEA) of 1997, House Bill #2400. Yesterday the bill was set aside by the House Transportation Committee for six months of further study.

That bill, as originally conceived by the committee's chairman, Congressman Bud Shuster of Pennsylvania, would have allowed for $103 billion in highway spending that would have included allocations for further study and planning for several NAFTA highway trade corridors, including Continental One. BESTEA was pulled because, according to published reports, it asked for a 30% increase in transportation spending over the next three years. The Washington Post reported that Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich, not wanting to jeopardize the recently agreed upon plan to balance the federal budget, pressured Shuster to back off from his spending demands. The action puts the highway decision off at least until March of 1998.

G.C/CARE reacted to this latest development with a press release forwarded to The Republican, which stated: "Although G.C./CARE is pleased to hear that BESTEA legislation is not going to be acted upon for six months, CARE's work is far from over. This bill will resurface, and it is still important for citizens to make their elected officials of their stand on this issue. We will continue to keep the public informed of developments surrounding this highway bill, and its possible effects on Garrett County, as those facts develop.

"The larger issues of what kind of lifestyle the 'majority' of Garrett County citizens want," the statement continued, "and 'how much development is too much' still need to be addressed, even if the highway legislation is never passed. We are sincere in our desire to work with others to explore viable employment opportunities for citizens without compromising the quality of life many Garrett Countians treasure."

The Feet of the Master

"Oh no! I can't see those feet. Am I an orphan in this strange "people-world"? Where are those feet? My mama warned me to pay attention. I hope the feet find me."

As this little ball of fur is so tiny, she is most familiar with her master's feet. Yet, when she is most lonely, she cries for him. He lifts her up and she looks into loving eyes that smile at her warmly. Though once again placed upon the ground, the warmth remains.

Each day, one might say that we, too, sit at the feet of our Master. As we travel from task to task each day, we may lose track of the Master. Yet God watches over us, and when we cry to Him we are lifted up. We feel the warmth and the love that can only come from our Heavenly Father.

Do you need to experience God's loving care? Visit your chosen place of worship this week. Worship at the feet of the Master. He will lift you up.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE DAY OF SMALL THINGS

September 28, 1997

Background Scripture:
Zechariah 4
Devotional Reading:
Zechariah 7:1-10

Edmund Burke spoke of the intoxication of power and Sir J.E.E. Dalberg in one of his letters penned those words that are quoted whenever the subject of power is seriously considered: 'Power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely.'

Those of us who do not consider ourselves to be among the powerful know how corrupting power is to those who are powerful. Ask any of us and we will testify to "corruption in high places." But power corrupts not only the powerful, but also those of us who consider ourselves to be the powerless. There is a natural and persistent human preoccupation with things big and powerful—the biggest, grandest and most powerful.

Conversely, we are generally unresponsive to that which is small. With few exceptions we assume that if something is small it is deficient in power. Big is powerful; small is not. And that is why we are so contemptuous of things small—they appear to be lacking in power and power is what impresses us.

DAUNTING OBSTACLES

In the day of Zechariah—which was roughly the same time as that of Haggai—there were lots of people who were contemptuous of the small efforts that had been put forth to rebuild the temple. Zerubbabel, the governor of the returned exiles, had laid the foundations to the temple, but the efforts seemed puny and insignificant in light of what would have to be accomplished. Considering the obstacles that confronted Zerubbabel and Joshua, the high priest, these beginnings looked totally inadequate.

In a sense, we may say that this was the difference between Zerubbabel and his critics. He kept his eyes focused on the goal, while they saw only the obstacles. Someone has said that obstacles are those terrible shadows you see when you take your eyes off the goal. Zerubbabel kept his eyes on the goal and so he was undaunted by these small, modest beginnings.

Eventually, said the prophet Zechariah, these scoffers would see what Zerubbabel already was seeing. "For whoever has despised the day of small things shall rejoice, and shall see the plummet in the hand of the Zerubabel" (4:10). (The plummet was a plumb line and the prophet is speaking metaphorically as using it to measure integrity.) Some things never change, do they! We still are cynical about "the day of small things."

NOT BY MIGHT

It is in the midst of all this cynicism about Zerubabel's modest efforts to rebuild the temple that God sends Zechariah a prophetic lucid dream. In a semi-awakened state, an angel said to the prophet: "What do you see?" "I see," answered Zechariah, "and behold a lampstand all of gold, with a bowl on the top of it, and seven lamps on it.... And there are two olive trees by it, one on the right of the bowl and the other on its left." Then Zechariah said to the angel, "What are these, my Lord?" And the angel said to him, 'This is the word of the Lord to Zerubabel... Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the Lord of hosts.'

Modest human efforts sustained by the power of God can accomplish whatever goal God sets before us. Without the power of God, yes, the efforts of Zerubabel were laughingly inadequate. The power of God is just as manifest in little things as it is big ones. That is what the world finds so hard to understand about the Spirit of God, just as my generation had a hard time understanding how enough explosive power to destroy a whole city could be locked up into the interior of something so tiny and seemingly insignificant as the atom.

Atomic scientist Albert Einstein once observed that "Gandhi had demonstrated that a powerful human following can be assembled not only through the cunning game of the usual political maneuvers and trickeries but through the cogent example of a morally superior conduct of life. In our time of utter moral decadence he was the only statesman to stand for a higher human relationship in the political sphere."

The power of Gandhi, like the power of Jesus Christ, was a power born not of secular things, but of the Spirit of God.

"Squonk Opera" To Open FSU's Cultural Series

The Frostburg State University Cultural Events Series 1997-98 season will kick off with the unique "Squonk Opera" at 8 p.m. this Friday, Sept. 26, in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

"Squonk Opera" performs with a blend of golden song, graceful dance, comic intrigues, and visual gimmickry. "Their presentation 'Big SmorgasbordWunderWerk' will enforce Squonk Opera's reputation for creative musical spectacles that breach the boundaries of good taste and common sense. Through theft and misuse of operatic traditions, Squonk Opera appeals to its most esteemed audience, delivering both novelty and diversion," stated one critic.

Tickets for Squonk Opera and all CES events are available through the Lane Center Information Desk. Credit card orders can be taken by calling 301-687-4411. Tickets may also be purchased the night of the performance at the venue box office. Seating is reserved for all performances, and group discount tickets are available for groups of 10 or more.

Squonk Opera, in conjunction with Arts Alive!, will also be presenting creative community workshops for FSU and area high school students.

Coming up this season, CES will be presenting events for all members of the family, including: Shangri-La Chinese Acrobats at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 4; Vivaldi Orchestra of Moscow at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 5; Dance Alloy at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 13 and 14; Pianist David Buechner at 8 p.m. on Saturday, Mar. 7; The David Grisman Quintet at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Apr. 2; and Robin and Linda William and Their Fine Group at 8 p.m. on Saturday, Apr. 18.

The 1997-1998 FSU Cultural Events Series is funded in part by the Maryland State Arts Council and is presented in association with WFWM 91.9 FM, public radio from FSU.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, FSU Library Room 228, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

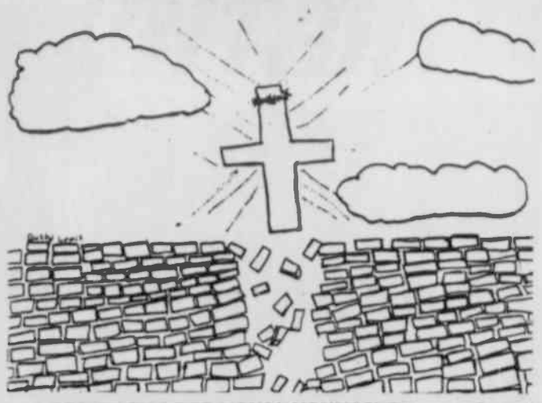
Ms. George May Be On Way To Sesame Street

Salisbury State University art major Katie George has managed to pull strings, positioning her into a unique program: she is pursuing her master of arts in puppetry at the University of Connecticut. She is the first SSU undergraduate to seek such a degree.

Ms. George is a granddaughter of Mrs. Rhea Helbig, Deer Park, and great-granddaughter of William Earl George, also of Deer Park.

At age 4, George asked her mother, in all seriousness, how to get to Sesame Street. In her eighth grade yearbook she wrote, "I want to grow up and make muppets." Eventually she got to the Honors Program at SSU, where program director Dr. Tony Whall advised her to combine art and academics with an honors thesis on puppetry. Working with art professor Kent Kimmel, George was able to link her artistic interests with theater experience, and she began applying her skills to various Salisbury State Theatre productions.



For her honors thesis, she researched different styles of puppetry--ranging from the familiar Punch and Judy to the more exotic Bunraku and Japanese show puppets. Her project required her to construct models from these traditions. She made three Bunraku puppets for Mask, Mime & Myth, an original script directed by Dr. Andrew Hepburn at SSU, and she made the giant's arm and hand for Into the Woods.

A Presidential and Fulton Scholar at SSU, George became active in art and theatre clubs. She was inducted into Phi Eta Sigma freshman, Omicron Delta Kappa leadership, and Phi Kappa Phi academic honor societies. She is the daughter of Theresa Bruette of Columbia, and Douglas George of Jessup. She graduated from Howard High School in Ellicott City in 1993.

While an undergraduate, she attended the presentation of the Lifetime Achievement Award for muppet creator Jim Henson, given posthumously to his son Brian. Eventually she hopes to work for Henson and Associates--her road to Sesame Street.

At Salisbury State some 6,000 students in 29 undergraduate and six graduate degree programs pursue liberal arts and professional degrees. For two years in a row, SSU has been ranked a "Best Buy" in the Guide to 101 of the Best Values in America's Colleges and Universities.

"BEYOND THESE WALLS"
"YE SHALL BE WITNESS" ACTS 1:8b

A DESIGN BY A RED HOUSE YOUNGSTER was selected for the cover of the program of the West MarVa District Conference of Churches of the Brethren. Dusty Lewis, left, a nine-year old fourth-grader at Red House Elementary, submitted the design shown above. The Churches of the Brethren district conference and planning committee had requested assistance from church members of all ages in submitting a design representing this year's conference theme, "Beyond these walls, ye shall witness." The multi-state conference will be held at the Moorefield Church of the Brethren in Moorefield, W.Va., Sept. 19 and 20. Lewis is the son of Brent and Tammy Lewis of Red House, and he attends the Oak Park Church of the Brethren with his family.

THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY of the founding of the 121st Engineer Battalion (Mech) of the Maryland Army National Guard, Detachment 1 Company B and Detachment 2 243 Engineers was observed in a day of ceremony and citizenship at an open house recently. From its beginnings with 31 enlisted men and three officers who mustered for the first drill in St. Matthew's Episcopal Parish House in Nov. 1947, the local presence of the unit has grown to 85 enlisted personnel and four officers. The unit's distinguished history reflects the passage our nation, state and county have seen, as these local citizens have generously given their time to serve in a variety of ways, including answering calls to state and federal duty for riot control in the tumultuous 1960s, state duty in two days of fighting a large forest fire on Backbone Mountain in 1966, assisting in the construction of the Savage River Bridges project for 1988's World White Water championships, construction of a 50-point rifle range at Gunpowder Military Reservation near Baltimore in 1990, involvement in road construction at Jennings Randolph Lake, and state duty in Western Maryland for a total of 10 days during the blizzards of 1993 and 1996. The unit's service is not limited to stateside activities, however, as it has been deployed to Panama and Honduras for training and construction projects. Some events of the day's anniversary celebration, which was presided over by Cpt. Francis J. Coulters, the current commander of Company B, are shown here. Above left is a camouflage webbing tent which contains displays of the unit's overseas activities; above center, former unit commander Cpt. Mahlon W. Yost (Ret.), who held the reins from 1962 until 1971, addresses the gathering; above right, a National Guard chopper hovers above a farmer's field as the tassels sway in the breeze; below left, members of Tony Artice's Karate Studio demonstrate techniques from which stems the military's training in hand-to-hand combat; below center, youngsters who donned camouflage face paint board a tracked armored personnel carrier to get a feel for what a soldier experiences; and below right, the first woman soldier of the local National Guard unit, Sgt. Renee Dever, stands at attention. Dever, a heavy equipment operator, serves with the 243rd Engineers.

New Teachers Get Overview At Orientation

The first part of an orientation was held recently for 13 new teachers, one counselor, and four year-long substitute teachers in the Garrett County school system. The session, sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education and the Garrett County Education Association, provided an overview of programs, services, and procedures.

Opening remarks were made by Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent, and Al Coviello, assistant superintendent. Coviello also facilitated the morning session.

Wilda Massi, director of pupil services, offered information on student assistance programs, including the STAR (Students Taking Active Responsibility) program. Jennifer Kotulak, pupil personnel worker, described the special education program.

Dusty Stanton, Chuck Trautwein, and Dale Kimble explained the technology plan and the computer assistance available.

Dr. Brenda McCartney, director of curriculum and instruction Pre-K - grade 8, Maxine Miller, director of curriculum and instruction grades 9-12, and Massi then met with employees they will supervise to discuss curricula and instruction.

In the afternoon session, principals directed a school-based orientation. The principals will select mentors for each new teacher.

Next month, the board of education and Frostburg State University will offer a three credit college course for beginning teachers to enhance their knowledge of the county school system and its resources.

Introducing Panelcraft Building Systems
The House of Tomorrow is Here Today!
Cool When It's Hot, Cozy When It's Not!
Customer satisfaction is our #1 goal.
(Residential, Commercial, Churches—ICBO, BOCA & SBCCI Approved)

PANELCRAFT
BUILDING SYSTEMS, INC.

These houses are built with Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).
Using SIPs requires less construction time and leaves the customer with a draft-free Energy Efficient Home at an affordable price!
At Panelcraft, these Panels go through a special bonding process to create a Structural Panel far superior to using just the insulation by itself in a conventional frame building.
The material used for the insulation is called Polystyrene, the same thing that is used for styrofoam coffee cups. Not only does 1/16 of an inch of Polystyrene protect your fingers from being burned from the scorching hot coffee, it also keeps them dry!
Now if only 1/16 inch will do this, imagine what 4 to 6 inches will do in your home to keep the warm and the dry inside and keep the cold and the dampness outside!
Oh! By the way all you carpenters and do-it-yourselfers, etc., no more itching and scratching and coughing while insulating a house!
Panel homes have withstood earthquake activity where others crumbled.
If you would like to know more about Panelcraft and why SIPs are one of the fastest growing building techniques in the industry, call or write.

COVER STORY

McCarthy's Jenny is a charming surprise

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

Jenny McCarthy

Jenny McCarthy isn't sticking her tongue out for her new NBC sitcom. This time she's sticking her neck out.

Those familiar with the former Singled Out host's goofball work on MTV might be wary of her latest project, but viewers who give it a chance are in for a pleasant surprise.

Contrary to expectations, McCarthy's Jenny, premiering Sunday, Sept. 28, is not only funny but also quite charming.

Jenny casts the young ex-Playboy model as beautiful but naive Jenny McMillan, a grocery clerk in Utica, N.Y., who flies to Los Angeles with best friend Maggie (Heather Paige Kent, Life With Roger) to receive a bequest from the father she never knew: B-movie star Guy Hathaway (George Hamilton), who leaves her his bachelor pad.

Jazzed with the excitement of a new beginning, the women decide to move to L.A. and set off on a series of adventures reminiscent of Laverne & Shirley.

The premise isn't inherently fresh, but the leading lady is. McCarthy reins in the cross-eyed mugging and low-comedy goofing of her MTV sketch show to present a credible character who is vivacious and likable.

The actress says she's delighted for a chance to show that she takes her craft seriously.

"People are going to see a much wider variety of what I can do instead of just sticking my tongue out," she says with a laugh. "They'll see a serious side, a friendship, a growing side, even a little naiveness.

"I'm looking forward to (showing that to) ... the people who just see me on TV and magazine covers with, you know, my finger in my nose."

The friendship between Jenny and Maggie drives the sitcom, with Kent as a dynamite second banana in the tradition of Rhoda Morgenstern on The Mary Tyler Moore Show. In fact, it was the chemistry between the two actresses that scuttled an earlier premise that had Jenny working for one of her father's movie star friends.

"We missed the two of them together," executive producer Mark Reisman says. "We liked the idea that these girls ... will be interviewing for the coolest (jobs, but) they wind up at Kinko's."

Which could be better than the slot Jenny has been given. The series airs in the less-than-must-see Sunday slot opposite CBS' beloved Touched by an Angel. And its lead-in, Men Behaving Badly, is not much help. Since its premiere last season, Men has been one of the most troubled shows on NBC.

Two members of last season's cast, Ron Eldard and Justine Bateman, reportedly took the title a little too seriously in a series of acrimonious backstage battles with the producers and writers.

Bateman is gone, Eldard leaves in the season premiere, which airs Sunday, and two new cast members – Ken Marino (The State) and Jenica Bergere (Ink) – join Rob Schneider in a heavily retooled version of the British-based sitcom.

But regardless of how Men behaves in the Nielsen race, Jenny deserves to be tended with care. It's a small but very real pleasure, one that is especially welcome in a season remarkable only for its mediocrity.

IN FOCUS

Elizabeth Perkins stars in Cloned, an NBC drama that explores what could happen if scientists start cloning more than sheep. The movie premieres Sunday, Sept. 28.

Skye (Perkins) and her husband (Bradley Whitford) are coping with the death of their child. When Skye sees a boy who looks exactly like her dead son, her investigation into the boy's identity leads her back to the fertility specialist (Alan Rosenberg) who helped her conceive.

TV-PIPELINE

Alexander Siddig

Q: I am an ardent fan of Star Trek: Deep Space Nine. I notice that in early episodes Dr. Bashir was played by Siddig El Fadil. The newer episodes list Alexander Siddig in the role. It's clearly the same person. Why the name change? –Cecelia Pelicon, Millbrae, Calif.

A: The son of a Sudanese father and an English mother, Siddig, 31, changed his name simply because fans couldn't figure out how to pronounce El Fadil. At least, that's the story he's been telling at Star Trek conventions.

Q: What can you tell me about the underrated actress Lindsay Crouse? I remember her briefly on Hill Street Blues and in a number of movies. Also, what was the name of the Sharon Gless-Dorian Harewood drama series a few years ago? –Jason T. via e-mail.

A: A native New Yorker, Crouse, 49, is the daughter of playwright-lyricist Russel Crouse (The Sound of Music, Life With Father), who named her after his writing partner, Howard Lindsay. After getting her start in theater, she made her movie debut as Kay Eddy on All the President's Men. Her film credits include Daniel, Communion, Desperate Hours, The Indian in the Cupboard and House of Games, which was written and directed by her then-husband, David Mamet.

Last season she was a guest star on an episode of Millennium titled "Kingdom Come."

Gless and Harewood starred in The Trials of Rosie O'Neill, which ran 1990-92 on CBS.

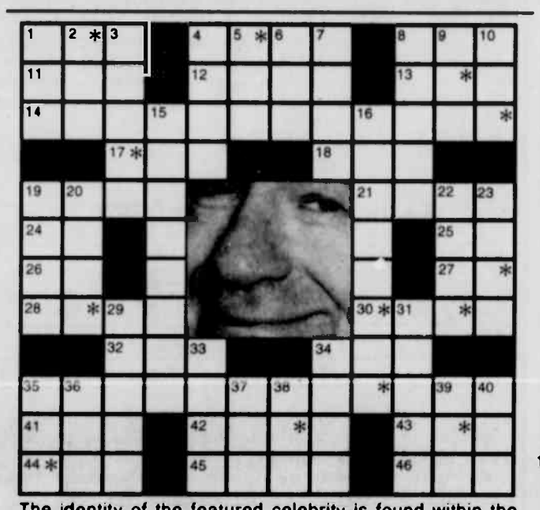
Q: Is Date With an Angel the only movie starring the lovely Emmanuelle Beart? Where is she from and what is she doing now? –W.T.D. in Florida.

A: The daughter of French singer and poet Guy Beart, the 32-year-old actress most recently starred with Tom Cruise in Mission: Impossible, but has concentrated mainly on film work in her native France. She became a star there (and later in North America) via her extraordinary work in 1986's Manon des sources (Manon of the Spring), in which she starred with her husband, Daniel Auteuil.



If you can tolerate subtitles, Beart's work in French films is truly exceptional. Apart from Manon (be sure to see Jean de Florette first, which sets up the Manon story), look for Un coeur en hiver, L'Amour en douce and Nelly & Monsieur Arnaud in particular.

Q: Please identify the movie about bootleggers starring Robby Benson, Burt Reynolds and Liza Minnelli. – "Cosmos" via e-mail.

A: Lucky Lady (1975).

IN FOCUS

Jaclyn Smith paints the portrait of an artist suffering from amnesia in Married to a Stranger, premiering Sunday, Sept. 28, on The Family Channel.

A head injury causes Meagan (Smith) to lose all memory of her husband and daughter (Robert Clohessy, Katharine Isobel). She also mentally regresses to the age of 16, and makes plans to study painting in Italy. While her psychiatrist (Kim Coates) encourages her to study art, her husband courts her again in hopes of restoring her memory.

IN FOCUS

Maureen McCormick (right) hits the right notes when she stars in the true story of Barbara Mandrell in Get to the Heart: The Barbara Mandrell Story. The TV movie premieres Sunday, Sept. 28, on CBS.

The movie chronicles Mandrell's lifelong passion for music and her journey to a successful career. Her personal life also flourished, until a tragic car accident at the peak of her career changed her life forever. Greg Kean, Dolly Parton and Kenny Rogers also star.

"HERE'S THE CHURCH, HERE'S THE STEEPLE, up go the rafters to cover the people," might be a child's nursery-rhyme assessment of the major remodeling project in progress at the Crellin Assembly of God. After five years of preparation, renovation work commenced recently on the 47-year-old structure, just across Hutton Road from the site of the congregation's original church, and is hoped to be completed in time for next Easter's celebrations. Above, a Rigidply rafter is lifted high above the church roof, where a waiting crew will secure it in place. The work is being done by a team of professionals who are supplemented in their labors by a crew of church volunteers, who are hard at work donating their labor, time, and money to see the project through. Under the current pastor, Rev. David Snodgrass, the Crellin Assembly of God celebrated its 75th anniversary as a worshipping and working congregation in July.

Frostburg State Safety Dept. Wins Governor's Award

Since 1990, the Frostburg State University Public Safety Department has been awarded the Governor's Crime Prevention Award, Category A, for outstanding overall crime prevention efforts, and the department has won it again for this year.

The FSU Police Department consists of 15 officers, four civilian full-timers, and 25 part-time students. Each of the members have made crime prevention an integral part of their daily operations. Last year, they protected 220 acres of campus, one building in Hagerstown, one building in Frederick, 5,418 students and 850 employees, said Brian Shanley, director of the Public Safety Department.

The University Police use several techniques to ensure security on FSU's campus, Shanley said. One of their main objectives is to hold security seminars. Last year they held security programs concerning personal protection, rape and sexual assault, youth crime prevention, drug abuse prevention, residential security, and commercial security.

Each officer performs crime prevention surveys, which include checking for burnt out bulbs, overgrown shrubs, fire extinguishers, and fire exits, and work orders are generated to correct such problems. Officers suggested peep holes in residence hall doors and tape to determine the height of those being video-taped to improve security. One FSU officer, Clyde W. Stewart, will receive an award for conducting over 50 of these type of surveys.

An award ceremony will take place in November in Annapolis to honor the officers.

Open Houses Slated At FSU

Frostburg State University will be holding open houses on the following Saturdays: October 18, November 14, and December 6. Each will begin at 9 a.m. in the FSU Lane Center. Following refreshments, visitors will have the opportunity to meet with departmental representatives. The schedule will also include a walking tour of the campus with a residence hall visit. Questions concerning the open house can be forwarded to the Admissions Office at FSU at 301-687-4201.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, FSU Library Room 228, 301-687-7955.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Navy Airman Robert D. Beachy, son of Olen D. and Ada M. Beachy, Amish Road, Grantsville, recently completed a seven-day port visit to Haifa, Israel, while assigned to the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy, currently on a six-month deployment in the Mediterranean Sea and Persian Gulf.

During the port visit, Beachy and fellow crew members hosted more than 1,600 visitors and completed 11 community relations projects including painting and landscaping an orphanage and the Sacred Heart Convent for Disabled Children, where the carrier's gospel choir performed. Some crewmembers also played basketball with members from an Ethiopian immigrant camp.

Aircraft carriers, like USS John F. Kennedy, are forward deployed around the world to maintain a U.S. presence and provide rapid response in times of crisis.

Beachy, a 1993 graduate of Northern High School, joined the Navy in January 1995.

"Just One More Person Couldn't Hurt!"

Most people think of a hospital as a peaceful place to rest and recover. But in many hospital rooms, getting peace and quiet is more wishful thinking than anything else.

That's why we allow only two visitors per patient to be in a room at one time. If you arrive at the patient's room to find that there are already the maximum number of visitors in the room, please check with the nurses' station for assistance.

It's comforting to patients to see a friendly face, and we welcome you to visit.

By following our visitation policies you'll be making a positive difference in the road to recovery for our patients.

Rest assured!

Taste-A-Thon Kicks Off Healthy Eating Campaign

Party-sized portions of everything from chicken nuggets to pizza awaited hungry customers who recently attended the Taste-A-Thon at Grantsville Elementary School.

Parents, teachers, and school administrators joined students for the Taste-A-Thon, which showcased new dishes and old favorites that will appear on Grantsville's menu during the 1997-1998 school year.

The Taste-A-Thon, which is part of a statewide campaign called "Choices!", highlighted a new concept in school food service - choice. This approach replaces the "take-it-or-leave-it" style lunch service.

Schools across Maryland are joining in the campaign this fall, as part of an overall effort by the Maryland State Department of Education and local school systems to increase participation in the School Meals programs.

"Because dining room managers realize that no two children have the same tastes, they're expanding their menus," said Donald Knode, II, director of food services for Garrett County schools.

When children sampled highlighted foods in the Grantsville Elementary School cafeteria, they got a sticker, bookmark, or other prize. They also got a 'Choip!' sticker to put on their classroom's "Choices!" poster. At the end of the campaign, the grade level with the most Choips will win a $200 grant for an event, activity, or materials for the classroom. The winning grade level will work with its teacher to decide how to spend the grant dollars.

TASTY MORSELS were available to students, parents, and teachers at Grantsville Elementary School when the Garrett County Board of Education food service program offered a sneak preview of the new approach to school meals. The concept of choice in the cafeteria is designed to ensure better nutrition for children through greater participation in school meals. Lining up to sample the fare, pictured above left to right, are Casey Post, Mallory Brenneman, Christie Brenneman, Kara Brenneman, Irene Shaffer, Barb Durst, and Randy Buckel. Pictured below, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Meiers and Kayelyn Tomlinson relax and enjoy the meal.

"Research tells us that kids do better in school when they eat well," Knode said. "We hope that by offering options and encouraging kids to taste them, more children will opt to eat a healthy school breakfast and school lunch, which will give them the fuel they need to concentrate all day," he added.

The staff at Grantsville Elementary has had hands-on training to learn how to prepare food that's not only tasty but also healthful.

"Five years ago, school lunches in Maryland schools averaged 38% of calories from fat over a week's time," said Mr. Knode. "That figure is down to 30%, and is in line with new federal regulations that require school breakfasts and school lunches to follow the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Dietary Guidelines for Americans," he explained.

Harbison-Walker Signs Contract With Steel Co.

Harbison-Walker Refractories (H-W), a division of Global Industrial Technologies, Pittsburgh, has entered into an agreement with Birmingham Steel Company to exclusively supply a full line of refractory products for a new electric furnace steel mill being built in Memphis, Tenn. When full capacity is reached, the multi year contract is valued at approximately $6-8 million per year.

Under the agreement, H-W will provide approximately 13,000 tons of refractory products annually that will be used to line electric furnaces, ladles, tundishes, and other equipment for Birmingham Steel's new Melt Shop. H-W also will handle installation through a third party service provider. The first shipment of refractories is scheduled for delivery this month and construction of the mill is scheduled for completion in October.

According to Gerry Gustas, Harbison-Walker vice president of operations, the firm won the order over stiff competition from other major U.S refractory producers.

"Birmingham Steel is looking to Harbison-Walker for our expertise in refractories so they can concentrate their efforts on making steel," he said. "We negotiated the order as a mutually beneficial partnership that satisfies the customer's need for the lowest cost, high quality refractories, and meets our goal to profitably grow our business in the United States steel market."

SOUTHERN GOSPEL recording artists Chris and Alex Varner of Full Circle Ministries will perform at Little Meadows Baptist Church, Grantsville, Sunday, Sept. 28, 7 p.m. With 30 original songs to their credit, the Varners have produced two albums and are gathering material for a third one. "The City," a song included on the album titled Homecoming Day, has recently been released for use by radio stations nationwide. This program is open to the public.

At full production, the new Birmingham Steel Mill is expected to produce 1,000,000 tons of steel per year.

Harbison-Walker is a leading supplier of refractory technology, products, and services to a variety of industries worldwide. The company, with its Mexican and Canadian affiliates, operates 15 plants in North America, including one in Garrett County, and supplies products to the iron and steel, aluminum, petrochemical, cement, copper, chemical processing, glass, waste incineration, and other high-temperature process industries.

ARE YOU AN IN BETWEENER?
Are you stuck in between?
Let me explain.
Your job provides a steady income - a problem because your take home pay is just enough to make you ineligible for any government aid programs. But your take home pay won't let you qualify for help from a standard lender.
You're in between.
Think about where you live. What about space? Do more than two children share a bedroom? How about the roof and ceilings? Exposed wiring? Plumbing? Any standing water? A clean, constant water source? Heat? Insulation?
You get the idea.
Just one more question. Do you live or work or worship in Garrett County? Yes?
Then read on.

Solution to next week's Challenger

An American Hero
by Dr. Robert B. Pamplin, Jr. and Gary K. Eisler

VITALLY ZAMAKHOVER

Few people have ever heard of Vitally Zamakhover. He is an improbable American Hero because he was not born in this country, nor is his position in life high.

Vitally was born in the former Soviet Union. In his native country he achieved a high level of education — a master's degree in construction management — as well as material comfort — though not rich he never had any financial difficulties.

But there is more to life than education and wealth. Zamakhover is Jewish, and in the anti-Semitic Soviet Union, never lived his life with the dignity a human being deserves. Official propaganda blamed his people for national and international problems. He always felt like a second-class citizen.

He traded whatever security and position he had in Russia for insecurity and low status in the United States. Instead of working with earth movers, concrete and steel girders, he works with vacuum cleaners and feather dusters. He has become a janitor in Portland, Oregon.

Zamakhover cleans offices of people who have real jobs — many of whom are less educated than he. But that is fine with him, because in America he has two things he lacked in Russia: dignity and hope.

He gets into his station wagon at 4:30 p.m. and starts work at 5. He vacuums carpets, loads garbage into plastic bags and dusts where necessary. But in America, no one looks down on him for his work. "They look into your eyes. Because of that, my work as a janitor doesn't make me feel down because of my surroundings," he said. He also has learned that in America people want to help him — not degrade him.

"I am going to integrate into this society," said this American Hero. "I want to give possibility to my kid, to have a life without fears, to live in a country that no one will think of you as a second-rate person just because of your religion."

More role models are found in "American Heroes," by Dr. Robert B. Pamplin, Jr. and Gary K. Eisler, MasterMedia, 1-800-334-8232.

Critic's Corner
by Rick Wilson

GI JANE: Please, Hollywood: I'm begging you. Stop with the political correctness already! It's positively sickening. AND, it doesn't make for good movies. Instead, it makes them totally, completely predictable!

In this one, we have Demi Moore as a Navy intelligence officer, Lt. Jordan O'Neil, who wishes to go beyond her desk duties. Fortunately for her, Senator Lillian DeHaven (Anne Bancroft) finds a way to help her. The senator is in charge of a test program designed to place a woman into the hardest military training program — the Navy SEALS.

The training consists of arduous physical demands, sleepless nights, and stringent discipline. Fully 60 percent of all applicants fail, and none of those, thus far, has been a woman. Ah, but no one counted on the indomitable will of our heroine, who not only can do a one-armed pushup with the best of them, she is subjected to rampant sexism.

Granted, we have some ace performances here. Moore finally shines in a role clearly made for her. Bancroft is fabulous as the wily senator, wheeling and dealing her way around the Beltway. However, for my money, it is Viggo Mortensen as the almost sadistic drill sergeant, who makes the flick for me. He and Moore are perfect foils for each other.

As for the various plot twists and turns, again, the whole thing is boringly predictable. There's the requisite nude shower scene in which Moore is humiliated by virtue of being observed, but of course, she has to take it "like a man." Moore shaves her head to just be "one of the guys" — surprise, surprise. The men leer and jeer at her — surprise, surprise! The upshot: little, dainty girl proves she's just as good as the big, burly bullies!

In my opinion, this one isn't worth the ticket price. Wait for it to come out on video instead!

Q. My neighbor gave me some old canning jars when she moved. Most of them are Mason jars, but one of them is marked "Hero." It has a cross below the mark. Is it valuable?

A. Mason jars have become valuable to fruit jar collectors. The Hero jar was made by Mason.

The Hero Cross jar with a wide-mouth glass lid was patented Feb. 27, 1894, and again on Jan. 29, 1895. Aqua versions sell for $35 to $50. Clear jars sell for $40 to $60. Narrow-mouth Hero Cross jars in aqua sell for $25 to $35.

Q. I've heard some very high prices are being paid for GI Joe dolls. I have a number of the 4-inch-high dolls. Am I rich?

A. No. Those high prices you heard about were for the original, foot-tall GI Joe dolls introduced in 1964.

Hasbro made about 500 styles of the 4-inch figures between 1982 and 1993. The most expensive one is Snake Eyes. It was one of the original 11 issued in 1982. Mint in package, it's worth about $175. Out of the package, its price drops to about $35.

Most used 4-inch figurines sell for $1 or so at flea markets and yard sales.

Penn.-German Art To Be Focus Of Lecture, Slides

FREDERICK WEISER

The decorative arts of the Pennsylvania Germans will be the topic of a free lecture, slide show, and discussion, slated for Friday, Oct. 3, at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland. The event will feature Pastor Frederick S. Weiser and will begin at 7:30 p.m. The presentation is being sponsored by the Garrett County Arts Council.

"We're delighted to present this engaging and noted authority on German arts and culture," said Steve Schlosnagle, arts council administrator. "Pastor Weiser's program should be of special interest to Garrett County's Amish and Mennonite communities and to our many friends and neighbors of Germanic background. Persons attending are encouraged to bring contemporary and antique items decorated with Pennsylvania German artwork for purposes of informed identification and commentary."

Frederick Weiser edited the publication series of the Pennsylvania German Society for 26 years. A graduate of Gettysburg College and the Lutheran Theological Seminaries in Gettysburg and Philadelphia, he is the author of many books, articles and pamphlets on local history, genealogy, church history, and Pennsylvania German life and folk art.

A retired parish pastor residing in central Pennsylvania, Weiser has taught at Gettysburg College and has served as archivist at the Lutheran Seminary in Gettysburg. He is currently on the executive committee of the Society for the History of the Germans in Maryland. Weiser is also a member of the Board of Fellows of Gettysburg College, a Fellow of the National Genealogical Society, vice president of the Adams County Historical Society in Gettysburg, and treasurer of the Lutheran Historical Society in Gettysburg.

Pastor Weiser lived in Germany for a year, studying folk life in the small villages of the Palatinate and Franconia. He frequently tours in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. He has lectured, consulted, and translated German materials for Colonial Williamsburg, Old Salem, the Dietrich Foundation, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, The Philadelphia Museum of Art, the Free Library of Philadelphia, and many other museums and regional historical societies.

For further information on the Fred Weiser presentation, persons may contact the Garrett County Arts Council at 301-387-3121.

Read. Then Recycle.

THIS "PRESENTATION FRAKTUR" will be a part of Pastor Frederick S. Weiser's presantation on Pennsylvania German arts, slated for Friday, Oct. 3, at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland. The presentation, being sponsored by the Garrett County Arts Council, will begin at 7:30 p.m. The writing within the fraktur heart is translated as follows: "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." See story.

Voters League Schedules Tour Of GC Landfill

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County will sponsor a tour of the Garrett County landfill on Saturday, Oct. 4, as a continuation of a series of tours of infrastructure owned and operated by the county and local municipalities.

According to statistics of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, directed by Rodney Glotfelty, residents of the county discard 160,000 pounds of material every day. The tour will show where this material is taken and how it is handled.

According to a Virginia Grove, league president, it is the policy of the organization to provide opportunities for voters to view, first-hand, operations of government. "Educated and knowledgeable voters are essential for a quality democracy to function at the highest level," Mrs. Grove said.

The general public is invited to participate in the tour. Students interested in the environment, or possibly interested in preparing a report on solid waste, are particularly invited.

Those planning to participate in the tour should meet at the Oakland City Hall at 9:30 a.m. to carpool to the landfill site along the Oakland-Sang Run Road. Persons who reside farther from Oakland may join the tour at 10 a.m. at the site. Participants will be invited to attend a Dutch-treat lunch at Uno's Restaurant following the tour.

Persons desiring more information about the tour may telephone Mrs. Grove at 301-334-8269 or Edgar Harman, board member, at 301-334-4018.

New Seat Belt Law Goes Into Effect Oct. 1

Effective Wednesday, Oct. 1, law enforcement officers can now issue a $25 citation to both a driver and an adult front seat passenger solely for not wearing his or her safety belt.

The "Primary Enforcement Safety Belt Law" was signed into effect by Governor Glendening last spring. Until the passage of this new law, Maryland's safety belt law held a secondary enforcement status, meaning that before a driver or front seat passenger could be cited for failure to wear a safety belt, he or she must have first been pulled over for another traffic violation.

Supporters of the new law hope that it will help save lives and reduce health care costs, workers' compensation, and other insurance-related expenses.

Currently 12 other states -- California, Connecticut, Georgia, Hawaii, Iowa, Louisiana, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, and Texas, -- and the District of Columbia have primary enforcement safety belt laws. Although Maryland has one of the highest safety belt use rates in the U.S. (nearly 70 percent buckle up regularly), supporters of this new law want the state to be number one.

According to the National Highway Safety Administration, motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death and severe injuries for Americans between the ages of 6 and 33. It has proven that the easiest and most effective way to reduce this loss of life is to simply wear a safety belt.

With the upgrade of Maryland's safety belt law from secondary to primary, the use of safety belts in the state is estimated to increase by 10 to 15 percent. If usage were to increase, for example, from 70 to 83 percent, approximately 50 lives would be saved and 2,500 injuries would be prevented in the state in one year. This would mean an estimated monetary savings of $154 million each year, according to the Maryland Association of Women Highway Safety Leaders.

The Garrett Health Department, which is responsible for the local Highway Safety Program, reminds citizens to buckle up with a safety belt each time they get into a vehicle.

USDA Panel Focuses On Challenges Of Small Farms

Testifying last week before USDA's National Commission on Small Farms, New Hampshire Farm Bureau President Gordon Gowen declared that small farms need "a hand, not a handout."

Gowen's presentation was part of a public hearing held in Washington, D.C., by a commission appointed by Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman to study problems facing owners of small farms and solutions for better serving them. Similar hearings involving a wide array of invitees--farmers, scholars, tribes, and business and community leaders--have been held since the 30-member commission was appointed in July.

Gowen, who serves on the American Farm Bureau Federation's board of directors, noted that there is no consensus on what constitutes a small farm, yet "nearly all small farms face a number of similar problems." He emphasized the overwhelming regulatory burdens facing the owners of small farms, explaining that such farmers often find themselves buried in a disproportionate amount of documentation required for participation in many government programs.

"The paperwork for a loan program is essentially the same whether a farmer is taking a loan out on 500 bushels of grain or 50,000 bushels," said Gowen. "But the benefits of the loan program are spread across a much larger economic base" for the larger producer.

Gowen told the commission that small-farm owners often struggle to comply with environmental and labor regulations because they "have neither the time, financial resources nor the expertise to fully address regulatory agency requirements." He asked the commission to "investigate ways to minimize the paperwork and compliance burden to small farms, not just from USDA, but from all agencies of the federal government."

The farm leader also expressed concern about market access for small farm owners, suggesting that USDA could help usher small farms into both domestic and international markets, possibly through promoting cooperatives and export programs.

According to Gowen, small farms are often engaged in the production of specialty crops, yet USDA export assistance programs have generally been targeted toward bulk commodities. "Most small farms have little direct use for these programs," he said. "Programs to help small farms gain access to international markets could open up new opportunities for exports of high-valued products."

Gowen also said that small farms would reap tremendous benefits from the continuation of Extension and research programs, especially in light of the phase-out of farm program payments and other programs on which farmers previously relied.

"Although the challenges of operating a small farm are considerable, there are also many opportunities," Gowen explained. "USDA and other agencies can and should play a role in making that outlook brighter."

The commission's chair, former Missouri congressman Harold L. Volkmer, solicited recommendations on a number of issues affecting small farms, ranging from risk management to the viability of small farms and their contributions to rural communities. A report is expected this fall.

EPA Air Quality Rules Face Much Ag Criticism

Environmental Protection Agency Administrator Carol Browner last week appeared before the House Agriculture Committee to answer some tough questions about her agency's new air quahty standards and their implications on agriculture.

Despite several statements from EPA and Browner that the new standards will not adversely affect farming and ranching, the panel remained skeptical. Committee Chairman Bob Smith (R-Ore.) and other members of the panel reiterated Farm Bureau's position that the rules governing air-borne particulate matter and ozone were formulated without the benefit of sound science. Smith said that the "science has been selectively...distilled to support the policy" behind the new rules. The chairman said the end result would harm farmers.

In her testimony, Browner defended the new standards, saying they will affect utilities and other large industrial facilities and that agriculture is not the target of the rules. Browner also said the standards "are based on an extensive scientific and public review process," and that her agency enacted the rules based on a congressional mandate to protect the public health.

Countering many of Browner's claims were Reps. John Dingell (D-Mich.) and Ron Klink (D-Pa.), who appeared before the committee.

Dingell and Klink are two sponsors of a Farm Bureau-supported bill that would postpone implementation of the new air standards to allow scientists to gather data on the true extent of the nation's air quality problem. The measure would direct EPA to establish monitoring stations around the country to gather the data and then re-examine the situation in five years.

Dingell told the panel that under the current EPA plan, individual states will be responsible for bringing so-called air quality "non-attainment" areas into compliance with the revised cleaner standards. He noted that many farm-related activities generate fine particle emissions--the type EPA has targeted for control. And Dingell rejected EPA assurances that agriculture will not become a target of regulators.

"EPA doesn't draw up the plans to bring air quality into compliance," Dingell told the panel. "The plans are drawn up by the states. When the states look to see who will have to take action to meet the new fine particle standard, agriculture may well be a target."

Klink, who hails from an area of Pennsylvania with past experience of severe air pollution, said the earlier version of the Clean Air Act is working. He argued that previous clean air rules need more time to work and that the new version has not proven it will be effective, but will cost millions of dollars--including increased costs for consumers of fuel and electricity--to implement.

"So this is the question: Why are we tightening the air quality standards, which will most certainly cause economic hardship across the country, when it does nothing to clean the air and in fact keeps it dirty?" Klink asked the panel. "Doesn't that run counter to the purpose of the Clean Air Act?"

Almost Half Of Maryland's Corn Crop Is Mature

For the week that ended on Sept. 21, grain corn harvesting began and was slightly below the previous and five-year averages. Corn harvested for silage was over halfway completed and a little above the previous and five-year averages. Field corn was still rated as mostly poor and very poor.

Soybeans were reported to have finished setting pods this last week, and continued to make progress in shedding leaves.

The sorghum crop was 2% very poor, 17% poor, 38% fair, 36% good, and 7% excellent. Sorghum turning color made great advances but was still a bit behind the previous and five-year averages. A small amount of the sorghum crop reached maturity during the previous week.

Pastures were 4% very poor, 16% poor, 42% fair, and 38% good. Hay supplies were 25% very short, 35% short, 38% adequate and 2% surplus.

Apple conditions were 4% very poor, 4% poor, 26% fair, 51% good, and 15% excellent. Apple harvest was ahead of the previous year average but behind the five-year average.

There was an average of 6.5 days suitable for fieldwork. Topsoil moisture was 11% very short, 29% short, and 60% adequate. Subsoil moisture was 16% very short, 39% short, and 45% adequate.

The following is Maryland's crop progress for the week that ended Sept. 21, with the percentage for this week, last week, last year, and the average for years 1992 through 1996, in that order.

Field Corn, dough, 100, 91, 95, and 98; dent, 94, 69, 90, and 91; mature, 42, 22, 58, and 62.

Soybeans, setting pods, 100, 94, 99, and 98; turned, 34, 20, 30, and 44; shedding leaves, 13, 7, 12, and 20.

Sorghum, turned, 60, 32, 71, and 68; mature, 5, 0, 26, and 25.

Harvesting progress:

Field corn, grain, 9, 5, 13, and 20; silage, 60, 40, 57, and 55.

Alfalfa, 3rd cutting, 86, 85, 100, and 99; 4th cutting, 58, 51, 57, 65.

Other hay, 3rd cutting, 68, 67, 69, and 73; 4th cutting, 17, 6, 37, and 32.

Use of Soybean as Silage

It appears that many of the soybeans planted this year may not make it to maturity. All is not lost since soybeans can be harvested as whole plant silage. For some livestock producers who are short of forage, this may be a viable option.

Normal stands of soybeans may yield as much as 1.5-2.0 tons of hay-equivalent per acre. Preferably allow soybeans to develop pods before harvesting and try to avoid material that is under 60% moisture.

Soybean silage can test on a DM basis 17%-18% crude protein and about 60% TDN. Mineral content will be similar to alfalfa silage except for lower potassium values.

Estimating Yields of Whole-Plant Corn Silage

With corn silage yields projected to be quite variable this year, you may want to get an idea of what kind of silage yields you can anticipate. The following is a quick and easy method to estimate your corn silage yields:

1. Select representative areas in field for sampling.
2. Determine inches between corn rows (row spacing).
3. Width between corn rows:
   Row spacing - 42", 40", 38", 36", 34", 32", 30". row length to cut (1/2000 acre) - 6'3", 6'6", 6'10", 7'3", 7'8", 8'2", 8'8½".
4. Starting midway between two plants, cut to row width indicated in table above.
5. Weigh corn harvested. A milk scale is ideal.
6. Weight on corn in pounds=tons silage produced per acre.
7. Repeat for 5 to 7 representative areas in the field.
8. Average the production for the areas to obtain the estimated yield for the field.

Example: Your silage corn is planted in rows 32" apart. The corn harvested from 8'2" of row is 11.5 pounds. This is equal to 11.5 tons of green silage per acre.

Maryland Farmers Perform "Haylift"

Maryland farmers have been making hay for their drought stricken colleagues and a "haylift" operation has been quietly under way involving at least five Maryland counties.

Hay producers or just farmers with hay to spare in Calvert, St. Mary's and Wicomico counties have already donated hay to farmers in need. The donated hay has gone to farmers in Carroll and Frederick counties. The Maryland Farm Bureau has coordinated the effort.

Most of the hay so far has gone into Frederick County, which is the state's leading dairy county, and has been particularly hard hit by the 1997 drought. To date, approximately 10 farmers have donated hay, with the total amount shipped being about 20 tons.

"It is good to see the Maryland farm community come to the assistance of those operations that have livestock to feed and lost much of their hay and corn during the dry hot summer. Anyone who has any feed available either for donation or sale should contact the Maryland Farm Bureau or their local county extension agent," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley.

Haylifts have been used in Maryland before, most notably in 1986 when 1,000 tons of donated hay came to drought-stricken Maryland farmers. Hay that year came to Maryland from states as far away as California and Oklahoma. In addition, about a dozen Garrett County farmers staged a "hay caravan" that brought donated hay from Garrett to Central Maryland.

Any farmer with hay to donate should contact the Maryland Farm Bureau at 410-922-3426.

MDA Seeking Hay/Straw Producers For New Directory

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture will put out a new Maryland Hay and Straw Directory in November.

"We are in the process of updating this extremely popular guide. Anyone who wants to be listed in the Hay and Straw Directory should contact our marketing section as soon as possible. This can lead to new customers this winter for hay an straw," said Riley.

"The importance of this directory has been shown by this summer's drought when livestock producers required feed for their operations," Riley said.

The Maryland Hay and Straw Directory is published as a service to buyers and sellers of hay and straw. The directory will be available to livestock producers, horsemen, contractors, and others who are trying to locate a source for hay and straw. The directory will also be mailed to more than 300 licensed horse stables throughout Maryland.

The deadline for putting a listing in the directory is October 15.

A free copy of the Maryland Hay and Straw Directory may be obtained by calling or writing: Hay and Straw Directory, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, phone 410-841-5770.

The Hay and Straw Directory may also be found at the Maryland Department of Agriculture's home page at http://www.mda.state.md.us/market/hay-straw.htm. Those wishing to be listed in the directory or needing additional information should contact Donna Hill, marketing services, at 410-841-5770.

Woodland Owners Invited To Mid-Atlantic Forest Seminar

Woodland owners interested in learning how to attract wildlife, market forest products, manage deer damage and establish riparian forest buffers are invited to attend the Mid-Atlantic Forest Stewardship Seminar on November 1 in Frederick.

The seminar, which is sponsored by the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service and other state and private natural resources agencies, has been held annually since 1982. Last year's program received the Northeast Regional Excellence in Forest and Woodland Enhancement/Tree Farming Award from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

This year's seminar will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Frederick Community College on Opossumtown Pike. During the opening session, outstanding woodland owners will share their experiences about non-commercial timber stand improvement, the challenges of inheriting family property, and using their property for education and outreach.

Then, during four breakout workshop sessions, speakers from the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Winstar Wildlife Institute, and Parkton Woodland Services will then discuss a variety of forest-related subjects, including computer forestry/wildlife software and websites, conservation of grassland wildlife, black walnut and paulownia culture, forest reptiles and amphibians, riparian forest buffers, the marketing of forest products, strategies for managing deer damage, and recreational access/landowner liability issues.

Advance registration is required. The registration fee is $15 per person or $25 for two people if received by October 24. Afterward, the price increases to $17 per person. The fee includes coffee, donuts, lunch, and educational handouts.

For more information or to request a brochure/registration form, those interested may call Terry Poole, Extension agricultural educator in Frederick County, at 301-694-1594, ext. 3576.

Rabies In Cats Continues To Rise

Cats continue to be the major source of rabies among household pets, and cat owners are urged to have their animals immediately protected with rabies immunizations to stop the spread of the dreaded disease, according to the Maryland Veterinary Medical Association.

Seventeen cats were found to be infected with rabies in Maryland during the first seven months of 1997, compared with only nine cases in 1996 and 17 in all of 1995. No reports of rabies in dogs, traditional carriers of the disease, or in humans were reported in either year.

Meanwhile, the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene reported 257 cases of rabies in raccoons, 24 in foxes, 11 in skunks, and seven in bats during the first seven months of 1997.

Maryland law requires all cats and dogs to be immunized against rabies by a licensed veterinarian, but the association reports many cat owners claim their animals are "indoor pets" and fail to obtain protective vaccinations for their pets.

"Some of the cases of confirmed rabies were from cats let outdoors for just a few minutes but who came in contact with a raccoon or other wild animal," declared Dr. Jack Casper, president. "It takes only a few seconds to transmit rabies from the wild animal to a cat and, of course, the cat owner and other persons in the household are in danger of contracting the disease."

In one recent case, Dr. Casper related, a cat which never had been outdoors contracted rabies from a bat that got inside the house.

While no cases of rabies have been confirmed in dogs, a Baltimore veterinarian has reported an incident during July that resulted in a child and two of his technicians having to undergo expensive post-exposure rabies vaccinations because a pet dog was bitten by a fox which ran away.

Dr. Edward Jendrek said the incident involved two dogs bitten during a fight with the fox. The child got in the middle, was bitten, and, because the fox was not found, had to undergo the post-exposure vaccinations. The two technicians were not bitten, but later did handle one of the dogs in Dr. Jendrek's Carney Animal Hospital. They, too, had to have the vaccinations even though they had previously received pre-exposure immunizations.

The two dogs had been immunized against rabies, but their owners had to keep the animals strictly confined to the house and property for 45 days.

Rabies in humans is a serious disease that can cause death unless postexposure vaccinations are given promptly.

SEARCH AND RESCUE is the mission of the Maryland State Police medevac helicopter. The newly configured hoist system has been upgraded to accommodate seriously injured or unconscious victims who are unable to sit upright. Tfc. Christine Mazalka, pictured above, recently demonstrated the new system to Maryland Department of Natural Resources employees as part of a five-day training. Trooper 5, as the regionally based medevac helicopter is called, rescued 11 people in 1996 including eight who were plucked from the flood waters of Wills Creek and the Potomac River. This year the newly equipped Trooper 5 has been used in recovery missions: when another helicopter crashed into the Youghiogheny River in Confluence, Pa.; to assist a motorcyclist near Frostburg when he traveled over a 50 foot cliff; and to rescue a hiker in Blackwater Falls, who fell 40 feet onto a ledge where he became stranded. The DNR employees involved in the training at New Germany State park pictured here in the front row, left to right, are Jim Cilse, Paul Durham, Glen Broadwater, Bill Cihlar, Daryl Riley, Dave Marple, Caroline Blizzard, Francis Zumbrun, Scott House, Mike Gregory, Chuck Harris, instructor, Tim McMillan, Joe Stevens, Chuck Bowler, and Karl Christensen. Standing are Carole Walker, Dave Weesner, Russell Boback, Dave Baker, John Amann, Rick Wakefield, Butch Zimmerman, Bill Thomas, Chris Mazalka, instructor, Hoppy Giessner, pilot, Chuck Thomas, and Jamie Adams and Mike Berry, instructors. Rescue units and fire companies interested in learning more about Trooper 5 may contact Maryland State Police at 301-777-8400.

Miss West Virginia Plans Visit To Buckwheat Festival

Eisa Megan Krushansky, Miss West Virginia 1997, will participate in Buckwheat Festival activities on Friday, Sept. 26, including the noon coronation of Queen Ceres and King Buckwheat and the School Day Parade, slated to begin at 2 p.m. in downtown Kingwood. Also in Miss Krushansky's plans, according to Berlin Graham, general chairman of this year's festival, is to spend some time on the festival grounds and visit attractions, including the livestock exhibits at the Cow Palace.

The new Miss West Virginia is a native of Westover. She is a 1996 cum laude graduate of West Virginia University, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in secondary education, with certifications in health and science for grades 5-12, and a gerontology certificate from the WVU School of Medicine, Center on Aging. Her scholastic honors include: Most Outstanding Secondary Education Student at WVU; 1996-97 National Phi Delta Kappa Excellence in Student Teaching Award; student marshall at WVU graduation ceremony; participant in the student teacher cohort program between WVU and Morgantown High School; teacher "Letterman" member; National Alzheimer's Public Policy Scholarship recipient; and board of directors and education chairman of the North Central W.Va. Chapter of the National Alzheimer's Association. Her scholastic ambition is to obtain a master's degree in secondary education, with an emphasis in health and instructional technology. She plans to pursue her doctorate in education administration.

Miss Krushansky is a five-time recipient of the Miss West Virginia Community Service Award for Alzheimer's Awareness Project; was a Miss Ohio Scholarship Pageant Fall Forum guest performer; and was a United Way Telethon spokesperson for the Alzheimer's Association, with more than 3,000 community service hours. She also developed a televised public service announcement for the Alzheimer's Association; was a statewide spokesperson for Alzheimer's Awareness; is a member of the national educational youth group "We Can Make A Difference" for Alzheimer's Disease Awareness; and lobbied Congress for continued Alzheimer's research funding. She was mistress of ceremonies for the West Virginia Association of Fairs and Games and is a former West Virginia State Fair queen. She has volunteered her time for the W.Va. Literacy Corps, and was a WVU Senior Model for D.A.R.E.

She is currently employed as a substitute teacher for Monongalia County Schools. She is the daughter of Charles and Pam Krushansky, and has a sister, Lori, and a brother, Charlie.

Her aspirations include seeking the title of Miss America, and continuing to be an advocate for Alzheimer's Disease Awareness. She also hopes to become a teacher and education administrator in West Virginia.

Visitors to the festival, which begins today and continues through Sunday, should have no trouble getting a glimpse of Miss West Virginia during the day on Friday. This evening's Firemen's Parade begins at 7:30 p.m., and parade-goers are advised to arrive early to avoid the traffic that is guaranteed to become snarled as parade time nears. Saturday's Farmer's Day Parade will get underway at noon. A complete list of activities throughout the festival is included in today's issue of The Republican.

WVU African Drum Group To Perform At Thomas

The Tucker County Arts Council will host the West Virginia University African Drum and Dance Ensemble this Saturday, Sept. 27, at 7:30 p.m. at the Thomas Community Center. The event is free to the public, but contributions will be accepted at the door.

The WVU African Drum and Dance Ensemble, founded under the direction of Paschal Yao Younge, is comprised of both music and non-music majors who perform on the ceremonial drums of Uganda and dance to the Highlife music of Ghana and Afro Beat from Nigeria. The group has a large repertoire of musical styles, ranging from work-based dances to ritualistic ones representative of east, west, central, and southern African countries.

Director Paschal Yao Younge is a native of Ghana, West Africa, and came to WVU from the University of Ghana, where he was principal instructor at the Music Department of the School of Performing Arts. In Ghana, he was the founder and director of the Philharmonic Voices of the University of Ghana and director of the award-winning Aflao Roman Catholic Traditional Brass Band. Since 1993, he has served as the head of the African Music Studies Program at WVU.

For additional information on this evening of cross-cultural music and dance, persons may call the Tucker County Convention and Visitors Bureau at 800-782-2775 or locally at 304-259-5315.

narily take a student with pencil, paper, and ruler several minutes to produce (or hours in some cases). Dropping a new variable into the mix resulted in the calculator automatically displaying the new solution.

"If you're going to use a graphing calculator, you have to know the basic mathematical principles behind the work you are doing," Priselac said. "The graphing calculator actually enhances and expands mathematical knowledge, allowing all students of all levels to go places in the math world they couldn't go before on their own. It most certainly increases working knowledge, rather than replacing it. Mathematical power is necessary for our increasingly technology-oriented society, and mathematical literacy is more important than ever."

The GCC team's audience in Germany will receive training in using the calculators as a tool in understanding college algebra. "We've developed concept sheets which make it easier to learn how to use the graphing calculator," Priselac said. "What we've basically done is make the machine much more user-friendly, with clear handouts and a short, direct presentation. German students are not using graphing calculators, and not every student has a computer at home either. The graphing calculator basically places a computer in each student's hands."

The graphing calculator won't be the only item on display at the Koblenz conference either. The GCC team will be taking along a video to demonstrate the college's video conferencing lab, which is used to facilitate long-distance learning from a variety of remote locations. The German audience will be brought up to date on the use of teaching in real-time video over fiberoptic cable, which was successfully carried out this summer at the GCC Summer Math Center, a gifted and talented academic camp that brought middle school and high school students at the school's campus in McHenry face to face with facilitators in Michigan.

The GCC team will continue to take its show on the road after the German conference, with an appearance at the tenth annual International Conference on Technology in Collegiate Mathematics, to be held in Chicago this November.

Three Types of Allergy Medicines

Approximately 20 percent of Americans suffer from allergies. A person is allergic to a particular substance if contact with the substance results in a hypersensitivity reaction. This is a natural response by the body's immune system. The body releases chemicals that cause redness, swelling, and itching of the skin; breathing difficulties; headaches; excessive mucus production; sneezing; and/or itchy eyes.

People with seasonal allergies experience allergic reactions when they are exposed to pollens from trees, grasses, and weeds during certain times of the year. Perennial allergies occur in response to foods, house dust, molds, medicines, insect bites, and other substances. Since there are no allergy cures, prevention is the best approach. Reducing house dust and controlling mold growth may be beneficial. Allergy shots may be useful.

Antihistamines block the effects of histamine, one of the substances produced during an allergic reaction. Steroid nose sprays coat the mucous membranes in the nose to help prevent allergic reactions. Decongestants wash out the nose and add moisture to nasal membranes.

Maryland Sales, Use Tax Nets $2.1 Billion

In fiscal year 1997, Maryland's sales and use tax produced just over $2.1 billion, or 5.2% more than in fiscal year 1996, when it passed the $2 billion mark for the first time since the tax was enacted in 1947, according to Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "This year marks the 50th anniversary of sales and use tax, which produced $23.7 million in its first year of collection," he said.

The comptroller said the growth in sales tax revenue reflects a robust economy, low inflation, and increased consumer confidence.

In fiscal year 1997, the largest categories of sales and use tax revenues were taxable food and beverage, general merchandise, furniture, fixtures and appliances, and building and industrial supplies. For fiscal year 1997, the taxable food and beverage category, based largely on restaurant sales, contributed almost $436 million to general fund revenue, about 3.8% more than the previous year. General merchandise sales, principally in department and discount stores, contributed $394.3 million, a 6.1% increase over fiscal year 1996. The furniture, fixtures and appliances category contributed $280.5 million, a 3.1% increase.

"The furniture category includes computers and other high-tech items that have remained popular with consumers over the past few years," the comptroller said.

In fiscal year 1997, the building and industrial supplies category, based on construction activities, produced $245.3 million, an 11% increase over the prior year. "The revenue collected in this category indicates that Prince George's and Baltimore counties and Baltimore City had the most construction activity in the state," Goldstein said.

An analysis of the sources of sales tax revenue reveals that receipts attributable to sales increased over last year in 22 of Maryland's 24 subdivisions. The most rapid growth occurred in Harford County, up 13.8%; Baltimore City, up 10.7%; and Prince George's County, up 7.2%.

The largest amounts of sales tax were reported from businesses in Baltimore County ($325.4 million), Montgomery County ($309.5 million), Prince George's County ($252 million), and Baltimore City ($211 million).

Sales and use tax revenues go into Maryland's General Fund and are used for the basic operations of government, including education, health programs, public safety, and judicial services.

Sales and use tax receipts reached $1 billion in 1985, $1.5 billion in 1989, and $2 billion in 1996. The sales and use tax rate was 2% in 1947. The rate increased to 3% in 1959, and 4% in 1969. The current 5% rate has been in effect since 1977.

CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Crime Solvers cases of the week involve the theft of tools from inside a vehicle as well as the apparent theft of a safe from a marina at Deep Creek Lake.

On Aug. 4, Marty Mullins, Terra Alta, W.Va., parked his 1992 Chevrolet Blazer on Maryland State Forest property off Fingerboard Road and then mounted his bicycle for a ride. When he returned approximately two hours later, he discovered the rear window of the Blazer had been shattered and two gray Sears tool boxes filled with tools were missing. Also gone were a graphite fly rod and a black fly box. The loss in the case has been estimated at $1,400. Similar thefts from motor vehicles in this area are also being investigated by Crime Solvers.

In another case, someone broke into the Echo Marina, located next to Silver Tree Inn along Glendale Road, sometime after 8 p.m on Aug. 2. The persons then stole a safe from the establishment. The safe is approximately 2 feet by 2 feet square and weighs about 175 pounds.

The total loss in this case is approximately $2,000.

Persons who have information about this or any other unsolved crimes are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 301-334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor do they have to appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

Wisp To Host College Expo

Over 50 colleges and armed services will be represented at the Mountain Top College Expo. The event will be hosted by the Wisp at McHenry House, Monday, Oct. 13, 6:30-9:30 p.m.

Financial aid workshops are scheduled to help families learn about the opportunities for financial assistance and how to obtain it.

VISIONS, a computer assisted inquiry into two-or four-year colleges, technical schools, and career opportunities, will be available to those attending the expo.

All students will be eligible to register for door prizes. Seniors may register for two $500 scholarships.

Though it mainly targets high school students, the information offered at this event may benefit anyone considering a new or a second career.

The Catholic Daughters of the Americas Court 2209 of Oakland have recently awarded the Mildred Maroney Scholarship to Megan Rae Redinger.

While in high school Redinger distinguished herself as a class officer for three years, was a member of the National Honor Society, and was a cheerleader for both junior varsity and varsity.

Currently attending Frostburg State University, Frostburg, she is majoring in sports medicine.

This was the first time Mildred Maroney Scholarship was awarded. A member of the Oakland court, and strong supporter of the scholarship for local youth, Mildred Maroney died in February.

The scholarship committee, composed of Winona R. Alexander, chair, Pat Pohlar, and Linda Carola, decided to name the scholarship in honor of Maroney.

AAA Notes New Headlight Law

With the rainy days of fall approaching, AAA reminds motorists about a new law in Maryland requiring motorists to use headlights when their windshield wipers are in use. The law will take effect on October 1 and states: The driver of a vehicle is required to light the vehicle's headlights or fog lights when the vehicle's windshield wipers are being operated for a continuous period because of impaired visibility due to unfavorable atmospheric conditions.

The new law is subject to secondary enforcement, meaning an officer can only cite a motorist when pulling that person over for another violation. It carries a $25 fine with no points.

by Blakely Glotfelty

The Bittinger 4-H Club held its regular meeting on September 8 at the Bittinger fire hall.

The club's activities at the Garrett County Fair during August were discussed. Many members were recipients of prizes. The club's booth received a blue ribbon and a cash prize of $20.

Several activities were planned for the upcoming weeks. On Sunday, Sept. 14, a family picnic was held on the public side of the Western Maryland 4-H Center in Bittinger. The club provided grilled hamburgers, hot dogs, and drinks. Master storytellers Bill and Cindy Kolbe were present to entertain the club with their tales after the meal.

The club also conducted fall road clean-up activities under the Adopt-A-Highway program on September 20. All members over the age of 12 were asked to participate.

Welcome, Maryland Downtown Development Association!

To make your visit to Oakland more interesting, The Republican staff has prepared this contest. These pictures were taken within the town limits of Oakland, from around Fourth Street to beyond Second Street. Describe their locations on the lines provided under the pictures. If you can't get them all, just do your best. While this contest is just for the participation of MDDA conference visitors, participants are certainly permitted to ask local residents for help.

The entries must be returned to St. Peter's parish hall by 2:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 26. The winner will be announced at 3 p.m. and will receive a gift courtesy of the Greater Oakland Business Association.

Have fun and enjoy Oakland!

THE NEWEST MEMBER OF THE GARRETT COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE is Leg Dombi Hanno, or just plain Hanno for short. At left, the two-year-old, 73-pound Shepherd poses in front of the cruiser that he shares with his full-time partner, Deputy Jeff Green. The partners commute together from the home they also share during off duty hours. Hanno, an immigrant from Bulgaria who was trained by that nation's military, responds to commands that Green "barks" out in that country's native tongue. Hanno was purchased for the Sheriff's Office with the assistance of donations from local businesses, and he is being groomed to assist his full-time partner, Deputy Green, in a variety of tasks including patrol, tracking, and building searches. The highly trained canine's nose will also be on the alert for illegal drugs, as narcotics detection is one of his specialties. Hanno and Deputy Green will become well-known in the public schools this year, as they will be routinely conducting searches of school lockers and parked vehicles both during school hours and at after-school dances and sporting events. Above, Hanno shows his stuff as he latches on to the well-protected arm of Deputy Dave McLaughlin, with Deputy Green providing encouragement. Don't try this at home, kids.

PERSONAL -- Prayer of the Blessed Virgin. (Never known to fail.) Oh most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh star of the sea, help me and show me here you are my mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God. Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 times). Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days and then you must publish it and it will be granted to you. Grateful thanks. M.M. 30-1t*.

One Million More Given For Work At Southern Park

The federal Economic Development Administration (EDA) has awarded $1,000,000 to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners to be used in the expansion of the Southern Garrett Industrial Park. This funding complements the recent allotment of $584,000 given for the project from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC).

The EDA funds will apparently be used for the construction and installation of facilities, enabling the county officials to build a 100-acre expansion. The project will consist of the construction and improvement of sewer lines, manholes, a grinder pump, water lines, lighting, storm water management facilities, and landscaping.

According to a press release from the offices of Senator Paul Sarbanes and Senator Barbara Mikulski, this effort will "immediately provide for sale and leasing opportunities for new businesses at the park site."

According to the EDA, officials estimate that private investment in the expanded park could exceed $10 million. The project is reportedly a top priority with the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland, Inc.

YOU CAN'T DO THAT IN GARRETT COUNTY - Raise watermelons that is -- because the growing season is too short. It seems Eric Park didn't hear what they said about the melons because he just went right ahead and grew a whole garden-full for himself right here in Oakland. Eric, a 7-year-old second-grader at Crellin Elementary School, has been helping in the family garden since he was able to walk. Last year the watermelons didn't do too well, so Eric suggested that this year he have his own separate garden -- gardens, actually -- one for melons and one for pumpkins. Eric's pumpkin crop did very well, also. "He showered his crops with TLC," his mom said. And the results were a bumper crop! Those looking forward to the Mt. Fresh Pumpkin Fair in Oakland on Saturday may get a glimpse of Eric's 114 pound pumpkin. Though there is no watermelon show in the county, Eric would undoubtedly knock everyone's socks off with his 92-pound watermelon! For a better idea of how big that is, see the picture on Page A 3.

Meyers Couple Honored As GC's Most Beautiful

"We're so surprised by this, and so honored," said Hazel Meyers, who joins her husband Bill in being honored as this year's recipients of the "Maryland, You Are Beautiful" volunteerism award. The Meyers couple was given the honor chiefly because of their extensive volunteer efforts through the local Disabled American Veterans (DAV) chapter and the Friendsville Lions Club. The couple was nominated by Paul Shockey, and his nomination to the local selection committee came with numerous signatures of residents who supported the choice.

The couple has owned property in Friendsville since 1965 and permanently retired there in 1982. In order to meet people and to help out where they could, they joined the Lions Club and the local DAV chapter. Hazel was the first woman in the county to

Social Service May Pay Day Care Program Tab, Shallmar Work Done

County staff meeting held Tuesday

Directors and administrators of several Garrett County offices met Tuesday with the three county commissioners in the regular monthly session, and numerous news items were discussed.

Notably, Henry Brown of the local Social Services office announced that his agency may be able to cover the cost of Community Action's day care/head start program, Lee Thorne of the roads department announced that the Army Corps of Engineers is finished with the work at Shallmar, and Emily Ferren, Ruth Enlow Library director, told the fiscal authority about a significant anonymous donation.

Dr. Stephen Herman reported on several items from Garrett Community College, and Dr. Rex Archer updated the commissioners on the health department's move to new facilities.

Social Services

Brown told the commissioners that with "purchase of care" money allotted to his agency, he can help Community Action, Inc., maintain the current day care/head start program that allows former welfare parents to work and afford day care for their children. Duane Yoder, director of Community Action, was informed some weeks ago that grant monies he had applied for to pay for the program were not going to be awarded this year. The program is in its fourth year and currently assists about 60 local families.

"We get purchase-of-care money as part of our budget and it is designated for day care. I can re-direct that money where I feel it could be used, and this Community Action project would certainly warrant that," Brown said. "There are a few things to work out yet, but it looks like we will be able to help at least for a year until the grant application rounds come around again."

Brown also noted that his office is working to organize a multi-service area in Grantsville to serve persons there.

Roads Department

Thorne informed the commissioners that the Army Corps of Engineers finished the stream-bed restoration work along the North Branch of the Potomac in Shallmar, where 1996 flooding had nearly destroyed the slope and road. He said the roads department will now have to work on the two-lane road into the small town to make it safe for travel.

GARRETT COUNTY'S MOST BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE were honored this week by the Garrett County Commissioners, as they proclaimed October as "Maryland's Most Beautiful People" Month. The local committee this year chose Bill and Hazel Meyers, Friendsville, as the recipients of the Garrett County honor, and named Dr. David Bolinger and Patrick Kelly as runners-up. See story. The proclamation signed Tuesday states in part that the state's "most valuable and cherished resource is her citizens, 'beautiful' people who are kind, caring, and proud, and people who give generously of themselves to make a positive and productive difference in the lives of others," and that the daily actions and expressions of residents who generate happiness where they live is a passion both felt and observed by neighbors." The proclamation states that Maryland applauds the dedicated efforts of all who help to make the Maryland the greatest state in the nation to live and work. Pictured above, left to right, are Commissioner Roger Glotfelty, Mrs. Meyers, Mr. Meyers, and Commissioners Wayne Wilt and Gary Fratz.

GRIC Becomes Public Utility, Offers Local Internet Service

The Economic Development Department of Garrett County has announced the formation of the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative, Inc. (GRIC), as a public telecommunications utility. GRIC will provide Intranet and Internet services to residences, businesses, and organizations in Garrett and Allegany counties and in neighboring communities in West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

GRIC is a non-profit, member-owned cooperative formed for the purpose of providing affordable advanced telecommunications services to the region. Subscriber fees are retained locally and returned to the users in the form of enhanced services and affordable rates, said a spokesperson.

Users pay a $10 annual membership fee and $9.95 per month for unlimited access to the Internet, the World Wide Web, and the local Intranet. This price applies regardless of whether the user is a private resident or a business. GRIC also customizes services to individual client needs, and provides professional web page development and storage at affordable prices, the spokesperson said. GRIC, Inc., can be reached by local dial-up access from both Garrett and Allegany counties.

"The GCC Board of Trustees should be commended for having the vision to establish the GRIC," said Jim Hinebaugh, director of Garrett County's Office of Economic Development. "Rural communities like Garrett County must have reliable, affordable, and easily accessible telecommunications access to compete in today's global economy, which is driven by information and technology based businesses. GRIC met that need and has been instrumental m enabling the county to support and attract technology and information businesses.

"The GRIC telecommunications infrastructure has also allowed us to take advantage of the trend toward teleworking and telecommuting," Hinebaugh continued. "In today's environment, telecommunications infrastructure is an essential utility and just as basic as water, sewer, electric, highways, and so on. The incor-

Conception Of Highway Project Clarified By Moe

One of the major players in the movement to secure funding to construct a north-south interstate highway through Garrett County addressed what he termed "some misconceptions" about the highway's proponents and their goals in an interview this week at his TCI Computer Systems office in Oakland.

David Moe, co-president (with Jerry Geisler) of the recently formed alliance between the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, said he felt that "there is a major misconception stemming from the name 'The Route 219 Association,'" the five-state business and political coalition that for a period of years has been promoting the construction of an interstate highway from Buffalo, N.Y., to link with existing Interstate 77 just south of Bluefield W.Va.

While that group carries the nametag 'Route 219,' Moe firmly stated his conviction that "the name originates because when one looks at a map of the entire route you can see Route 219 running south from Buffalo to Bluefield. The Route 219 Association is composed of [a coalition] formed by various county economic departments and chambers of commerce who have been pushing for an interstate route to be developed for over 30 years. This is nothing new," he said.

GC Health Dept. Completes Move To New Facilities

The Garrett County Health Department staff has successfully completed the planned move to the new facilities in Mountain Lake Park, according to a press release from the department. As of yesterday, Oct. 1, clients are being served at the new clinic, located along Rt. 135 (Maryland Highway). The site is the former G.W. Plaza, which housed Dr. Dan Miller's office and Hospice. (Hospice will be relocated to Dr. Miller's new office later this month, according to the press release.)

The health department no longer has offices at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The phone numbers for the department are the same. Beginning Oct. 3, persons can reach most clinical services by calling 301-334-8111 from the southern part of the county, or 895-3111 from the northern section.

Home Health, Environmental Health, Substance Abuse (Addictions), and Mental Health have not moved and their numbers have not changed.

The Community Outreach Division (301-334-8122 or 895-3113) and the department administration offices (301-334-1599) are located in the Buchmann Optical building in the Southern Garrett Industrial Park, also situated along Rt. 135 about one-half mile east of the G.W. Plaza. The clinic can be reached at 301-334-5150 until Oct. 3.

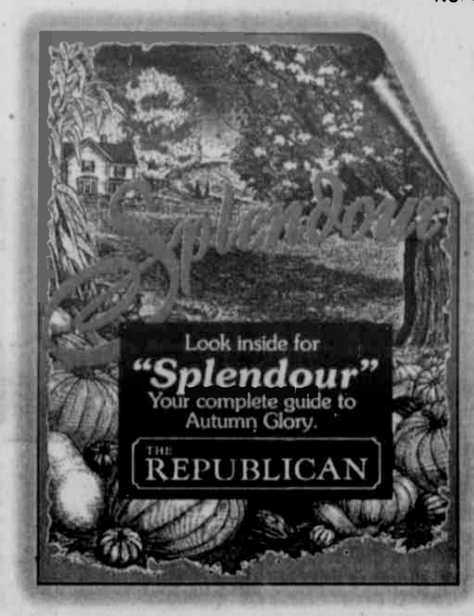
"The Garrett County community can know that the finest health department employees in the state serve them," said Dr. Rex Archer, health officer for the county. "The staff performed 'above and beyond' during a difficult adjustment. They deserve praise from the community."

The Garrett County Commissioners agreed to purchase the plaza site for the health department, with plans to eventually build facilities for the other department divisions and programs. Renovations at the site are ongoing by staff members of the county's General Services Department, according to the press release.

Recommendations For Sheriff Put Forth By Parties

The Republican and Democratic Garrett County state central committees have put forth their respective recommendations to fill the vacant sheriff's position to Governor Parris Glendening for his consideration. The sheriff's position is currently occuppied by acting sheriff Paul Richard (Dick) Sanders.

According to John Sines, chairman of the local Republican State Central Committee, three names were submitted by that organization to the governor's office.



The number one choice of the Republicans is Harland Tichnell of Friendsville, who served as chief deputy under former sheriff Van Evans for 10 years. A 19-year veteran of the sheriff's office, he has been employed with the child support division of the Garrett County Social Services Department.

A second Republican recommendation is William Ferry of Kitzmiller, who currently works as an investigator with the State's Attorney's Office of Garrett County.

Acting sheriff Sanders, Oakland, is another Republican party recommendation. Sanders, currently serving as acting sheriff, came to the sheriff's office in 1994 after retiring from a 23-year career with the Maryland State Police.

The Garrett County Health Department will offer influenza shots to local citizens at various times in October and November at several county locations. The cost of the influenza vaccine will be $8. The pneumococcal vaccine will also be available for $16 per person. Persons should be prepared to present Medicare cards or replacement cards (such as Optimum Choice Advantage). Those with replacement cards will need referrals from their physicians.

Pneumococcal pneumonia is a serious disease that is responsible for a substantial number of illnesses and deaths in the United States, according to a health department spokesperson. Pneumococcal disease reportedly kills more people in the United States each year than all other vaccine-preventable illnesses combined.

Anyone can contract the pneumococcal disease, although some are at greater risk than others. These people are those age 65 or older, the very young, and individuals with other health problems, such as alcoholism, heart or lung disease (such as asthma), kidney failure, diabetes, HIV infection, or certain types of cancer.

Pneumococcal disease is caused by a bacteria which can lead to serious infections of the lungs (pneumonia), the blood stream (bacteremia), and the covering of the brain (meningitis). Persons with more serious health problems are more likely to die from the disease, the spokesperson said.

The pneumococcal vaccine offers a high percentage of protection, the spokesperson said, noting that most healthy adults have protection within two to three weeks of getting the shot.

Influenza, or flu, is caused by a virus. Typical influenza symptoms may include an abrupt onset of fever, aching, sore throat, headache, chills, extreme malaise (tiredness), and a non-productive cough. Influenza can lead to viral pneumonia. The flu incubation period is 24 to 72 hours, with the illness lasting two to seven days. The infectious period lasts for approximately three days after the onset of the symptoms.

For more information about the vaccines, persons may contact their physicians or the local health department at 301-334-8111.

Record Number Of Students Enrolled At GCC

Garrett Community College has announced that the student enrollment for this fall's semester is the school's highest on record. According to college registrar Deloris Edgar, the current full-time equivalency (FTE) figure of 263.28 FTE is a new record. This number outpaces by over 10 percent the student numbers for last year at this time, which totaled at 238.76 FTE.

This year's record FTE number represents 465 full-time students and 262 part-time students; of these, 253 full-time students and 198 part-time students are Garrett County residents; 86 full-time students and 31 part-time students hail from West Virginia and participate in reciprocity-eligible programs; and 54 students are from other Maryland counties and 89 students are from out of state. Women outnumber men at GCC 395 to 332.

"The main factor behind the new enrollment record is the growth of the GCC AdventureSports Institute," said academic dean Dr. Lillian Mitchell at a recent meeting of the GCC Board of Trustees. "Ninety-two students are enrolled in the AdventureSports degree program, second only to the 125 enrolled for a general studies degree. Also, a number of students who are enrolled in other programs have added a class from the AdventureSports curriculum, which has increased many FTE courseloads to 19 or 20 credit hours. Mike Logsdon, director of the AdventureSports Institute, deserves a lot of the credit for our large enrollment numbers," she said.

Business management has the third-highest degree program enrollment figure, with 73 students, while natural resources and wildlife technology has 52 students, and 39 students are enrolled in business administration. Of the certificate programs, computer applications for business has 49 students enrolled, human services has 41 enrollees, and construction technology has 13 students.

GRIC Becomes

poration of the GRIC and the formation of a public utility is the next logical step in the evolution of the concept. The privatization of GRIC will allow the public utility to grow and take advantage of market opportunities, while still meeting the basic telecommunications needs of the area's residents."

GRIC's members are its active subscribers, who pay the annual $10 membership fee. The members have voting rights and will soon elect an 11-member board of directors. An election of the charter board will take place in the next several weeks, according to the spokesperson. In the meantime, an interim board of directors is managing GRIC, with all directors serving as unpaid volunteers.

The idea for the information operative was formed in 1995 when the Board of Trustees of Garrett Community College authorized the college administration to create GRIC under the auspices of GCC. Since then, the county's telecommunications structure has grown from one 56 kilobit line with limited access to several T-1 lines with unlimited access, the spokesperson said.

In September 1996, GRIC installed a state-of-the-art telecommunications structure, which made the center a leader in rural telecommunications. Over 1,100 businesses and residences now subscribe to GRIC, which has been featured in national media.

The new GRIC, Inc., will have the same mission as the original GRIC, the spokesperson said. Although leadership of GRIC is passing from the college to an independent board, GCC is expected to continue to house the GRIC infrastructure and to provide technical support.

"There will be a seamless transition of services for GRIC's customers, and I doubt that the new board will change GRIC's basic philosophy," said Mary Ruddell, outgoing GRIC president. "I am very proud that GCC's Board of Trustees had the foresight to start GRIC in behalf of the region," said GCC President Dr. Steve Herman. "It took courage. I hope that GRIC will not only continue to supply affordable telecommunications for the benefit of our region but also become a significant business in its own right, employing local people. GRIC can be an outstanding example of community self-help. I'm proud that GCC could be part of this effort."

For information about GRIC, persons may call the GRIC Help Desk at 301-387-3048.

Crozier Named State Highway District Engr.

The State Highway Administration (SHA) has announced the appointment of Fred Crozier as district engineer for the District 6 Office in Cumberland, effective immediately. Crozier will supervise all SHA operations in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties.

Crozier joined SHA's Greenbelt District 3 Construction Office in 1984 as an assistant project engineer for the American Legion Bridge job and later as a project engineer for major construction projects, including the I-95/I-295/MD 210 interchange reconstruction. Promoted in 1987 to area engineer for the District 6 Office in LaVale, he was named acting resident maintenance engineer in 1993. In June 1995 he was selected as assistant district engineer for maintenance, before being tapped as acting district 6 engineer upon the retirement of T. Wallace Beaulieu in June.

"Fred's commitment to SHA, our mission and values has been outstanding throughout his career. He is well known for his dedication and integrity," said Administrator Parker F. Williams. "I am confident that Fred will play a major role in helping SHA meet the challenges of the region."

A graduate of West Virginia University with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering, Crozier also is a Registered Professional Engineer in both Maryland and West Virginia. He is a resident of Deep Creek Lake in Garrett County, where he lives with his wife Linda and his son Tom.

Illegal Hunting Citations Result From Phone Tip

A Maryland Department of Natural Resources Police (NRP) officer acting on an anonymous tip received on the Catch-A-Poacher Hotline apprehended two subjects allegedly spotlighting deer near Accident last Wednesday evening.

David John Schroyer, 41, Accident, and Stephen Allen Epley, 40, Glen Burnie were reportedly observed shining lights in a field on private property off Sam Friend Road shortly after 8 p.m. on Sept. 24. The NRP officer seized one camouflaged .22-caliber Marlin rifle from the field, and a vehicle search uncovered two .308-caliber Remington rifles and a camouflaged clip matching the Marlin rifle.

Schroyer and Epley were each issued citations for casting an artificial ray of light with an implement capable of killing deer and hunting on private property without written permission.

Concerned citizens are encouraged to report illegal deer hunting activity to the Department of Natural Resources 24-hour Catch-A-Poacher Hotline at 1-800-635-6124. Anonymous tips are accepted.

Recommendation

Democratic State Central Committee has made a recommendation to the governor, but that name is being withheld by the committee, according to secretary Marilyn Moors of Friendsville. "We will make the name public when the governor makes his decision," Moors said.

Ray Feldmann, the governor's deputy press secretary, said in an interview this morning that although the governor's appointments office has received the recommendations from both parties, the names can only be released by the respective state central committees.

It is the governor's prerogative to appoint any one of the individuals submitted by either party to be the new sheriff of Garrett County. There is no set schedule for the appointment process, which involves "extensive background checks, including interviews with members of the local law enforcement community who are familar with respective recommendations," according to Feldmann.

The governor has the liberty of personally interviewing one or more of the individuals himself, or he can elect to accept the recommendation of his appointment office without interviewing that person.

The appointee will fill the office as sheriff until the next sheriff's election in November of next year.

Baltimore Man Files Appeal After District Court Sentencing

A Baltimore man immediately filed an appeal after his sentencing hearing in Garrett County District Court last week. At his June trial, Steven Alan Rubin, 46, pleaded guilty to a charge of negligent homicide with an auto with drugs involved.

Rubin was handed a three-year jail sentence, 18 months of which were suspended, and was placed on three years of supervised probation by visiting Allegany County District Court Judge Timothy Finan. Rubin's charge stemmed from his arrest by the Maryland State Police in connection with an Oct. 1996 car accident that claimed the life of Robert Cunningham, formerly of Deep Creek Lake.

The court documents, corroborated by witness statements, alleged that Rubin was driving north on Route 219 in an erratic manner on the afternoon of Oct. 11, 1996. As he approached Stockyard Road on Keysers Ridge, he reportedly lost control of his vehicle and swerved across the opposite lane of traffic, off the shoulder, and struck a guardrail. At that point Rubin's vehicle allegedly bounded back into the southbound lane, colliding head-on with Cunningham's vehicle, which was approaching from the south. Cunningham subsequently died of his injuries.

Tests conducted at the scene by police and subsequent laboratory blood tests ordered by the Maryland State Police concluded that Rubin had alcohol and the prescription medication valium in his bloodstream at the time of the accident. The combination of these two drugs was cited as a contributing factor in the accident, as valium is an alcohol enhancer, and when the two drugs are combined in the bloodstream the drowsiness effect of each is intensified.

After he requested an appeal of his sentence, Rubin posted a $20,000 bond, and is not currently incarcerated; however, all pre-trial release conditions continue until he appears for his hearing of appeal in Garrett County Circuit Court. The date for that appeal hearing has not been set as of yet.

Speed Limits Changed On Route 219

Those drivers who keep an eye on the speedometer have probably noticed that signs along Garrett Highway, Route 219, have changed.

Early this week, some of the signs along Route 219 noting 50 mph have been replaced with new ones stating 55 mph speed limits. Along other sections of the highway, lower speed limits have also been increased. Approaches to Accident and Oakland, where the posted limit was previously 35 mph, have been reposted at 40 mph.

George Small, assistant district engineer for the Maryland Office of Traffic and Safety, part of the State Highway Administration (SHA), explained the process involved in making these changes.

Though all speed limits in the state are subject to the maximum set by legislators, variations on the statutory limits result from differences among roads and communities. These condition-appropriate speed limits are established in accordance with results from traffic engineering studies, Small said.

The speed limits on Route 219 have been under scrutiny for some time. "Del. George Edwards had asked us to look into it, to make the speed limits in Garrett County more consistent with what is being done all over Maryland," Small said.

Once the review was requested, the process was underway. Road conditions and traffic patterns were studied by the engineers of the SHA. One step of this process is determination of the average and the 85th percentile speeds.

This 85th percentile refers to the speed at or below which 85% of the motorists drive when not impeded by slower traffic or adverse conditions. This is considered to be a safe speed limit for the road.

"This is a process that takes several months," Small said of the study. After data are collected, he will make his recommendations to SHA's main office in Baltimore. "I write the administrative action. It is sent off, reviewed, and signed when it is approved," he explained.

Throughout the process, memos are sent to law enforcement agencies and local offices of the SHA, he added. Once the action is appoved, notice is sent to the local SHA so sign posting can be scheduled. The current speed limit changes were signed off as approved several weeks ago.

A goal of SHA traffic engineering studies, Small explained, is the posting of realistic speed limits. "When they aren't realistic, people develop disregard for all speed limits statewide," he said.

By setting reasonable limits, Small said, police are able to target enforcement efforts on those who exceed the posted limit. This should be about 20% of all drivers, according to the 85th percentile guideline.

TALK ABOUT MIRACLE GROW! With a short growing season in Garrett County, watermelons are not usually a successful crop. But 7-year-old Eric Park of Oakland beat the statistics and grew a 92-pound, 39-inch-long melon. This was one of many produced by the young gardener in a patch he tended diligently. He is pictured here comparing the biggest melon with one of his others.

It's the Message...

The Census Bureau issued a report this past week on the status of family incomes in the United States last year, and the results showed that the wealthiest 20 percent of our population recorded the highest percentage gain in income (2.2 percent), while the poorest 20 percent actually got a little poorer, as their income dropped 1.8 percent. Those in the middle 60 percent saw their incomes, on the average, rise just slightly.

Meanwhile, the majority of our esteemed leaders in Congress decided to give themselves a 2.3 percent pay hike this week, which equates to an average of an additional $3,072 on top of their current salaries of $133,600. Of course, they also receive a vast array of perks and benefits that many in the private sector do not enjoy.

Based upon percentages, the raise our federal elected officials have given themselves is reasonably small; and based upon how much these individuals are paid per hour, a salary of about $137,000 is probably not terribly excessive for some of them, who work hard at their jobs literally 60 or 70 hours a week. There is also a considerable amount of stress that comes with the job that should be worth something in monetary terms.

However, we believe that the message this move sends to the public, the attitude that it portrays, is one of unfairness and inappropriateness, particularly in light of the figures released by the Census Bureau. Typically, an employee receives a raise for meeting goals and doing an excellent job. It seems that, if the poor in our nation are getting poorer, then Congress is not doing its job, at least not in dealing with this particular situation. Even if it is somehow outside their power to fix, it seems outrageous that they would still go ahead and charge the taxpayers $3,000 more per year for their efforts; failed efforts, in this particular arena.

We do appreciate the fact that our representative in Congress, Roscoe Bartlett, not only voted against the increase, but spoke out vehemently against it and has pledged to donate his to charities or scholarship funds. He clearly understands the message that this sends to the citizens of our nation.

Our system of government is designed so no one branch of authority, be it legislative, judicial, or executive, has too much power. Yet when it comes to pay raises for members of Congress, the check and balance system apparently isn't used or doesn't work. Thus, the voters will have to decide, and we would recommend that all constituents find out how their particular congressional member voted on this measure, and take that information into consideration when election time rolls around.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In reply to last week's letter from Ruth Snyder; to all who fear losing their property to the international trade corridor expressway, Continental One; and to all who simply do not want another freeway in Garrett County: May I please offer some suggestions?

1) As soon as possible, CALL Representative Roscoe Bartlett, Senator Barbara A. Mikulski and Senator Paul S. Sarbanes at 202-224-3121 (the number for all representatives and senators.) These are long distance phone calls, but think of them as low-cost property ownership insurance.

2) INSIST that you do not want an international trade corridor freeway, Continental One, in Md. and W.Va. Ask for a written reply.

3) FOLLOW-UP your phone calls with personal letters to your same Representatives/Senators at: U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515, and U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510. Yes, two different zip codes.

(Sample letter: Dear Representative Bartlett: As a Md. voter in your district, I am writing to tell you that I do not want an international trade corridor freeway here because ... [give your reason]. Sincerely, Jane Doe.) Be sure your letter and address are legible.

4) CALL/WRITE: Delegate George C. Edwards at 301-895-5720 or 301-746-5831. Address: P.O. Box 658, Grantsville, MD 21536. Del. Edwards has assured me he will follow the wishes of the majority of his constituents.

5) If you believe in prayer, pray for the welfare of Garrett Co. "With God all things are possible." Even getting opposing sides together for a public information meeting. Even leveling the political playing field by a six month delay, allowing "We, the people" to get our turn to speak to Congress!

6) Continue following the news on this topic.

Thank you for your consideration.

Moe Clarifies

Republican newspaper) that this will be on the existing Route 219 roadbed (in Garrett County)," Moe said. The local highway proponents have actually been "talking about a new and separate highway. While there is no route that has been suggested, and that is decades off in the future, my personal preference would be an eastern alignment similar to what had been proposed in the Garrett County development plan dated May 5, 1974, a highway conceived in that document as the Meadow Mountain Scenic Highway, or something very similar to that. This general alignment was also put forth in the 1980 document published by the Maryland Department of Transportation (MDOT) document titled Economic Development and Transportation Improvements for Garrett County," he stated.

Moe addressed what he saw as another misconception in the time frame for this project, and the amount of public involvement in its planning. "If anything is ever done," he stated, "the state will look for guidance in drawing up possible routes from the Garrett County long-term development plan; then the state will sit down and draw up some possible routes for discussion. The MDOT will then publish notices of public hearings, and any interested party may come and testify on the pros and cons of any and all possible routes.

"If an individual or a group doesn't want any consideration of any highway," Moe continued, "they do it through the political process of elections and making their feelings known to their elected officials, from U.S. senators and congressional representatives to mayors, town councils, and county commissioners. This can be done anytime – now, or if and when a project starts to become a reality."

Moe ended the interview with this comment: "If consideration of this highway is blocked now and in the future, what that does is limit the state to the existing Route 219 corridor route with the construction of incremental improvements occurring over a long period of decades. This eventually may become the interstate by default, which I don't believe anybody wants.

"I don't think we want to limit ourselves to that when we're looking at decades of time, when we're looking far into the future and planning for the future," he concluded.

shoulder and put up a guardrail," Thorne explained. He said the Corps project might have come in slightly under budget, although "all the numbers aren't in yet." If there is an overage, the money will be returned to the county.

The administrator told the commissioners that other area projects underway in the county include current work on the River Road Bridge, where the employees have pulled out old stone and trees that have grown up into the bridge over the years. New concrete will be poured to strengthen the bridge. This work should be finished in about three weeks, he said.

There is also work being done on the Humberson Road Bridge at Buffalo Run. Thorne said that including Glendale, this makes four bridge projects completed this year.

Ruth Enlow Library

Ferren told the commissioners that the library accepted a gift of property last Friday, given by an anonymous donor. The gift consists of the house and yard that is located directly beside the main branch in Oakland.

"We have been working on this for about three months, and it finally came to fruition Friday," she said. The house currently is home to three renting families, and Ferren said nothing is planned for the building at the moment.

"We'll just be at status quo for now," she said. "But we do own the property."

The library director also reported on staff development activities, noting that the personnel has been learning about the Internet -- how to use it as a reference tool and how to show patrons how to access it. They have also been focusing on current children's literature, she reported. The annual Staff Day will be Oct. 24.

GCC

Herman reported that the enrollment at Garrett Community College has increased by 2% overall. There are 92 students currently enrolled in the adventure sports program, with one student from Mexico and two students coming from Canada next semester. Herman said the college is working with the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) in building support for the program.

He reported that progress with the new medical transcription program is going well, with a double-wide trailer that is to house the class nearly ready for use. The transcription program, as previously reported in The Republican, is being headed up by Debbie Bishop, who will train students during the nine-month, six-hours-a-day program. At the end of the course, these students will be prepared to work in her own transcription business, located at the college.

Herman said a computer lab is being placed in the National Guard Armory in Oakland, which will give Mountain Lake Park and Oakland residents access to a compressed video system. This basically will allow them the opportunity, for example, to attend meetings in other parts of the state without having to travel any farther than the armory.

Another lab at GCC is being installed in which users will sit at computers that are equipped with individual cameras. The user may watch an instructor on the screen and if he or she has a question, the camera is activated and the instructor, wherever he or she may be, will be able to see the student and answer the question directly.

Herman also reported on the Garrett Rural Information Center's (GRIC) change to a public cooperative utility. See separate story.

Health Department

Archer told the commissioners that the health department's move out of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital property and into the G.W. Plaza and the Buchmann Optical building had gone very well and was nearly complete as of Tuesday.

"All the staff is out," he said. "All that remains are a few records and equipment. It should all be swept out by the end of the day today." He commended Gary Mullich, general services director, for his work in facilitating the move.

Education Board

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools, told the commissioners that new science textbooks for grades sixth through eighth have been purchased. He also noted that a committee has been formed to study the middle school curriculum to make sure the two schools, Northern and Southern middle, are offering similar programs and instruction.

Teets also touched upon a planned project for the Kitzmiller and Crellin elementary schools, in which the students will be able to contact one another by computer technology.

"We hope to be able to connect these two school populations to give the students the opportunity to get to know one another before entering the middle school," he said. He explained that this could be beneficial for the students in making the adjustment from a small school to a much larger one.

View From My Window

"AUTUMN IS HERE"

A favorite pastime of people above a certain age is to observe, even to complain, that the seasons are not what they used to be. It used to be that there were four seasons, and you could tell one from the other. Today, they all just run together.

Such complaints are not meant to be listened to; they are really just a form of entertainment. In case it had not been noticed, I have news: somebody has been listening.

Summer ended with a final flurry of hot weather the other week, with daily highs in the 80s. Then on the day before autumn began, the wind blew like a herald's trumpet announcing the arrival of a new season.

I covered my tomatoes that Sunday night. As it turned out, we had no frost at my place, but there was the smell of frost in the air. For the next week the furnace had some modest exercise, and there was fire either in the fireplace or the woodstove on most days.

Perhaps children of today will remember this drama of weather several decades from now when they opine, "the seasons just aren't the way they used to be...." It was manifestly summer one day and autumn the next.

With autumn comes apples. I have had a few trees in my home orchard for a dozen years now, but this is the first year that I have had a decent crop of apples.

I hate to admit the reason that I have such a fine crop of apples, but the truth must be told. I sprayed them. In my defense I have sprayed them in years past. Last year I sprayed my apple trees diligently, but with the wrong stuff.

Anybody who--like me--has a few fruit trees has, at one time or another, bought the "backyard fruit tree spray" at the hardware store or at the "seed and feed." I am convinced that that product is manufactured and sold at the behest of the Washington State fruitgrowers because anybody who uses the product for very long will surely pull out his trees (if not his hair).

I attended a seminar last winter on spraying, where I learned why the combination of diligence and backyard fruit spray produces such poor results.

On the one hand, it does not kill very effectively the insects that spoil fruit. On the other hand, however, it does kill a number of the beneficial insects which kill the bad insects. So, after a few years of using it, all the good insects are gone and all the bad insects are still with you.

That was the condition of my orchard last spring. So I started spraying the heavy firepower stuff (though still available to the uncertified sprayer) and this year have the nicest crop of apples anybody could want. The really great thing is that I am spraying much less often (only four post-bloom sprays this year) now that I am spraying the right stuff.

There were some wonderful summer apples from a variety called Calvin. They had a delicious flavor and a slightly bitter finish, which gave it a nice bite. Though I am glad for an apple in July or August, to me apples are synonymous with autumn.

I have only five trees in production, and they are pretty well staggered so that when they start, one succeeds the next. Right now the Jonathan is in peak production, a crisp apple both in texture and flavor.

On Monday the 22nd of September I attended a meeting. When I left home it was summer. On my way I drove through the countryside looking at the condition of the crops, and watched the sun as it settled onto the horizon. By the time I got home that night autumn had officially arrived. The meeting had served as a kind of interlude between summer and fall.

The seasons do change. Sometimes, like this year, the change is sudden and dramatic. Other years the shift is almost clandestine. Our memories rearrange history, but through it all, the apples endure.

For today's column, we women (Mary McEwen, Peggy Santamaria, and Melodee Hill) happily welcome a member of the opposite gender to ply his talent with words. We are thankful for the reprieve this week and are sure that readers will enjoy his missive. No one should get the idea that we are giving up our posts, of course. In fact, we all three heartily enjoyed a comment swiped off the Internet recently: "When a man speaks in a forest and there is no woman there to hear him, is he still wrong?" But with that said, we warmly open the Tangent door to our guest writer, Richard Hill.

Going Bump in the Night
by Richard Hill

In the past week we have had two high magnitude events occur in the early morning hours. Magnitude around here is measured in the number of us who wake up to witness it. Magnitude fours, the highest, are rare but wake everybody up, and can be caused by loud dog alarms or something as quiet as the power going off. Magnitude ones only wake me up and are usually inspired by nocturnal visits to the bathroom by anyone, someone's bad dream, or a bill due tomorrow.

Last week we were visited by a helicopter scouring the area with a searchlight. I guess it is to the credit of our rural community and to our personal life style that these events are rare. This is only the second time I remember it happening since we moved into our house, and I'm proud to say that both times it was looking for someone else. If movies are to be believed, it must happen all the time in cities, but here the sight of a dark, flying object with blinking lights throwing a powerful beam around without care as to whose property it lands on still has a surreal quality in the dark of night. My youngest son and I, perhaps unwisely, went outside to give full audience to the spectacle. I say unwisely, because it was obvious that this was nothing less than the authorities, hot on the trail of desperados, and we were prime hostage targets. I remember experiencing a chill at the thought.

At one time the beam gave us the full honor of its attention. It was terrible and delightful to watch the light approach us as we both had the unspoken knowledge that in a short moment the light would hit us. My son retreated before the eye of the law. I hesitated in indecision. It was only light, after all, but did I want to become a participating actor in this drama, or did I only want to wait in the wings?

The light came, I was duly inspected and evidently passed muster, as the light moved on without comment. Upon return to the safety of the fort we were dressed down by the wiser generals and received a stern warning that should events reoccur, we would be better spending our time minding the defenses instead of attending wild scouting parties.

The second event occurred only last night. It began as a magnitude one, with my eldest son acting as substitute, but was quickly upgraded to magnitude three. A bat was loose in the house. As catastrophic as that might sound to those of faint heart, this is our third experience at this, and we have become somewhat clockwork-like about it. The first time in our panic we were forced to dispatch the intruder. In comic fashion we assumed a catcher's squat and swatted at high, outside pitches (batting at the bat). We grieved the loss of innocence. What brought the poor bat to our inner sanctum in first place could, and probably has, happened to all of us. What with a series of wrong turns we find ourselves in a seedy part of town and have to roll up the windows and lock the doors. The bat finds his bewilderment complete as we arise and change the road signs and turn all the traffic lights to red.

When we became conscious of the fluttering of leather wings the second time, we panicked as usual, but opened the doors to allow exit should one be desired, either by it or us. We waved large, flat objects with the intention of traffic direction but with self-defense in the back of our minds. Last night, the bat followed the good sense directions of stopping and waiting for help to come should you lose your way. He hung head down, waiting for photographers and the press, and I captured him unharmed in a large Tupperware bowl (the greatest invention of the 20th century).

Between the helicopter and the bat, the helicopter was the most expensive drama to stage and was, to us at least, more exciting. I heard the story recently of a gentleman principally from an urban area, who spent a couple of weeks here, to whom the helicopter event would probably not even cause a shift in his dreams, while a bat in the house caused him to phone the cavalry for aid at 3:30 in the morning. Although I don't desire either of them in the house, I like bats but am not overly fond of helicopters. The next time a magnitude three or four event is bat-related, I'll try to remember to count my blessings.

Open House Set At New County Offices In MLP

The building is housing the following offices: the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service, the Natural Resources Conservation Service, the Garrett Soil Conservation District, the Maryland Department of Agriculture - Resource Conservation, the Farm Service Agency, and Rural Development.

PUBLIC LAND INCOME COMES BACK TO COUNTY - Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials presented public land income monies in the amount of $187,426 to the Garrett County Commissioners this week. The money represents 25% of the income generated from public lands in Garrett County during the final quarter of fiscal year 1997. "The public lands of Garrett County are not only important natural resources, they are important economic resources as well," said John Griffin, DNR secretary. Pictured left to right are Regional Manager Chris Anderson, Savage River Complex Manager Mike Gregory, and Commissioners Gary Fratz, Roger Glotfelty, and Wayne Wilt. Anderson said the significant amount of return this year is a result of "tremendous cooperative action" between the county and state. The total payment to the county for income generated in fiscal year 1997 was $810,892. This was substantially higher than previous income, a DNR spokesperson said, and was a result of the payment of court-ordered penalties stemming from an illegal timber cut on public lands. Most Maryland counties receive 15% of this public income, but Garrett gets 25% because of the size of DNR's property holdings in the county.

EYM Ensemble Performs For Retiring Bishop

The Ecumenical Youth Ministry Music Eusemble began its 1997 Fall Ministry Tour this past Sunday in Cumberland, as the local ensemble was the featured guest group for the retirement celebration of Episcopal Bishop Charles Longest.

Overwhelmed by the EYM concert performance in Solomons this past May, Bishop Longest quickly engaged the talents of the group for his September departure from public ministry. The Ecumenical Youth Ministry sang in conjunction with the Emmanuel Brass Choir and a regional Episcopal vocal ensemble.

The 45-member ensemble will continue its ministry on October 19 in Baltimore for the National Children's Sabbath celebration at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church. The 11-number program will include the instrumental talents of Annie Neville, violin; Krista Hedrick and Dr. Donald Richter, trumpets; John Menker and Lee Brown, guitars; Jeff Gilbert, bass; and Michael Broderick, keyboards. Soloists for the event will be Rachel Sincell, Molly McGowan, and Gina Powell. The 14-member EYM Chorale will also be featured. Singing in the Chorale are EYM veterans: Sara Sincell, Leah Broderick, Katie Richter, Catherine Donaldson, Kendra Durst, Jaime Bosley, Brian Cathell, Adam Sincell, Suzanne Gilbert, Michelle Molz, Katie Moomau, Annie Neville, and Kerri Strubin.

The Ecumenical Youth Ministry will perform full concerts in Baltimore, Fairmont, Oakland, and at the Wisp Resort in McHenry in November and December.

Participation in the Ecumenical Youth Ministry is open to all youth who are in the sixth grade and over. Students who are interested in weekly singing and fellowship may join the group any Sunday at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church parish hall in Oakland from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Students who are interested in participating in concert performances should call the director, Lynn Broderick, at 301-334-6300.

MSP Respond To Accidents, File Charges

Two recent accidents on local roads resulted in personal injuries. Charges were filed by police in both incidents.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported a two-vehicle mishap on Maryland Highway, Route 135. Anthony D. Hinebaugh, 21, Deer Park, was eastbound on Rt. 135 near the intersection with Broadford Road about 12:45 p.m.

At the same time, James Davis, 24, Ridgely, W.Va., was southbound on Broadford Road. Davis allegedly failed to stop at the stop sign, where Broadford intersects with Rt. 135, and entered the intersection without slowing down.

Davis' vehicle struck the driver's side of the vehicle driven by Hinebaugh.

Southern Rescue Squad transported both drivers and Hinebaugh's passenger, Heather Bonner, 18, Mtn. Lake Park, to Garrett Memorial Hospital. Deer Park VFD also responded to scene.

Davis was charged,

Another accident was reported by police on Route 135, Saturday, around 5 p.m.

According to the report, Jerry L. Michaels, 25, Kitzmiller, was attempting to make a U-turn on Rt. 135, west of Deer Park Hotel Road. He failed to yield right of way and pulled out in front of the car driven by Anthony S. Twigg, 23, Morgantown, W.Va.

Twigg reportedly applied his brakes and tried to stop, but he struck the Michaels' vehicle in the driver's door. Michaels was charged with both failure to yield right of way when making a U-turn and negligent driving.

Twigg was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where he was treated for minor injuries.

DWI

Michael L. Kitzmiller, 21, Grantsville, was charged with driving while intoxicated on Sept. 27.

Butcher Block Shop Burglary Being Investigated

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently investigating a burglary at The Butcher Block Shop on Route 135 in Mtn. Lake Park that occurred sometime between Sunday evening and noon on Monday.

According to the deputy's report, a screen was removed from window on the side of the shop and two windows were then broken out, allowing entry to the building's interior. Stolen were $15 in coins, four packages of cheese, and two hams, while damage to the windows was estimated at nearly $350.

In other recent theft reports, a reported theft of an aluminum extension ladder is being investigated by the sheriff's office. Taken from the bed of a dump truck parked outside Martin's Auto Parts near Deer Park on Friday evening was a 22-foot ladder, valued at $247.

A theft of $38 in cash, along with a money clip that bore the name of its owner, Thomas Bittinger, occurred on Monday afternoon from an unlocked gym locker at The Board Room gym on Route 219 in Oakland.

Anyone with any information on these or any other crimes currently under investigation by any police agency is encouraged to call the Crime Solvers number at 301-334-1975.

In other sheriff's news, an Accident man was arrested in Crellin on Friday night and charged with disorderly intoxication.

Daniel August Georg, 26, was reportedly located lying in the bed of a pickup truck parked outside of Gibson's Store on Hutton Road as deputies were in the area checking on multiple reports of a subject lying in the middle of Hutton Road. Georg was allegedly suffering from several fresh facial abrasions at the time he was located and was transported by the Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. He was then arrested by deputies and subsequently released on his own recognizance by the court commissioner.

Jason Blythe, 18, Oakland, was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia on Saturday as a result of an investigation by sheriff's deputies. Earlier in the week a gym bag containing two marijuana water bongs had been found along North Blakeslee Road near the Blakeslee development. Leads developed by deputies eventually led them to Blythe, who reportedly admitted to owning the bag and its contents. He was arrested and subsequently released on his own recognizance.

Joseph Freeman Snell, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested on the premises of Southern High School shortly after noon on Tuesday, Sept. 23, and charged with consuming alcohol on school property. He was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

LOOKING BACK, PLANNING AHEAD - This picture of the windmill was taken nearly 50 years ago when it was constructed in the Kitzmiller School Botanical Garden. The concepts of Dr. Melvin Brown, the biology teacher at the Kitzmiller School, were carried out by students and community members in concert. Four years in the making, this ecosystem stood as a monument to creative education with a meaningful product. The pond, pictured above, was constructed with native stone, as was the fountain at its center. Today, the windmill is gone, the pond is empty, and the fountain is dry. But Kitzmiller residents are undertaking the long, difficult process of revitalizing the park. Pictured below is the pond and fountain as they look today. These items are among the first ones that Nancy Brady, town council member, has focused on for revitalization efforts. The large stone double fireplace, right, remains in good condition and ready for use. Nancy, left, and Jackie Brady, right, former student and former teacher at Kitzmiller school, are pictured as they explained to reporter Peggy Santamaria some of the plans being developed for the park.

Kitzmiller Botanical Garden Brought Learning To Life

By Peggy Santamaria

School projects are usually undertaken by a classroom full of children, a group in an individual class, or two classes working together.

But there is another and perhaps more ambitious form of learning project that has been practiced successfully. The science project referred to here involved all students, not just in one class, but in one whole town.

This meant that from the smallest first-grader to the loftiest senior, each student had a part to play at the appropriate education level.

The project undertaken would benefit the whole community and had the following guiding principles: the involvement of all students; the advancement of science; the development of an appreciation for the beauty and cleanliness of the environment; and the development of an intelligent understanding of nature.

The date was 1948. The town was Kitzmiller. The project undertaken was the Kitzmiller School Botanical Garden. The creative force behind it was Dr. Melvin Brown, biology teacher.

The Kitzmiller School was surrounded by more than seven acres of playground and undeveloped land. Two acres of this were targeted for the initial phase of the work.

The graduating class of 1948 was the first to participate in creating this gift to the community. Jackie Brady, a member of that class and later a teacher in the school, remembers that project with pride. "We planted flowers here first. It was a beginning," she said, while strolling along the park path on the sunny day.

She pointed out an area near a stand of mountain laurel. "The children had a pet cemetery here, too," she remembered.

After Jackie Brady's class had started the original flower beds in the park, the students' endeavors continued to take on greater dimensions. Their work included marking trees and shrubs to be retained, cutting and clearing underbrush, and digging out rocks they would use to build paths and boundaries.

Dr. Brown incorporated tree identification into the work. The students examined and determined the various species growing the developing botanical garden.

Types of trees not represented were requested and donated by state forest services in Maryland and West Virginia. Others came from as far away as Alaska and China.

Signs identifying trees were designed and made by science and art students.

In the spring, bird houses and picnic tables were built and flowers were cultivated. Grass seed was sown by the first graders. Second and third grade students created rock gardens, and the fifth and sixth graders raised vegetables. Everyone had a part in developing the park for the community.

Year-round, in each season, there were jobs to be done to maintain, expand and enhance the park.

As the botanical garden grew, it included a pond, a windmill, and a water wheel. A double fireplace was built of native stone. Pathways wound through the gardens.

After four years of work the community project was complete. The people of Kitzmiller had supported their school children in this undertaking. And everyone benfited from their efforts.

But that was then and this is now. Almost 50 years after the creation of the botanical garden, many things have changed. The stone pond in empty; the fountain is dry. There is neither a windmill nor a water wheel standing.

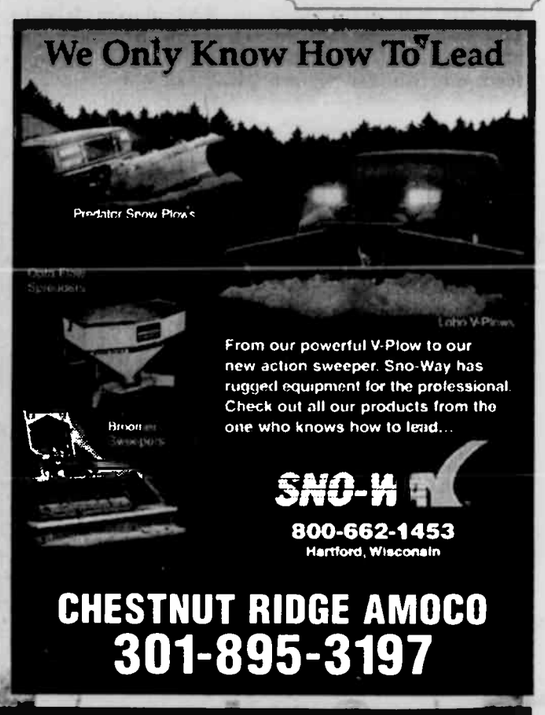
The residents of Kitzmiller have made improvements to the botanical gardens, now known as the town park, during past years. But they are embarking on a far larger venture now -- the revitalization of Dr. Brown's original concept.

The effort has been spearheaded by town council member Nancy Brady. "We want to put the park back the way it was when it was completed in 1952," she said.

Kitzmiller resident and business owner Diana Cropp of Maple Lane Farm nursery has marked trees in the park that need to be removed or replaced. Cropp is the niece of Dr. Brown.

To help accomplish the work at the park, fund-raising events, such as a recent walk-a-thon, have been held. The quest for grant funds is also underway.

Richard Stevens, kindergarten teacher at Kitzmiller Elementary School, has applied for a grant from the Chesapeake Bay Trust Fund. "I was working on the grant before I knew Nancy Brady was working on the park project," Stevens said.



His goal was to get funding to bring Chesapeake Bay wetlands ecosystems, into the classroom by setting up an indoor pond where a variety of species could be raised and studied. "Eventually these fish could be returned to the wetlands environment of the pond in the park," he explained.

Stevens' proposed interweaving of park and classroom seems to mirror the work done by Dr. Brown. Records remain of the educational uses made of the park by Dr. Brown. "We have Dr. Brown's notes on how the park projects implemented the classroom curriculum. There is even a book with illustrations of all the species planted," Nancy Brady said.

The records that Dr. Brown kept of progress from wilderness to parkland exist in both writing and pictures. There is a complete set of slides depicting the evolution of the garden.

The people of Kitzmiller are working to revive, to recreate really, the botanical garden conceived in 1948. In so doing they are giving a wonderful gift not only to their community, but to all of the people of Garrett County.
